

Woman Aeronaut Missing in Catalina Channel Race

6 BALLOONS FALL IN SEA

A woman balloonist was reported missing late Saturday by the Coast Guard as the first Annual Catalina Channel Balloon Race ran into fog, brisk winds and heartbreak.

One racer crashed into a hillside near Avalon and six others plunged into the sea. Ed Yost of Sioux Falls, S.D., waded ashore near San Clemente to claim victory in the race.

Reported missing by the Coast Guard is Mrs. Barbara Keith of Hartford, Conn.

Race officials identified her as a member of the Balloon Club of America and the Parachute Club of America. They said Mrs. Keith, grandmother of three, was the second person to get aloft from the golf course at Avalon at 2:07 p.m.

Late Saturday, George Bookasta, a sponsor of the race, said he had received reports that Mrs. Keith had been found "somewhere near San Diego."

However, the Coast Guard said it had checked out this report and "could not confirm it."

"We are going on the assumption that she is missing and we have aircraft and cutters searching the area between Catalina and the mainland."

"The Navy has joined the search and we are officially calling for a 'maximum effort in this search.'"

Mrs. Keith, whose age was not known to race officials, is the only woman balloon owner in the United States.

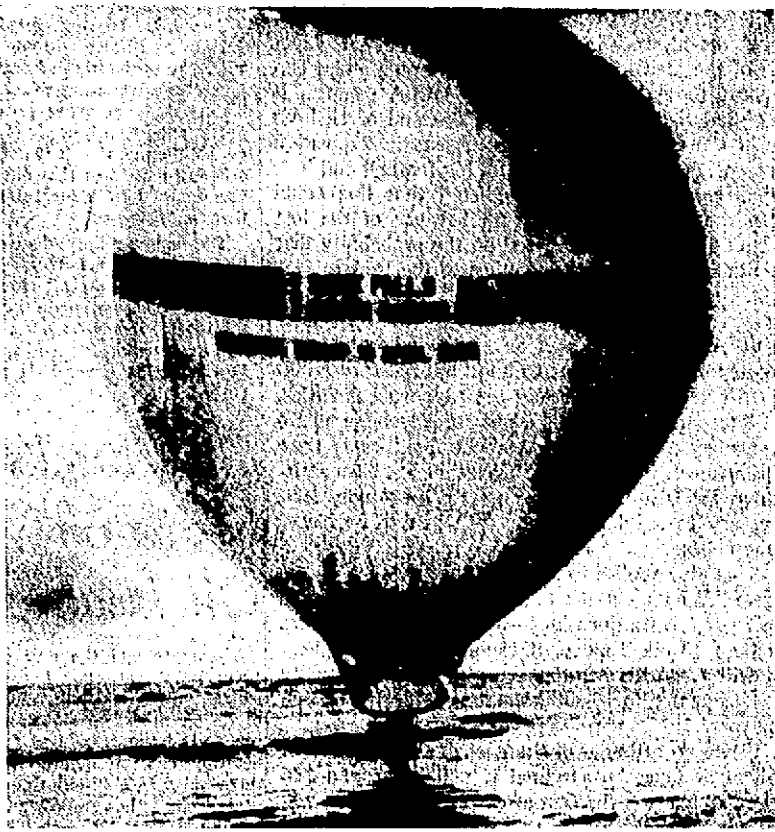

The Coast Guard said that among those dunked in the sea during the race Saturday were screen actor Cliff Robertson and stunt pilot Frank Tallman, who were riding one balloon.

The Coast Guard said the pair was picked up by a private boat and taken to Oceanside.

The first balloon to fall was piloted by Don Piccard, scion of the famed balloonist family and himself holder of most of the world's balloon altitude records.

His balloon skinned the top of a home on a hill above Avalon shortly after take-off and he was barely

Mend Cut Lines To 5,000 Phones

General Telephone Co. repairmen were still busy early today trying to return service to normal in Rolling Hills and Rolling Hills Estates where more than 5,000 telephones had been out of service because of cable damage.

G. A. Woods, public relations director for the company, said service to 127 "critical" customers was interrupted in the Frontier 7 exchange when cables on Palms Verdes Peninsula were cut with hacksaws.

Woods said telephone communications with the Air Force SAGE warning installation, the Army Nike defense-missile base and the U.S. Coast Guard peninsula transmitter were broken when 10 cables were sawed through near an automatic switching center in Rolling Hills Estates at Highridge Road and Crest Road.

Los Angeles County fire units and the sheriff's office sent extra men and equipment into the area and maintained radio communication with patrol units to provide emergency contact with the isolated area.

TWO FIRE stations, at 4000 Miralesta Plaza, Palos Verdes, and 12 Crest Road, Rolling Hills, were cut off from phone service.

R. Parker Sullivan, president of the Santa Monica-based company, authorized $10,000 reward Saturday for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone damaging telephone property.

4 Stores Burn on Atlantic Ave.

Five fire engine companies were battling a blaze in four businesses in the 5100 block of Atlantic Avenue early this morning.

A fireman said the blaze swept through Howard Furniture and Appliance store, Atlantic Rug and Carpet Co., Thrift-D-Way Cleaners and the Habit Tavern. There were no injuries.

75 Arrested as Negroes Picket Klan

ATLANTA (AP)—At least 75 persons were arrested Saturday night in two racial demonstrations in downtown Atlanta after Negroes picketed a restaurant in which several Ku Klux Klansmen were having coffee.

Thirty were arrested in a melee outside the Krystal Restaurant on Marietta Street.

At least 45 more persons were arrested outside the city jail where they had gone to protest the first arrests.

POICE SAID they arrested the second group, members of civil rights organizations, after they refused to move on. Officers said the second group raised a loud protest outside the jail.

The first group included 27 Negroes and three white persons. They were charged with disorderly conduct.

A spokesman for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee said the second group was singing freedom songs outside the city jail and then some of them sat down in a nearby parking lot. After the arrests some walked and some were carried to jail.

87 Die in Formosa Quake, 320 Injured

TAIPEI, Formosa, Sunday (AP) — A sharp earthquake that rocked Formosa Saturday killed 87 persons, injured 320 and left thousands homeless, the nationalist government reported today.

In Chiayi, a huge fire destroyed 124 houses.

No Americans or other foreigners were reported among the casualties.

The weather bureau said that the sharpest tremors that hit Tainan, the former capital, were grade five in the ascending scale of six used in Formosa. At Chiayi they were grade four and in Taipei grade three.

The quake continued for 30 minutes after the first hard jolts.

Buildings in Taipei, a city of more than one million persons, shuddered under the impact but there were no reported casualties or major damage.

Throughout Formosa thousands fled into the streets.

Press dispatches said 32 persons were killed in the Tainan area and more than 100 injured. Eight were dead in Chiayi and more than 100 injured. More than 300 houses collapsed. Most of those killed were felled by flying debris.

The Chiayi fire apparently was started by overturned charcoal stoves.

Nationalist Chinese armed forces worked through the night aiding the injured and the homeless.

Tainan, a city of 250,000, is an economic center with a big Nationalist air force base.

Rail and highway communications were cut in the Chiayi area and electric light and power service was interrupted at Tainan for two hours.

Tainan, near the Formosa Strait, is 160 miles south of Taipei.

Founded by the Dutch in 1660, it became Formosa's capital in 1862 under the name of Taiwanfu. The name was changed to Tainan when the government was transferred to Taipei in 1885.

ONE ENGINE KNOCKED OUT

7 Hurt as Turbulence Hits Jetliner

CLEVELAND (AP) — An American Airlines jet with 87 passengers aboard ran into severe turbulence over the New Mexico-Colorado border Saturday, injuring four passengers and three stewardesses.

The plane, with one of its four engines out, continued to Cleveland, where one passenger was hospitalized and the other injured were treated and released.

The plane, a Boeing 707, was on a flight from Los Angeles.

Airport operations at Cleveland Hopkins Airport said the plane made a routine landing.

Pilot of the plane was Capt. H. Schmidt of Los Angeles. He said the throttle failed to respond on the right engine after the turbulence shook the plane.

One of the passengers said the turbulence had been sighted on radar and the passengers were told to fasten their seat belts. The passenger said trays and other objects flew from their compartments.

The flight from where the trouble started to Cleveland took about two hours. Charles Harris, manager of the airline here, said it was decided to continue to Cleveland rather than land because none of the injuries appeared serious.

Kept at Fairview Park Hospital was Mrs. Blanche Harris of Euclid, a Cleveland suburb, who suffered a fractured vertebra in her back.

A physician on the plane suggested the pilot continue to Cleveland.

Sprinkle Ends Long Drought

After two months of unbroken drought the rains came—but not much nor for long. In Long Beach Saturday it amounted to .12 inch.

The prediction for today is no rain in the area except for scattered showers in the foothills. Persons nostalgic for snow can find it at the 5,000-foot elevation.

Decision Against Atom Power for Carrier Explained

M'NAMARA SEES RUSS SUBS AS THREAT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Looking to 1970, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara believes that the greatest increase in military threats from Soviet Russia will be in nuclear-powered submarines and long-range reconnaissance and attack capabilities.

That is why, the Pentagon's civilian chief explained to a critical congressional atomic committee, he decided against spending $160 million more to provide nuclear power for the Navy's new aircraft carrier for which Congress voted $280 million for conventional power.

In testimony taken in October and November and released in censored form Saturday by the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, McNamara stressed these points:

1. Large aircraft carriers, pride of Navy admirals and aviators, have a relatively low priority in over-all defense needs. The secretary ranked the controversial new carrier in 7th place.

2. The big increase in costs of fighting ships "is pricing the Navy out of the market. There are other ways of doing these jobs."

3. A nuclear-powered Navy has advantages

Sec. McNamara reveals critical shortage of fighter and transport planes during Cuban crisis in 1962. See story on Page A-10.

over other power but the added costs must be reduced.

4. The United States could afford to spend as much as $80 billion a year on defense—compared to recent costs of about $50 billion—but the secretary thinks this is unnecessary.

Sharp differences with McNamara's views on nuclear power for the future Navy and the strategic value of aircraft carriers were voiced by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., chairman of the committee.

McNamara announced last Oct. 25 that the new aircraft carrier would use conventional propulsion. The closed committee hearings followed on Oct. 30 and 31, with naval officials and admirals urging a shift to nuclear power, and McNamara rejecting this at a closed session Nov. 13.

Pastore held that the Pentagon should ask Congress to reverse its previous decision and order nuclear power for the new carrier.

He asked also that all future major surface ships for the Navy use nuclear power.

McNamara said defense planning must meet probable future threats and argued that between now and 1970 "you can be fairly sure of two things":

"One is more Soviet nuclear-powered submarines. The other is greater Soviet capabilities for long-range reconnaissance and long-range attack."

Both "endanger an aircraft carrier substantially," McNamara said. He added that countering U.S. forces should include more U.S. killer submarines, and many patrol and similar smaller surface vessels.

For the next five or six years, McNamara said, he expects the Navy will continue to require some 800 fighting ships for its global missions. Although he gave aircraft carriers a low priority, he indicated two or more would be built, adding:

"I don't know whether they will be conventional or nuclear. I hope they will be nuclear."

"I believe this nation is wealthy enough to buy whatever defense we require to maintain our security," he said. "I don't think it makes any difference from that point of view whether it is $40, $50, or $80 billion."

AUTOGRAPH SEEKERS DISMAY WINNER

Crowd of 200 Hails First Aeronaut to Cross Channel

By KEN KNIGHT

Neither rain nor ill winds nor the fact that most people think he is crazy prevented Ed Yost from winning the first annual Catalina Channel Balloon Race Saturday.

After spending two hours, and 40 minutes aloft, Yost gently dropped his balloon, the Raven, into the water and coasted in on the crests of the waves.

His trip, hampered by winds with gusts up to 25 miles an hour and frequent rain squalls, covered 32½ miles from Avalon to a level stretch of beach two miles north of San Clemente.

GREETED by a crowd of more than 200, attracted by the big balloon floating 50 feet above the water, Yost's first words were, "No problem."

Almost completely overwhelmed by the greeters, the 37-year-old pioneer of balloon racing, said his feat of crossing the Catalina Channel was easier than his flying a balloon over the English Channel three years ago.

"This was easier," Yost said. "The Channel crossing took three hours and 17 minutes."

A NATIVE of Sioux Falls, North Dakota, Yost attributed his success over the other seven entrants to his flying at a low altitude.

"Winds were too bad high up, so I went down to 400 feet and found that I could go along the coast real easy. When I went to 300 feet the winds brought me right in to shore."

Starting with two hours supply of the propane gas that is burned to fill the nylon bag with hot air, Yost ended his flight with 90 minutes of fuel remaining.

"I could probably have stayed aloft for at least another hour," Yost said.

ONE QUESTION from the spectators puzzled Yost and he couldn't answer.

"What did you win, Ed?" was the query.

"Golly, I don't know," Yost replied.

But for his efforts, Yost will receive a color television set, a cashmere and mink cape, a case of champagne

HOT-AIR BAG SCRAPES HOME, FALLS ON SLOPE

Near-Disaster Seen From Air

By WILLIAM JONES

In 15 minutes Saturday, we saw a struggle for life or death in the skies over Avalon.

Breaking through the fog, the plane suddenly came upon one of the first hot-air balloons to go aloft.

It was scraping the top of a large home on a mountain-top.

YOU COULD see the lone pilot perched beneath the huge balloon frantically working his controls to gain altitude.

By sheer chance, the man floated over the home, and barely escaped crashing into a hillside.

You could see that he was out of control in the blasting wind. You knew it would be only a matter of seconds before the huge radish-shaped bag would drag him to the ground.

THEN THE crash came, unbelievably on a gentle slope. Only a few yards away was a high cliff over the ocean.

The crash dashed the balloonist to the ground. Pilot Bob Tracy raced our small airplane over the scene of the accident. No one in the plane spoke a word.

Below us, we could see the collapsed orange-and-white balloon with its tanks of fuel. We also saw people getting out of their cars on the road above and running down the slope through heavy brush. Two police cars, with red lights on, speeded toward the scene.

BEFORE anyone reached the balloon, we saw the pilot emerge from the wreckage. He stood up and began walking toward the road, apparently unhurt.

You could feel the tension leave our airplane in that second. No one had to say a word. I think we each had said a prayer.

We got out of there. Tracy banked the plane and in front of us we spotted three balloons heading south. We raced after them.

Halfway out, I happened to look back through the rear window of the aircraft.

ONE OF THE balloons was falling into the sea.

Tracy banked the plane again and we rushed back. Ahead of us, we could see the arrow-straight wakes of two speedboats racing toward the downed balloonist. Two Marine helicopters circled the area.

By the time we got there, one of the boats was hauling the balloonist aboard. Crew members were lashing the balloon to the side of the boat.

We turned back to follow the other balloons. Beneath us, we could see that the gusty winds were propelling the balloons too fast for their escort boats to stay with them.

VERY shortly, we caught up to the last balloon—a huge white monster with the name, "Raven," printed on it.

He was only 60 feet above the water.

There was an eerie feeling in the cabin of our plane when the balloonist waved a greeting to us.

Two more rescue helicopters started to whirl around him. We could see his escort boat racing up to him.

But the sun was now setting, fuel had become a problem in our plane and we headed back to Long Beach.

When we landed, the only feeling we could express was: "These horrifying, idiotic, stupid—courageous—balloonists."

Where Else?

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI)—The Merseyside Advice Bureau for Alcoholics said it is receiving telephone calls from persons who want to order liquor. The Bureau's phone number formerly was held by a liquor store.

6 Balloons Ditched, Hunt Woman

Race officials credited the work of yachtsmen, the Coast Guard and Marine helicopters in averting even a greater tragedy.

The Coast Guard fished Richard A. Higbie, a Balboa attorney, from the chilly channel waters five miles off the mainland.

An escorting boat saved another balloonist, John Crawford of Los Angeles, when he dropped into the sea.

DURING THE race, the Coast Guard had a plane, two helicopters and a cutter in the area. There was also a chase boat for each balloon. In addition, Marine helicopters were diverted to the scene when the balloons began falling.

The first balloon, piloted by Tallman and Robertson, took off at 2:06 p.m., hopping for a 30-mile crossing of the channel.

WINDY downdrafts, fog and rainstorms soon clouded hope that the balloonists could make an easy crossing.

The winning pilot, Yost, for example, landed two miles north of San Clemente, nearly 50 miles south of the intended landing point.

AT THAT, his balloon came down some yards off shore and he had to ride to land on the crest of the waves.

Altogether, he spent a harrowing two hours and 40 minutes in the air. Maximum fuel supply on the balloons was four hours.

The Coast Guard said there was a welter of confusing messages on the race and it was impossible to determine if anyone had been seriously injured.

OCCUPANTS of an airplane, chartered by The Independent, Press-Telegram, observed the hillside crash and another balloon going into the ocean about three miles off of Catalina.

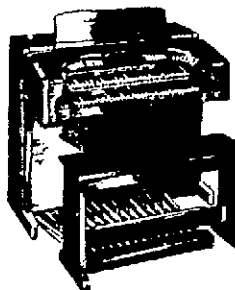

When the plane flew back to Long Beach because of dusk and fuel consumption, two balloons were seen to the south of Catalina, floating into the ocean.

REBUILT BATHYSCAPHE DEDICATED

Trieste Made More Nimble

By BOB SANDERS

The bathyscaphe Trieste, which holds the world's record for ocean descent by virtue of having hit bottom in the deepest known part of the world's oceans, was rededicated Friday.

The Trieste recently returned from the Mare Island Naval Shipyard where a brand new float, or buoyancy chamber, was put on her sphere, or cockpit.

The new float, 67 feet long and 15 feet wide, will allow the Trieste to be towed to its diving spot at 10 knots instead of the lumbering 4 knots the old float allowed. It also is expected to improve the Trieste's underwater maneuverability.

The Trieste last figured in the news when she journeyed to Cape Cod to search for the submarine, USS Thresher. In 3 of 10 dives the Trieste found debris from the Thresher. This summer she will be taken to the East Coast to try again.

More than 400 people, including the crew of the Trieste, and ranking officials of the Mare Island shipyard and the Navy Electronics Laboratory and their wives, were present for the dedication ceremonies at the San Diego installation.

Rear Adm. Dennis W. Knoll, oceanographer of the Navy, delivered the dedicatory address in which he outlined the Trieste's history from its construction by the great Swiss scientist, the late Auguste Piccard, to its achievements in the Thresher search.

"The conquest of inner-space, our oceans, is yet to be glamorized," he said, "nevertheless, achievements in ocean exploration have been as awe-inspiring as those of outer space."

Adm. Knoll outlined the long-range goals of oceanography, in which the Trieste will play a major role, as:—Feeding the underprivileged peoples of the world by adding seafood to their diets.

—Providing fresh water to arid areas of the world by advancing techniques for converting sea to fresh water.

—Making available new sources of chemical elements for technological development.

—Implementing realistically many of our foreign policies affecting the welfare of mankind.

Climax of the ceremony came when Mrs. Donald L. Keach, wife of the officer in charge of the ship, tugged at a line and up-ended an oceanographer's sample bottle, dumping a couple of quarts of deep-sea water over the new hull of the bathyscaphe.

A few minutes later a huge 100-ton floating crane plucked the 53-ton bathyscaphe from its cradle on the beach and, with eight workmen tugging at four lines to keep it in line, dropped it gently into the water of San Diego Bay.

After a series of shakedown dives the Trieste expects to be ready to continue its undersea research and, sometime this spring or early summer, will make another attempt to locate the Thresher.

If it does, much of the credit will be due to the newly designed float and its added maneuverability in the water.

Bengtsen is charged with copying and signing 30 paintings by better-known Danish artists.

Storm said the paintings he bought were not among the alleged forgeries, but were painted by Bengtsen in jail.

Overflow Crowd Hears 'Ravishing' Mary Costa

By RACHEL MORTON

The huge audience which overflowed with standees along the sides and back of the San Pedro High School auditorium Friday night had its eyes and ears ravished under the spell of the fabulous soprano, Mary Costa.

(Would that Long Beach might be privileged to hear a song recital by Mary Costa.) Coming fresh from her triumphant debut at the Metropolitan Opera a few days ago, she was presented by the Community Concert Association, and her excellent accompanist was Gerhard Alberheim.

From her first dazzling entrance in a chartreuse chiffon gown sparkling with diamonds to the last friendly wave of farewell at the close, Mary Costa held her audience spellbound. Her blonde beauty coupled with her contagious vivacity won her listeners at once.

BUT IT was Mary Costa's singing and artistry that left one gasping. To an absolute control of a magnificent voice there was added a profound inner sense of interpretation. Always an aristocrat, the sum total of her performance was utter perfection.

Only a great artist would dare to open a program with a difficult aria, "Marten Aller Arten," from "The Abduction from Seraglio" by Mozart, but Mary Costa sang it with dramatic power and with astonishing vocalism.

It was a tour de force. In four songs by Schubert she entered into the true spirit of German lieder with full, rich tone, whether expressing the tender love of the Liebesbotschaft, the tragedy of Gretchen am Spinnrade, the quiet intimacy of Fruhlingsglaube or the passion of Rastlose Liebe. Her deeply felt emotions were beautifully expressed also in her facial expressions.

The French composer Milhaud was represented by four songs which were really terrific. Enormous vocal leaps were accomplished without apparent effort and with great care and finesse. The "Duet with a Blackbird" was inimitable comedy.

An aria from "La Wally" by Catalani was gloriously sung and revealed Miss Costa's tremendous dramatic gifts.

The subtlety of Debussy's music was enchantingly captured in the singing of four songs, the more thrilling of which was the poignantly nostalgic "C'est l'Extase Langoureuse." Here the mood created by Miss Costa's singing made applause afterwards seem sacrilegious. The other songs were "Chevaux de Bois," the dizzing accompaniment to which was spectacularly played by Alberheim.

THERE were two catchy songs by Lukas Foss and five American folk songs arranged by Copland, Edmunds and Niles, which Miss Costa sang charmingly, especially one called "The Watercresses."

The program closed with a beautiful rendition of "Un Bel Di" from "Madame Butterfly" by Puccini. With her encores came some of the greatest singing of the evening. Particularly fine was "Moon" by Dvorak, and "Musetta's Waltz Song" from "La Boheme" by Puccini. It was an evening not soon to be forgotten.

PATMAN SAID he expects the hearings to last several weeks and involve dozens of witnesses.

The first will be Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. "Any federal institution that has not been looked into for nearly 30 years should have a checkup," Patman said. "... we are living in a new country and a new world—we should look at the most powerful banking system on earth, our Federal Reserve, in the light of the United States 1964."

FRB Audit Demanded by Patman

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve is the world's most powerful banking system, but is subject to no "thoroughgoing audit" and has not been investigated in 30 years, Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., said Saturday.

Patman is chairman of the House Banking Committee, which opens hearings Tuesday on the operations of the Federal Reserve System. He is probably the most vocal critic in Congress of the system, decrying especially what he calls its tendency to act independently of the national administration in setting policies that affect the nation's money supply and interest rates.

PATMAN SAID he expects the hearings to last several weeks and involve dozens of witnesses.

The first will be Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr.

"Any federal institution that has not been looked into for nearly 30 years should have a checkup," Patman said. "... we are living in a new country and a new world—we should look at the most powerful banking system on earth, our Federal Reserve, in the light of the United States 1964."

PATMAN HAS introduced legislation indicating how he thinks the Federal Reserve should be renovated, and he said more is in preparation. Some of his proposals:

—Abolish Martin's job by making the secretary of the Treasury chairman of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors.

—Reorganize the board to consist of 11 members, besides the secretary, instead of the present seven members. Cut terms of office from 14 years to four.

JFK Death Probe Timing Is Critical

NEW YORK (AP)—The chief counsel for the commission probing the assassination of President John F. Kennedy said Saturday the bipartisan body will have to consider the possible political impact of the timing of its report.

The spokesman, J. Lee Rankin, said the matter had not come up for discussion but "I think the commission is going to have to consider that whole problem."

RANKIN'S remarks were in response to questions about stories appearing Saturday in the New York Herald Tribune and the New York Post. Both accounts dealt with the political ramifications of the timing of the report in relation to the national conventions and election this year.

The commission, appointed by President Johnson and headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, meets next week.

The Herald Tribune, in a dispatch from Washington, said the members are "deeply concerned" about whether to report before or after the conventions. The Republicans meet July 13 and the Democrats Aug. 25.

The Post, also in a Washington dispatch, said the commission "plans to step up operations in hope of completing its report before the national conventions.

ALTHOUGH Rankin said the commission as a body had not taken up the matter of timing, he declined to say whether he might have discussed this individually with its members.

The Herald Tribune said: "The commission reportedly is aware that findings critical of various U. S. agencies in the preparation and handling of President Kennedy's fatal trip to Dallas Nov. 22 and the investigation of his assassination could serve a purpose beyond the original objectives."

ONE DAY ONLY—MONDAY, JANUARY 20

Everybody knows that elephants come in three colors . . . gray, pink and white. The gray ones are found in India, Africa, and circuses; the pink ones in (pardon the expression) Gay Spots and the white ones at WALKER'S, WHITE ELEPHANT HEADQUARTERS. This singular honor was made possible by our Compulsive White Elephant Buyer, B.W.E. He can smell a herd of White Elephants from here to the east coast . . . and we have them to prove it. Come see this Monumental Collection of Pure, White Pachyderms, share the enormous values and meet the genius who made all this possible. Many unadvertised items . . . limited quantities . . . be here early.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

LBJ Asks Nikita to Support U.N.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson sent a message to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Saturday urging increased use of United Nations peace-keeping machinery.

The message was handed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly E. Dobrynin.

It was in reply to a message Khrushchev had sent Johnson and a large number of other world leaders Jan. 3. Khrushchev proposed that world powers sign a declaration renouncing the use of force in territorial disputes.

Johnson's reply was not expected to be made public until today or Monday when Khrushchev will have received it. The reply was understood to be more of a counter-proposal than a rejection of Khrushchev's plan.

McCloskey Comes Home to Raise Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Matthew W. McCloskey, inventor of the $100-a-plate political fund-raising dinner, has resigned as ambassador to Ireland and will help the Democratic Party raise money for the 1964 general election campaign, the White House announced today.

McCloskey's return from wearin' of the green to raising it, marks the end of a political reward he got less than two years ago from another sentimental Irishman, John F. Kennedy. The ambassadorship was in appreciation of the millionaire Philadelphia contractor's notable success in raising huge sums of money for the party.

Johnson to Tell of High Prosperity

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson will tell Congress Monday that the U.S. economy soared to a record $600 billion level late in 1963. He will call for quick approval of the proposed $11.1-billion tax cut to bring greater prosperity this year.

White House sources said Saturday that Johnson also will picture Senate passage of the House-approved tax-reduction bill as the key to avoiding recession and spurring growth.

The sources, giving an advance peek at the President's economic message, said the chief executive would disclose that the gross national product (GNP) has climbed by a record $100 billion in the past three years.

Panama Businessmen Warn U.S.

PANAMA CITY (UPI)—A committee of Panamanian businessmen warned the United States Saturday it must yield to Panamanian demands on the Canal Zone because Panama is not going to back down.

The committee said not only must current demands be negotiated but the United States must prepare for eventual withdrawal from the waterway, leaving it entirely under Panamanian control.

The views were spelled out for U.S. and other foreign businessmen here by a committee of top Panama business, professional and industrial figures who formed what they called "The National Committee for Reaffirmation."

Their news-conference support for President Roberto Chari's tough stand on the issue came as evacuated U.S. Embassy and Embassy-connected personnel waited in the zone for instructions from Washington on their next move in the deadlocked crisis.

Marine Engineers Idle Five Ships

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Marine engineers Saturday idled five West Coast ships, including the luxury liner President Wilson, by refusing to go to sea until they get greater pension benefits.

A spokesman for their union said the work stoppage was unauthorized.

Vessels affected were those whose owners are members of the Pacific Maritime Association. Conceivably, the work stoppage could tie up all 130 ships represented by the PMA on the West Coast.

Frankster Clips 'Hot Line' to Moscow

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI)—A prankster or thief, but not a saboteur, clipped in two the Moscow-Washington "hot line" set up last year to prevent an accidental atomic war between the world's nuclear giants, Finnish police said today. It was repaired quickly.

Police said someone cut a 20-foot chunk from the telegraph cable in the early hours of Jan. 9, west of Helsinki.

The cable, running above ground from Helsinki to a relay station at nearby Porkkala, carries the direct teleprinter "hot line" channel between the White House and the Kremlin and 11 other communication channels.

Truman Supports Sen. Young

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—U.S. Sen. Stephen Young Saturday picked up the support of former President Harry S. Truman as the senator began his re-election fight against the challenge of space hero John H. Glenn.

Truman, almost the only Democrat of consequence to support Young in his upset victory six years ago, told the senator's campaign manager in Cleveland he wanted to see Young returned to the Senate.

The showdown will come Monday afternoon when about 700 Democrats from all over the state meet in the ballroom where Glenn plunged into politics Friday to endorse candidates for the coming election.

4 Lost as Viet Reds Down U.S. Copter

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Communist gunners downed another U.S. helicopter and fought on Saturday against American-supported Vietnamese troops trying to wipe out Red bases in the Mekong River delta.

Two American crewmen, a Vietnamese and a British observer were listed as missing and believed dead in a helicopter incident at the mouth of the Mekong.

'Miss Wonderful' Abandoner Seen

Investigation of Saturday's abandonment of six-week-old "Miss Wonderful" at the doorway of Lakewood First Baptist Church revealed a resident of the area watched a woman leave the infant there, police said Saturday night.

The witness, whose name was withheld, was to be interviewed by detectives who are seeking to trace the mother.

The infant, bundled in blankets, warmly dressed and provided with a suitcase of extra clothing and a market sack of full formula-bottles and canned milk, was abandoned early Saturday.

She was found after a woman called Mrs. Harold S. Carlson, whose husband is the minister, and reported the baby was at the church, 5336 Arbor Road.

At the request of Mrs. Carlson, whose husband was out of town, the assistant minister, Rev. Edwin Bonander, went to the church and found the girl.

Saturday night, the witness called police and said he observed the woman from across the street.

The baby, dubbed Miss Wonderful by officers, was reported in good health at the juvenile division nursery, feeding on a formula described in a note left with her.

5 Boys Drown as Ice Breaks
WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI)—Five boys, including two sets of brothers, drowned Saturday when they fell through the ice of a frozen pond where they were playing.

The victims ranged in age from 5 to 8. They were identified as Robert Harmon, 6; Ricky Harmon, 8; Allen Hall, 7; Brian Hall, 5 and Matthew Williams, 6.

L.B. Trio Rescues Them

MINISTER SAVES WIFE'S LIFE

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

P.T. Outdoor Editor

A Wilmington minister saved his wife from drowning in Lake Mead and they, in turn, were rescued from an isolated cove in below-freezing weather by three Long Beach persons in another boat.

All this occurred late in the afternoon of Jan. 10, but was not disclosed until late last week when the five participants returned to Long Beach.

HERE IS the strange sequence of events:

Rev. Vincent Irwin, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Wilmington, and his wife, Elaine, of 22821 Catskill, Wilmington, had taken their 23-foot trailer to Temple Bar, Lake Mead, for a fishing trip.

They embarked in their 12-foot aluminum boat and cruised into Monkey Cove.

At about 1:15 p.m. the pastor stood up in the boat to cast and suddenly tripped. Realizing he was going to fall overboard, he tried to dive so as not to upset the craft.

His foot caught the side and when he came up, he saw that the boat was capsized. Looking around frantically for his wife, he saw her down about five feet. He dived and brought her up to the boat.

She had been hurt and was semiconscious.

He got her into the life jacket and she gained consciousness, enough so she could cling to the boat. Irwin started swimming toward shore. It was at least an hour in 40-degree water before he was able to beach the boat and get his wife ashore.

MEANWHILE, back at Temple Bar, Walter E. Hoffman, Long Beach electrical contractor and a member of the Southern California Tuna Club, had set out in his boat with Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hurley, 4224 Pepperwood Ave., Lakewood, for a fishing trip.

They, too, cruised into Monkey Cove and, as usual, Walt kept the motor going even though they were casting for bass. Finally Mrs. Hurley told Walt they might have a better chance to catch fish if he cut the motor. He did, and it was then, just minutes before darkness, that they heard some one crying, "HELP, HELP, HELP!"

They saw a man, waving and yelling, on a high knoll. After Irwin had reached shore, he and his wife had set out on foot to try to reach Temple Bar, an impossible nine-mile hike over rough terrain at night. After walking on sharp rocks for an hour, the pastor left his wife and climbed the knoll.

HE HAD been screaming "HELP!" for some time before Walt cut the motor. Hoffman and the Hurleys roared away to the shore and took on board Mrs. Irwin. The three men had a rough time in finally righting the boat and getting it into towing position.

The five persons finally returned to Temple Bar and, shortly thereafter, a howling gale started and the temperature dropped to 28 degrees that night. While the Irwins might have survived such a night on the rocky ridges of Monkey Cove, they would, no doubt, have been in serious condition.

THE IRWINS salvaged their boat and motor, but they lost everything else, including Mrs. Irwin's purse with their money, all their new fishing equipment and an expensive camera. All in all, said the pastor, their loss totaled about $800, but he added: "Those were material things. Our lives were spared by the good Lord and the help of Mr. Hoffman and his friends."

The strange sequence proved another thing: Always stay with the boat if it's floating.

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—The 1964 Powder Puff Derby, which will take off from Fresno on the Fourth of July, will cover 2,573 miles and pass over nine intermediate stops before it ends at Atlantic City, N. J., on July 8.

The planes will start taking off from Fresno Air Terminal at 8 a.m. and must land at the National Aviation Facilities Experimental Center at Atlantic City by midnight July 8 in order to qualify in the competition.

Official stops on the cross-country race are Las Vegas, Nev.; Winslow, Ariz.; Albuquerque, N. M.; Amarillo, Tex.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Fayetteville, Ark.; Cape Girardeau, Mo.; Lexington, Ky.; and Morgantown, W. Va.

Private Eyes Waive Fees to Indigents

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Private detectives in Northern California will make their services available free of charge to indigent Federal Court defendants.

The plan was reported by Lee Manning, secretary-treasurer of the Northern California Division of the California Association of Private Investigators.

Manning said the private investigators will volunteer their services to lawyers appointed by Federal Court judges to defend indigents facing criminal charges.

Their main functions would be to assist the attorneys in preparing defense cases.

Feb. 27 in the Edgewater Inn. Panel chairmen to lead the following topics are: Cultural activities, Wallace Arntzen; Traffic and Transportation, Gordon Sandberg; Problems in Education, C. N. Patterson, dean of business and technology, Long Beach City College; Crime and Law Enforcement, Long Beach Police Chief William Mooney; Industrial and Commercial Development, Allan Cooley; Shoreline and Harbor Development, Clare McCord.

The annual congress of sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce which invites each group to send at least six delegates to the meeting.

BIG CHEESE

34,561 Pound Block in Works

DENMARK, Wis. (UPI)—Preparation of the world's largest cheese will begin at midnight Monday and final work on the 34,561 pound Cheddar block is expected to be completed 2½ days later.

The cheese will measure about 14½ feet long, 6½ feet wide and 5 feet 8 inches high.

Roland C. Behle, managing director of the Wisconsin Cheese Foundation, said the cheese was being prepared for display at the New York World's Fair. Steve Suidzinski, who has prepared other large cheeses, is directing the project.

Segovia Cancels

OSAKA, Japan (UPI)—Andres Segovia, Spanish guitar virtuoso, canceled his planned trip to Japan for the 1964 International Festival at Osaka because of illness. A cable from the 70-year-old musician, received today, said his doctors had advised him against leaving Spain.

FORECAST FOR TODAY

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): You are active and energetic. You are busy for vital change. Key is to spread your wings. Don't be satisfied until you have reached the top. Break away from routine. (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Much can be accomplished if you are steady. Concentrate on basic material. Don't reach for the far-off until you have mastered the near. Apply due to affairs of the heart.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20): You can draw vitality from work, hobby, fresh ideas. Be aware, alert. Realize your own value. Appreciate yourself. Others will follow you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19): Don't feel you are being "ruled." Means let your own ideas lead. Accept words of encouragement. Day can provide excitement and spiritual fulfillment. Permit it to be so.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20): Cycle continues. High. Strive to be alone. Probe feelings. Be sure you are doing what's best—don't just what others expect.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: You are independent, have much pride; you are generous, but constructive changes, including possible change of residence.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Prominent SHOCKINGLY.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Cycle high. Key is self-reliance. Depending upon associates or "experts" could prove costly. Do some personal checking. Arrive at your own final decision.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Delve deep. Come up with "hidden" information. Don't judge people or information by "cover" stories. Forensic indications. Keep digging until you reach pay dirt.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Diplomacy, expression of sincere interest required. Those around you go to be over-sensitive. Not so good for making light of problems which appear foolish.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Favorable Moon aspect points up change. Delve, probe, search. Be sure you are doing what's best—don't just what others expect.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20): If you act with complete honesty, all is well. Prudence and hard work could result in disappointment. Stick close to home. Get sufficient rest. Key is moderation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19): Wonderful time for making new contacts, strengthening old ones. Current situation is excellent. Try to perfect various methods. Express willingness to experiment.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20): Can be time of major accomplishment. Be case of "blues" is arrested. You can now see more clearly. Your perception is sharpened. Your judgment—stress confidence.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: You are kind of music, can appreciate artistic talent—make fine critic or producer.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for Aries, Taurus, Gemini. Special word for Cancer, Leo, Virgo. Take a statement made by fellow worker.

JOB-EATING MACHINE is presided over by one man at Chrysler's Mound Road Engine Plant, Detroit. The machine drills oil passage holes in crank pins and main bearings. Auto is one of the industries hard hit by automation.

A SMALL PART of the growing army of unemployed workers line up for jobless pay insurance. Automation is bringing to a crisis point the old problem of displacement of men by machines.

Men vs. Machines

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Machines that put men out of jobs are a growing worry to American labor. They have been a worry since John Henry, the legendary steel driver of the 1870's, tried to outwork a newfangled steam drill and died with a hammer in his hand.

Today, rising concern over the problem of automation appears to be nearing something of a climax in the highest reaches of government, labor and industry.

Rep. William Fitts Ryan, D-N.Y., calling for a congressional study, warns of an approaching "economic revolution" as ever more men give way to automated production lines and electronic brains.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, and Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers chief, warn of the spectre of a chronic mass army of the unemployed they claim would make today's jobless total of 3.5 million look like a corporal's guard.

John I. Snyder Jr., head of a multi-million dollar company that makes automation equipment, says machines are replacing men at the rate of 40,000 jobs a week.

Meanwhile, the labor force grows at the rate of more than one million workers a year, the Labor Department says.

NO ONE, in short, disagrees that the problem is there.

Just how bad it is, and what to do about it, is something else again.

John Henry took the most direct approach, according to folklore, wielding a 20-pound hammer in each hand to drill two seven-foot holes in solid rock faster than the rudimentary steam drill.

"A man ain't nothing but a man," John Henry told his foreman in the words of one folk song based on his exploits, "but before I let that steam drill beat me in the ground, I'll die with a hammer in my hand."

John Henry won but he died in the effort.

MEN NO longer risk their lives trying to compete physically with machines that threaten their jobs, but their economic survival is at stake.

Take the railroads of today, facing a crisis that has been building up for more than four years after Diesel engines replaced virtually all the old coal burners.

The railroads served notice they intended to eliminate some 50,000 jobs as unnecessary, bringing the long dispute to a head. Congress finally stepped in with an emergency law to avert a nationwide train strike compulsory arbitration.

The railroad problem could be a harbinger of a long series of future labor disputes over automation.

The AFL-CIO says unemployment and automation are the most vital problems facing U.S. labor. It has begun a political drive to elect throughout the nation men pledged to find a solution.

THE PROBLEM, says Reuther, is beyond the power of collective bargaining alone, he sees it this way:

"When you sit at the bargaining table . . . and you represent two workers and there is only one job, there is no magic in the bargaining process that can solve the problem."

What, then, would organized labor do to solve it?

Shorter hours, a bigger share for workers of the productivity increases from automation, broad government programs, to educate the young and care for the elderly are some of the demands.

Reuther, quoting educator James B. Conant, says the approximately one million young persons who don't go to school and can't get a job are "social dynamite on America's doorstep."

THE NATION, Reuther says, will need 41 million new jobs in the next 10 years to take care of new young workers and offset job displacement by automation.

But "that's only the beginning," he said. "This is a whole new revolution because it's built around . . . the electronic brain." And the computer of today, with an impulse cycle of three-tenths of a millionth of a second, is already as obsolete as the Model T Ford he said.

JOHN I. SNYDER JR., president of U.S. Industries, automation producing concern, says it's a myth that automation creates jobs. If it were true "there would be no point in automating."

WALTER REUTHER, United Auto Workers chief: "When you sit at the bargaining table . . . and you represent two workers and there is only one job . . . no magic in the bargaining process can solve the problem."

SECRETARY of Labor W. Willard Wirtz calls the proposed $11 billion tax cut the best short-term solution to unemployment. He says it would spur activity.

For the long term, he favors a broad range of educational legislation to teach the young and unskilled how to compete in an increasingly technological job market.

But both solutions are bogged down in Congress and organized labor is becoming impatient.

THE PROBLEM worries industry too, for if jobs disappear, who will buy the rising flood of goods from the cornucopia of automation?

Snyder, president of U.S. Industries Inc., has formed a foundation to do something about it.

Snyder, whose firm produces a large percentage of automation equipment in its $100-million-a-year business, says "it is in the area of automation's effects on human beings that our foundation is focusing its primary attention."

But, he adds the problem "is too large, too all-encompassing, too serious a responsibility not to be everyone's."

He called it a myth that automation creates jobs. If that were true "there would be no point in automating," he said.

"If we are to survive as a nation, we will need new sociological and economic ideas to solve the problems we face in this area," Snyder said.

The problem is long-term but men must live in the short term.

Reuther declares:

"The unemployed in America can't pay their rent and they can't feed their kids and they can't assure them of a decent education just because we have a great economic potential."

And labor appears in no mood to wait for long-term solutions while men continue to lose jobs to machines.

The railroad unions say they have already lost 500,000 jobs in the last 10 years to automation.

"Don't expect us to hear the full burden of this transition," says one union spokesman.

JUDGE A MODEL OF COMPOSURE UNTIL HE ENTERS FREEWAY

L.A. Psycho Court Like No Other in the Land

The morning session had gone badly.

One woman flatly had told Superior Court Judge William A. Munnell that she wasn't crazy—he was.

Another wide-eyed defendant took issue with the court for claiming she was insane. You see, it's her mother they should be out looking for.

To a visitor in Department 95—Psychiatric Court—on the grounds of Los Angeles General Hospital, Judge Munnell was shockingly calm. He didn't argue with the women. His voice was sympathetic, almost inaudible.

"YOU HAVE to realize," he said in his chambers at the noon break as he lit a cigar, "that these people are filled up to here with tranquilizers. Once they get out to the hospital and get some electrotherapy, they'll quiet down so the doctors can talk to them."

After two years on the bench of the unique court, Judge Munnell worries only that he may be losing his sense of humor and that "we may not be doing all we can for the mentally ill because medicine, psychiatry, are such inexact sciences."

Inexact or not, California is tearing into the judicial problem of mental illness in his court like no other state. His court staff is awesome in number and educational degrees, unmatched in any other court.

WHITE-CLAD nurses and male hospital aides move about while the court is in session. By Munnell's side sit two psychiatrists who are not reluctant to give their clinical, instant psychoanalysis of a case when he asks for it.

In front of him are seated the head of the court's Mental Institute, an institute counselor, a representative of the public defender's office and another from the district attorney's office. The latter, in his role as prosecutor, seems more intent on notifying defendants of their constitutional rights.

ON THE DESKS before all of them rest the case files, jammed with personal histories, medical records, prognoses of the case and recommendations.

Before the bench stand sex deviates, alcoholics, narcotic addicts and the "happy people," people whose minds have snapped in the struggle of life. The facial twitching, the psychotic outbursts of laughter during the court proceedings are eerie.

With few words, in a fast moment, Judge Munnell voices his decision. Lives, careers, dreams are changed. The questions answered: Should the person be admitted, what state institution, what type of treatment does it give—just what are you trying to do to help this person?

THAT'S THE trouble with the job, he says: the questions. Is someone trying to put an elderly relative into storage in a state institution, at state expense? The wife that claims her husband is insane—did she dream that one up after a family quarrel?

At the afternoon session, there are no questions when five young men appear before Judge Munnell.

All are narcotic addicts. All have walked into the court voluntarily and said they are addicts. All say they can't fight the battle against narcotics by themselves, that they need help from the court.

JUDGE MUNNELL commits each to the California Rehabilitation Center at Norco where a trained staff will treat them for addiction.

"Good luck, boy," Judge Munnell tells the first. He expresses similar feelings when he commits each of the others.

But now the worst part of the day has arrived. The imprisoned narcotic addicts have arrived in court, escorted by sheriff's deputies.

"Man, I want to go to prison, no hospital," one tells the judge.

"Man, you know everything," the prisoner snarls.

"They'll help you at the center."

"Man, this court is for—"

"Come back here," the judge says. A deputy helps the prisoner. "I'm postponing your case two weeks. I'll decide then."

(LATER, Munnell explains, "This might just be a one-day thing with this young man. He's upset, suffering from withdrawal from addiction. Two weeks will cool him off. Then, we'll see if his attitude has changed.")

The two psychiatrists argue over whether another person should be sent to the rehabilitation center.

"He has a police record of assaults," one debates. "He might be a bad apple at the center, stir up trouble."

"Well, his police troubles started when he began using narcotics," contends the other. "If we clear up the narcotics problem, I feel he will fall in line."

Munnell must decide. Prison or the treatment center?

"I'M SENDING him to the rehabilitation center," he says. "When he gets out there, he'll see the light."

The prisoners obviously is happy at the choice.

Two more walk before the bench, hard-looking, hard-talking. They wisecrack, interrupt the judge. But Munnell remains calm, sends each to the rehabilitation center. Another day is done, Munnell gets into his car to drive to his home in Montebello through the rush-hour traffic. That's when his temper snaps. "This lousy traffic!" he says.

Russ, Peking Break Seems Complete

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI)—It is now apparent that the ideological rift between the Soviet Union and Communist China is a complete break.

The schism has been accepted by both Moscow and Peking and there is virtually no chance of patching things up under the present leadership.

From now on, the two Red giants will go it alone under their existing regimes. Such gestures as there have been toward reconciliation—more on the side of the Kremlin than China—have ended.

This is the meaning most diplomatic observers read into Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's current African tour and his week-long side trip to Peking's only real ally on the European continent, Albania.

CHOU COULD not have signalled Peking's determination to veer away from Moscow under Premier Nikita Khrushchev's leadership more clearly than he did earlier this month during his talks with Albanian chief Enver Hoxha. Their language, jointly and separately, left no doubt.

In his farewell remarks Chou put an equal curse on "revisionist (meaning Khrushchev's coexistence line) and imperialists." Both, he said, were paper tigers.

"Only revolution," Chou said, "can resolve the various contradictions in the world," thus directly contradicting Khrushchev.

According to Henry Shapiro, UPI chief correspondent in Moscow and dean of western correspondents there, Chou's words and actions on his trip have palpably demonstrated "that the Chinese intend to go their own way independently of the Russians, and prospects for reconciliation now are practically nil."

INFORMED observers in London, and Far East diplomats currently in Europe, agree completely.

"Chou," Shapiro notes, "has made it clear that Peking would continue to turn a deaf ear to Khrushchev's repeated appeals to end Sino-Soviet polemics."

There are now indications that the Russians are fed up with their own turning-the-other-cheek. They are expected to hit back shortly with a new blast against the mounting Chinese efforts to split the world Communist movement.

Peking, too, is planning a new offensive, according to current reports. These reports say Red China is preparing to establish a powerful radio transmitting station in Albania to bombard all Eastern Europe with its own ideological concepts, while attacking Moscow's.

This is conceived as something of a Voice of Red China beamed over and through the iron curtain in much the same manner as the Voice of America carries its message counteracting Moscow.

ONE THING that did not develop in Albania during Chou's visit was a meeting of pro-Chinese Communist leaders. This was taken as a further indication that if Peking had had any thoughts of trying to work out a compromise with Moscow—possibly by bringing pressure to bear from within the European or African Communist camps—the thought has been abandoned.

Moscow, on the other hand, is believed to be still considering calling a world conference of Communist parties for a final showdown with the Chinese. Shapiro reports there is some pressure on Khrushchev not to do this by Communists whose loyalty to Moscow is unquestioned, but who fear the damaging effects of an irreconcilable split with China.

Meanwhile, Chou is preaching in Africa the Peking theme of revolution against all remnants of colonialism and, less openly, pushing the racial conflict in which China is paired with the non-white races against the white—with Russia placed in the latter camp.

Reporter Made Undercover Investigation

CITY LOOKING INTO MASSAGE PARLORS

By WILLIAM JONES

On Friday the 13th last month, Long Beach Vice Squad Lt. Lew H. Jacobsen sat down with me and began a two-hour indoctrination course that was to change my identity.

The mission was to visit massage parlors in the weeks that followed posing as a regular customer.

During this indoctrination, I was told what to look like, what to say, and—eventually—what to report.

I was given a new name. And, with the help of a downtown Long Beach firm, I became a Singer Sewing Machine "salesman."

A few hours later, I sat in my car in front of the first massage parlor. In my pockets were wads of sewing machine literature. My wallet with proper identification was stored in the glove compartment.

I TOOK A HEALTHY mouthful from the bottle of cheap whiskey in my car, swished it around in my mouth and walked up to the door. ("The smell of alcohol on your breath should help you seem as a good-time Charlie, not an undercover man," they had told me.)

The house was as cheap as the whiskey. It needed a paint job as much as I needed nerves.

The woman who answered the door was blonde and about 35. There was the faint odor of perfume. Because of their work, masseuses generally keep their finger nails severely trimmed. But her nails were long, well-kept.

The furniture was cheap. There was little light in the house. A row of curtained cubicles took up most of the room. To the back, the door to the bathroom was open. In there, a red light bulb burned.

In most massage parlors, the customer undresses completely. He covers himself with a small towel. A good massage last 30 minutes or more.

But in this case, the blonde was through within 20 minutes.

"Is there anything else I can do for you?" she asked. "No," I said, and my first assignment was done.

The police know about her. She has been arrested once for immoral conduct. But, because she has not been convicted, she is allowed to continue to practice.

OBTAINING A MORALS conviction of a masseuse in Long Beach is difficult and is becoming more so as high courts take a more sophisticated view of sex offenses.

In Long Beach, the problem is becoming more acute because of the influx of masseuses. This is because Long Beach is one of the few cities in Southern California which still allows a masseuse to give a person of the opposite sex a massage.

There are 63 persons holding massage licenses in the city today, nearly doubled from the number 10 years ago. The telephone book lists 23 massage parlors, notably under the first names of women.

As surrounding cities, one by one, have banned the opposite-sex massage, Long Beach has become the mecca of masseuses.

Police time is being taken to photograph, fingerprint, interview and process the applications of the line of women seeking massage licenses.

Checking the backgrounds of these women is difficult, police said. Though the laws says she must have a diploma from a school of massage, many are from out-of-state, from out of the country.

"We'd have to go around the world, personally checking these so-called schools," said Lt. Jacobsen, "if we wanted an accurate picture of their education."

"Many of these women," he added, "are from countries like Sweden, Denmark and Norway where society views morals from a different standpoint."

ONCE THE MASSEUSE obtains her Long Beach license for $25, police work is only beginning.

Complaints, mostly anonymous, must be checked out. Undercover agents have spent months revisiting a particular troublesome establishment before obtaining an arrest.

Because of the so-called "entrapment law," the undercover agent is prohibited from making the first verbal inquiry of an illegal act. Because of the privacy in massage parlors, it is impossible to have a third party as a witness.

Even after arrests, records show that most of the women escaped with fines as low as $50. Few served any jail time.

Police Chief William Mooney has carried out an intensive investigation of the problem in recent months. Four arrests have been made in the last three months at massage parlors. Information from the separate investigation by this newspaper was given to police.

But now, legal experts say, there is the possibility that the Long Beach ordinance—allowing the opposite-sex massage, but prohibiting any hanky-panky—may be thrown out of court as null and void.

In effect what this would do: Allow the massaging to go on and prohibit police from making arrests on sex charges.

CITY PROSECUTOR James Starr explained that recent California court decisions point out that the state—not the city—has jurisdiction in this field of morals. There is a case under study in Long Beach Municipal Court at present in which this question may very well be answered within a few days.

Police authorities, however, point out there is no specific state law prohibiting masseuses from massaging persons of the opposite sex for immoral purposes.

Because of this, Chief Mooney has dispatched a special report to City Manager John Mansell.

Councilmen are scheduled to hear the police and city manager's reports on the problem at their meeting Tuesday.

Whites Convict Killer of Negro

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—An all-white jury Saturday night convicted a 16-year-old white boy in the slaying of a Negro youth last Sept. 15, in the aftermath of a church bombing that threw this city into racial turmoil.

The 12-man jury deliberated 4 hours and 11 minutes and then convicted Larry Joe Sims of second-degree murder and sentenced him to seven months in the county jail.

SIMS WAS allowed to go free for the time being under the $10,000 bond that was put up on his behalf after his preliminary hearing last September. He will appear again in Circuit Court Thursday for formal sentencing by the judge, although the jury's sentencing is considered automatic in such cases.

In the week-long trial, the prosecution had reminded the white jurors that they were sworn to decide the case on its merits without regard to the race of the boys.

This Deep South city was the scene of frequent racial

Driver Burns to Death in Laguna Crash

A 66-year-old Downey man was burned to death in the flaming wreckage of his auto Saturday on Coast Highway in Laguna Beach.

Electrical power as far south as South Laguna Beach was disrupted for several hours as a result of the accident shortly before 5:30 p.m.

The victim tentatively was identified by the Orange County coroner's office as Charles L. Werner, of 7447 E. Third St.

Officers said Werner's car sheared off a power pole, carrying a 48,000-volt line, crashing broadside into a restaurant.

violence, including massive demonstrations and several bombings last summer and fall.

Sims, an Eagle Scout, had been charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of Virgil Ware, a 13-year-old Negro. The shooting took place several hours after the 16th Street Baptist Church was bombed. Four Negro girls died in the blast.

THE DEFENSE had claimed in closing arguments that Sims shot in self-defense and that Ware allegedly had thrown a rock at Sims and another white boy, Michael Lee Farley, also 16, just prior to the shooting.

Farley is scheduled to be tried in March.

The shooting took place as the two white youths were riding on a motor scooter and passing Ware and his brother, James, 16, who were on a bicycle. The victim was killed by a .22-caliber bullet that passed through his lungs.

Both Sims and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Sims, maintained their composure as the verdict was read.

California's AEC Share $39 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's budget for the year beginning July 1 will call for appropriations totaling $39,365,000 for plant expansion for the Atomic Energy Commission in California.

The breakdown of construction items was reported Saturday by Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., a member of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee.

Among the projects: High-energy-physics laboratory, California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, $2 million.

Hosmer said the $39.3 million budget for next year compares with $41 million requested for the current fiscal year.

McNAMARA REVELATION

Cuba Caught U.S. Short of Aircraft

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States was caught "terribly short" of planes—fighters and transports—for a massive invasion during the Cuban crisis in the fall of 1962, according to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

McNamara told the Joint Atomic Energy Committee during testimony in November that the crisis also caught the United States without enough patrol craft and escort vessels.

McNamara's testimony was released Saturday by the committee.

"WE NEEDED fighter aircraft to support a massive invasion," McNamara said. "We were terribly short of fighter aircraft. We moved them from all over the country and we still were short."

McNamara said the United States was so short of transport planes for the invasion that at 10:30 on a Saturday night, Oct. 20, "I called up 14,000 citizens and put them into the Air Force and brought 400 transport aircraft that were obsolete into active duty in order that they might be used to fly over Cuba 36 hours later."

The defense secretary said the country also was short of Navy and Air Force planes to track Soviet ships moving toward the Western Hemisphere.

"We needed escort vessels... We needed patrol craft," he said. "We were very short of patrol craft and are still short of what I will call patrol craft, escort vessels."

McNamara revealed that during the crisis, "We stripped air defense from other parts of the country, to provide air defense for the southern area."

He testified in support of his decision to build a conventional aircraft instead of one powered by a nuclear reactor.

He disclosed the shortages in an attempt to explain that the nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise did not play a major role in the Cuban crisis.

U.S. Hope of A-Space Rocket Faces Critical Test

By RALPH DIGITON

JACKASS FLATS, Nev. (AP)—America's hopes of developing a nuclear-powered space rocket, already plagued with budget cutbacks, face a critical technical hurdle this spring.

That's when an extensively reworked engine called Kiwi will get its first hot run since shaking itself to pieces Nov. 30, 1962.

Officials are confident they have whipped the vibration problem and a flyable engine will be produced in the early 1970s.

The whole program, called Rover, ran into a serious setback recently when the government's economy drive resulted in cancellation of simultaneous development of a vehicle to be powered by a nuclear engine. The vehicle was to be called RIFT, for reactor in flight test.

THE CANCELLATION attaches more than ordinary importance to the upcoming Kiwi test. If the Kiwi fails again, Rover may be a dead duck. If it succeeds, the entire program could be spurred with new enthusiasm.

In a series of exclusive interviews, nuclear propulsion experts at this test site recently gave first details of changes that have been made in the Kiwi engine—and disclosed this bit of "technical fallout."

A new way of making fuel elements has reduced radioactivity in the engine exhaust by 90 percent—and possibly lessened the danger from blast effects should the engine fall into the ocean during a launching disaster and explode.

"IMMERSION IN water is the worst thing that could happen to a reactor—it's about the only way one could be made to explode," said Dr. Herbert T. Knight, test director for the University of California's Los Alamos, N. M., Scientific Laboratory, which runs the Kiwi tests for the Atomic Energy Commission-National Aeronautics and

Old Thief

MILAN, Italy (UPI)—Francesco Culotta, 88, was arrested by police Saturday on charges of stealing a woman's purse. His police record dates back to 1893 when he was first arrested as a pickpocket at the age of 17.

Space Administration's Space Nuclear Propulsion Office.

Kiwi, named for a flightless New Zealand bird, is not designed to go aloft but simply to test design principles on the ground. If the spring test is successful, scientists will build a similar reactor to help stage of the advanced called NERVA — nuclear engine for rocket vehicle application.

Original plans called for NERVA to power the canceled RIFT vehicle. Now the plan is to use it in whatever vehicle is available when NERVA is ready—possibly as an up-build a Saturn V moon ship.

Kiwi engines operate by forcing supercold hydrogen through the superheat of a nuclear reactor. When the 400-degrees-below-zero liquid hits the 3,500-degree-above-zero core of the engine, it expands and escapes through a nozzle with high velocity, creating thrust.

Surgery for Duchess

LONDON (UPI)—The 67-year-old duchess of Windsor was a patient in a London clinic Saturday for removal of a scar from her face. She was expected to remain in the hospital for about a week.

John Pelton, 47, of Whittier, registered under the name of Calif., his 21-year-old wife, "Mrs. Roberts." The duchess Linda, and two young sons and daughter arrived here Friday by a previous marriage.

CG Abandons Ship Search

MIAMI (UPI)—The Coast Guard said Saturday it has abandoned its search for a 58-foot schooner that disappeared in the gale-whipped Atlantic with a California family of four and a seasoned skipper aboard.

It dropped from sight last Monday night with a child's voice fading on the radio distress channel.

Aboard the vessel were John Pelton, 47, of Whittier, registered under the name of Calif., his 21-year-old wife, "Mrs. Roberts." The duchess Linda, and two young sons and daughter arrived here Friday by a previous marriage.

EGYPT PROGRESSIVES

Challenge Divorce by 'Male Order'

CAIRO (UPI)—The 14-century-old male privilege of divorce may soon be curtailed in Egypt.

A law under discussion by a Ministry of Social Affairs committee suggests that women be insured against "arbitrary divorce by tyrannical husbands."

According to Islamic regulations all a Moslem has to do to divorce his wife is to declare three times in determined tones: "Go... you are divorced."

Under the proposed law

no Moslem could divorce his wife away from court.

The proposed law also deals with polygamy. Opponents argue that the percentage of polygamists in Egypt has been dropping so sharply that polygamy should be left to time.

Strongly behind the law is Dr. Kikmat Abu Zeid, minister of social affairs and the first woman to serve in an Egyptian cabinet. She is married to Dr. Mohamed Sayyid of Cairo University.

'MARXIST EAGERNESS NOT ENOUGH'

Castro Calls for Technical Revolution

By DANIEL HARKER
HAVANA (AP) — Cubans are facing another "revolution" this year.

This "technical revolution," as Prime Minister Fidel Castro has called it, is the government's chief hope to end chaotic conditions in the economy which officials have acknowledged.

Five years after Castro took over, Cubans lack enough food and consumer goods. Meat and milk are a luxury for many. So are shoes and clothing. Electrical appliances, and spare parts for them as well as radios and cars, are sold on the black market. One set of tires may cost 1,000 pesos (this would be equivalent to $1,000 at the exchange rate the Cuban government insists upon.)

"We have accomplished the social revolution and now we have to make the technical revolution," Castro has said.

HE EXPLAINED that this revolution is necessary to increase agricultural and industrial production so his government can overcome the economic crisis and put an end to rationing.

The program calls for a rapid increase in the number of engineers and other technicians. It also includes careful attention to development plans and the enforcing of strict working norms.

Castro has made clear that he is tired of having to stand for the mistakes of zealous but unskilled revolutionaries. He has said: "We have had enough of those theoretical Marxists.

They cost too much to the society."

THE CUBAN LEADER hopes that the technical revolution along with the drastic shift made in 1963 in the aims of Cuban economic policy giving top priority again to agriculture over industry, will solve the economic problems.

The shift, which halted the campaign for "instant industrialization," is explained by the Communist paper Hoy in this way: "The Cuban economy must increase agricultural production to satisfy first of all internal needs and then export what is left, to obtain the hard currency needed to import equipment and push the industry."

How hard and fast the dreams of a quick industrialization crumbled can be learned from the picture of disorganization described by the Industries minister, Ernesto Guevara.

HE SAYS the "American blockade" is the main reason for the failure. Closely behind it he mentions the "lack of technicians, too much bureaucracy, and dis-organization which led to glaring mistakes," and to copy mechanically the experiences of other socialist countries."

BEACH COMING With MALCOLM EPLEY

THIS is an election year and maybe we can kick up a little interest in personal politics with this true yarn that has just reached my ears.

At the last primary election Gladys Tisdale of Long Beach, though a registered Democrat, wanted to vote for Republican Craig Hosmer. Her husband explained to her that Hosmer's name wouldn't be on her Democratic ballot and she'd have to write it in.

He was waiting outside and heard her call from the booth. "There's no pencil in here."

An election official, unaware of what she was up to, called to her to use the "x-stamp."

Mrs. Tisdale was there a long time. When her husband asked her why, she replied: "Did you ever try to write Craig Hosmer with an x-stamp? Well, I tried and I did it."

ONE of my readers, commenting on recent items here about foghorns, complains that there is one horn that can be heard far inland, even as far as Lakewood. If they'd tame that one down, she said, she'd be for foghorns.

I'm wondering if she could be talking about the horn that I frequently hear that sounds like a cow howling. This is not, I'm sure, a regular foghorn. It usually gives a couple of bawls, not a long whine like a foghorn. The noise would be unpleasant if it didn't revive memories of a happy summer I spent as a kid working on an Oregon ranch.

I have a feeling someone told me once that that horn was but I've forgotten. Anybody know? I often hear it in the morning, just about the time one ought to get up and milk the cows.

THE Polio Foundation people here have a nominee for the "meanest man."

Heidi, a pretty German war bride, has had polio and has been given assistance by the foundation. She has two children and the clothing stolen from her line belonged to the children. The theft has left them without much of anything.

Anyone who might be interested in helping restore the kiddies' wardrobe should get in touch with the March of Dimes office, 3230 E. Broadway. Maybe the thief would like to volunteer.

ON A few recent days our paper smelled pretty bad—well, worse than usual—and this brought some complaints from readers and some careful investigating around here.

One reader, M. B. Dudley, wrote that the "paper smells like maybe you are using reclaimed toilet paper."

He and others will be glad to know that the mystery has been solved. It was discovered that a keg of yellow ink in our press room had gone sour. The bad smell showed up on publication days yellow ink was used, and sniffing in the yellow ink keg raised the hair of the odor detectives.

Ink experts and pressmen said they'd never heard of such a thing happening, but it did. The yellow ink has been carried off for burial.

HELP THEM BACK ON RIGHT TRACK

Parolees Get Break at 'Part-Way House'

By CHARLES SUTTON
L. P-Y Staff Writer

A sedate two-story house in a quiet residential neighborhood of Los Angeles may soon supply the solution to one of the toughest problems facing California juvenile authorities today.

How to help young law offenders become useful, law-abiding citizens before they turn irrevocably to a life of crime.

It's a problem that has long concerned officials of the California Youth Authority.

Many young parolees, they say, often return to crime because they simply can't adjust to life outside institutional walls.

"In fact, the failure rate among them is highest during the first six months after release," says CYA parole officer Joseph Phelan.

UNTIL THE legislature gave the CYA $63,000 last year to test three experimental part-way houses for young parolees, there wasn't much the Youth Authority could do to reduce the rate, however.

The boys, mostly in their late teens, were given every possible break by the CYA—a free room in a hotel, a meal ticket and as much guidance by a parole officer as was possible under a burdensome case load. But apparently it wasn't enough in many cases.

When the meal ticket ended, the world outside proved too much for them and they returned to law-breaking.

Freedom is a great responsibility to shoulder, observes Phelan, and many of the boys simply can't cope with it.

Now, with the first of the three part-way houses contracted for and under way, the Youth Authority feels that at last it may have the answer—or at least part of the answer—to youthful recidivism, that is, repeated relapses into criminal or delinquent behavior.

AS PHELAN sees it, the part-way house is not a treatment center, but a kind of buffer zone—a place where a young parolee who has no home to go back to is given a chance to ease into everyday life instead of having to "jump in cold."

"Don't forget," he says, "it's not an easy transition to make. The young parolee has to go from the absolute control of institutional life to the relative freedom of the streets."

"While he was in an institution, for example, he didn't have to worry about where he was going to sleep at night, where his next meal was coming from, or where he was going to make a buck."

"When he gets out, he has to worry about these and many other things. Some of them are pretty simple things, too. Things you would expect he'd know about but doesn't."

Phelan goes on to point out that many of the boys have had interrupted educations and ruined educations and miserable home lives. None have had much job experience.

IN FACT, when you come right down to it, he adds, they have little or nothing going for them.

And, said Philip Toia, the social worker and counselor assigned to working closely with the boys in the house, many are terribly apprehensive on coming out of an institution. "It's true they chafe under the rules of institutional life, yet they miss those rules when they get out," he says.

The part-way house in Los Angeles, the first of the three for which Phelan will be statewide coordinator, is an extraordinary structure.

"It is Georgian in style," says Mrs. Grace Murphy, who, with her husband, manages the home. "And it has five bedrooms, four and a half baths, a large living room, kitchen and dining room, and a miscellany of other rooms."

Enough room, in fact,

the boys advice when they were approached for it. But they soon learned to resist the temptation when they discovered they were stepping into Toia's domain.

Now they stick strictly to managing the big house and the boys, and find it much more to their liking, they confess.

TOIA IS a big brother to the youths. A social worker who formerly worked among delinquent gangs, he's young—30—and has a serious but easy-going manner.

His job is to give day-to-day guidance to the boys. He helps them look for work and solve their little problems.

Quite often, he says, the boys have to be told how to use the want ads, how to fill out job applications and what to wear when they go for interviews.

He says they're terribly sensitive to job rejections. "They've had things refused them so often in their lives that each rejection comes like a hammer blow. I've seen them talk themselves out of going in for a job for fear of being rejected," he adds.

Under the Youth Authority plan, each of the parolees in the house spends as much as three months there. By the end of that period, it's expected that he'll have a job.

During the following three months, when there's still a good chance that he'll throw in the towel and refuse to face up to the tough realities of everyday life, he's placed on what is known as "close parole." That is, he's given more than the usual attention from his parole officer, in this case, Phelan.

THE BOYS themselves are grateful for a chance to stay at the part-way house, which is run under contract with a nonprofit agency known as Special Service for Groups.

For them, it means the difference between success or failure in life.

Compared to institutional life, the part-way house is a veritable paradise, they say.

In some of the rougher penal institutions, says one boy, "you never know when some guy is going to stick a knife in your back."

"You're treated like animals in some of those places," says another boy. "At least here we're treated like human beings."

THE BOYS agree that on first leaving a penal institution, they're gripped by fear and uncertainty. They wonder:

Are they going to be able to get a job? When?

And, not least of all, will people outside accept them?

Maybe the part-way house is just the thing they need to allay those fears and set them off on the right track.

Certainly it's worth a try, say CYA officials.

Five-Day 'Stop Smoking' Clinic Will Be Repeated

By DON KIRKLAND
Staff Writer

A five-day smoking clinic was so successful in Torrance last year, its backers said today, that it will be repeated next month.

Sponsors of the program said studies thus far have shown 75 percent of the participants have not resumed smoking.

This bears out a similar rate of success in eastern states where, backers said, ex-smokers have gone two years—the life of the program—without starting anew.

Dr. Ruth Temple, coordinator of the plan for the sponsoring Southern California Council of Seventh Day Adventist Churches, said the announcement by the U.S. Surgeon General linking cigarette smoking with cancer and certain other illnesses, has created new interest in the program.

"Our phone has been ringing off the hook," she said.

THE PROGRAM, called "The Five Day Plan," was initiated in 1961 in several eastern communities, and only last year reached Southern California.

Thus far, Dr. Temple said, it has been tried in Hollywood, the San Fernando Valley and Torrance.

Although the program got off to a shaky start in Torrance, Dr. Temple said its response has been so favorable that she was appointed to act as area-wide coordinator.

Rev. Manson Metcalf, pastor of the Torrance Seventh Day Adventist Church and local sponsor, said he plans another identical program from Feb. 9 to 13. The first started Sept. 15.

Interest has grown since September, however, and many more persons are becoming concerned over the problem, Dr. Temple said.

"WE KNOW THAT a very high percentage of doctors working in chest medicine have stopped smoking," said Dr. Temple, "and are advising their patients to do the same."

Under the plan, smokers are bolstered physiologically and psychologically to break the habit. They are told to take short walks, retire early, have warm baths, drink no liquor, eat fresh fruit and, upon waking, think to themselves, "Last night I chose to stop smoking, for the good of myself and my loved ones."

These, though, are only part of the requirements.

Although participants must demonstrate a certain will power, Dr. Temple says, the program is geared for "busy people who work under pressure."

THE PLAN IS designed to reduce discomfort, and is offered free.

Participants get their individual guide books and meet nightly during the sessions from 7:45 to 9 p.m.

"Unfortunately," says Dr. Temple, "our volunteer workers in this program have been so rushed with the unexpected flood of participants, there hasn't been time to gather as much statistical information as we'd like regarding the results."

"We do know, however, that the program has worked and is working."

JC Man of Year Dinner Set

Attorney General Stanley Mosk will speak on "The Role of the Young Man in the Community" at the Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award and Bosses Night Banquet Monday in the Lafayette Hotel Grand Ball Room.

The service award will cite a man between 21 and 36 years of age for his outstanding contribution to the city. A panel of judges selects the recipient from nominations offered by service or civic groups or private citizens. The winner need not be a Jaycee.

Tickets for the $5 a plate affair may be obtained at the door. Cocktails will be served 6 to 7 p.m., dinner at 7 p.m.

The award banquet coincides with the opening of National Junior Chamber of Commerce Week, Jan. 20-24.

Talk Slated on Chinese New Year

"Chinese New Year—As It Used to Be, and Now" will be the subject of a talk by Mrs. Donald G. Moore at the dinner meeting of the Long Beach Chapter of the Military Order of the World Wars and their guests at Allen Center (U. S. Naval Station) next Thursday evening.

Mrs. Moore is the wife of Lt. Col. Donald G. Moore, regular Army officer assigned to the Poly High School unit of the ROTC. Both Mrs. Moore and her husband spent many years in the Orient.

Chinese New Year begins Feb. 13, so the authoritative talk is regarded as timely.

The recently purchased official M.O.W.W. Chapter flag will be dedicated by Lt. Lesley G. Erickson, USN Ret.

Rear Adm. Wayne B. Gamet, USN Ret., chapter senior vice commander, will preside.

VFW Post Will Honor Past Chiefs Thursday

Golden State Post 278 Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary will honor past post commanders and past auxiliary presidents at the Veterans Memorial Building, at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Lynn Bodell, senior vice commander, announces that the program will include a historical illustrated lecture, with slides, from the collection of the Title Insurance and Trust Company, Los Angeles. Herb Saup will present the lecture.

The public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

NROS Offers 4 New Courses

America's all-out effort to forge ahead of Russia in the mounting struggle for supremacy in space and oceanography will be underscored in two of the four new midyear courses to be offered by the Naval Reserve Officers School 11-4 beginning this week, according to Capt. Harry B. Frishman, commanding officer of the graduate school.

"Rapid changes are taking place in national defense," said Capt. Frishman. "Through these courses, reserve officers of the Long Beach-Orange County area are brought up to date and kept combat ready."

"The midyear course in space technology provides a basic orientation in this dynamic field. It introduces the student to the sciences germane to this revolutionary subject and focuses attention on problems which remain to be solved and the developments which have been advanced thus far by the United States and Russia."

"ALTHOUGH not as widely publicized as Russia's space efforts, the Soviets have markedly stepped up their research in oceanography and are making tremendous strides in this little known science. The NROS course in oceanography starting this week provides a general overview of this rapidly developing area of research including the study of the physical and chemical properties of sea water, transmission of sound through water, marine sedimentation, tides and tidal currents and oceanic currents."

The third and fourth new courses to be offered by NROS 11-4 are in the fields of leadership and personnel administration.

THREE OF the new courses will be offered on the campus of Long Beach State College where NROS 11-4 has its central offices beginning Thursday, 7:30 p.m., and the fourth course will be held at the Naval Reserve Training Center in Santa Ana beginning Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m.

These new courses are in addition to the 18 year-long courses which began in September.

Although the courses are planned primarily for Navy and Marine reserve officers, the courses are open to and attended by reserve officers from the Army, Air Force, and Coast Guard, Promotion and retirement points are earned by all officer students.

Additional information about the reserve officer school can be obtained by contacting the NROS 11-4 offices on the lower campus of the State College.

AAUN Dinner Meeting Tuesday

Chauncy Snow, Los Angeles attorney and student of international law, will address a dinner meeting of the Long Beach chapter of the American Association for the United Nations Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Lakewood Country Club. A discussion period will follow. The meeting is open to the public.

Port Pilot May Travel by Copter

Progress may soon overwhelm the pilot boat, one of the sea's oldest and most honored craft.

The Los Angeles Harbor Commission, bowing to the Air Age, has called for feasibility studies of helicopters to carry port pilots to and from freighters, calling at the port.

The suggestion was made by Commission President Albert Perrish, who said, "I may be way out on a limb, but I think the project bears looking into."

ALL THE commissioners said a study was only sensible, but Dr. George Wall and George Watson wanted it on the record that neither, as a resident of the waterfront area, had proposed the airborne taxi service.

"We have to live down here," they said.

Perrish, president of a steel-importing firm, said the port will have to pay $200,000 to build a new pilot boat and that it can purchase a four-seat helicopter for about $71,000.

HE SAID he saw nothing more dangerous in lowering or lifting a harbor pilot from a vessel than the traditional climbing ladder dangling on the side of a bouncing ship.

He said he was convinced that the helicopter would have "fringe benefits" and could be used in emergency work, inspections and for other tasks.

Perrish admitted that the pilots themselves may look askance at his suggestion, but "it's worth looking into in the interest of progress."

Rush Season on for License Tabs

The rush season may be abating for Long Beach merchants but it is just beginning for the California Department of Motor Vehicles.

From now until Feb. 4, the last day to get 1964 motor vehicle license stickers without paying a penalty, the DMV expects to do a land office business.

"However, we don't expect to be really jammed until Jan. 23," says Howard Link, manager of the Long Beach office.

"There normally won't be long lines except on Monday and Friday."

Part of the reason the lines will be shorter this year, Link added, is the new building, which the DMV moved into last August, at 2627 Pacific Ave.

"NOT ONLY do we have more room inside," says Link, "but we have parking space for 90 cars. We didn't have any before."

To make it easier to get license tabs the office will open on Saturdays from 8 a.m. to noon, in addition to their regular weekday hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

People who can't get to the DMV offices can get their license renewal tabs at five banks. They are Coast Bank, 5354 E. Second St., in Belmont Shore; Security Bank, 4436 Atlantic Ave. in Bixby Knolls; Security Bank, 102 Pine Ave. in the downtown area; Bank of America at 8437 E. Spring St. in Lakewood; and Bank of America at 5401 Long Beach Blvd. in North Long Beach.

Those who can't make it to a bank can always mail it in and if it is postmarked before midnight Feb. 4 there will be no penalty. It takes about a week to get the renewal tab back, Link said.

Link emphasized that this year the banks can also renew trailer and motorcycle licenses. In previous years they only handled automobiles and commercial licenses.

Link's advice to everyone owning a motor vehicle is to get their license renewal as early as possible.

"Don't worry about us," he says. "We will have enough people to fill the line Feb. 4. We always have had."

Glenn Candidacy —a Healthy Sign

JOHN GLENN, the world-famous astronaut, and Bud Wilkinson, the football coach of national reputation, are spectacular examples of a growing fashion in politics—the practice by political newcomers of using their success in non-political fields as the key to elective offices.

A national hero without any experience in politics or public office, Glenn plans to enter an election campaign that will pit him against a legislative and congressional veteran in the Democratic primary and, if he wins, against a veteran Republican lawmaker who is a member of one of the nation's most prominent families of public servants.

In spite of his lack of political experience, contrasted with the strong political backgrounds of his opponents, Glenn is given an excellent chance of winning the nomination and later the U.S. Senate seat which he seeks.

Is this bad?

NOT NECESSARILY. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's situation was very much like that of Glenn when the World War II hero decided to run for the presidency. Although he had no background in politics and civil government, Mr. Eisenhower brought some extremely useful qualities to the White House and served with distinction. There are, it seems, other considerations beside previous experience in public office.

Astronaut Glenn has the brains, the courage, and the coolness necessary for orbital flight and its frightening emergencies. Coach Wilkinson, also interested in the U.S. Senate, has exceptional intelligence, poise, and leadership ability. All these are traits needed in political office; they are traits not always possessed by men, otherwise favored, who have accumulated political "experience."

TOO OFTEN, the honor and burden of public service fall upon political hacks, who know everything about how to get out the vote and very little about how to use constructively the power they acquire thereby. Essentially, Glenn and Wilkinson are well-equipped for public service. It is a healthy sign for the country when men such as these, who could earn fortunes in a dozen fields in private life, express an interest in politics.

America Short of Ambassadors

I, P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — When President Johnson succeeded to the presidency, he set "continuity without confusion" as his first goal. For the most, he has succeeded. But there is a great deal of confusion in at least one area, and that is appointment of ambassadors abroad.

In three of the most sensitive diplomatic posts in the world, the United States has been without an ambassador for more than three months. We are without a No. 1 man in five other world capitals.

Joseph Farland resigned suddenly as Ambassador to Panama last August. Deputy Aid Director Frank Coffin was picked by President Kennedy to succeed him, but the appointment is still pending. Meanwhile, Panama has become America's No. 1 diplomatic saddle sore.

In Yugoslavia, the best listening post behind the Iron Curtain, we have been without an ambassador since George Kennan resigned last August. Last week, career man Burke Elbrick was finally, at long last, named. He will leave for Belgrade in a month.

Former Ambassador William Macomber left Jordan in December to get married. The White House and the State Department had known for months he would resign as our representative to that tiny kingdom, on which peace in the Middle East hinges. Yet no replacement is in sight, and it will be at least two months, probably more, before one can get there.

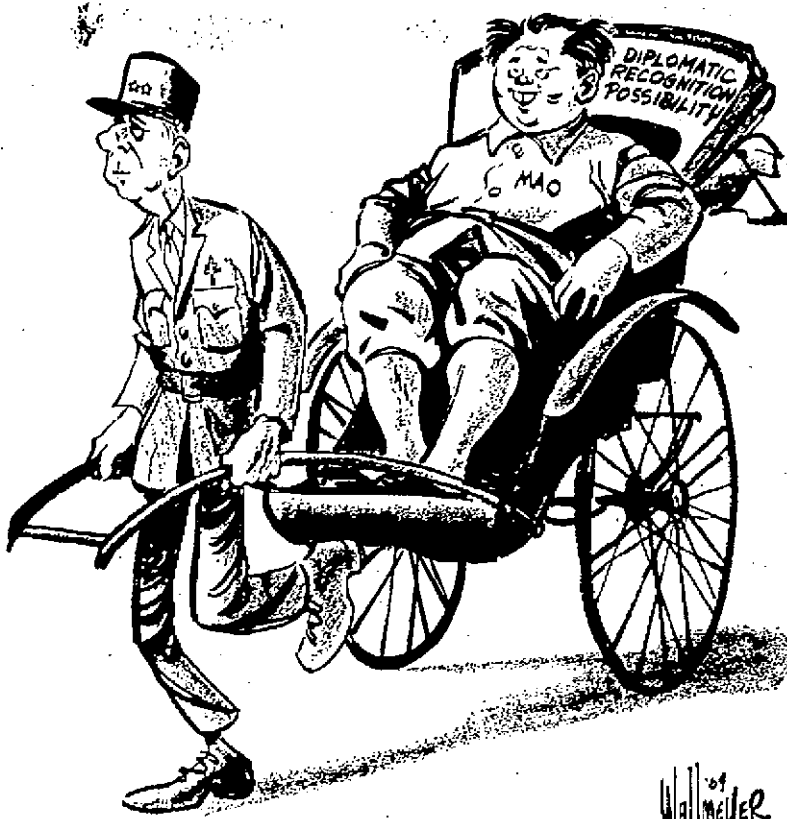

Other vacancies at U.S. chanceries abroad exist in the French Congo (since December), Mexico (since Thomas Mann resigned in December to head the Alliance for Progress and the Division of Inter-American Affairs), Sierra Leone (since July). Our man is leaving Malaysia, we do not exchange ambassadors with Hungary or Yemen, and our plan to use our Ambassador to Tanganyika as envoy to Zanzibar is suspended since last week's coup.

Last week, Foreman was picked by a Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the 10 outstanding young men of 1963. And this was Edwards' reaction to the selection:

"I note with interest this selection. The last time a resident of the 16th congressional district of Texas was so honored occurred in 1953. His name was Billie Sol Estes."

AMA Lobbying Behind Scenes to Kill Kefauver Drug Laws

WASHINGTON—The American Medical Association has taken such a peculiar attitude toward drugs and cigarettes lately that some senators are beginning to wonder whether the doctors are for health or against it.

PEARSON

This bewilderment is, of course, unfair to the great majority of doctors, most of whom are too busy to know exactly what their "trade union" is doing in their behalf.

However, for their information and for the public's, here are the latest maneuvers which the AMA has made in behalf of the nation's doctors: 1. The AMA is lobbying behind the scenes to cut the new drug laws, particularly the provision that allows the Food and Drug Administration to ban useless drugs.

The drug reforms were pushed through Congress by the late Sen. Estes Kefauver, who had scarcely been laid to rest before AMA leaders quietly began their campaign to undo his work.

It is no secret that the drug manufacturers sell millions of dollars worth of pills and nostrums that have absolutely no medical value. The effect of what the AMA is doing is to keep these drugs on the market.

2. The AMA's Council on Drugs, which evaluates new drugs for safety and efficacy, has cut off the government from access to its findings.

Before the Food and Drug Administration had the power to stop the sale of worthless drugs, the AMA council permitted government officials to sit in on its confidential discussions and read its confidential reports. Now the AMA won't let the government know what drugs its doctors decide are no good.

3. On the eve of the powerful government warning that cigarettes are a health hazard, the AMA suddenly announced an investigation of its own into tobacco and health. This played right into the hands of the tobacco interests, which can now cite the AMA investigation as evidence that more research is needed.

For 10 years, the tobacco companies have tried to persuade smokers to suspend their judgment on cigarettes until more facts are in. Meanwhile, people continue smoking billions of cigarettes a year, while the companies rake in the profits.

Today the AMA is lending its prestige to this campaign by starting still another study of the cigarette menace, thus indirectly suggesting that the nation's doctors aren't yet convinced smoking is bad for health.

It was not many years ago that Camels featured white-jacketed physicians in its ads, claiming: "More doctors smoke Camels than any other cigarette."

hooed as cures for jangled nerves, poor digestion, and other ailments. Chesterfield ads even guaranteed: "Nose, throat, and accessory organs not affected adversely by smoking Chesterfields."

The public no longer can be taken in by such advertising, but gullible smokers may be willing to believe they can wait now until the AMA report is finished before making up their minds about cigarettes.

AFTER READING of the coming political battles in California, President Johnson placed a long distance call the other day to the governor of California, Gov. Brown was busy at a building dedication ceremony, but went to the nearest telephone.

"You may have seen some names in the papers of people who are supposed to manage my campaign in California," the President told him. "I just wanted you to know that you are my man in California. I want you to run my campaign."

As his first move in this new capacity, Brown persuaded LBJ to meet Mexico's President Lopez Mateos in Los Angeles.

crats in civil rights. This is partly why Chairman Howard Smith, D-Va., decided to lift the blockade and let the civil rights bill out of his rules committee.

Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, leaked the Republican strategy when he informed Smith that he and the other four Republicans on the Rules Committee would vote to release the civil rights bill in late January, after hearings. Smith also is keenly aware that civil rights champions can muster the 218 petition signatures to free the bill for a vote on the House floor.

So reluctantly he decided to toss in the sponge. GOP strategy is to pass the bill before Lincoln's birthday so GOP congressmen can go home and boast about their part in continuing the Great Emancipator's fight against slavery.

This will be a big talking point during the Republican-Lincoln holiday.

Panama Gave Radicals Opening

WASHINGTON—It may seem easy to conclude that the dispute between the United States and the Republic of Panama is merely a case of excessive emotionalism about flying national flags—but the controversy goes deeper. The basic cause is a feeling of discouragement among Panamanians who see no economic future for themselves except as it is related to potential income from the use of the canal.

When national pride, moreover, complicates an international problem, there are always opportunities for provocative action and the intensification of bitterness.

The people of Panama originally leased their territory for an interoceanic canal. The United States built the waterway and has been collecting tolls from the ships of all nations. But the Republic of Panama gets less than $2 million a year rent. It used to be only $250,000. Surely in the 50 years since the canal has been operating it would seem that the United States could afford to increase considerably more its annual payment, especially in these days of "foreign aid" to many countries which do not furnish any facility to the United States as useful as the Panama Canal has been, including its military value in World War I and World War II.

There are economic improvements which can be made after proper negotiation. But since there's an election campaign going on inside the Republic of Panama, it is customary for national sensitiveness to be expressed in the political arena. On top of this, the Americans who live in the Canal Zone have families with teen-age students who naturally have a feeling of patriotism about flying the American flag.

FOR MANY YEARS, only the American flag was flown inside the Canal Zone—which is leased permanently to the United States. Then the demand was made that the Panamanian flag should also be flown, and in January 1963 it was agreed that the Panamanian flag would fly side by side wherever the U. S. flag was flown by civilian authorities in the Zone. In the first week of this year, the U. S. flag was hauled down from a number of sites—including the high schools—which had not been designated for the joint flying of the two flags. For some strange reason, no explanation of this order—that no flag be flown—was made to the Zone residents. The whole squabble was mishandled.

Bowler, Man in the Middle, May Have Choicest Position

MANLEY J. BOWLER can see the chair from where he sits and has the backing of the man in the chair, Los Angeles County District Attorney William B. McKesson.

HOUSER

Bowler, as McKesson's chief deputy, watches the chair as his chief rivals stand by on the bench—the Superior Court bench, that is. They are Judge Evelle J. Younger, who declared his candidacy Jan. 6, and Judge Vincent S. Dalsimer, not expected to announce formally for several weeks.

The game is afoot. The rules to date boil up around the issues of the nonpartisanship of the D. A. race and the propriety of campaigning in judicial robes. Each man is briefing out his own code and uses a list of impressive supporters to lend it strength.

Bowler, who announced Jan. 9, has an additional resource from his unique inside-man position—he's already instituting some operational changes in the office. One is the forthcoming opening of a special trial division staffed by highly trained prosecutors on 24-hour call.

In passing, Bowler said he felt Judge Younger should resign from the bench before beginning his campaign.

"I am leaving the bench," said Younger's announcement statement. But what he meant apparently is that he is leaving it at the end of his term expiring at year's end, and that he won't seek reelection.

DALSIMER, elected in 1962, would not have to face a judicial race until 1968. So he won't be leaving the bench for the D. A. race in the same manner that Younger is leaving. His route will undoubtedly be a leave of absence.

Partisanship? The Democratic County Central Committee and a passel of Democratic organizations have jumped to the Dalsimer banner. Younger has blasted this practice and is reinforced by a couple of bar associations.

Younger further drafted a letter to be read into the record of an Assembly interim committee on elections taking testimony on bills which would make city and county elective offices partisan. The letter contends against the bills in strong terms: "A Republican or Democratic mother threatened by burglary, aggravated assault or forcible rape has absolutely no interest in the party affiliation of law enforcement officials."

"HYPOCRISY!" answered Dalsimer, noting that Younger—"Mr. Republican"—had been a county Republican chairman and that his sponsors for the D. A. race "read more like a Who's Who of the Nixon for Governor committee than the backers of a nonpartisan candidate."

Representative of the Younger group, said Dalsimer, are Robert Finch, "Nixon's right hand man; Robert Haldeman, Nixon's local campaign chief, and Robert Rowan, who recently resigned as treasurer of the Republican State Central Committee . . . and Howard Edgerton, who has been accused by other Republicans of being the intermediary in the abortive deal to get former Gov. Goodwin Knight out of the 1962 gubernatorial campaign."

Dalsimer also has told friends of a recent meeting in the home of former GOP Assemblyman Joe Shell at which ultra-conservative Republican support was enlisted for Younger.

"It can be seen," said Dalsimer, "that he has been drawing his support from Republican organizations while criticizing Democratic organizations for supporting my possible candidacy."

YOUNGER'S announcement statement pledged "a completely nonpartisan campaign. I will not solicit on a partisan basis the endorsement of any Democrat or Republican organization."

Bowler, as the man one step removed from incumbent McKesson, is being bracketed by the partisanship cry into a kind of middle-man position. He has the all-out endorsement of Democrat McKesson. Although Bowler is a registered Republican he asserts he is essentially a nonpolitical animal.

Thus, he seems in good position to scorn the political label and can run free of the controversy over "How black is my robe."

EDITOR:

In a dispatch from your Washington Bureau, our ersatz Republican Senator is quoted by you as indicating that the United States share the views of our Democratic President. It has been a puzzle to me as a registered Republican how this product of Anaheim can be so far left of a real Republican, Rep. James Utt, from the same area.

For the record Sen. Kuchel has voted along with the administration on the following issues:

An increase in the national debt to $15 billion dollars, thus placing the American taxpayer into further liability.

Additional taxpayer expense in the administration bill to spend an additional $25,000,000 in federal aid to public libraries, plus $20-

000,000 to states of federal funds for construction of public libraries. Extension of United States credit to Soviet Russia for American wheat.

Thus it is my feeling that Thomas Kuchel, a Republican in party label only, is not a true representative of the noble party of Alexander Hamilton, or of the constitutional government promulgated by Thomas Jefferson.

'Discriminate' Not a Naughty Word

EDITOR:

I have never seen Californians so stirred up over any issues as they are currently over the threat to take away their constitutional rights by enforcing the Rumford bill.

The supporters of this vicious legislation have debated the meaning of a perfectly good word, discriminate, which means to use fine judgment, and they are trying to make a naughty word of it. At a very tender age I was taught to be discriminating in my choice of playmates, and in my choice of routes to and from school and in the manner in which I spent the few pennies I had to spend. A little later there was the choice of books which I brought home from the school library. Later on I had to use discrimination in how to divide up my studying time among the various subjects I was studying and later, in two college courses, in choosing the courses and subjects I would study.

After getting out into the business world, I had to choose what organizations to join to further my advancement, when to quit a position, when to stick with one, when to go into business for myself, which directorates to accept when offered, and which to turn down, and what stocks to buy.

Any degree of success I have attained I attribute to my innate, acquired and trained ability to discriminate. If they can take the exercise of this ability from us in one field, they can take it from us in all fields. Let's fight valiantly for our rights!

Wheat Pot Calls Bus Kettle Black

EDITOR:

Why the brickbats for England for selling buses to Castro? It would seem to be a case of the pot calling the kettle black. Only recently we witnessed the transporting of Congressmen back to Washington in order that the President would have the power to underwrite at taxpayer expense credit to Russia for wheat. Wheat partly paid for with subsidies paid for by American taxpayers. Russia is underwriting Castro at more than a million dollars a day and doubtless some of the grain bought here will also go to Castro. This is to say nothing about the $11 billion still owed us by Russia.

The Johnson philosophy is but a continuation of the Kennedy peace at any price policy. Therefore, the less said to other nations for dealing with the Reds, the less the finger of scorn can be pointed at our bright boys in Washington, D.C.

Panama, Zanzibar--Foreign Troubles Increase

By HARRY SHARPE
United Press International

Astronaut John H. Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, abandoned the celestial skyways last week for a more mundane pursuit—running for the Ohio Democratic senatorial nomination.

The famous 42-year-old Marine officer said he would support President Johnson's policies if elected. The White House had no comment nor would it discuss reports that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had inspired Glenn's action.

GLENN'S decision plunged Ohio Democrats into turmoil. To win the nomination he must whip the 74-year-old Democratic incumbent, Sen. Steven M. Young, who has gone down the line on Kennedy-Johnson policy and had already announced for re-election.

The United States was in deep trouble on two foreign fronts last week—Zanzibar, site of a U. S. space tracking station off the coast of Africa, which was seized by a rebel regime, and Panama.

The only two American diplomats left in Zanzibar—Frederick P. Picard III, in charge of the embassy in the absence of the previously departed ambassador, and Donald K. Petterson, embassy third secretary—were arrested at gunpoint by rebel President Abeid Karume.

THEY WERE released later, but Picard was flown to Tanganyika. Petterson was allowed to remain and thus became the sole American there. Four American newsmen also were arrested on grounds they had filed copy detrimental to the government. All were expected to be forced from the country.

The Royal Navy evacuated British women and children. The U. S. State Department watched the situation closely. The 55 Americans assigned to the tracking station were brought out early in the week.

The sovereignty crisis in the riot-torn Panama Canal Zone remained in an explosive state while U. S. diplomats sought to iron out differences with fiery Panamanian President Roberto F. Chiari.

IN THE WAKE of bloody clashes that cost the lives of four American soldiers and 17 Panamanians, Chiari was demanding, but not getting, a pledge from President Johnson that treaties vesting control of the zone in the United States would be renegotiated.

Both the White House and the State Department agreed to discuss the treaties and other volatile issues on the traditional good neighbor basis. But both made it clear that discussion did not mean negotiating away 60-year-old canal rights that are vital to U. S. and hemispheric security.

There was no doubt the United States had suffered a diplomatic blackeye throughout the world and particularly in Latin America where Johnson is trying to revitalize the late President John F. Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program. The U. S. Information Agency said the United States had "taken a shellacking" on the propaganda front.

JOHNSON and Secretary of State Dean Rusk still felt the trouble could be resolved in the absence of violence and with the beginning of hard rock discussions with Chiari. But Rusk said the U. S. would not talk under threats of disorder.

Army Secretary Cyrus R. Vance, whom Johnson dispatched to Panama City as one of his trouble-shooters, asserted that Panama had arrested 10 agents of Communist Cuban Premier Fidel Castro for inciting the riot. Panama denied this. But Rusk declared that agents hostile to both nations "had moved in quickly to whip up the dispute."

At the height of the strife, Castro flew to Moscow apparently to try to capitalize on the U. S. discomfiture and also to drum up new Russian economic support for his beleaguered island.

Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa realized one of his cherished ambitions. He signed in Chicago a precedent-setting master agreement with 1,000 big trucking companies, a giant step toward bringing all the nation's truck drivers under one contract. About 400,000 drivers were affected.

President Johnson asked Congress to authorize $115 million for the Peace Corps in his impending budget, a $19 million increase over the current year. He said the day-to-day achievements of the corps in overseas stations were a living memorial to the late President Kennedy.

The President dispatched Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy to Tokyo for conferences with Indonesian President Sukarno in hopes of heading off Sukarno's war-like campaign against pro-western Malaysia, which is threatening peace in Southeast Asia. Kennedy stressed that the territorial dispute

"must be decided and resolved by Asian countries, not by outsiders." Malaysia is a new British commonwealth federation bordering Indonesia.

The U. S. Information Agency revealed it is distributing a new motion picture designed to introduce President Johnson to peoples of 106 countries. Entitled "The President," it will be shown on five continents. The film emphasizes Johnson's travels abroad, then shows him giving his views on civil rights, economy, defense and peace.

On other news fronts, the President discussed free world strategy with a visitor of state, President Antonio Segni of Italy. Segni also addressed Congress, saying Italy wants to create a Europe that is "tied to America by indissoluble bonds of interdependence, loyalty and solidarity."

Several bills to curb cigarette advertising and to promote educational campaigns against smoking were introduced in Senate and House in the wake of the government's report warning that smoking could cause cancer and other afflictions.

Theodore C. Sorenson resigned as special counsel to the President to write a book about the late President Kennedy. He is the first member of the Kennedy staff to leave the White House.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy went on television to thank the nation for the 800,000 letters of condolence she has received since her husband's assassination. She said all would be answered, then placed in a Kennedy Memorial Library in Charles River, Mass.

Seek Fringe Benefits in Oil Industry

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The oil industry this week began pondering the 1964 wage contract demands of the Oil, Chemical & Atomic Workers Union (AFL-CIO).

The proposals add up to an imposing package of fringe benefits—the equivalent of a 5 per cent wage increase—which seem certain to spark heated negotiating sessions and strikes if past demands are any criterion.

They also reflect a growing movement within organized labor to pass up wage hikes as such in exchange for fringe benefits, which in this day of man displacing automation tend to underwrite the rank-and-file worker's future security.

There are about 90,000 petroleum industry workers in the 200,000-man union, most of them refinery men whose average hourly wage, including overtime, is $3.34, one of the highest in the nation.

THERE ONCE WERE many more but thousands have been replaced by machines and this is mainly what the union's 17-man national bargaining policy committee had in mind in Denver last week when it settled on 1964 contract objectives.

Here in brief are the principal demands which will be binding on all locals if three-fourths of the locals ratify them:

—Companies to pay full instead of partial cost of hospital and medical insurance; improve pensions; provide more severance pay for employees laid off; longer vacations to spread out available jobs; retraining of workers with as much as two years service whose jobs are eliminated, plus a guarantee that men thus affected will be provided work equal to their length of service up to a maximum of five years.

And finally, each contract must provide a clause stating that the employer will not reduce his forces by layoff without first giving the union 60 days notice. During the 60 days the problem would be negotiated and if no agreement were reached the contract could be canceled.

NEARLY ALL the union's contracts, most of them with big oil companies, come up for renewal between now and June 30. The policy committee has advised locals that they are free to seek other contract improvements aimed at greater job security.

These include a shorter work week, presumably the 35-hour week which has won favor from AFL-CIO leaders, among them President George Meany.

Bad Weather Deals U.S. Production, Sales a Blow

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Bad weather clouded business where it hurts last week.

Production and sales skidded as the winter's worst snowstorm swept across the South, Midwest and East.

Vegetables in the Florida and Texas fields were threatened by freezing temperatures.

With the storm dumping up to 18 inches of snow in some areas, manufacturing was disrupted. Some plants were unable to open. Others operated with skeleton crews and others gave up and sent their workers home.

Plant closing were reported from New York to Illinois.

The American Trucking Association reported that the storm slowed deliveries in the Northeast to a near standstill. The Association of American Railroads said rail freight movement also was slowed. Air transportation was crippled.

THE STORM was partially responsible for a drop in automobile production to an estimated 168,000 units from 175,521 last week.

Some suburban shopping centers, whose customers are dependent on automobile transportation, reported there were more clerks in the stores than customers.

After midweek the weather cleared and business returned to normal.

Attention continued to be centered on anticipation of congressional action on the income tax reduction bill.

The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York had this to say about the situation:

"President Johnson's surprisingly low spending estimate for fiscal 1965 put an extra glister on the already bright business outlook by further improving the chances for early passage of the tax reduction bill. Enactment in February now looks like a solid possibility."

CIGARETTE stocks had their first opportunity to react to the U.S. Public Health Service report that heavy cigarette smoking is harmful to health. They declined rather substantially at the opening of trading on the New York Stock Exchange Monday but thereafter cut their losses.

The International Brotherhood of Teamsters and the nation's truckers reached agreement on an unprecedented master contract affecting more than 400,000 workers. The action averted a strike.

The three-year contract provides for a 28-cent-an-hour pay increase spread over the contract period.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that the rate of production of the nation's mines and factories increased slightly in December. Its index of industrial production rose to 127.2 from 126.7 in November and was 7 percent higher than a year earlier.

ANOTHER favorable development in December was the performance of retail sales, which rose to $21,548,000,000, a gain of 4 1/2 percent over November and 6 percent above December 1962.

For all of 1963 retail sales totaled $247,035,000,000, up 5 percent from the 1962 total of $235,351,000,000.

The rate of unemployment fell in mid-December to 5.5 percent of the labor force from 5.9 percent in November. The Labor Department said the drop was due largely to lower unemployment among women and teen-agers who had been seeking part-time jobs.

Steel production made a strong advance last week, totaling 2.12 million tons, up 4 percent from the 2,437,000 tons of the previous week.

FOR THE FIRST two weeks of the new year production of the new year production of 4,157,000 tons was ahead of the like period of 1963 by 10 percent and the industry was operating at about 70 percent of capacity.

Plans Canada to Gulf Trip on Bull

AMES, Iowa (UPI)—Carl Swanson, Onamia, Minn., says he intends to saddle a Hereford bull and ride it from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Swanson wrote the Iowa Highway Commission the purpose of his trip is to promote Hereford beef cattle.

He said the bull was "well-trained, and responds to my command to perfection."

"I WILL NEVER HAVE TO FACE THIS PROBLEM ALONE!"

"When my husband suggested we talk to the Rose Hills man about before-necro funeral property, I knew he was thinking of the unnecessary suffering my friends went through because they had not planned ahead."

"We arranged a Family Protection Plan, while we both could choose what we wanted, without emotional pressures. He says he feels ten years younger, with the peace of mind he gained, knowing that I will never have to face this problem alone. He has proven his love beyond mere words."

"We certainly are glad we chose Rose Hills. Its beauty is so natural, with rolling hills, lovely lawns and gardens, and no headstones or monuments, it looks more like a park than a cemetery. There were so many beautiful sections from which to choose, and we found just what we wanted."

"We know, too, that Rose Hills will always be as lovely as it is today for they have that government-supervised Endowment Care Fund."

"By planning ahead, we gained financially, too. We were able to arrange a monthly payment plan that fits our budget perfectly, a plan which minimizes the cost to us."

"And as one of those little extra touches you always appreciate, the Rose Hills man gave us a handy Estate Portfolio for our important papers. It has containers for insurance, real estate papers, stocks and bonds and other vital records, properly catalogued so they are easy to find. He told us this portfolio is free to anyone interested."

This reaction is typical of that of thousands of wives, whose husbands had the foresight to plan in advance. Why don't you talk to the man from Rose Hills soon? Arrange an appointment by phone, or better still, send in the coupon for your free Estate Portfolio.

Mrs. Logan H. Goodknight of Long Beach, state president of the California Federation of Republican Women, has appointed three Long Beach women to the federation's state board of directors; Mrs. J. Lloyd O'Donnell, program chairman; Mrs. C. L. Snyder, parliamentary, and Mrs. Margaret Rogers, membership-promotion chairman.

ROCKY LUNCHEON

Richard Sukman, chairman of the host committee for the visit of Gov. and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York to Long Beach Jan. 30, announced Saturday that ticket response for the luncheon meeting has been so great that seating in the Lafayette Hotel's International Ballroom is being rearranged to accommodate more than the 700 originally expected.

Additions to the host committee include Fred San Chez of Lakewood, and Fred Taylor of Long Beach. Luncheon chairman is George P. Taubman Jr.

Reservations for the $2.50 luncheon may be made at the host-committee headquarters, Room 507, Security Building, 110 Pine Ave., or by phone at 432-6789.

GOP CENTRAL

Some 500 members of the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee are expected to attend a special meeting called by Chairman Jud Leetham for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Retail Clerks' Union Hall, Wilmington.

U.S. Senate candidate George Murphy will present his platform. Another GOP Senate candidate, Lee Kaiser, has been invited.

Leetham said Ted Lambert, member of the Republican Labor Advisory committee and vice president of Retail Clerks' Local 770, will greet guests. Hosts at the meeting will be Republicans of the Long Beach area's 32nd Congressional District and the 17th C.D.

THREE SENATORS

U.S. Senate guest speakers at the meeting of statewide Democratic leaders Saturday in the Biltmore Bowl will include Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy of Massachusetts, Birch E. Bayh of Indiana, Ernest Gruening of Alaska and Edmund Muskie of Maine, State Democratic Chairman Eugene L. Wyman announced.

More than 1,500 Democrats will hear reports from Wyman; Attorney General Stanley Mosk, California national committeeman; Mrs. Elizabeth Gatov, committee-woman; Mrs. Carmen Warschaw, chairman of the state Fair Employment Practices Commission, and County Chairman Tom Bane.

BARRY JUNIOR

Barry Goldwater Jr., 25-year-old Los Angeles stockbroker, is on a speaking tour for his father, the Arizona senator, before youthful audiences in New Hampshire, as national president of Young Americans for Goldwater. He will speak in behalf of the senator's candidacy for the presidency in the New Hampshire March 10 primary.

CDC CONVENTION

Tom Carvey Jr., state president of the California Democratic Council, has announced appointments to the arrangements committee for the state CDC Convention in Long Beach Feb. 21-23.

Charles Gant, CDC area director of the Orange-San Diego County 35th Congress-

sional District, will be convention manager; Willard Hastings, 32nd C.D. area director, assistant manager.

Assistant managers for arrangements: Zita Remley, president of Democratic Women's Study Club, arena; Tom Moore, president, 32nd C.D. Democratic Council, housing; Cora Cocks, Womens Study Club, secretariat; John Kanel, president of Cypress Democratic Club, security; Winifred Allan, treasurer, 32nd Council, hospitality; Gertrude Ginsberg, president of Eleanor Roosevelt Club, caucus arrangements.

The local committee will be assisted by CDC Region II Vice President Toby Osos of Pasadena, and CDC field directors Thelma Neworth and Ross Clark of Los Angeles. Carvey said more than 5,000 delegates and alternates are expected for the convention in the Long Beach Arena.

GUN MOLL MOLLY

Her swank Denver party a flop, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" — played in Long Beach Civic Light Opera presentation by Jackie McFadden, threatens to shoot up town. Holding the rifle she wants is husband, Leadville Johnny Brown — Kenneth Jones. Watching aghast is Molly's father, Shamus, portrayed by Hal Lowe. First-night curtain goes up Jan. 30 in Municipal Auditorium Concert Hall.

L.B. Private Schools Announce Mid-Year Term Openings

U.S. to Orbit Second Relay Satellite

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The United States plans to rocket its second Relay satellite into orbit Tuesday in another step toward a space network for earth's communications.

Relay No. 2 like its still-working predecessor, will act as a switchboard in space to pick up and amplify radio and television signals from one continent and beam them to another.

Ground stations in the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, Japan, Italy, Brazil and Sweden will join in experiments with the eight-sided moonlet which could pave the way for a global communications system of the future.

If all goes well, the 172-pound Relay-2 will be the fourth active radio-television satellite in orbit. The others are Relay-1, its famous cousin Telstar-2, and the high orbit Syncom-2 "floating" moonlet.

THE FIRST RELAY, hurled into orbit Dec. 13, 1962, started out as a problem and may end up as one. Soon after launch, it appeared to be a dud because of a power failure which was later corrected. Now it refuses to die on schedule because a chemical executioner is working slower than expected.

But Relay 1 has done a yeoman's job in relaying television programs and telephone and teletype messages and Relay 2 is expected to do even better.

Relay 1's first telecast from the United States to Europe showed the late President Kennedy at the Washington unveiling of the Mona Lisa. One of its latest transmissions showed a portion of Pope Paul's visit to Israel.

Relay 2 will be boosted into an orbit ranging from 4,600 miles away from earth to 1,325 miles at its low point by a Douglas Delta rocket seeking an unprecedented 22nd straight success.

THE DELTA HAS not let down the National Aeronautics and Space Administration since a failure on its first launch, on May 13, 1960. The reliable rocket's latest success was a near perfect orbital shot last month of the Tiro 8 weather satellite.

Relay 2 will look identically like its older sister on the outside but it has several inside changes to give it longer life and better reliability. One major change is a new type of solar power cell which will last twice as long as the cells on Relay 1.

The new Relay will not carry the yet-to-work chemical cut-off device on Relay 1. Scientists want to see how long the latest relay moonlet will live.

Shortly after Relay 2 is placed into orbit by the third stage of the Delta, it will be in a position between North America and Europe to relay hour-long "live" television programs over the Atlantic.

TRANSMISSION time will gradually lengthen to 70 minutes at a stretch until April. Then, as its orbital path swings south, the time it will be "visible" to U.S. and European stations will shorten to about 10 minutes in July before increasing again in the fall.

Relay 2's planned orbital path will give it a longer transmission time between Europe, South America and Asia than Relay 1.

Beside carrying the necessary communications equipment, Relay 2 will send back to earth information on radiation it encounters and its effect on the spacecraft's parts.

Early Days in Topeka, Kan.

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI)—Topeka city clerk Bill Douglass shook some dust out of the city's archives and produced:

"City dog license No. 1 issued May 23, 1867, to an English bull terrier named 'Scotter.'"

An insurance policy covering a stagecoach line.

A 1906 petition from citizens asking for a paved sidewalk.

AUTOMATION INSTITUTE announces the completion of renovated classrooms and administrative offices at the school. Courses in IBM Key Punch Operation, Machine Tabulation & Wiring and Computer Programming will be offered starting Monday, Jan. 27, in the completely renovated facilities located in Jergins Building, 100 E. Ocean Blvd. in Long Beach, Harry E. White, director, announced.

White stated that academic and administrative staff of Automation Institute are prepared to meet the increasing need in our market area for many more well-qualified personnel skilled in using automated office equipment.

Charles E. Wolff has been named as vice president and educational director. He will supervise educational administration and academic policies. He is currently an associate professor of marketing at Long Beach State College.

Evert Carrall, long time resident and city employee of Long Beach is registrar. Carrall holds a Bachelor of Laws degree. He stated that interested persons may contact him now for further information on the various Data Processing courses.

Robert McEwan is the new supervisory instructor. He has had 23 years experience with several large companies operating, installing and supervising many types of IBM Business Machine equipment. Mrs. Betty Hansmann has just been appointed the school's placement supervisor. She most recently was with the Long Beach City College placement office.

MARINELLO BEAUTY SCHOOL, 432 Pine Ave., is now accepting a limited, select group for evening training for beginners. The school, the largest in the State, has over 20,000 square feet and has new classes starting continually for daytime training.

The new night course, which will consist of two evenings and all day Saturday is planned to enable those selected to prepare for a Marinello Beauty Career without quitting their present jobs.

These selected few will be accepted after personal interviews have proven their ability and qualifications.

To enroll for a Marinello course, contact the registrar at the school by phoning HE 5-9109.

COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL is a school for boys and girls who live in the city but go daily to the country to study the three R's in an atmosphere of rural peace and quiet.

Surrounded by farms, the school's modern buildings and old-fashioned methods combine to provide the ideal school. Boys and girls in kindergarten through the sixth grade follow a basic course of study that stresses respect for hard work and pride in personal achievement. Conversational Spanish is taught in all grades. Enrollments are being accepted now for the 1964 fall term. Transportation is furnished from Long Beach, Garden Grove, Rossmore, Costa Mesa, Newport Beach and Santa Ana.

PLAYMATE DAY SCHOOL is one of the finest private elementary schools for lower grades in Long Beach, with excellent facilities. The playgrounds have ample equipment. Veterans Recreation Park is two blocks away and is frequently used by the school children for part of their physical education program.

The teachers are all well qualified, and have had experience in teaching in the public schools before coming to Playmate Day School.

The class size is small. Special attention is given to phonics and all forms of remedial reading when necessary.

If parents are working, the school has extended day care for their children. The school opens at 6:00 a.m. and closes at 6 p.m. It is located at 2650 Pacific Ave.

Appointments for interviews can be arranged by calling Dorothy or Wilbur Kellogg, the directors, at 424-4904.

THE HUNTINGTON SCHOOL, the oldest established private school in Long Beach, has long been associated with an excellent program of education and recreation.

This school maintains quality through its scope in the large, well-lighted classrooms; its fenced-in playground with custom-made equipment, and in its personnel.

The entire faculty at Huntington hold teaching credentials and are skilled in the individual guidance of children.

Small classes make it possible for each child to perform and progress at individual capacity.

The course of study follows that adopted by the State, with additional subjects such as phonics, science, language, fine arts and crafts.

READING DEVELOPMENT CENTER, a member of the American Reading Society for the maintenance of high ethical standards is staffed by professional, licensed specialists and directed by Dr. Gerhard Kohn, psychologist-educator.

Programs for elementary, high school, college students, as well as for business men, professionals, and adults interested in reading improvement are offered. For slow, immature readers with physical, neurological or emotional problems remedial programs are offered.

The center offers speed reading and study skill programs for children and adults stressing those skills essential for the passing of college entrance tests, promotional examinations, real estate and other State examinations. Appointments for information may be made by calling Geneva 5-7555.

PROGRESS SCHOOL, now in its 30th year starts the mid-term Monday, Feb. 3. A complete academic course is offered for normal and superior students from the primary grades through high school.

A testing program is maintained whereby the individual's needs are analyzed and special instruction given to build a balanced personality. Emphasis is placed on instruction in the basic skills and on the development of good study habits.

A speech program is offered with special correction work given. The Reading Clinic uses time-tested teaching techniques and the latest devices.

The Junior and Senior High Division, located at 927 Pine Ave., also specializes in individual instruction with small class groups.

The elementary school is at 647 Locust Ave.

Call Mrs. Frances N. Nielsen, principal, for further information, at HE 6-4771 or HE 7-7350.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA Military Academy classes at 2065 Cherry Ave., Long Beach, will be starting the second semester Feb. 3. Registrations are filling rapidly so it is imperative that you enroll as soon as possible. They have vacancies in most grades for both resident and day cadets.

This famous John Brown School has been at the same location since 1919. Their slogan is "Character Before Career." This top-rated school is approved and preferred by particular parents for spiritual, mental, physical and character development.

MORRIS MANOR provides learner and the rapid learner accredited private education and extended day care well within the means of every family," stated Director R. A. de Groat. "The cost is actually less than the hourly rate for baby-sitting, $15 weekly."

Because of the limits set for class size, and the high professional qualifications of the teachers, every pupil is given the personal attention he needs. Thus, both the slow progress. "Grade barriers that embarrass the slower learner and impede the progress of the rapid learner disappear under these ideal conditions," de Groat maintains.

Recent additions to the independent school's staff are Mrs. Ethel Anderson and Mrs. Marie Eubanks, whose professional preparation and experience have given them outstanding qualifications.

School day is 9 to 3, however the extended day care program starts at 6:30 and ends at 6. Hot lunches and transportation are also provided at the private school. (1130 Locust Ave. HE 5-0487 and HA 5-0613).

CAROUSEL PRE-SCHOOL and Kindergarten, 366 Cherry Ave., is owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Robinson teaching kindergarten classes.

The school is for children in the 2 to 6-year-old group. Classes in handicraft, music & drawing also are taught. Hot meals are served every day.

A large supervised playground with a special "2-year-old yard" enables children to play with others of their own age. Feature for older children is "Adventure Day" one day each week.

The new term will start Feb. 3. Classes are from 7:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily. Phone GE 4-1938 for further information.

Palmer Takes 9 on One

Arnie, Nicklaus Fail to Qualify; Lema, Balding Lead

By JERRY WYNN
L.P.T. Staff Writer

PEBBLE BEACH — Champagne and salt water.

This was the wet story of a rainy, madcap third round in the $50,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur golf championship Saturday.

Champagne Tony Lema, the new link lion of Northern California, roared into a tie for the lead with Al Balding by shooting a two-under par 70 at Pebble Beach while Balding skidded to a 75. They share a two-stroke lead over Jay Herbert and Bruce Devlin heading into today's pay-off round.

The salt water of a turbulent Pacific Ocean was the mix to another hair-raising chapter in that famed serial "The Perils of Arnold Palmer."

THIS ONE was witnessed by millions on network television in addition to Arnie's live army of several thousand foot-sloggers, and one dog.

The scene was the 17th hole at Pebble Beach, a 218-yard par three, the green of which juts out into a peninsula arm of the ocean. It was the same hole on which Palmer was disqualified last year for playing a provisional ball from almost the same spot on the beach which caused his catastrophe Saturday.

This time, the king of golf took nine tormenting strokes to get the little white ball into the cup. Two under par before the 17th, he wound up with a 76 for a total of 221, to miss the 54-hole cutoff and fail to win money in a tournament for the first time since the 1963 Crosby. That one broke a money streak of 47. This one was 20.

HERE IS A blow-by-blow of how Palmer blew out on the count of nine:

1. He belted a 3-wood onto the narrow strand of beach behind the hole which is dashed by the ocean waves.
2. The ball kept washing up from the water to the beach, but I couldn't hit it so I finally called it unplayable," said Palmer, and he dropped.

BALDING LEMA

the ball over his shoulder at the cost of a one-stroke penalty, after wading knee-deep into the ocean in vain.

3. The ball dropped into water on the rocks. "I thought it would be called casual water so I could drop out, but they (PGA officials) ruled it was part of the ocean which is part of this course, so I had to hit." And he hit into more rocks.
4. He hit the ball back into the ocean.
5. He dropped out for another one-stroke penalty.
6. He pitched up short onto the 18th tee, but at least away from the ocean.
7. He pitched to the green 30 feet from the cup.
- 8-9. He putted out.

ASKED to compare the 9 with the immortal 12 he took in the 1961 Los Angeles Open, Palmer replied, "That 12 was fun. Then I was hitting the ball pretty solid. But this thing was gruesome. I ruined my wedge, got my pants and shoes soaked and probably caught pneumonia."

Would he ask Bing Crosby to buy him a new pair of shoes?

"No," Arnie laughed. "I think I'll buy him a new golf course."

Despite his miseries, Palmer signed autographs for half an hour after leaving the 18th green.

PALMER IN DOG-GONED FIX

Arnold Palmer needed a friend on 17th hole at Pebble Beach Saturday, and along came one—man's best, in fact. But while Palmer was trying to establish a beachhead—he wound up with a nine on the par-three hole—the pooch walked up as he was addressing ball. How Arnie addressed the dog is not known, but he soon left. Probably a rock-hound.

Trojans Drop 5th In Row

California quickly took dominance over a hapless Southern California quintet Saturday night and went on to win, 65-47—to hand the Trojans their fifth successive loss.

The Trojans missed 11 consecutive attempts and went the game's first 10 minutes without a field goal. The Bears, meanwhile, built up a lead which widened, later, to as much as 22 points.

The victory was Cal's fifth in six Big Six starts.

Dan Wolters got 18 points to lead the Cal scorers, and then was benched midway through the second half after he caught a blow in the stomach during a scramble for the ball.

West Pumps In 41 for Lakers

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Elgin Baylor's 27 paced the Clutch baskets by Frank Laker.

Selvy and Leroy Ellis frustrated a late Philadelphia rally Saturday night and helped carry Los Angeles to a 115-111 National Basketball Association triumph over the 76ers.

The Lakers' two field goals came after Philadelphia had Philadelphia outscored Los Angeles from the floor, 42 field goals to 37, but the Lakers dominated the free throw shooting, 41-27.

THE LAKERS, who have had a torrid trip, including the All-Star game in which Baylor and West played, finally get a day of rest today.

They return home Monday to begin a four-game stand. The Detroit Pistons move into the L.A. Sports Arena Monday and Wednesday followed by the San Francisco Warriors on Friday and Sunday.

West, with his 41-point total, moved closer to Wilt Chamberlain of the Warriors in his bid for the NBA scoring title.

GOMER JONES Strong Backing by Boss

BITTER BUD QUILTS AS ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Bud Wilkinson severed another tie with the University of Oklahoma Saturday, this time on a note of bitterness.

Charging "political maneuvering" in the Board of Regents' delay in choosing his successor as football coach, Wilkinson resigned as athletic director.

The move came exactly one week after he ended a fabulous 17-season career as Sooners football coach in a big step toward furthering incipient political ambitions.

Wilkinson has backed his friend and long-time assistant, Gomer Jones, for the football job.

Although he is a registered Democrat, Wilkinson would be expected to run for the Senate as a Republican—and this is believed to be the source of the reported friction with regents.

Six of the seven regents reportedly are loyal to two probable Democratic candidates for the Senate.

But Glenn Northcutt, president of the regents, said he was for Jones.

L.B. State Wins 2 in Row First Time This Season

By AL LARSON
L.P.T. Staff Writer

SAN DIEGO—Long Beach State's basketball club put together its first two-game winning streak of the season Saturday night, but it didn't come easily. But when you're on the road they never come easily.

Scoring more than half of their points at the foul line

(46), the 49ers packed away an 86-71 victory over University of San Diego before a slim gathering of 450 in the Toreros' gym.

The victory was only L.B.'s fourth in 14 starts this season but the third in four meetings since the USD rivalry began. San Diego is now 6-7 on the season.

It's fortunate that the 49ers could find the range at the foul line because they had their difficulties from the floor for better than two-thirds of the game.

COACH Dick Perry's club managed to sink only nine field goals in the first 20 minutes of play but converted 17 of 23 free throw attempts to maintain a slim 35-33 halftime lead.

The second-half story was much the same as they went five minutes without a basket. The 49ers trudged to the line and stayed alive sinking 29 of 35 charity tosses. For the night, L.B. was 46-for-58; the Toreros dropped in 19 of 27, in contrast.

John Barnicoat led L.B.'s scoring with 25 points, while John Rambo followed with 24 to more than offset the sensational shooting Cliff Ashford. The 24-year-old sophomore from Detroit poured in 28 points, 10 above his average, to keep USD in the contest before fouling out with 2:57 to go.

THE VISITORS were leading at this point by eight points.

13,505 See Pennel, Belgian Top Meet

By JOHN DIXON

An emotional two-mile and a courageous pole vault were the favorites of the capacity crowd of 13,505 as Olympic year blasted off Saturday night with the fifth Los Angeles invitation in the Sports Arena.

John Pennel, owner of the world pole vault record of 17 feet, 3/4 inches, was voted "athlete of the meet" after winning the skyscraper contest at 16-4 1/2, an American indoor standard.

He had to overcome two skyscraper obstacles to do it.

PENNEL'S poles were misplaced on route, and he was forced to use borrowed big-benders. And he missed the foam-rubber pit on an early try and bruised his heel.

It took Pennel three vaults to overcome 15-6, but after that he was the class of the field. I felt good except for my foot," he said, "I could run only at three-quarter speed after the injury and that hurt my height."

Thirteen meet records were erased, three others tied. Two of the records fell to Long Beach State.

LONG BEACH STATE won the college division mile relay at 3:24.7. Old record was Redlands' 3:27.2.

Jack Rose's 49ers proved that they deserve to run with the big boys by adding the two-mile relay an hour later in 7:55.0, cutting eight seconds off the meet record.

It was a wire-to-wire victory. Half-mile clockings were Ralph Lee 1:58.4, Tom Jennings 1:59.8, Steve Tilney 1:59.9 and Darryl Taylor 1:56.9.

Gaston Roelants of Belgium, holder of the world steeplechase record, received a tremendous ovation from the fifth successive invitation sellout, and a tiny high school boy received just as much applause.

Like a spider leaving his own web and creating his own destiny, Roelants won the two-mile in 8:41.4, a winner by 40 yards in meet and Arena record time.

ROELANTS grabbed the lead after a mile and one-quarter and boosted the advantage with his long policeman's gait in to the tape.

Presented a huge bouquet by his countrymen, Roelants was greeted with ear-splitting applause on his victory lap of honor.

The night's biggest upset was the second-place finisher. Tiny Gerry Lindgren, a 17-year-old from Rogers High School in Spokane, Wash., finished second in 8:46.0, defeating Julio Marin of Costa Rica, a two-event National Collegiate champion last year, and U. S. Olympian George Young.

LINDGREN led at the mile in 4:21.2, dropped to fourth, but pulled ahead of Young in the last 440 and had second in a solid grasp.

Lindgren's race was fastest ever by a high school boy. He ran 9-flat in a record-setter at San Francisco, Bruce Kidd's 17-year-old pinnacle was 8:49.1 in 1961.

Lindgren, overwhelmed by the back-patters, admitted to the press at track-side, "I was a little out of breath at the end."

He runs 12 months a year, following a marathon program. The 5-5, 118-pounder hopes to qualify for the Olympic Games team in the 5,000 meters. Lindgren ran a 4:33 mile as a sophomore, 4:12 as a junior.

THE MEET, first on the road to Tokyo for many of the athletes, was dominated by Olympic Games favorites.

Hayes Jones, Bronze Medal winner at Rome, won a suitcase Saturday, but how he had to work for it.

He edged Dee Andrews of Long Beach State by inches in the 60-yard hurdle heat in 7.2, and was pushed to a meet and Arena record of 7.0 in outgunning the fantastic 49er in the finale.

Wec Dee had a clear advantage at the first hurdle although Jones is regarded as the fastest starter in the game. Hayes caught up at the second barrier, moved inches ahead and won it when Andrews kneeled over the fourth hurdle.

JONES' VICTORY was his 48th in succession in indoor competition. Andrews was timed in 7.2, Blaine Lindgren, ranked No. 2 in the world last year, 7.2 in third.

"I knew Andrews was ahead but I wasn't worried," puffed Jones. "I just ran my race."

Andrews wasn't discouraged. "I just began workouts, and I don't know the boards yet."

"I know I'm faster than 7.2. I can beat Jones," Robert Hayes, holder of the world 100-yard dash record of 9.1, added a piece of the in-

Bruins Race Past Stanford for 15th Victory

By JEROME HALL

Evidence is piling up and the conclusion is inescapable—UCLA's basketball team is headed for an undefeated season, maybe an unexpressed one.

There was, in early-season opinion, only one major conference threat—the Stanford Indians. Saturday night UCLA completed a capsizing maneuver that sank the Palo Alto team from sight.

The Indians went down with hardly a gurgle. The score was 80-61. It wasn't that close.

The nation's top-ranked team zipped to a 20-point lead

LAST TIME Stanford got into the post-season playoffs Dallmar was a forward on the team. That was 1942.

"We played as good a first half as we ever played," said UCLA coach John Wooden.

"I'm glad we're going to get a little rest now. The pressure has been pretty strong."

The Bruins get a two-week vacation from basketball to concentrate on final exams.

Crafty Walt Hazzard led the scoring with 31, his highest this season and only one point shy of the best he's ever done.

Stanford's star center Tom Dose was held to 14 points for the second night in a row.

THE BRUINS reversed their form of Friday night when they started slowly and finished fast. This time they catapulted to a 10-0 lead.

UCLA had six points before the first 45 seconds had been played. It got a 6-0 lead without taking a shot longer than three feet.

The Bruins' hard-pressing tactics were working to perfection. The Indians were throwing the ball out of bounds and the Bruins were getting it on steals through much of the first half.

Occasionally the Stanford boys were bouncing it off their toes.

The Bruins ran up a 22-6 advantage because they were hitting their shots, which they were not doing on Friday night, though they walked over their foremost rivals for the Big Six championship by an 84-71 score.

UCLA STRETCHED the lead to 20 points three minutes before the end of the half and the Indians showed strong signs of coming completely apart. Their passing was as far off the mark as was their shooting and that's almost an unwinable combination.

Hazzard, UCLA's all-America candidate who had one of the poorer games of his UCLA career on Friday night, came through with a flashy performance Saturday night and made 14 of the Bruins' first 40 points.

When Hazzard realized he had a hot hand he began shooting from all corners of the court. He made an 18-foot jump shot from the top of the circle and followed with a 17-footer from the base line. He made three in

The Sunday Sermon

Pearls from the Sunday pulpit:
Midweek note received in the mail: "You are invited to attend a cocktail party and press reception for Leo Durocher at Courtyard Chevrolet in L.A. on Monday. Leo will be available for interview any time before and after his new KKHJ sports show which starts that day."

(What timing for poor Leo just days after that $150,000 alienation of affections suit was filed against him in the East. You think there won't be a million questions fired at the Lip during THAT interview?)

Incidentally, one member of the Dodger official family claims he's certain the suit against Durocher was a frame-up—a "practical joke" perpetrated by some of Leo's buddies in the movie colony. Some joke, although Durocher himself has been known to pull a few "tricks" on his Hollywood pals in the past. "It has to be a gag," insisted the Dodger informant. "Every time we hit New York during the past two seasons Durocher rented a suite of rooms to entertain this family in the suite. It was like a big family reunion." (Anyway, some joke—to be awakened at 3 a.m., hauled to the puke and forced to cough up $30,000 bail. No thanks.)

Pittsburgh Pirate rookies Bob Bailey and Tom Sisk were in the Long Beach Ad Club luncheon audience which marveled at the World Series movies seen here this week. Both concurred with this corner's earlier opinion: The films are outstanding. (Even ancient Beans Reardon, never one to be lavish with praise, called the '63 Series movies the best he's ever seen. Beans' running commentary added "spice" to Vin Scully's regular film narration, not that it needed any.)

By the way, any clubs or groups in the area looking for luncheon or dinner speakers might do better by securing the World Series films. They can be obtained by contacting the Dodger office.

Both Bailey and Sisk were optimistic that the Pirates' 1963 youth movement would pay off in '64. "I know I'm looking for a better year at the plate," commented Bailey, who wasn't a base-hit ball of fire in his freshman season.

SPEAKING OF BAILEY, a story hit the wires Saturday that the former Wilson star may be tested in the Pirate outfield this season. Bob held down third base most of last season. "Right now third base is wide open," declared manager Danny Murtaugh. "It'll be a race between Bailey, Gene Alley and Gene Freeze, and I possibly might put Bailey in the outfield. He's got a strong arm."

Sisk, who pitched in 57 games last year, said he's delighted at the opportunity Murtaugh promised of becoming a starter. "It's like having a vacation pitching every four days," he enthused. "That working in the bullpen every day is rough." Tom admitted he had learned the "art" of relief pitching, a chore that has ruined many promising youngsters' arms. "You just have to pace yourself—and everybody's pace is different," explained Sisk. "I've learned to get ready by throwing hard for just five pitches. Others need more. Then, there's Eloy Face. All he has to do is take the mound and he's warmed up."

When the Harlem Globetrotters appear here Feb. 1 you better make certain that you get to the arena in time for the preliminary game. The opener will feature the Chicago pro football Bears, with the probable opponent—the Century Club Cardinals. Those old men better show up in suits of armor otherwise there won't be anything left of them after the likes of Mike Ditka, Joe Maroon and terrible-tempered Ed O'Bradovich rip into them.

THE ENTIRE pro football world is focusing on the every move of veteran Chicago Bear linebacker Bill George. At the writing, George is a free agent, having played out his option with the world champions. Pro Bowl participants in Southern California last weekend all wondered about what will happen to George, still a tremendously competent athlete. He can just about pick his spot anywhere in pro football, but what would be the price?

"The Philadelphia Eagles worked out a $125,000 deal for Bob Brown (a raw rookie guard from Nebraska)," commented one of George's Chicago teammates, "so what kind of salary do you think a proven all-pro like Bill could command?"

As far as I know, NFL teams are keeping mum on George. Sure, every one of the other 13 clubs would want him on their roster, but what if they did sign him? Wouldn't that encourage some of their own stars to play out their options and wheel-and-deal with another outfit the following year? You bet your life it would. (NFL club owners still are trembling about a similar case—R. C. Owens "jumping" the 49ers for Baltimore's Colts. If another NFL club signs George, Pete Rozelle's empire could be blown into more pieces than a jigsaw puzzle.)

The rift in Minnesota between two ex-Rams, Norm Van Brocklin and Bert Rose, is growing. As many people anticipated, the Dutchman wants to run his NFL Vikings all by his lonesome. Norm always encountered difficulty working with other people. On the other hand, ex-publicity man Rose has done an excellent job as Viking general manager, albeit maybe not to Norm's particular liking. The situation is acute enough that insiders think one head is bound to be chopped.

PEBBLE BEACH — Bill Rigney, the golfer, peered down the 18th fairway at Pebble Beach. He was 350 miles from Chavez Ravine as the sea gull flies but it might have been 3,500. The only Angel on his mind was the one which would steer his drive away from the beckoning Pacific Ocean.

Rigney is listed as an amateur on the Bing Crosby golf scoreboard only he plays the game more like a pro.

Just ask his many Northern California links partners. They claim he makes more money in "friendly" games of golf than he does by managing the Angels.

Or ask the 18th hole gallery here which watched the lean eight-handicapper sink a 60-foot chip shot for a birdie during the first round of the tournament.

Did you ever feel like putting in a pinch-hitter for Rigney during your round, Bill? "Yes. Sometimes when the caddy gives you a club you feel like giving it back to him. This is a demanding course. Once I had a downhill lie in a bunker. I was clearly overmatched."

Without any umpires on the golf course, how do you let off steam?

"I just start walking and try to get away from the shot, quickly. I actually shanked one today. I also may mention the fellow who designed the course but only to myself. I've never thrown a club."

Which sport is tougher, golf or baseball?

"Golf by 5-to-1."

Can you handle a putter as well as Bo Belinsky does a cue stick?

"You'd have to be an awful good putter to handle it that well."

"I'm a pretty good putter. I get the yips once in awhile but not too often. I made a downhill 25-footer on the 10th and a curling 15-footer on the 11th, so I feel pretty good about my putting now."

How many strokes would you want Albie Pearson to spot you in a match?

"I've told him this. The only chance he has to be traded from the Angels is when I beat him in golf. So he's safe. Albie's been a fine example for the Angel club as a ballplayer and as a golfer, he's just great."

Do you have any objections to your players golfing during the baseball season?

"Yes. I don't allow golf on the same day as a game. And if a fellow is playing well he won't be interested in golf. He'll want to rest. During off days, I have no objection. I also have no objection to the manager playing whenever he wants. It's the best therapy for me to get unwound."

What is the greatest golf shot you've made?

"I had a hole-in-one once. It was a little flip 8-iron at the Mira Vista Club in Berkeley. I think I had my best round last month during the baseball meetings at San Diego—an even par 72 at Mission Valley."

Do you have a favorite among golf pros?

"I know and have played with some of them—Mike Souchak, Bo Winingar, Art Wall, Dow Finsterwald. When I was younger, my favorite was Lloyd Mangrum. I always followed him."

Would you rather have your two sons become baseball players or golf pros?

"Neither. One baseball player in the family is enough, and if they want to play golf for fun, that's fine. My oldest son, Bill, likes to play, but he hasn't beat his dad yet. He is at the University of California at Santa Barbara."

After Pebble Beach, will Chavez Ravine look cozier to you?

"Yes, it will look just great. I'm looking forward to next season. I guess all managers are optimistic at this time of the year. We have some real fine young players coming into camp and some solid veterans and..."

And golfer Bill Rigney was a baseball man again.

Voting Begins Today for Most Popular L.B. Athlete

Who is Long Beach's most popular athlete?

The Century Club intends to find out—and present a special award to that person at its annual Sports Night banquet Jan. 28 via a special ballot which will appear starting today in The Independent Press-Telegram.

Voting rules are simple:

—Any Long Beach active athlete (pro or amateur, male or female) is eligible EXCEPT previous winners.

—Votes MUST be sent via the 1, P.T. ballot. No other form will be accepted.

Past winners (and thus ineligible for the 1963 award) are Bob Soli, Vicki Van Hook, Ron Fairly and Billie Jean Moffitt.

Meanwhile, two more AAWU head football coaches accepted invitations to attend the Lafayette Hotel affair which will honor Billie Jean and Willie Brown as this city's co-athletes of 1963.

Stanford's John Ralston and UCLA's Bill Barnes will join USC's John McKay and the Rams' Harland Svare, along with athletic directors Jess Hill (USC) and J. D. Morgan (UCLA), Pancho Gonzales, Dodger, Angel and Ram players, and a host of other celebrities at the head table.

They will be there not only to honor the co-athletes of 1963, but also 60 Long Beach athletes and nine teams which served with distinction during the past year.

Banquet tickets may be secured at the following locations:

Kenny's Sporting Goods, Hoefly's Belmont Shore, Apple Valley Steak House, Rig Restaurant, Nu-Pike Office and the Century Club office, 956 Locust Ave.

PEBBLE BEACH SIDELIGHTS:

Sun 'Salesman' Forsakes Duty for Serious Golf

By JERRY WYNN
L. P.T. Staff Writer

PEBBLE BEACH — Where the deer and the wild golfers play:

The weather on the Monterey Peninsula in January can be as fickle as Liz Taylor, as frantic as Chassius Clay, as frivolous as Bo Belinsky.

So the beautiful weather which prevailed for Bing Crosby's tournament last year would return, he invited back Air Force Catholic chaplains John Durkin and Len Scannel to play and be in charge of the weather.

"I know the fathers will put in a good word upstairs," said Bing, "so we can have only sunshine again this year."

But Father Scannel dissented. "What you ask is a management problem. I'm in sales."

Father Durkin is neglecting the weather and concentrating on winning the tournament. Paired with Champagne Tony Lema, he was tied for the pro-amateur lead at tee-off time Saturday. This led to a press rumor that the father's 13 handicap will be a major topic at the next Ecumenical Council in Rome.

Not everyone is pleased with the good weather. Write San Francisco sports humorist Prescott Sullivan:

"Distinctly fine weather prevailed through another round. Striking the Monterey Peninsula for a second day in a row, the unseasonal calm virtually paralyzed the umbrella and raincoat industries while hitting visiting sports columnists hardest of all. They have nothing to write about except the golf tournament."

All room accommodations on the Peninsula annually are sold out, but Long Beach's Pinky Stevenson has the problem whipped. A former private at nearby Fort Ord, Pinky is residing there in the home of a major.

British pro Geoffrey Hunt is sponsored on the tour by the Cutty Sark Distillery of Scotland. He should have been paired here with Phil Harris, the famed amateur from Jack Daniels Country Club.

There is a television war brewing between the PGA and golf tournament sponsors.

The PGA wants to control the TV revenue which in the past has gone to the sponsors. James Garner, who is in the same foursome as Arnold Palmer, is having his problems. Besides playing with a fractured rib and being hounded by female idolaters, he misplaced his car keys Friday and had to play with borrowed golf clubs.

Long Beach amateur Dan Ridder wishes there were only 17 holes at Pebble Beach. For the second year in a row, he hit his drive into the ocean on the mighty 18th.

A woman was doing so much talking in the gallery of a famous pro that the pro commented in a whisper, "That dame probably uses a ball marker between her lips so she can start talking where she left off."

AFL All-Stars at San Diego Today

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The American Football League puts its finest talent on display Sunday for a national television audience as the East and West meet in the third annual All-Star game.

A crowd of about 27,000 is expected to sit in at Balboa Stadium.

The West, coached by Sid Gillman of the champion San Diego Chargers, is favored over the East, which will be guided by coach Mike Holovak of the runner-up Boston Patriots.

THE WEST, which draws its personnel from the San Diego, Oakland, Denver and Kansas City clubs, will be after its third straight victory in a series that began in 1962.

Stars from Boston, Buffalo, Houston and New York make up the East squad.

Most AFL observers feel the West has the advantage in greater speed and a well-balanced attack, which finds the Chargers' Tobin Rote, backed by Cotton Davidson of the Oakland Raiders, directing from the quarterback position.

The East's starting quarterback, Jack Kemp of the Buffalo Bills, was declared out of the game Saturday because of the game Saturday because

Image-Makers Behind Clay, Liston

The Liston-Clay fight has enjoyed one of the longest sustained buildups in boxing history. It began over a year ago just after Sonny won the heavyweight championship.

And it has continued unabated ever since—even while Liston was disposing of Floyd Patterson a second time last summer.

Sonny and Cassius introduced their "act" last January in Miami and will end there next month when they finally meet for the title.

SONNY LISTON
Needs New 'Mouthpiece'

In the meantime, their performances have been masterpieces of "dialogue and acting."

Through their humorous marathon "insulting sessions," Cassius has filled the air with poetry, predictions that Liston will fall in eight and dwelled on the fact he is such a beautiful hunk of humanity while Sonny is so ugly.

Liston has answered Clay's barbs with much more clever answers than you would expect from a man with his poor educational background.

Strangely enough, a lot of observers still believe their sessions are "ad libbed."

However, the two fighters follow well written and well planned scripts produced by their "writers."

The man behind Clay is a little fellow by the name of Gary Belkin, who has never been in the ring but who has a tremendous flair for putting words into somebody else's mouth.

For instance, he's the man who wrote the script for Clay's recording of poems and recitations to a musical background called "I Am the Greatest" even though Cassius announced to a press conference that "the words are all mine except a few which have been changed to protect the innocent."

IT HAS BEEN SUSPECTED for some time that at most press conferences, the fighters are thrown cue lines by scribes to set up remarks supplied by their writers.

Like when Cassius was asked "do you really believe you're handsome?"

"My face," Cassius replied in a well-rehearsed manner, "should be considered a natural resource and the Secretary of the Interior should appropriate money to preserve my beauty. To preserve Mr. Liston's face, money should be appropriated by the Bureau of Wildlife."

It must be pointed out that Belkin is merely "promoting the image" Clay already had built for himself.

It was Cassius' own idea to become a mouthy individual. Clay picked up this act from the late wrestler, George Wagner—better known as Gorgeous George.

CASSIUS WAS ALWAYS a cocky kid and talkative. But not the lippy, sometimes obnoxious individual he is when "on stage." In private, he's a nice, sincere young fellow.

Gorgeous George wrestled in Louisville a few years ago. The match was on local TV. In the dressing-room interview show, George, who had performed before a packed house, began to boast of what he was going to do to the guy he was going to meet the following week.

Cassius said "you know, he makes a lot of money with that kind of talk. I'm going to be like him and live up to the fight game."

Well, it's history that he carried through with the idea.

BUILDING A NEW IMAGE for Liston has been a much more difficult task in view of his shady career, his constant scowl and his surliness.

The man who was assigned by the boxing crowd to handle Liston's public relations was Ben Bentley, a press agent for the old IBC crowd and who has been seen from time to time on national TV as the ring announcer who introduces the fighters.

Ben is the one who has had to supply Sonny with the material to answer Clay (and Belkin). And he's done a terrific job, both in writing and in tutoring the illiterate champion.

But Liston lost his "mouthpiece" a few days ago, Bentley quit in a huff over a hassle about the TV money from the fight.

It probably will be ironed out soon because one thing is certain. When Liston moves to Miami later this month, he'll need a writer more than ever before because Belkin has been busy arming Clay with new vocal ammunition.

Bears Will Play Basketball Here

Harlem Globetrotter owner-coach Abe Saperstein has signed the National Football League title-winning Chicago Bears to play a preliminary game to the Trotters' regular show in the Long Beach Arena, Saturday, Feb. 1.

The Bears will play the Century Club "Cardiacs" in the prelim before the Trotters meet the Atlantic City Sea Gulls.

Flying out from Chicago to play for the Bears will be Mike Ditka, Ed O'Bradovich, Mike Pyle, Joe Marconi, Bill Martin, Bob Kilcullen, Bob Wetowska and Rudy Bukich.

Also in the Chicago lineup will be Poly High product Johnny Morris.

Peg Leg Bates, famed one-legged dancing star, heads the between-halves show that includes acrobats, jugglers, trampoline stars and a table tennis exhibition.

Tickets for the Trotters' L.B. appearance night, Feb. 1, are available at all Liberty Agencies, Wallichs Music City, Humphreys Music Co., Kennedy's Sporting Goods and the Arena box office. Phone reservations can be made at HE 7-2771.

Rain Hits at Riverside; Race Today

Rain halted qualifying runs at the Riverside International Raceway Saturday, scene of the big NASCAR 500 mile stock car race today.

With the bulk of the entries unable to qualify, officials decided to let them enter in the order in which they registered for the event.

Officials qualified Joe Weatherly, of Norfolk, Va., and Troy Rutman, Dearborn, Mich., on the basis of earlier trips around the twisty course. Each hit close to 100 mph.

THERE WERE still 27 entrants unqualified. Seventeen made it. Forty-four will start. Clear skies are expected for the race.

Seven of those who qualified made average speeds of better than 100 miles an hour. Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., set a qualifying record Thursday at 102.434 mph and will sit on the pole today. Paul Goldsmith held the old qualifying mark.

Aggie, Bowes Join Forces in Indy '500'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—J. C. Agajanian, a San Pedro, Calif., promoter, and Robert M. Bowes II, Indianapolis manufacturer, announced Saturday they will enter two cars together for the Indianapolis 500-mile race May 30.

Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., who won last year in an Agajanian car, will be the No. 1 driver for the combine.

Jones will be given his choice of his 1963 car, rebuilt and remodeled, or a new rear-engine car being built by Troutman & Barnes of Culver City, Calif., who put together the Scarabs and other famous racers.

Whether a driver will be sought for the car Jones rejects will depend upon how well it performs, Agajanian said.

Durocher Joins KHJ

Leo Durocher, coach of the L.A. Dodgers, will join KHJ radio Monday as a sports commentator. Durocher will be heard weekdays at 8:34 a.m. and 5:35 p.m.

38th Year for SC Tuna Club

Cliff Brignall became the 38th president of the Southern California Tuna Club Friday night at the installation banquet in the Virginia Country Club. It was an honor long deserved because no one has worked harder for the club than Cliff, and he has been chairman of almost every event the club has on its calendar.

Going into office with Cliff were Dr. Julian Knutson, vice president; Jim Kuster, secretary, and Dr. Edwin R. Harvey, treasurer. Other club secretaries come and go, but secretary Kuster goes on forever; he's a dandy. Once a president of the club, Kuster has been its secretary for 24 years.

Those officers and the following compose the board of directors: Dr. Thomas Kiddie, Harrison Moore, Harold Parks, Vernon A. Williams, Bert H. Paul, Dr. Gordon Bateman and Walter E. Hoffman.

Brignall, now retired, has had a colorful career in fishing tackle manufacturing, fishing, boating and dog training. Always one of the most energetic members of the SCTC, he assumes the presidency at a time when he has a back ailment. He broke his back weeks ago when he slipped on wet concrete at his home. Nevertheless, he is prepared, back brace and all, to enter such events as the Lake Mead fishing trip, the Palmilla junket, the albacore tournaments, and various other activities.

CLIFF SOLD HIS BUSINESS. Sevenstrand Fishing Tackle Mfg. Co., to Phil Clock, and then his energy found new releases in boat trips aboard the Knucklehead, which he built and powered with Volvo engines. That boat cruised from Port Angeles, Wash., to Ketchikan, Alaska, twice, and has been in the Gulf of California numbers of times.

Possibly Cliff's greatest hobby, at least in earlier years, was dog training. Gringo was his most famous black Labrador. Gringo won the 1948 National in the United States and the Canadian National the same year. Gringo accounted for more than 100 trophies which Cliff has in his den.

Nelgard's Baron, a Chesapeake retriever, was Cliff's most famous blond dog. Baron had a bad habit of crunching most anything in his path—ducks, other dogs; even Cliff admits that at times Baron frightened him.

However, Baron was cured in a rather unusual way. A dentist friend of Cliff's put Baron to sleep, filed down his sharp teeth and later capped them with gold. Possibly no other dog ever had that distinction. Cliff later sold Baron to a San Francisco woman who spends all her time training and showing dogs.

Currently, the Brignalls have a dog, Rip, which Cliff says is beyond doubt the smartest dog he ever owned, but Cliff has no intention of returning to the dog circuits.

AT LAST YEAR'S TUNA CLUB camp on the shore of Lake Mead, 20 miles uplake from Temple Bar, Rip and Nick, another black Lab, practically wore out their pads running over the rocky terrain. The dogs got so much scraps from the table that it took Cliff two months to get them back into prime condition. Calories fatten dogs, too, you know, but dogs don't seem to count them. Strangely enough, the dogs, Rip and Nick were indirectly involved when Cliff broke his back. He had gone outside to the concrete kennel runway to feed the dogs when he fell on the rain-slickened slab.

The fishing tackle business was contagious in the Brignall family. A son, Clarence, is a manufacturer's representative of sporting goods. Ken White, who married Beverly, Cliff's daughter, also is a manufacturer's representative, but handles different lines.

Cliff and his wife live at 54 Balboa Coves, Newport Beach.

A tentative schedule for the 1964 SCTC events looks this way: Ladies' Night, Feb. 21; awards banquet, March 20; Lake Mead, April 1-4; Palmilla, May 4-10; Kids' Fishing Rodeo on Belmont Pier, Aug. 20 (this is jointly sponsored by the Recreation Department and the SCTC); Mulege trip, Nov. 4-7; trapshoot, Nov. 12.

Six members of the world champions will be in the starting lineup for the Dodger All-Stars in the annual Medical Benefit game of the Southern California Baseball Assn.

The Dodger All-Stars will meet Gene Mauch's Major League All-Stars, Sunday, Feb. 9 at La Palma Park in Anaheim.

Harold (Lefty) Phillips, manager of the Dodger All-Stars and chief aide to Walter Alston on the road, has announced acceptances from outfielders Ron Fairly, Wally Moon and Lee Walls; pitcher Bob Miller, infielder Dick Tracewski and catcher Doug Camilli.

FAIRLY, the Dodgers' regular first baseman, was pushed to the outfield by comedian Jerry Lewis, the star of last year's charity game. In addition to his clowning, Lewis made a hit at bat, one of three singles collected by the Dodgers in a 2-1 loss.

Fairly, who batted .271 and drove in 77 runs last year, will start in center field, flanked by Moon in left and Walls in right.

Tracewski was a defensive star in the World Series and delivered two key hits in the sweep over the Yankees.

All grandstand seats are priced at $1.50. Bleacher tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12. Proceeds go to the medical fund of the SCBA.

Crider Dragster, A-Gas Coupe in Feature Match

Ken Crider of Long Beach is one among 18 officials governing the destinies of Lions Drag Strip who believes in going all the way.

Crider, a director of Harbor Area Lions, Inc., has been for five months owner of a underslung C-dragster, powered by a 340-cubic inch injected Chevrolet engine that will today meet a A-gas coupe of Stone, Woods and Conks, driven by veteran Doug Cook of Paramount in a feature match race at Lions.

Fuel dragsters, going after both elapsed time and top speed records, will tangle Midwest competitor Connie Kaletta of Mt. Clemons, Mich., with his big, supercharged Chrysler.

Eliminations start at 1 p.m.

MORE LONG PUTS Long to Continue Comeback in L.B.

Dallas Long, who has had more long shotput throws than anyone in track history, will continue his comeback campaign in the Long Beach Games indoor meet Feb. 18, he revealed Saturday.

DALLAS LONG
Record at 65-10 1/2

Long was rated No. 1 in the world in 1962 when he established a record of 65 feet, 10 1/2 in. He passed competition in 1963 to concentrate on his USC dental school studies.

Long, who threw the 16-pounder over 60 feet while in high school, has been stressing weight-lifting in recent three-days-a-week training. A third place medal winner in the Rome Olympiad, Long's target is a gold medal at Tokyo.

The 260-pounder shares all-time U.S. honors with former world record holder Bill Nieder. The top 20:

- 65-10 1/2—Long (USC), 1962.
- 65-10—Nieder, (USC, Army), 1960.
- 65-10—Nieder, (USC), 1960.
- 65-10—Long, 1962.
- 65-10—Gubner (NYU), 1962.
- 65-10—Nieder, 1960.
- 65-10—Nieder, 1960.
- 65-10—Long, 1960.
- 65-10—Nieder, 1960.

Rockets Face Eagles in Playoff Opener

By FRANK WHITNEY

The countdown begins for the Rockets today. With the Winter League crown neatly tucked away, Long Beach will go after its third consecutive playoff championship at Blair Field.

The Los Angeles Eagles, only team to defeat the Rockets this year, will provide the opposition at 1:30. The Eagles finished second among road teams.

Winner of the Rocket-Eagle contest will play the winner of the Huntington Park Dodgers-Pasadena Yankee game, being played at Huntington Park today, in a best-of-three series.

Starting pitcher for the Rockets will be Butch Hughes. He has started the last three games and in his last nine innings he has given up only three hits, has not allowed a run and has struck out 10.

Other Games Today
Pasadena Yankees at Huntington Park Dodgers, El Rey Chorizo at North Long Beach, Burbank Stars at Marysville, Elgin at Wilmington, Dodgers, Embers Falcons vs. La Bontade at Santa Ana, Yankees vs. Martin Realty at Burbank.

Free ALLSTATE Tire Mounting!
Free tire rotation of Sears tires every 5000 miles!

PLUS ADDITIVE... is now tomorrow! FACTS: ALLSTATE tire is now made with this new, revolutionary, exclusive blend rubber to provide better traction and give you longer mileage.

SEARS PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

Every Sears tire is guaranteed against all failures (no limit of any kind as long as there is tread on it). If it fails for any reason during this guarantee period, return it to your nearest retail or mail order store and we will, at our option, repair it without cost to you—or in exchange for the tire, replace it with a new tire, charging only for the tread wear.

In addition, we guarantee the life of the tread of each tire for a given monthly period. If the tread wears out before the time period expires, an extra set dollar allowance will be given on the purchase of a new tire of similar kind. The extra allowance is a reduction from the current exchange price (regular retail price plus Federal excise tax less trade-in at time of return).

Jr. Chamber Begins 10 New Buses Due Tomorrow

Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce will launch an intensive 12-day membership drive Monday.

The drive has been planned to open with National Junior Chamber of Commerce Week, which runs Jan. 20 through 24.

Calling itself a service organization for "Young Men of Action," the chamber is seeking to enroll men between the ages of 21 and 36 who live, work or have an interest in the city of Long Beach.

Included in the many activities sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce are: Bi-Partisan Candidate Night, Distinguished Service Award Banquet, Junior golf and tennis programs, Wings over the World Show, polo clinics and blood donation programs.

Included in the special VACATION TIME will be more fun if you turn your no-longer-used household articles into cash by selling them with an Independent, Press-Telegram Want Ad. Dial HE 2-5959 right away to start things moving!

Ten silver and blue Dreamliner buses for the recently formed Long Beach Public Transportation Co., will arrive Monday, after a 2,500-mile, cross-country goodwill tour.

Mayor Edwin W. Wade, other city officials, Chamber of Commerce directors and directors of the bus company will be present at the Edgewater Inn at noon to greet the buses, drivers and the organization's general manager, Bill Farrell, who also is making the journey.

A MOTORCYCLE escort from the Long Beach Police Department will meet the vehicles at the city limits on Highway 101 via Seal Beach and lead them to the hotel for luncheon ceremonies with Dr. G. W. Cole, Chamber president, presiding.

After the luncheon Long Beach Municipal band members will board the buses and travel about town to stage concerts. Stops will be at shopping center in Los Altos, North Long Beach, Bixby Knolls, Belmont Shore, Lakewood and downtown Long Beach.

The first 15 buses were placed in service three months ago after a similar trip from Pontiac, Mich.

The current cross-country tour of buses made goodwill stops in Louisville, Ky.; Memphis, Tenn.; Little Rock, Ark.; Dallas and Commerce, Texas; and Tucson, Ariz.

ANDY WILLIAMS—RICH SINGER

Makes Acting Debut in Film

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Andy Williams, a rich singer, is making his movie-acting debut playing a rich singer. The work should be easy for him. Since he became a star Andy has fattened his bank account through recordings, real estate and investments.

Williams' acting debut will be in the movie "I'd Rather Be Rich" with Robert Goulet, Maurice Chevalier and Sandra Dee. Previously, Andy starred on records and in television.

His only other movie experience was so insignificant that he hardly considers it. He worked in a couple of pictures with his three brothers when they performed as a singing quartet.

Williams is under contract to Universal Pictures. If the studio exercises all of its options on Andy's services, he'll make seven films there.

Originally Andy's part in the picture called for him to portray a pianist.

"It wasn't supposed to be a singing picture at all," he said. "I was supposed to be a jazz pianist. They decided it was silly to make me a piano player instead of a singer. So I sing one song."

Nobody in Hollywood is more easy-going than Andy. He's the West Coast Perry Como when it comes to relaxation. So it's fair to expect that the slow pace of motion picture production is to his liking.

"When I do television somebody is either giving me a song to do, a dance to learn, or shoving a sandwich in my mouth. This movie is a delightful change of pace. I can sit down and think a little bit."

ANDY IS AN excellent singer. Can he act?

"I've never taken any dramatic lessons," he said. "I think I can do light comedy like this picture. I do sketches and stuff on television and some of them turn out quite funny."

"I've done a couple of summer stock things, 'Pal Joey' and 'Bye Bye Birdie.' I did them to see if I could memorize the lines and play a part all the way through. I guess I did them pretty well."

EDIE ADAMS

Out of the Woods

By DAVID FARMER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Edie Adams is a singer-actress-Comedienne, but she has also pulled off what looks like one of Hollywood's best magic acts.

Edie suddenly found her emotional and financial worlds in ruins when her husband, comedian Ernie Kovacs, was killed in an auto accident two years ago.

She was driven to the brink of bankruptcy, despite huge salaries she and Kovacs had been making.

"ERNIE had everything filed in his head," she said in an interview between shows at the Riviera Hotel. "He had a different lawyer for every phase of our business affairs. I had to untangle it."

She plunged into television shows and nightclub acts.

But the creditors were at the door. One started to foreclose on her daughters' horse.

"That's when I started fighting tooth and nail. It was like the vultures coming in. I refused to declare bankruptcy. I guess that's the Pennsylvania Dutch in me."

EDIE EVEN enrolled in a course on advanced federal tax accounting at UCLA. Did that help?

"Oh, yes. I still use the textbook. When I get a wild idea, I look it up in the book first. Numbers aren't my long suit. I can't add two and two."

Edie says she's pretty well out of the woods

EDIE ADAMS

now, but she still has plenty of expenses.

She sang and did parodies of famous women in her Las Vegas act.

PART OF the income goes to maintain the family—Betty, 16; Kippie, 15, and Mia, 4.

"I have a big house. Some of my friends have urged me to sell it, but I'd just have to buy one the same size. I have a couple and a nurse living there."

"I can't work unless I know the children are taken care of."

Edie is occasionally seen around Hollywood with some eligible bachelor. Will she marry again soon?

"I'm not going to marry anybody. Not for a couple of years. It would be unfair to the man. Two careers won't work. No, not even one and a little one."

"A guy is a fulltime job. And my career right now has to come first."

"OH, MEN! OH, WOMEN!"

Support Players Hit at Playhouse

By SAMUEL A. BOYE

Supporting players run away with the show in Community Playhouse Presentation of Edward Chodorov's comedy, "Oh Men! Oh, Women!"—a highly successful Broadway hit a few years ago.

Well-tooled rather than well-thought out, "OMOW!" started out to be an amusing tale about a philandering psychoanalyst (Patrick Dempsey) and his girl (Sue Sage) who preferred other couches to his. Then playwright Chodorov got bogged down in a lot of half-cocked solemnities about psychoanalysis and society.

Uncertain as to where the playwright's spurious solemnities end and his properly light-headed comedy begins, Dempsey as psychoanalyst Dr. Alan Coles and Miss Sage as Myra Hagerman are trapped into two strange, libelous performances.

The modish Miss Sage, all hands and semaphore signaling, is prim and unsmiling throughout. Mr. Dempsey, all voice and pose, is similarly unending. The male members of the audience reacted more "acutely" to the trim Marilyn Herman (Mildred Turner) lying seductively on his couch than he did. Oh, Men! Oh, Women! Oh, Mr. Dempsey!

Slinky entry of Miss Herman lifted the veil of doctor's solemnity. She is sly with a line and double-meaning with a movement as she traverses the "astronomical distance between the doctor's library and his bedroom." This Bellflower housewife, formerly of the Canal Zone and Panama, is a welcome addition to our local comedy stage.

Her author-husband (Ralph Richmond) more than carries his weight in support. He is grand as he helps beef up a sagging second act by re-enacting Nora and husband in a take-off on Ibsen's "A Doll's House."

Alvin Randall (Grant Cobler), the third of these outstanding supporting players, is a man who certainly does not believe that tired blood also goes a long way. He is over-frenzied at times, but he comes off an impressive pro as one of the analyst's patients and rivals.

Linda Hilton (Miss Tacher) and Albert Pickavance (Dr. Krauss) also answered the "role-call."

Sets were well designed by director Larry Johns and staff. A little carpentry on the production itself could still pull its men and women together past those exclamations.

Auditions Tuesday

"Theater Upstairs" has set final auditions at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at 835 Locust Ave. for three men, 20 to 30 years of age, to appear in the scheduled production of Shaw's "Man and Superman." Backstage workers also are being sought.

Long Beach Marina Sparkles at Night

turn and go past the Captain's Inn, proceed along the Marina to area at right of picture, then turn and drive along far side of Marina past the Edgewater Inn (mass of lights near top of photo, left of center). Spread of housing and business construction has brought a tremendous increase of lighting, and the view is indeed awesome on clear nights.

OLD WISE BUILDING

Bank Will Add Sixth Floor in 'New Look'

By VERN ANTHONY
Southland Progress Editor

Another floor will be added to the former Wise Building at Broadway and Pine Avenue as it is remodeled and becomes the United California Bank Building — and "like new."

Details in the next chapter in the story of the "Gray Ghost," as the much-vacant structure built by Herbert Wise in the late 1920's has been known, were unfolded to half a hundred Long Beach business leaders at a luncheon in the Lafayette Hotel the past week.

It was, in the words of Vito Romans, executive director of the board of directors of the old Gray Ghost... but plans as unfolded portended happier days ahead for the business corner.

VAILE G. YOUNG, president of Buffums, chairmaned the luncheon meeting and introduced architect Kenneth S. Wing, F.A.I.A.

Wing presented these facts:

A sixth floor will be added to the structure, on which reconstruction work already is under way.

The east half of the old building will be razed and there will be a new five-level garage on that portion of the property, with space for 185 cars and two floors underground.

Terra-cotta and windows are being removed from the west half of the building, and rebuilding will start from the concrete frame.

There will be three elevators; and two fireproof stairways.

UNITED CALIFORNIA Bank, which purchased the building last fall, will occupy the first floor from the Pine Avenue front to a depth of 75 feet on Broadway.

The building will be air-conditioned and have glare-proof windows.

Size of the building will be 80,000 square feet, of which the bank will occupy 20,000 square feet, leaving the rest for other tenants.

The building is structurally sound, having weathered the 1933 earthquake, and it will have a completely new look.

Circular New Library Slated at Signal Hill

Mayor William F. Mendenhall of Signal Hill has announced plans for a $300,000 library building to be erected on city property with approval of the City Council.

Fred W. Baxter, city administrator and a member of the board of directors of the newly formed Signal Hill Rotary Club, has been named chairman of the Library Fund. The club has pledged to collect $300,000 through public subscription to construct the 25,000-book classic style library.

Thomas W. Denham Sr., mayor pro tem, noted that the club should be highly commended for this action. Baxter advised that contributions be sent in care of the Signal Hill City Hall.

A film entitled "No Need To Live" will be shown during the program. The film deals with radiation, its harmful effects and its practical uses.

A question and answer session will follow Young's presentation. Clive Graham is program chairman.

The mayor said an architect had prepared preliminary plans for the two-story, 13,317-square foot library, which will be circular and completely enclosed in glass, with an interior patio.

THE BUILDING will be on the south side of Hill Street, west of the fire station.

There will be a children's library on the ground floor, along with a vault, audio-visual room, binding and storage area. A play area for children will be convenient to the first floor.

The library will have an entry bridge off Hill Street leading into the main lobby. In the adult section on the second floor, this floor will contain the office, book stacks, magazine racks and reading tables.

Parking space will be at the rear of the property.

R. A. REID, vice president and manager, UCB branch at 120 E. Broadway, declared "United California Bank thinks a lot of downtown Long Beach."

Councilman Raymond Kealer expressed special satisfaction on behalf of the city that UCB had "got into the saddle with Edison and others" to help install confidence in downtown Long Beach. (Edison recently constructed a high-rise building at Long Beach Boulevard and First Street.)

Also representing the bank at the luncheon was Ed Thompson, vice president and assistant to the manager in the Long Beach office.

Clear Site for Construction of 31-Story Circular Tower in L.B.

Work on The Tower, circular 31-story, 204-apartment building to be erected at 660 E. Ocean Blvd., has been started by builder Henry Sassoon.

Bungalows of the El Mirador Motel, which was on the site, south of Ocean Boulevard just east of Sassoon's new 600 E. Ocean Building at the foot of Atlantic Avenue, have been cleared away.

Piledriving activities will start this week and actual construction on the $7 million high-rise is slated to start about Feb. 1.

THIS WILL BE the tallest building in Long Beach.

Grove Man in $400,000 Deal

SAN MARCOS (UPI)—The 67-acre San Marcos airport has been sold to a group of developers for $400,000 and eventually will become the site of a major shopping center.

Lee Garner, who has operated the dirt-strip airport since 1945, said he would continue to operate it for one year.

Cecil DeVore, a Garden Grove Realtor, represented the purchaser, the San Marcos Development Corp., in the deal. DeVore said the principal buyer was Alex Lash, owner of a Beverly Hills bowling alley.

The land is west of Encinitas Road and includes about 4,000 feet fronting on the California 78 frontage road.

Apartment Group to Meet in Anaheim

ANAHEIM — The Orange County Apartment House Association will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the Keystone Savings & Loan Association building at 555 N. Euclid Ave.

Harold Wilkes of the Garden Grove Collection Bureau will speak. Visitors are welcome.

40-ACRE PROJECT

Anaheim Oriental Center Proposed

By BOB GEIVET

The Orient soon may come to Orange County — which has about everything else.

It's the plan of John J. Magrann, who has envisioned a 40-acre development near Disneyland as a place where the influence of the Orient will be predominant.

Even the merchants will be Oriental, if Magrann's plan works out.

They will purvey goods from all over the world — but chiefly from the Orient. They will have "magic carpet" rides over the Yellow Sea, as their main amusement attraction for whole families. They will have sales rooms to exhibit the imports to volume buyers.

A GREAT WALL — reminiscent of China's great wall — will surround the project. The wall will contain "haunted chambers" and specialty shops. It will lead to a bazaar area, behind which will be an artificial lake to be known as the Yellow Sea.

A six-story pagoda will flank it; sampans, junks and other vessels will ride the waters.

His plan calls first for development of the bazaar of 70,000 square feet of space. He said it was leased in 20 days to 10 tenants. Eventually, it will have 500,000 square feet of leasable area, including a multi-story hotel and level. The four lower floors will be for garages. On the lobby level will be entry, office and commercial areas; heated pool; recreational section; and deck landscaping.

Plans call for 25 typical apartment floors, eight units per floor; four penthouses on one level; two high-speed passenger elevators and a freight elevator; double mail chute; trash chute; 1, 2 and 3 bedroom all-electric units; two baths per apartment; ceramic wall tiling; marble pullmans; wall to wall carpeting and draperies; and complete glass room exteriors.

THE BUILDING is engineered to be fire and earthquake proof. Structural design was done by computer for intense analysis.

Reemphasize Support of Housing Act Initiative Drive

Some 1,000 California Real Estate Association directors, meeting in San Diego, voted overwhelmingly to continue sponsorship of an initiative constitutional amendment aimed at nullifying the Rumford Housing Act and similar legislation.

CREA has been one of the principal opponents of the Act on the grounds that it abridges the freedom of choice property owners have traditionally had.

ART S. LEITCH of San Diego, incoming president for 1964, pledged continuing effort to qualify the initiative.

Leitch is the 57th president of CREA and succeeds L. H. Wilson of Fresno.

At an inaugural luncheon following the morning directors' session, Leitch was installed by John Cotton of San Diego, a CREA past president. Installed with Leitch were Carl W. Newport of Sherman Oaks, treasurer, and H. Jackson Pontius of Arcadia, state secretary and executive vice president.

Edward Mendenhall to Take NAREB Helm

Installation of Edward E. Mendenhall Jr., High Point, N. C., as president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards will climax the annual midwinter meeting of the association and its affiliated organizations in Washington, D. C., from Jan. 30 to Feb. 4.

The NAREB leader is a brother of Mayor William F. Mendenhall of Signal Hill.

Edward Mendenhall, who will succeed Daniel F. Sheehan, Sr., St. Louis, as president of the 75,552-member Realtor organization, was elected at the annual convention in November.

Also to be inducted into office at the inaugural banquet on the evening of Feb. 4 in the Sheraton-Park Hotel are Richard B. Morris, Buffalo, N. Y., treasurer for 1964, 13 NAREB vice presidents, 61 new directors, and the presidents of the association's nine related and specialized groups.

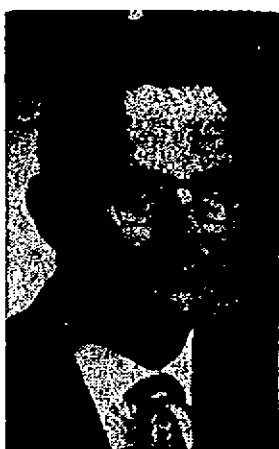

The occasion also will be marked by the meetings of NAREB's standing committees which guide the continuing activities of the organization.

Another feature will be the attendance at an orientation meeting on Feb. 3 of newly elected presidents of many of NAREB's 1,473 constituent real estate boards throughout the nation and the executive officers of the boards.

Total attendance at the six-day gathering is expected to exceed 1,000.

JUDGE SARAH T. HUGHES of the U. S. District Court for Northern Texas will be speaker at the installation luncheon of the Women's Council Feb. 1. Judge Hughes administered the oath of office to President Johnson on board his plane in Dallas Nov. 22.

Of interest to all Realtors will be the luncheon meeting of the Realtor-Public Relations Committee and the Realtors' National Foundation, Inc., on Feb. 2 to discuss plans for further educational services offered by Realtors through an expanded nationwide advertising program.

SAM HILL
In New Offices

Hill Heads New Agency

A fourth agency center for California was announced by Great Southern Life Insurance Company with the recent opening of new offices at 853 Atlantic Ave. in Long Beach.

Sam C. Hill has been named manager of the new agency.

Hill entered the insurance business in 1935 as a life underwriter with a Canadian-based company and was named unit manager a short time later. In 1951 he changed to the Prudential Life Insurance Co. where he was division manager, a post he held until joining Great Southern late last year.

In his former position Hill was among the top five men in health insurance production and among the top 18 in ordinary life insurance production.

Hill has served as president of the Saskatchewan Association of Life Underwriters and more recently as vice president, president and director of the Long Beach Association of Life Underwriters.

Green, Signal Oil President, to Retire; Shumway to Take Post

Top level management changes to fill approaching retirement vacancies at Signal Oil & Gas Co. have been announced by Samuel B. Mosher, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, who continues in this capacity.

Forrest N. Shumway has been named to succeed President Russell H. Green, who reaches retirement Jan. 31. Green will continue as a member of the board of directors and serve the company as a consultant.

Ronald W. Heath reaches retirement Feb. 29 and, at that time, relinquishes his duties as executive vice president, but will remain as a member of the board of directors, and continue to serve the company in a consulting capacity.

A NEW executive alignment will become effective Feb. 1 for three top officials, who will report directly to the president.

William E. Walkup has been named senior executive vice president in charge of general administration; Frank D. Lortscher has been named executive vice president of refining, supply and distribution, and foreign and domestic marketing; and Russell H. Green Jr. will become executive vice president in charge of exploration, crude oil and gas production.

RUSSELL H. GREEN
Retires Jan. 31

FORREST SHUMWAY
Will Succeed Green

"WITH THESE new assignments, we are transferring greater responsibilities to capable executives who have been developed within our own organization in order to meet the increased scope of operations that has come with the company's growth," Mosher said. "At the same time, we are retaining the counsel and guidance of our veteran directors."

Shumway started his oil career as a roustabout and drilling crew member on Signal Hill. He has served as group vice president-operations for the past year.

HIS FIRST work for Signal was in the company's legal department, and he was elected secretary in 1959, becoming vice president, general counsel and a director in 1961. He is a graduate of Stanford University where he obtained a degree in political science in 1949, and in law in 1952. He is a member of the California State Bar Association and is qualified to practice law before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Both Green, Sr., and Heath were in the pioneer group associated with Signal in its early days as a small natural gasoline plant on historic Signal Hill, and have figured prominently in its growth to a large, integrated oil company with worldwide operations.

THE RETIREMENT of Green brings to a close that phase of a long and colorful career which started when he joined Signal in 1925.

He organized its production department and guided its expansion since the drilling of its first wells in 1928. He since has played a key role in the mushrooming development of the company in which the former Hancock and Bankline Oil companies, Eastern States Petroleum & Chemical Corporation, and, recently, The Garrett Corporation, became part of Signal.

Heath, second only to the founder and board chairman in length of service with the company, joined Signal as an engineer in 1923, shortly after the company was started. He has been a vice president and director of the company since 1948.

Women Realtors Told of Escrow Problems

BELLFLOWER—The Women's Council of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors held its first luncheon meeting for 1964 at the Board Auditorium, Wednesday, with President Frankie Harrell presiding. Fifty members and affiliates were present.

Henry "Hank" Dunlevy, vice president, public relations, Liberty Escrow Group, discussed the "Pitfalls of Escrow."

Lena Jenkins, immediate past president, presented a special "thank you" gift to her fellow officers of 1963—Frankie Harrell, Mary Festa and Carolyn Erlen.

Firm Declares Extra Dividend

SOUTH GATE—The Board of Directors of Anthony Pools, Inc. (AMEX) has declared a 5 per cent stock dividend in addition to its regular quarterly dividend of 9 cents a share.

The cash dividend will be paid March 13 to stock of record Feb. 27 and the stock dividend will be paid April 1 to stock of record March 2.

Phil Anthony, president, said the extra dividend was voted "largely because of the company's performance in the year just completed as well as on our belief that the year ahead will be one of even greater achievement, both in terms of sales and earnings."

Anthony said the company's year-end statement for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1963, has not been completed yet. But he said there is "no doubt" it will be the best in the 16-year history of the company.

JAPANESE VISITOR VIEWS HARBOR

Pier J Fill Small Compared to Japanese Dredging Project

A Japanese businessman, by comparison, a midget took a look at the Pier J site of 300 acres. and, although polite, was not impressed.

His company, with the aid of a Long Beach area firm, is engaged in a land-fill operation at Osaka almost seven times as large in acreage. And that is one of several harbor land-building jobs for which he is partly responsible.

Sanjiro Murata, liaison adviser to Mitsui Real Estate Co., Ltd., visited the harbor only briefly. His principal purpose here was to pursue negotiations with Pacific Dredging Co. and its parent firm, Maccos Corp., of Paramount, for purchase of the big dredge San Diego.

THE SAN DIEGO is currently midway in a $3 million, two-year contract to fill 2,000 acres of shoal water with new land off Osaka harbor, Pier J.

"WE ARE FOLLOWING the same reclamation pattern as Long Beach," he added.

M. E. Morris Heads L.B. Architect Unit

Merritt E. Morris was installed as president of the Long Beach District of the Southern California Chapter of the American Institute of Architects Friday night at the Annual Meeting, held at the Petroleum Club.

Also installed were Richard O. Prior, vice president; Richard L. Poper, secretary; and Robert Lane, treasurer. Installing officer was Howard H. Morgridge, immediate past president of the Southern California Chapter, AIA.

WILLIAM A. LOCKETT, retiring district president, reviewed the year's accomplishments in the fields of city beautification, urban redevelopment and architectural education in Long Beach.

The chapter, which has more than 900 members and is second largest AIA chapter in the nation, shortly will move into new headquarters at the International Design Center in Los Angeles.

Port Sets Record in Steel Movement

The largest two-way movement of steel in West Coast port history—13,376 tons—crossed Los Angeles Harbor docks in the Wilmington district the past week.

The cargo movement included the import of 12,626 tons of Japanese-made steel aboard the SS Rego, a Norwegian flag vessel. It required 19 days to load the cargo of nails, pipe, coil and wire at three Japanese ports and five days to unload it at the new Berth 139 Cargo Center in the west basin.

Port officials said the loading would take about five days and should be finished by today.

Value of the export load THE STEEL is consigned $1.9 million.

"but we need to make more land because we have so little."

Murata reported, however, that even before the Osaka job was started his company obtained valuable ideas on planning and methods of development from the Port of Long Beach. Mitsui sent engineers here two years ago. They took back with them a thick file of information from Chief Harbor Engineer Bob Hoffmaster.

Mitsui is pulling up some $60 million for reclaiming and developing the 2,000 acres as the site for a huge mill and other industrial installations, Murata said. The company will become the owner of two-thirds of the land, with the remainder in government ownership.

It is being put together as a steel box for strength against unstable foundation and earthquakes. In this respect it is somewhat like some of the waterfront construction in Long Beach, Harbor Commissioner H. E. Ridings Jr. commented.

BESIDES HIS BUSINESS with Pacific and Maccos, Murata came here to renew a friendship with Mayor Edwin W. Wade, City Councilman Emmet Sullivan and Ridings, all of whom he met last year in Tokyo.

"Mr. Wade is the most gentlemanly American mayor I have ever met," he remarked. He visited the mayor at city hall prior to the harbor tour.

Another is a planned 36-story office skyscraper in Tokyo—four or five times the height of the tallest existing building in the Japanese capital.

It is being put together as a steel box for strength against unstable foundation and earthquakes. In this respect it is somewhat like some of the waterfront construction in Long Beach, Harbor Commissioner H. E. Ridings Jr. commented.

Operating as a new division of Pacific Tile, Dresden will continue manufacturing a wide line of tools for the cement, plastering, dry wall and tile laying trades.

Harold F. Baum, former owner of Dresden, will continue as president of the Dresden Manufacturing Division of Pacific Tile. The national distribution of Dresden products through its network of sales representatives will continue.

IN ANNOUNCING the acquisition, Robert G. Bailey, president of Pacific Tile, Paramount, stated, "We are extremely fortunate in being able to acquire this full line producer of quality tools. We are particularly pleased that Mr. Baum, who did such an outstanding job of developing Dresden Manufacturing will continue managing this division."

Almost simultaneously, 15,750 tons of steel coil produced by the Kaiser Steel Co. plant at Fontana was being loaded aboard the freighter SS Miss Chandris at Berth 145 for shipment to the Far East.

Value of the export load THE STEEL is consigned $1.9 million.

Building 'Future Unlimited' Seen by New HBA President

The future for the home builder is unlimited providing our product remains attractive and is within the means of our buyers," declared Robert A. Olin at his recent installation as president of the Home Builders Association of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties.

Olin foresees two decades of spectacular increases in home and apartment construction, based on the growth of new households to 80 million in 1983 as compared with 55 million at present.

The Pomona builder, formerly of Chicago, was installed as HBA president at a banquet in the Biltmore Hotel at Los Angeles.

OTHER OFFICERS installed were Larry Armour, Anaheim, first vice president; William Lyon, Anaheim, second vice president; Norman Shanahan, Beverly Hills, treasurer, and Lawrence J. Weinberg, Beverly Hills, secretary. Patrick J. O'Donovan continues as executive vice president.

Beckman Gets $ Million Contract

FULLERTON—Beckman Instruments, Inc., has announced receipt of a contract in excess of $1 million from AETRON, a Division of Aerojet-General Corp., for two data acquisition systems to be used in development of the Saturn Space Vehicle of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Louis B. Horwitz, manager of Beckman's Systems Division in Fullerton, said the systems will monitor and record data from static test firings of the engines of the Saturn rocket.

Ray A. Watt, Gardena, who was HBA president for 1963, presided at the ceremonies and turned over the gavel to Olin near the end of the program for the 23rd annual installation banquet.

A CONTINUED unfettered industry with the minimum amount of government controls and regulations, dedicated to the principles of free enterprise without subsidization to give the buyer public the best home for the least amount of money remains the objective of the HBA, Olin said.

County supervisors, city councilmen, mayors, city managers, planning commission members, planning department and public works department executives of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura counties were guests of the HBA and were introduced by Watt.

Sparkletts Drinking Water Corp., is building a new $675,000 bottling facility at Gardena with the opening scheduled for early January.

The facility will be on more than three acres with the address at 221 E. Alondra Blvd. Glen Bollinger, Sparkletts president, said some 150 persons will be employed at the facility, which will produce approximately 1,500,000 five-gallon bottles of drinking water annually, in addition to specialized distilled water for the Navy, missile plants and industries.

Kenneth C. Hornback, 1130 Compton Blvd., Gardena, will be the manager.

Sparkletts wells on the property will be the source of supply for production of the drinking waters.

Industrial Development Trophy Awarded to Texas

Texas has been selected winner of the 1963 Professional Trophy Award, presented annually by the Society of Industrial Realtors to the state or Canadian province with the most effective industrial development program.

The decision of a panel of five independent judges was announced recently by H. R. (Bob) Hudson, Los Angeles, society president.

Kentucky was voted runner-up for the third consecutive year.

THE AWARD trophy will be presented to Gov. John B. Connally of Texas at a luncheon Jan. 31 at the Marriott-Twin Bridges Motor Hotel in Washington during the mid-winter meetings of the society, a professional affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Premier Duff Roblin of the province of Manitoba — the 1962 award recipient — will make the presentation.

A special runner-up trophy will be presented to Kentucky.

THIS IS the fourth year the Professional Trophy—donated by Clinton B. Snyder, Hoboken, N. J., 1960 SIR president—has been awarded. North Carolina won in 1960, Maine in 1961, and Manitoba last year.

Until a few years ago, Texas had no program for industrial development as compared with other states.

New Facilities for Arrowhead-Puritas

Construction of a new distribution facility for the South Bay branch of Arrowhead and Puritas Waters Inc. will be completed in January, it was announced by Hugo W. Druehl, president.

Located at 2445 E. Dominguez, the new office will replace smaller quarters now located at 502 E. 213th St. Under the direction of H. L. Evans, district manager, it will serve not only as district headquarters for the coastal area from Malibu to San Clemente, but as the main distribution center for the company's products in the South Bay region.

The 4,400 square foot building will house general offices, a conference room, and a reception area, as well as warehousing space for coolers and other equipment.

LIGHTING will be provided by a combination of fluorescent and incandescent fixtures recessed in an acoustical tile ceiling. Floors will be covered with vinyl asbestos tile.

An asphalt and concrete yard area surrounding the building on three sides will serve as parking space for route delivery trucks and employee cars in addition to providing an open-air storage area for 5,000 five-gallon bottles of drinking water.

Arrowhead-Puritas is the largest bottler of drinking water in the nation, with its principal products including Arrowhead Spring Water, Puritas Distilled Water and Puritas Distilled with Fluorine.

Realty Lending Talk Scheduled

NORWALK — Robert Norton of Coast Federal Savings & Loan Association will discuss "Real Estate Lending—Principles and Policies" at the Tuesday breakfast meeting of the Norwalk-La Mirada Board of Realtors.

The board meets at 7:30 a.m. in the Cerritos College cafeteria. Jack Hastings is program chairman.

Moreau to Manage New Bank Branch

Martin Moreau of Palos Verdes Estates has been appointed manager of the recently opened Hawthorne-Artesia office of Crocker-Citizens National Bank, it is announced by Roy A. Britt, vice chairman of the board.

Moreau joined Crocker-Citizens in 1956 after moving to California from Canada.

Active in civic and business affairs, Moreau is a member of the Redondo Beach Kiwanis Club.

Located at the southeast corner of Hawthorne and Artesia boulevards, the new Crocker-Citizens branch provides all modern banking services including a drive-up window.

Now in its 94th year, Crocker-Citizens has 215 offices throughout California.

Handicapped Aided by Women Realtors

Handicapped employees of Goodwill Industries found their cafeteria food supply considerably augmented recently following a drive for food and clothing spearheaded by the Women's Council of the Santa Ana-Orange-Tustin Board of Realtors.

Besides a quantity of canned goods and other food items, the drive netted many bags of clothing, which were turned over to the Goodwill production plant for reconditioning and sale in the Goodwill stores, this providing wages for the handicapped.

The drive was initiated at a meeting of the Women's Council, where Marilyn Steir, Women's Council.

tiny four-foot-tall secretary of the Goodwill operations manager, represented that organization. She lives at 11542 Daniel Ave., Garden Grove.

LEADING THE DRIVE were Mrs. Evelyn Hartman, Santa Ana, outgoing president of the Women's Council; Mrs. Betty Koontz, Orange, incoming president, and Mrs. Midge Leonard, Santa Ana, public relations chairman.

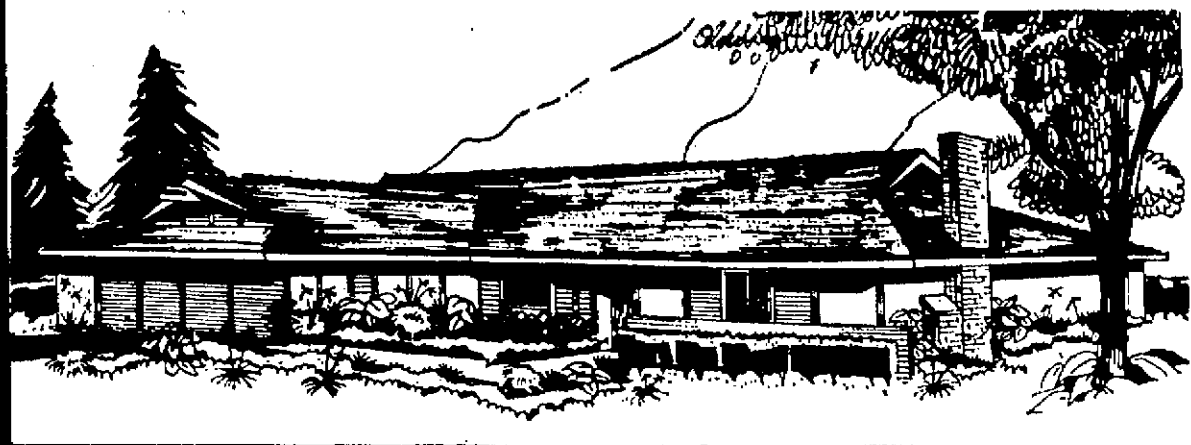

Goodwill bags were distributed to the realtors and seven pick-up stations were selected. Gaylord Hicks, executive director of Goodwill Industries, expressed appreciation to the realtors and the Council, where Marilyn Steir, Women's Council.

RUMFORD ACT RAPPED

Apartment Association Installs; Honors Solon as 'Citizen of the Year'

By VERN ANTHONY
Regional News Editor

Arnold B. Berg was installed as new president of the Long Beach Apartment House Association Thursday night to succeed James Odegard in a meeting which also highlighted selection of a Citizen of the Year award winner and 'fireworks' over the Rumford housing act initiative issue.

Assemblyman George Deukmejian of the 39th District, as speaker of the evening on the subject "Are You Heard in Sacramento?" climaxed his talk with a strong defense of the initiative drive and a blast at Gov. Edmund Brown's administrative war on opponents of the Rumford Act on the racial housing question.

"I THINK it is deplorable," Deukmejian said, "for the governor of this state to use governmental funds to try to discourage the right of citizens to use the initiative process."

The assemblyman received a standing ovation from the apartment house group which along with the California Real Estate Association is pressing a drive for signatures on an initiative which would let voters decide the property rights issue.

Shortly after finishing his talk, Deukmejian was announced as winner of the association's Citizen of the Year Award, presented to him by the outgoing president. Last year's winner was William Grant, councilman and former assemblyman.

PREDICTION the initiative drive would be successful was made by Reg F. Dupuy, legislative chairman of the California Real Estate Association who has been active for months in pressing the fight at Sacramento and who has been making numerous appearances on television and in speaking engagements.

"The Rumford Act creates more power in centralized government," Dupuy charged, and saw in Brown's tactics desire to expand political power.

He called for additional cooperation from property owners in the initiative campaign.

Deukmejian was introduced by Attorney Samuel Lackman.

INSTALLING OFFICER was Melvin Mould, who recently retired as president of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors.

Other officers installed at the dinner meeting in the Lafayette Hotel included:

John Highstone, first vice president; Paul McKenzie Jr., second vice president; Robert Langdon, treasurer; Mrs. Mae Till secretary; and directors Merrell Sale, Lloyd Linabury, Hal Hunter, Eugene Morath, Samuel Lackman, Forrest Wilson, Norval T. Clark, Max Livoni, Robert Driscoll, C. W. Duncan, Vernon Trexel, J. A. Krancus, Francis Reider and Mrs. Lyman Sutter.

Chamber to Hear Expert on Marketing

A special report on "Things to Come in Marketing" will be presented to the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce at its Tuesday luncheon meeting at the Edgewater Inn.

The report will be delivered by Dr. Ward J. Jensen, president of the marketing consultant firm Ward J. Jensen, Inc.

Dr. Jensen, who serves as a market-planning consultant to many of the country's leading retailers, consumer products manufacturers, and home builders, will base his predictions on the results of confidential interviews which his firm has conducted in recent months with a large cross-section of American families.

The report will deal with current and forthcoming trends in living patterns, shopping behavior, and buying characteristics of American adults and teenagers.

BUSINESS GOOD

Building Gains Highlight '63

Southern California's business activity, which moved to new highs throughout most of 1963, ended the year by equaling the previous record level set in November, according to L. H. Showalter, vice president and manager of Security First National Bank's Long Beach office.

As of Dec. 27, the bank's business index was reported at 136.6 (preliminary), more than 7% over the corresponding period of 1962.

In reviewing the Southland's economic progress during the past year, Security Bank's report said the highlight of 1963 was the increase in building activity, particularly residential construction.

TOTAL CONSTRUCTION valuation approximated $4.5 billion, a 15% gain over 1962.

Residential building, which represents 60 per cent of all construction activity, reached $2.6 billion, for a 27% increase over 1962. The sharp rise was attributed to the increased volume of apartment unit construction.

Multiple unit activity accounted for 60% of the 200,000 new dwelling units authorized in the 14-county area during 1963, and 75% of the total in Los Angeles County.

NON-RESIDENTIAL building, represented by the dollar valuation of commercial and industrial building permits and other buildings not subject to permit requirements, was estimated at $1.4 billion, up slightly over 1962.

Commercial building, estimated at $530 million, and industrial building, at $130 million, showed only minor changes from 1962.

Population growth continued to be a prime stimulant to the Southland economy.

Two Shifted in Bank Positions

Transfer of Edward P. Levesque, assistant manager, to Security First National Bank's Bixby Knolls branch in Long Beach, has been announced.

In addition, Preston Barr, 14259 Grayville Drive, La Mirada, has been appointed assistant manager of Security First National Bank's Carson & Woodruff branch, which opened Dec. 2 in Lakewood.

Levesque, of 5547 East 2nd St., Long Beach, formerly was assigned to the Crenshaw & Imperial branch, and prior to that was at the Lynwood branch.

Barr is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, where he received a BS degree in banking.

He has been in banking since 1946, having worked for a northern California institution prior to joining Security. Before assuming his new post, he was assigned to the Lynwood branch in capacity of branch platform assistant.

With more than 11.5 million residents at year-end, the area added roughly 400,000 persons to its population during 1963.

PERSONAL INCOME in Southern California approximated $33.1 billion, representing a gain of 6.5% from 1962. Per capita personal income rose by 2.6%.

Total civilian employment averaged 3% above the previous year and, at year's end, the Southland had a record 4.1 million jobs.

Unemployment, reflecting the record gains in population, was slightly up in 1963. The ratio of unemployment to the total Southland labor force averaged 5.9%. This rate appeared to be declining toward year-end.

BUSINESS FAILURES was another indicator of improved economic conditions. During 1963, the number of failures was 8% below 1962. Dollar volume of failure liabilities also was lower than last year.

Real estate sales activity, as measured by the number of deeds filed in Los Angeles County, ran 10% above 1962, and was second only to the all-time record year of 1946.

Kitchens Hold Key to Popular Homes

"It takes a lot of planning and a team of specialists to develop a successful residential community in Southern California, or any place in the country," says John Euston, general manager of Alco-Pacific Construction Co. in Westminster. Alco-Pacific has built hundreds of Sol-Vista homes in the Southland. Their current undertaking is the 565-home International Home Fair community in Westminster.

Alco-Pacific, in cooperation with Caloric Corp. and the Southern Counties Gas Co., decided the lady of the house has a strong word to say in the selection of a home. They came to the conclusion that the kitchen would be a good place to appeal to the little woman.

BEATRICE WEST, internationally known color consultant and interior designer, was flown to Westminster to study the plans. By this time the International theme had been developed and carried out by construction of models depicting the flavor of the Continent, Mediterranean, Scandinavian, Oriental and the Americas. Miss West gave special attention to the color planning of the Balanced Power Caloric kitchens. Alco-Pacific then called upon their veteran building specialist and general superintendent, Vern Davis, to build homes worthy of the reputation of their company.

NOW THE International Home Fair is a reality. Thousands of families have come from all over the country to visit. Hundreds of homes have been built, school, church and playground sites have been designated. There is a massive shopping center planned adjacent to the homes.

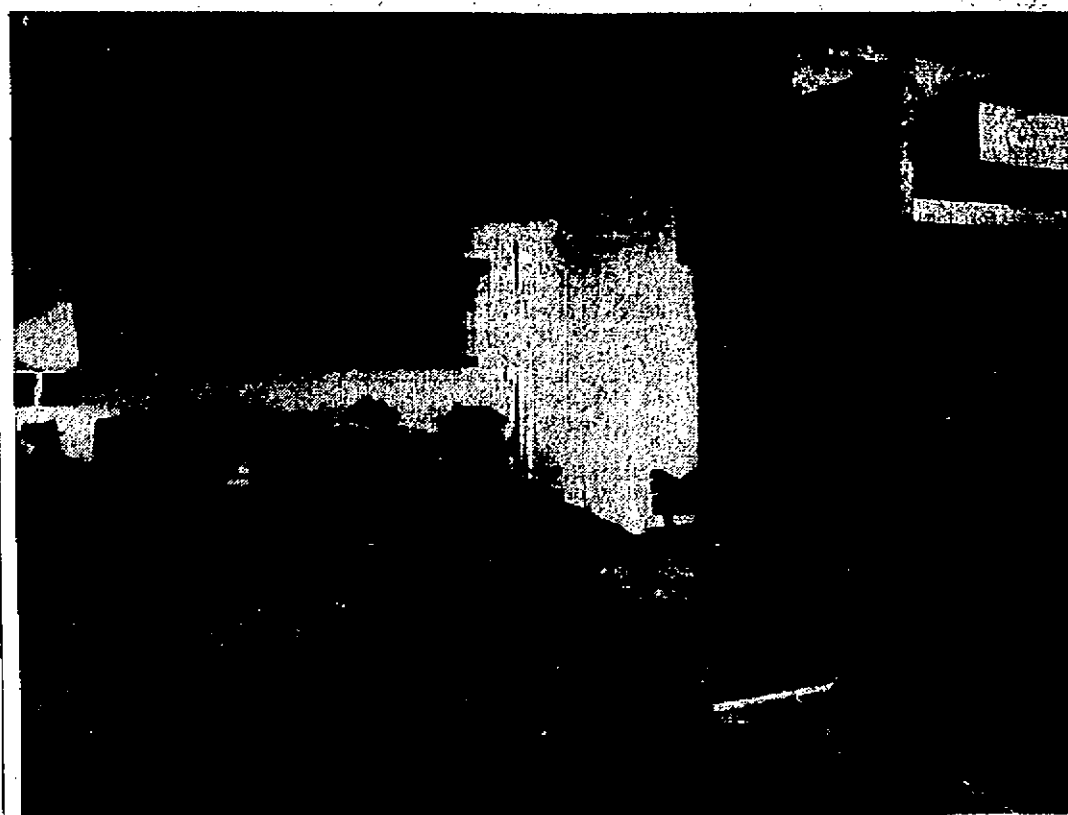

Meantime, International Home Fair families are enjoying the cultural and recreational activities so con-

They Get His Goat and $15 in Money

HAYS, Kan. (AP)—Police got his goat and it cost Hays City Commissioner Tom Boone $15 to get it back.

A goat belonging to Boone wandered into town and began chasing children. Police picked up the animal and Boone was charged with permitting a goat to run at large. He had to pay a $15 fine before police would return his goat.

Sol-Vista's 'Americas' Model Appeals

SHOWN AT INTERNATIONAL HOME FAIR

The Americas, with its colorful decorations from North and South America, is one of the distinctive models being shown at the Sol Vista International Home Fair in Westminster.

The Americas, one of the intriguing architectural designs featured at the Sol-Vista International Home Fair in Westminster, has drawn exciting comment from hundreds of visitors in recent weeks.

The two-story, 5-bedroom, 2½-bath model home is colorfully decorated with accessories from Williamsburg to San Francisco, and from Alaska to South America. The kitchen has copper-toned Caloric appliances accented by a color scheme of red, white and blue. There are blue denim place mats, red kerchief napkins, a copper kettle and enameled cookware to demonstrate the many decorating possibilities.

THE MASTER bedroom is vividly South American with solid brass estibos (stirrups), Mexican bedroom furniture and a red and orange bedspread from Spain. Other bedrooms feature a fur-covered rocker from Alaska, the painted Victorian furniture of the "Old South," and the Pennsylvania-Dutch decor.

Baxter Caterson, sales manager for Alco-Pacific Construction Company, points out that the Americas model has found greatest appeal with families that have longed for "room to grow!"

The Americas sells from $28,750, and may be seen along with the other International Home Fair models at the Sol Vista International Home Fair in Westminster.

This Santa Too Big for Costume

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Most men playing Santa Claus have to allow extra room in the costume for padding. Not so Charles Wolfe.

Before he could take the role of Santa at a shopping center in nearby Leetsdale where he's regularly employed, Wolfe had to have a special costume made at a reported cost of $150. Wolfe weighs 350 pounds.

Market Chain to Add Stores

"Expand more in '64" is the theme adopted for the new year by Mayfair Markets, headquartered in Los Angeles, according to J. Earl Garrett, president.

He indicated that a record-breaking 1963 would serve as a pattern for continued growth and progress for the company during the next 12 months.

In 1963, the company operated 194 stores in California, Arizona, Utah, Oregon and Washington, and had total sales of $320 million, compared with similar 1962 figures of 178 stores and $288 million.

During the coming year, Mayfair expects to open 15 new stores, a number of which will be located in the Southern California area, and attain an annual sales volume in excess of $350 million.

Continue Grand Opening for Big Cardinal Homes

A CARDINAL HOME
This is one of the models of Cardinal Homes offered. Grand opening of the unit is continued today.

Grand Opening festivities continue this week end at Cardinal Homes, new Fountain Valley subdivision by Charles W. Hester.

According to Hester, last week's opening produced an enthusiastic crowd and more than $250,000 worth of houses were sold.

Cardinal Homes offers one and two story dwellings of three, four and five bedrooms with two and three baths.

Among the features of the homes are kitchens with famous Medallion standards including built-in electric West-house range and double oven, hood and fan, Westinghouse dishwashers, disposal, ash cabinets with raised panel doors and Formica-topped kitchen cabinets.

SOME MODELS have a completely finished bonus room of 580 square feet including a bath and shower. This upper story is adaptable to the uses and needs of the buyer and can be two or even three bedrooms, a guest apartment, studio, sewing, recreation or storage room.

Some models have fireplaces in the bonus rooms, it was noted.

Fireplaces are of used brick veneer with ash paneling and mantles, nylon carpeting and brick veneer exteriors are other appointments of Cardinal Homes.

Priced from $23,900 to $28,900, Cardinal Homes are available for as little as $395 down, plus costs.

Order Firm to Open Four More Stores

Sunset House, national specialty mail order firm, will open four new retail stores in Southern California during the first half of 1964, according to an announcement by Leonard Carlson, president.

With these new units, Sunset House Distributing Corp. will have increased its retail division by nine stores, all located in Southern California and one of which is in Lakewood Center.

The first 1964 opening will be in February in the Buena Park Shopping Center. Two stores will be placed in operation in March — one in the Topanga Plaza Shopping Center in Canoga Park and the other on Lake Street in Pasadena.

The fourth new unit will be opened in May in the Eastland Shopping Center in West Covina.

Reports Most Firms Are Sound

NEW YORK (AP) — Most business enterprises appear to be very sound, J. Paul Austin, president of the Coca-Cola Co., believes.

"The proposed tax reductions, if accompanied by reductions in some parts of the federal budget as recommended by President Johnson, may further strengthen all segments of our economy," he added.

Davis reported that operations of the Coca-Cola Co. reflected through increased sales and earnings, made new records in each quarter of 1963.

Tiara Estates Has Variety of Styling

Large, small or "in-between" families will find among the wide range of floor plans and home styles at Tiara Estates Garden Grove a choice residence which will suit them to a "T," Dick Murray, sales director, Farrow Realty Corp., Palos Verdes stone-hearth announces.

The appeal to such a wide variety of tastes has made the community a highly desirable and individualized one, he reports, noting that the sales have enjoyed a rapid pace there.

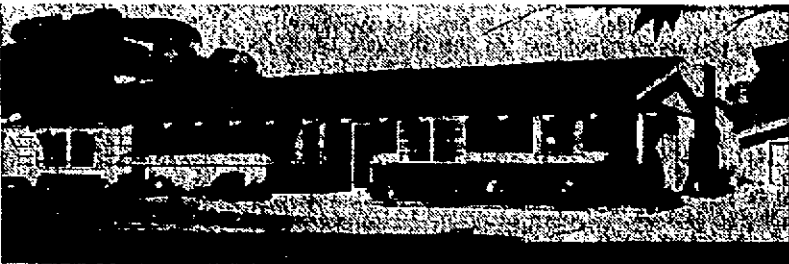

"Many features make the homes comfortable and create a value which enhances property appreciation," he said. "All-oven, forced-air heat, disposal, this in turn provides gracious living for today's sophisticated buyer."

A development of Farrow Development Co., the 47-home community has three- and five-bedroom residences. Located at Lewis and Lampson in Garden Grove, the project is amid established neighborhoods with one block to Lewis, turn left, schools, shopping, recreation and employment nearby.

Regal Homes Begins Building Unit Two

The second unit of Regal Homes is now under construction, states Tom Simms, developer of the popular Buena Park community. According to Simms, there are still several choice homes available for immediate occupancy in the first unit. The excellent location of Regal Homes is one of the biggest reasons for the fine sales reported in this new subdivision, Simms further stated.

Simms also announced new conventional financing terms requiring only $395 down, plus costs has proven very popular with buyers.

A REGAL HOME
Here is one of the models offered by Regal Homes in Buena Park. So popular has the development proven that construction has started on the second unit.

Regal Homes are three and four bedrooms, family rooms and two baths. They are priced from $21,300 and can be purchased on low down FHA financing. Families with an income of $650 monthly can qualify.

THE HOMES FEATURE

In announcing the appointments, Aeronutronic vice president and general manager John B. Lawson said that the Contract Administration Office and the Finance Office have been combined into one office, headed by Hanna.

As operations director, Noll succeeds Herbert L. Karsch, recently appointed director of Aeronutronic's new Electronic System Programs organization.

Pacifica Series Homes Sell Fast

Extra values included in the homes that are made possible by the Sunkist Plaza Building firm's mass buying power, have been instrumental in bringing about a fast sales pace at the current Pacifica Series of Springdale South in Huntington Beach, according to Sy Bram, executive director of the firm.

Bram listed these extras as the kitchens which include a complete array of built-in appliances in the famous make Waste King-Universal line. Each kitchen, Bram emphasized has built-in range and oven in color, waste disposer, Modern-Aire range hood and fan in matching color, natural ash cabinets and separate utility rooms.

BRAM EXPLAINS that the Pacifica Series is following suit on the Diamond Head Series, which preceded it and which sold in record time.

"In both cases," he added, "stepped-up construction schedules have been put into effect to keep abreast of the sales."

Springdale South, whose models are at the corner of Bolsa Ave. and Edwards St. in Huntington Beach, features an array of four three and four bedroom plans with a variety of exterior designs. Prices start at $18,250 with terms of no down payment and only $100 costs to move in.

Sunkist Plaza Builders have constructed thousands of quality residences in various locations throughout Southern California.

ALL HOMES have Custom Aire forced-air heating systems, sliding glass doors, vinyl asbestos floor tile and decorator-designed lighting fixtures.

The sparkling bathrooms feature spacious stall showers, vinyl asbestos floor tile, luxury Pullmans with Formica counters and deluxe medicine cabinets. Interiors are carefully planned for the best furniture arrangements and have shades and aluminum screens throughout.

As an extra bonus feature, the large rear yards are fully fenced with approximately 130 lineal feet of Redwood Fencing, plus gate. The finest recreation, schools, shopping centers and employment centers are nearby.

To reach the development go West on Bolsa to Edwards and models.

Sidney Cagan Joins John D. Roche Inc.

Sidney L. Cagan was appointed an associate member of John D. Roche, Inc., and its subsidiary firm Advertisers Production Agency recently it was announced by John D. Roche, president of both firms.

In his new post, Cagan will be responsible for research and analysis of trends in new areas being developed, design of model homes sales centers, guidance of entire advertising, public relations and sales promotion, supervision of sign program and direction of public openings in new developments.

With a solid background in real estate and land development, Cagan will bring valuable experience to this new position.

HIS DIVERSIFIED work history includes directing advertising and sales promotion programs for land developers, direct selling of homes, land analysis, financial supervision of many large developments, and recruiting and training sales personnel.

Most recently he was occupied with the total financial supervision of a high rise condominium to be erected in Tijuana.

A licensed real estate broker, he headed the Sales Divisions of such outstanding firms as the Larwin Co., S & S Construction Co., Lakewood Center Realty, and Irvin J. Kahn's University City in San Diego.

The firm of John D. Roche, Inc., has been in operation 49 years and Advertisers Production Agency is one of the oldest listed agencies in California, commencing business in 1932. Reportedly one of the top agencies involved with real estate accounts, Roche can be accredited with the success of many of the Southland's top land developments.

Top Salesman for His Firm

Raybestos-Manhattan, Inc. announced that J. H. Lyons of 3435 East First St., Long Beach received two awards from S. V. V. Hoffman, manager of the company's Western region.

Lyons received the first award as leading salesman of the entire national sales organization in overall accomplishment in sales of industrial rubber products and mechanical packings. The second award to Lyons was as leading salesman in the nationwide marketing of the company's Teflon packing products.

Properly installed insulation in homes can give you one year of free heat out of every five, building specialists estimate. They recommend insulation in all ceilings or roofs, walls and floors that form a barrier between indoors and outdoors.

Offers Homes for Rising Executives

EL DORADO PARK HOME

Elegant formal dining room shown is in spacious El Dorado Park Estates home in Long Beach. This model features five bedrooms on two levels.

From the cave dwellings of prehistoric man to today's sleekly modern homes, where a man will raise his family continues to be one of the most important decisions he makes during his lifetime. For the rising executive and professional man, the elegant home in El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach can provide the ultimate in material comfort, plus the prestige of an important address. Here, there is a wide range of handsome floor plans available. A HOME MUST be practically designed as well as artistically, the builders feel.

Medallion Gains Hailed by L.B. Edison Manager

A significant increase in construction of Medallion homes and apartments in the Southern California housing market during 1963 was reported last week by Southern California Edison Co. According to 1963 year-end figures released by the electric company, Southland builders signed contracts with Edison for construction of nearly 27,000 single-family Medallion homes. This represents about 51 per cent of all building permits issued for single-family homes in Edison's service territory during the past 12 months, A. L. Code, Edison district manager, said. IN 1964 it is estimated that more than 60 per cent of all new homes and apartments will be planned to meet Medallion standards, Code said. Gold Medallion signifies that a residence or apartment is all-electric while Bronze Medallion indicates that, although not completely electrified, the unit meets high standards of lighting, wiring and installation of electric appliances.

Watt Names Lavac to Direct Activity

George Lavac, former New York Yankee pitcher who was a teammate of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, and who also starred in basketball for the original Celtics, has been named director of activities for all condominium communities being developed by Ray Watt. Lavac, who has been active in director at Watt's New Horizons-Goleto since Sept. 1963, will coordinate and supervise all recreational and social events at the Goleto adult community, Scottsdale Town Houses and New Horizons-South Bay, Watt said, adding that the three projects also will have individual activities directors. LAVAC, who was born in New York City, played professional basketball with the Celtics in 1925 and pitched for the New York Yankees in 1929 and 1930. Lavac's wife is the former Eleanor Sinkwich, sister of famed Frank Sinkwich, All-American halfback for three years on the University of Georgia football team in 1941, '42 and '43. "We will institute a wide variety of activities at Scotts-

New Distribution Facilities Opened

Blake, Moffitt & Towne has opened enlarged and modernized paper distributing facilities at 242 S. Los Angeles St., Los Angeles, according to R. A. Campbell, BM&T's Long Beach division manager. This improved customer service became effective on Jan. 2. It places at the immediate disposal of paper buyers in Long Beach and its surrounding trading area one of the largest and most varied warehouse inventories of industrial and printing papers to be found in the west, Campbell said. Blake, Moffitt & Towne operates in the six western states as a division of Kimberly-Clark Corp. It opened its offices and warehouse in Long Beach 15 years ago. The area's rapid growth necessitated a move, in 1952, to its present quarters at 903 Fairbanks Ave., which now have been outgrown.

Yorba Linda Park Holds Open House

Celebration at Yorba Linda Park's Unit 3 today is in the form of an "open house" with refreshments for all viewers, as well as a clown and gifts for children.

Developer Andrew J. Hamer states that the new series of homes has been designed to appeal to buyers needing ample room for family growth. The residences are styled in a variety of two-story elevations, featuring four and five-bedroom floor plans. Generously proportioned family and dining room, two and 2½ baths, and two showers also contribute to uncrowded living environment.

YORBA LINDA PARK, taking its name from the view-rich countryside of Yorba Linda, within whose city limits the development is located, centers at McCormack Lane and Berkenstock Lane. Hamer points out that the homes have been priced for ease of purchase by family breadwinners whose income has not yet reached peak capacity. Scaled from $25,000, they may be acquired with conventional financing and at terms which fit into usual family budgets.

Yorba Linda Park emphasizes decor in the form of impressive fireplace designs, double front doors, and choice of shake or shingle roofs. Double oven with rotisserie,

OPEN HOUSE TODAY

Refreshments, a clown to entertain the kiddies, will be an added treat today for home viewers at Yorba Linda Park. On display will be Unit 3 models, featuring two-story stylings with four and five bedrooms. Yorba Linda Park is located at McCormack Lane and Berkenstock Lane in Yorba Linda.

dishwasher, 100 per cent virgin nylon wall-to-wall carpeting.

SINGLE-STORY models with three bedrooms are displayed in Yorba Linda Park's Unit 2, priced from $20,950. No down payment VA terms are attracting vets to this series. These homes can be purchased with 30-year VA loans at 5½ per cent interest or 35-year FHA loans with minimum down payment.

Employment Sets Mark

Total employment in the Long Beach-Los Angeles-Orange County area was at a new high of 2,990,800 in November, Albert B. Tieberg, director of employment, has announced.

The number of jobholders increased by 1,500 over October, a less than usual increase for that time of the year. Unemployment increased seasonally from 159,900 in October to 174,700 in November.

The employment upswing in November was checked by a trade dispute in the communications industry, a further drop in electronics employment, and the usual fall decline in construction and other outdoor activities.

MOST OF THE overall month-to-month gain was in retail trade reflecting pre-Christmas expansion in department stores and apparel shops. Smaller increases also were reported in services, government and finance. Factory jobs, on the other hand, declined by 1,800 as a result of seasonal curtailment in food canning, toy manufacturing and fabricated metals industries. Electrical machinery continued to be a soft spot in manufacturing, with layoffs in this industry offsetting hirings in ordnance and aircraft during the past month.

Dutch Haven Is Offering Homes in 3 Southland Communities

A DUTCH HAVEN LIVING ROOM

Developers of Dutch Haven Homes have been established as one of the nation's top builders with sales of over $30 million. Now they are offering three big Orange County developments. Here is a living room in one of the models.

Dutch Haven, well known to California homebuyers as creator of the popular family-planned Dutch Haven communities, is now fully established as one of the nation's top home builders as the reinforced air heating, wood-burner fireplaces with log lighters, long-term conventional financing, FHA and attractive over $30 million experienced large overhangs.

NEWPORT-WEST, located near the intersection of Pacific Coast Hwy. and Brookhurst, offers exceptionally moderate prices for homes situated right at the beach. Buyers own both home and land, with title guaranteed.

Newport-West homes are priced from $19,750 and are available to veterans with no down payments. Conventional financing with 10% down payments and 30-year loans are also offered.

Homes are three and four bedrooms with family rooms and two baths.

DISTINCTIVE features of the Newport-West homes include complete Medallion kitchens with built-in dishwasher, range, oven, range hood, decorator-designed fireplaces with log lighters, custom hardwood paneling, shingle roofs, overhead boat doors on garages, outside "swim showers," forced air heating, imported hardwood entry floors and raised masonry planters.

For executives and senior engineers, Sunny Hills West, a desirable situation in the picturesque hills overlooking the Fullerton valley, offers both scenic hillside living and presentive formal dining areas, sunken living rooms, custom fireplaces with log lighters, long-term conventional financing, FHA and attractive over $30 million experienced large overhangs.

There are three to five bedrooms, with family room, dining room and up to three full baths. Prices start at $29,950.

LUXURY-INSPIRED features include massive two-way fireplaces with log lighters, complete Medallion kitchens, oversized view lots, sunken living rooms, formal dining areas, unusually spacious family rooms, forced air heating, imported parquet floors in foyers, distinctive entries with ornamental double doors and up to 2400 sq. ft. of living area.

Furnished model homes at all three Dutch Haven communities are open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

TO VISIT the model homes at College Series: Drive south on Santa Ana Fwy. to Beach, south to Edinger, right to models.

To visit Newport-West: Drive south on Santa Ana Fwy. to Brookhurst Turnoff, south on Brookhurst to models. Or, go south on Pacific Coast Hwy. to Brookhurst, left on Brookhurst to models.

To visit Sunny Hills West: Drive south on Santa Ana Fwy. to Riverside Fwy., east to Euclid Ave., left to models.

Sunkist Plaza Buccaneer Homes Selling Rapidly

The current Buccaneer Series of Sunkist Plaza Homes in Huntington Beach, through its years of building experience, "This allows us to build more dollar values into each home for a price comparable to other developments."

Pharmaceutical Officers Installed Installation of officers was held recently by the Long Beach Pharmaceutical Association, meeting at the Lafayette Hotel.

"At the rate these homes have been selling," remarked Bram, "we should beat that record within the next six years."

The main reason for this sales pace is attributed by Bram to the fact that these homes include many extras not usually found in this price range. He adds to this that qualified buyers can move in with no down payment—only costs of $150.

THE HOMES feature a complete array of Waste King Universal built-in kitchen appliances for the convenience of the housewife. This is included at no extra cost.

Waste King, one of the nation's leading kitchen appliance manufacturers, recently cited the builders of the Buccaneer Series for their imaginative design and convenience features offered at the development.

"Early indications point to our following closely in the footsteps of our other beach city developments," Bram commented.

HE BASED the success of one buying an American flag models.

HARRY BROWN, president of the Downtown Kiwanis, and the American Pharmaceutical Association, Southern California pharmaceutical associations.

Other officers installed: Dr. Cameron Paschall, vice president; Charles Stuart, secretary; Gus Dugas, treasurer; and Don Salvatori, parliamentarian. Harold Paige was installing officer.

Patriotism Pays MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Associated Displays Inc., a company which makes flags says that in 15 years it never has received a bad check from any follow signs in furnished models.

THIS RETIRED LIVING IS A PROVEN SUCCESS 12,000 WAYS

why settle for less?

and it's the most economical, too.

Those 12,000 ways are the 12,000 folks from just 50 and their adult-age partners who are now living it up in Del Webb's famous retirement cities in California, Arizona and Florida.

They'll tell you flat out that you'll be wasting your time and your money to live anywhere else. They're so right.

Originated by Del Webb, the concept of active retired living has been imitated but no one has ever been able to duplicate it. Only a company of the magnitude of the Del E. Webb Corporation could create such complete cities with the finest of everything for happy, active, economical living.

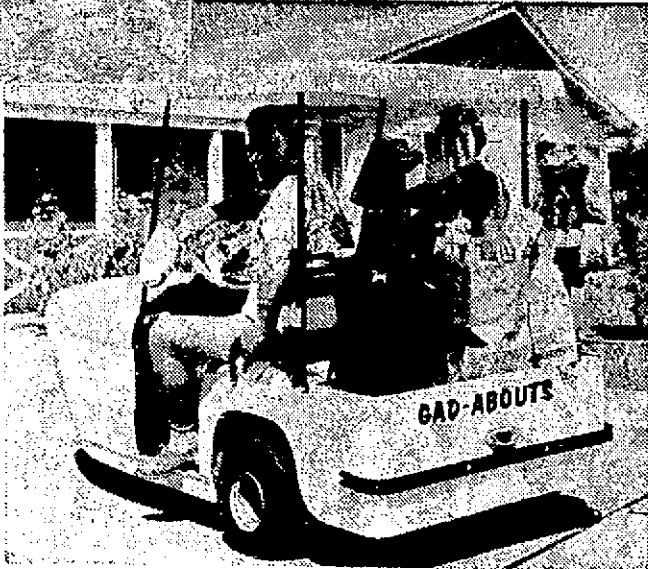

The fortune in facilities for just a nickel a day includes a Riviera-size swimming pool, shuffleboard courts, a lawn bowling green, fully-equipped workshops and studios... even a complete Town Hall.

A championship golf course with special low discount rates for residents winds all about the beautiful neighborhoods.

Everything is right in town including a big shopping center. Even a week's worth of trips to church services, shopping, club meetings, recreational facilities, friends' homes or dining out at Del Webb's Kings Inn hardly moves the needle on your gas gauge.

Outdoor-Indoor Living Found in Garden Park Estates Homes

A GARDEN PARK ESTATE
Shown is a kitchen and dining area at Garden Park Estates home in Garden Grove. An abundance of work space has been included in the pleasant kitchens in all models.

A very special way of life is reserved for residents of Garden Park Estates in Garden Grove, stated officials of this rapidly growing walled community.

"The homes were designed to enable residents to enjoy the outdoors and the healthy climate prevailing in Orange County," they said. Sliding glass doors in the living room lead directly to an expansive patio and outdoor entertainment area.

The neighborhood is colorful and attractive with well-cared-for yards and many visible California flowers.

ORANGE COUNTY is presently one of the pacesetters for top recreational programs, residents to employment areas, shopping, churches and schools.

IN GLEN MAR SHORES
Here is a view in the Glen Mar Shores area in Huntington Beach, showing the trees and shrubs in the landscaping.

Home Landscaping Depicts Good Living

Consistent sales and enthusiasm of homebuyers at Glen Mar Shore Series homes in Huntington Beach has been credited to the beautiful landscaping in the model home area that has been designed to provide the finer adjuncts of good living, states Ron Walker, sales manager.

"Since our model home area was completed this summer we have had a great many compliments from homebuyers. In some cases our homebuyers see themselves living in one of the model homes and surrounded by all of the beautiful landscaping," continued Walker.

LOCATED JUST one and one-half miles from the ocean, Glen Mar Shore Series offers three bedroom, family room homes from $21,450, four bedroom, family room homes from $22,000, and two-story five bedroom homes from $24,950 with down payments of $495 and financing up to 35 years.

Among the major attractions to this community is the ideal climatic conditions with no smog. Many outstanding features are offered in the homes which boast a "bonus" of square footage in each room of the two-story, five-bedroom home.

INCLUDED IN the purchase price are: wall-to-wall carpeting in living room, hall, entry and master bedroom; landscaped front lawn, front yard sprinklers installed; side

posol, breakfast bar and ash kitchen cabinets. Large massive fireplaces are included in each home. An additional important factor added by Macco Realty is that land ownership is insured.

The sales office can be reached by taking the Santa Ana Freeway to Brookhurst and traveling south to Adams.

Here's How Americans Share in $333 Billions

How the American people share $333 billion in money income is told graphically in a pamphlet just published by the U.S. Department of Commerce.

If the third of a trillion dollars had been equally divided it would have meant $5,700 for each of the 45 million families and each of the 13 million unrelated individuals not living as a part of families, according to the pamphlet which was prepared by the department's Bureau of the Census. The pamphlet shows how income actually is divided.

THE MEDIAN INCOME of all families and unrelated individuals was $4,800 in 1959; $5,700 for families and $1,600 for unrelated individuals. That is, one-half more than the median and one-half received less than the median.

About 14 million families and unrelated individuals, or 23 per cent of the 58 million families and unrelated individuals in the nation, received cash incomes of less than $2,000.

FAMILY INCOMES are generally much higher than those of unrelated individuals because more than one person in a family may be receiving income, and for other reasons, including the fact that a large proportion of individuals are older persons with diminished incomes.

A fifth of all families had incomes under $2,900 in 1959. This lowest 20 per cent of families received only 5 per cent of the nearly $300 billion total family income.

The highest one-fifth of the families had incomes over $9,000 and received 44 per cent of the total family income.

In the top 5 per cent only 1 family out of 100 lived entirely on income from interest, dividends, rents, royalties, and the like.

Variety of Housing in Lakewood East

Offered at Lakewood East, full-length covered entry walks, outdoor planters, recessed front doors, natural stone facings and redwood siding, and Dutch gable roofs. Wall-to-wall carpeting is included in prices starting at $21,000, from $295 down.

Bay City Bearing Co. Makes Staff Changes

Walter R. Seidel, president of Bay City Bearing Co., Inc., a Long Beach based company with branches in Los Angeles, Santa Ana, Van Nuys and El Monte has announced recent election of John A. Messerschmitt as vice president in charge of sales of the Long Beach division.

At the annual board of directors meeting additional management changes were made to broaden the executive staff and its responsibilities.

These were as follows: Clarence H. Reaney, former sales engineer in Long Beach, was appointed branch manager of the Van Nuys operation.

Donald E. Fowble, former branch manager of El Monte operations, was made vice president and branch manager of the El Monte division. All other officers of the company remain unchanged. Seidel also announced the centralization of all executive, accounting and purchasing departments in a new general office building adjacent to the Long Beach sales and warehouse operations.

Lab on Wheels

LAGRANGE, Ky. (AP)—Following the tradition of the bookmobile, Dr. W. E. Bewley, a veterinarian, has set up a lab on wheels complete with operating table, surgical tools, a microscope and a refrigerator stocked with vaccines.

FLOOR PLANS are designed to avoid "through traffic." They show family room or dining room, built-in kitchens with double ovens, range with exhaust fan and hood, disposal, natural finish cabinets, and breakfast bars. Wall-to-wall bedroom wardrobes have double shelves. Sliding glass doors and windows are aluminum framed and screened. Forced-air heating is an important feature.

The development is convenient to metropolitan Los Angeles, Long Beach, upper Orange County cities, beaches, golf courses, schools and shopping centers.

Lakewood East is on Del Amo Road, in the city of Lakewood, just west of Pioneer Boulevard. Visitors will find signs directing them to the model homes, open for viewing every day.

Luxury Apartments Open in Huntington Gardens

IN FOUR DISTINCT STYLINGS

Huntington Gardens apartments will be open today in Huntington Beach. Here is an artist's rendering of the over-all scene where four distinct stylings of architecture are offered.

Opening today of Huntington Gardens has created much interest in the apartment building trades due to the original and distinctive styling of the 208 units.

Four architectural styles, Oriental, Polynesian, New England and Mediterranean, are subtly blended, maintaining their individual design yet blended into an apartment community that rests in a park-like setting. "We feel that we can offer the apartment seeker not only a unit that embodies every convenience and luxury but our penthouses have been sited as one of the outstanding innovations in the field today," stated Henry H. Brudgerlin, owner-builder of Huntington Gardens.

THE PENTHOUSE apartments have been designed for

TO LONG BEACH

B. T. McClendon, wage and salary supervisor for General Telephone Co.'s personnel department in Santa Monica, has been appointed southern area personnel administrator, with offices in Long Beach, according to an announcement by M. R. Houston, director of personnel for the utility. In his new position, McClendon reports to H. W. Frahm, southern area general manager.

the executive bachelor or career woman looking for exciting style and impressive decor. Completely custom furnished including original oil paintings, the units are decorated with bright colors, coordinated to create a dramatic setting. Soft music is piped in, Gold Medallion kitchen and queen-size beds are a few of the multitude of features. A private stairway from the garage leads to each individual unit so that inclement weather is not considered from automobile to apartment. There is ample parking for 2 cars provided each unit.

All units feature handloomed draperies, luxurious wool carpeting, Electric thermostat controlled heating and air conditioning, Maid service, 4 large swimming pools, 2 hot swirling baths, 4 Sauna baths, poolside telephones, private individual storage rooms, private patios, fireplaces in 60 of the units and four individually styled gardens with Cabanas and Bar-B Ques.

P. L. PALMER, chairman of the board, Newport-Balboa Savings & Loan, states "Huntington Gardens will set a milestone in the building of luxury apartments. Their proximity to the new Douglas Space Missiles System, numerous industrial centers and recreational facilities make them an important advancement in executive housing."

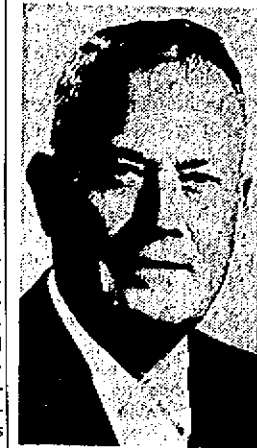

Rental reservations are being accepted and further information may be obtained by calling the W. G. Long Construction Co., 425 30th, Newport Beach.

Engineers' Week Set Feb. 17-22

Vice Admiral William F. Raborn Jr., USN-Ret., now a vice president of Aerojet-General Corp., will serve as general chairman of the Los Angeles area observance of 1964 Engineers' Week, set for Feb. 17-22.

A highlight of the week will be selection of "The Engineer of the Year" in Southern California and presentation to him of the annual "George" award, the engineers' counterpart of Oscar and Emmy.

The award is named for George Washington, one of the nation's first engineers.

General Chairman REAR ADMIRAL RABORN

Engineers' Week is observed nationally by presidential proclamation each year during the week of Washington's birthday.

A week-long program of activities will culminate with an address by a national figure at the annual banquet in the Biltmore Hotel on Feb. 21.

"THE PURPOSE of Engineers' Week" said Raborn, "is to develop greater public understanding of the engineering profession and its vital role in the day-to-day life of every American and for the future growth of America."

The observance is sponsored by the Los Angeles Council of Engineering Societies, Consulting Engineers Association of California, and the Los Angeles Technical Societies Council.

Raborn joined Aerojet three months ago after 39 years of Navy service. He is known as the "father" of the Polaris missile program, which he directed from inception through deployment.

Approximately 8 out of every 10 homes built today are put up by tract or development builders, according to building authorities.

Hillview Regency Townhouses in Anaheim Will Open Today

A little over three years ago Tom Coughlin was a leading salesman for the Kimberly-Clark Corp. Hearing about a small parcel of commercial property available on Katella Avenue in Anaheim, Tom and his wife Jean, after deliberation, decided to take a flyer and buy it. Since then they have parlayed that piece of land into a $2 1/2 million condominium complex, Hillview Regency Townhouses, the first ever offered in Santa Ana.

A gala three-day grand opening for the 120-unit development is scheduled for this week-end. Highlighting the event will be songs by the Santa Ana Junior College Madrigal Singers, and the personal appearance of Miss Santa Ana, Lee Fernandez. In addition, free perfume will be given to lady visitors.

THE 10-ACRE development features own-your-own townhouses in both two and three-bedroom models, one and two-story units. Prices start at $17,900 with down payments as low as $895, according to Tom Coughlin, president of KRIC Enterprises, Inc. "With terms as convenient as these," Tom adds, "monthly payments are only $90.39 which is better than paying rent." "And for just $22.50 per month the new owner enjoys complete exterior maintenance, painting, gardening, in addition to all recreation facilities."

New residents at Hillview Regency will have luxurious country club facilities right at their door step including 9-hole pitch-and-putt course, 60-foot heated pool, fenced-in patios, recreation hall with massive circular fireplace, pool and billiard tables, table tennis, card room, fully equipped kitchen, showers and Sauna heat rooms for both men and women.

THEIR DREAM COMES TRUE

Tom and Jean Coughlin parlayed a piece of land in Anaheim into a $2,500,000 condominium complex, Hillview Regency Townhouses, which will open today.

The furnished models have been decorated by Mrs. Coughlin. Contrasting golds and whites against electric blues, greens and purples, Jean has achieved an appealing contemporary atmosphere which blends with the warmth of walnut paneled walls and Palos Verdes stone fireplaces.

HILLVIEW REGENCY

Townhouses represent Jean's and Tom's second major development, having already completed over 100 deluxe garden-type apartments a year ago in Garden Grove.

When asked how two young people have done so much in so little time, Jean replied: "Well, we like to do things."

Visitors planning to attend the grand opening should take the 17th Street off-ramp driving either north or south on the Santa Ana Freeway, and proceed a half mile east of Grand Avenue in Santa Ana, suggests Bob Moore, president of the Robert J. Moore Co., Santa Ana, in charge of sales promotion.

Fountainhead Homes Family-Ready to Save Occupants Further Costs

REAR VIEW OF HOME SHOWS BIG LAWN

All outside landscaping is in when occupants move into a Fountainhead Home. This shows the large rear lawn provided the occupants.

According to many home buyers visiting the new, 250-home Fountainhead development, one of the greatest attractions, and the first impression they receive is that of a long established community. The homes are available for immediate occupancy in many models.

Unlike the flat, uninteresting, bare look usually found in a new subdivision, Fountainhead homes are surrounded by green grass, trees, shrubs and fences. As soon as each home is built, sprinkler systems are installed, grass, trees and shrubs are planted and the back yard fenced. As a result, when the new owner moves in, he has all the advantages of a brand new house without the disadvantage of a bare lot that requires money, work, and time before it provides the proper setting.

The community was designed, developed, and built by Evans Building Company of Westminster, and represents a $5.5 million investment. Located on Warner and Cannery in Fountain Valley, the homes enjoy one of the finest locations in the area. They are close to the beach and all of Orange County business and industry as well as the county's famous entertainment areas.

THE NEW CONCEPT of having every home family-ready before the new owner moves in has made Fountainhead one of the most successful home developments in Orange County. Many people find the family-ready features financially attractive because the down payment represents their total immediate expense rather than just the beginning of many expenses to come. Others like the concept of being able to move in and start enjoying their new home immediately instead of waiting for all the extras that make their new house a comfortable and beautiful home.

Two and three bedroom models situated on extra-large lots. The family-ready features include, in addition to all outside landscaping, a sprinkler system and fences, $495.

Oscar Meinhardt Now Has Office in Anaheim

Oscar Meinhardt, originator, producer and director of the Miss Universe and International Beauty pageants, in Long Beach has opened his own Theatrical Producing Office at 1811 W. Katella Ave. in Anaheim.

The pageants in Long Beach under his direction from 1952 through 1962 brought acclaim to Southern California from all parts of the world. Meinhardt resigned that position last February to produce the circuses and stage shows at Pacific Ocean Park during the park's holidays and summer season. The Meinhardt productions organization will offer a package deal in organizing, producing and directing all types of entertainment and also has established a Hollywood office at 8350 Santa Monica Blvd. under the direction of James Arthur to facilitate handling television and top entertainers.

Will Open Ad Agency

SANTA ANA—Robert J. Moore, real estate advertising director for the Register and Anaheim Bulletin, will leave Feb. 1 to open an advertising and public relations company at 718 N. Grand Ave., Santa Ana.

The firm, the Robert J. Moore Co., will be staffed by specialists in their respective fields, Moore said. Public relations director will be James Hiner, and Richard Terry, real estate coordinator. A graphic arts section is planned. Moore will personally supervise planning and conceptions of campaigns for all accounts.

R. J. MOORE

WITH A background of 18 years in agency and newspaper work, Moore was with the Beacon-Journal in Akron, Ohio, national headquarters for the chain of Knight newspapers, before coming to the Register.

He recently received the Golden City award from the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce for his work in the Ambassadors' Club.

Phone Companies to Invest $118 Million

California's 43 independent (non-Bell) telephone companies will invest $118 million in new plant and facilities in 1964 to serve communication needs of the fastest growing state in the nation, Peter A. Nenzel, president of the California Independent Telephone Association, said Saturday.

This will lift the independents' total plant investment in the state to more than $987 million by the end of 1964. Current plant is valued at $868,508,000.

Gross operating revenues for 1963 will total $234,134,000, up from $210,836,170 in 1962.

BIG ROOM IN BIG HOME

Huntington Village Prestige Homes in Huntington Beach are big one and two-story, three, four and five-bedroom homes priced from $21,200. FHA, VA and excellent conventional terms are available for financing. Here is a view in one model.

Huntington Village Prestige Homes Continue Selling Fast

The second unit of Huntington Village's Prestige Home series in Huntington Beach is proving just as popular as the first unit, with 50 per cent of the one and two-story, three, four and five-bedroom homes in the second unit now having been purchased, according to Dan Mytinger, sales manager for the Doyle and Shields Development Co., Inc., builders.

The first unit of 125 homes sported a "Sold-out" sign many weeks ago.

Excellent and varied financing: VA no down, low FHA terms and exceptionally good conventional financing has played an important part in the fine sales of the homes. Buyers who could not qualify under one type of financing were able to qualify under another and move into the new Prestige Homes, Mytinger pointed out. The homes are priced from $21,200.

PURCHASERS not only have been pleased with the many outstanding features offered in the homes, but also found the location to be just what they wanted; a short drive from the Southland's finest beaches and small boat harbors on the Orange Coast River; a few blocks to the public Meadowlark Golf Club;

Swap Hoe for Nine-Iron

By CURTYNE DRISCOLL

"I want this place to look beautiful, but I want to play golf weekends," is the number one request of home owners, male, according to landscape architect Edward Lovell, ASLA.

"There's nothing wrong with low maintenance gardens," Lovell continued, "but it certainly reaches its lowest ebb with mounds, rock and a yucca."

Women who used to be proud of their prize peonies now rarely ask for room for a cut flower bed. They are busy, too.

In Long Beach, all of this activity has led to the replacement of the old-fashioned rose garden with tropical or "oriental" gardens.

"Oriental is the least understood in landscape planning," said Lovell.

"An oriental gardener would have apoplexy if he saw some of the Japanese gardens here."

In oriental design, everything has meaning and a story—everything is there for a reason, not an effect. The purpose of the design is to reproduce a natural scene in symbolism, according to Lovell.

THE AMERICAN Society of Landscape Architects defines the profession as encompassing "the arrangement of land and everything thereon."

It's a five year course leading to a bachelor of landscape architecture degree at only 16 universities accredited by ASLA in the United States.

The American Institute of Landscape Architects has similar qualifications for membership.

Ideally, from the landscape architects' point of view, he would go to work with the architect and interior decorator in the preliminary design of a new building.

"Unfortunately," commented Lovell, "this happens only about one percent of the time."

The province of the landscape architect includes walks, steps, pool, walls, paved areas, pergolas and out-building with planting to carry out the design.

Design comes first and the planting should always complement the architecture.

No banana trees with Cape Cod houses, please!

If you are going to use temperate zone plants, and you probably are if you live in a contemporary design home, stick to temperate zone plants. Bird of Paradise and junipers do not go well together.

"For the weekend gardener, pot culture is ideal," Lovell said.

With the use of pots, there comes the opportunity to change the scene and the season with color and a variety of textures. The form of the pot itself is pleasant.

LOVELL, LIKES unglazed pots best. He also suggests the use of chimney flue tiles for containers.

The art of landscape gardening came from Italy to France during the reign of Louis XIV, bringing with it "a hundred devices and surprises; bowers, trellises, grottos, caves, grotesques, colored stones, bird houses, statues, vases, brooks, fountains, waterspouts, even organs played by running water," according to Will Durant in "The Age of Louis XIV."

In France it reached a zenith in the gardens of Versailles when Louis gave Le Notre carte blanche to turn a wilderness into acres of beauty.

The English felt the influence of the French, but developed a style of their own, "the grand meadow" or "deer park" look, where they pursued such an imitation of nature that if a tree fell, they left it there.

In the United States, one of the notable first landscape architects (also an architect and engineer) was the designer of Washington, D.C., Pierre Charles L'Enfant.

ALTHOUGH his plan was generally followed, L'Enfant was fired in the middle of the job for defying the commission by removing the home of an influential resident to make room for an important avenue.

Another famed American landscape architect was Frederick Law Olmstead, designer of Central Park in New York City.

His firm designed the original plans for Palos Verdes Estates.

Well, back to that low maintenance problem. There's always sand, gravel, bark, sawdust, ground-up seashells, brick, quarry tile, exposed aggregate, wood decking or that old favorite green cement.

But don't tell Eddie Lovell!

SEEN AT WINTER MART

...Classic Furnishings Pass Up the Past

By MARY NETH

Is return to past elegance in furnishings passe?

Are gold leaf and rococo trim and curvey clutter as out of date now as back when going modern meant striving for the clean cut, antiseptic look of an operating room?

According to designers questioned at the Los Angeles Home Furnishings Mart (the big annual winter show of interior design), the trend toward the past HAS lost its usefulness.

"The homemaker is reaching a new level of sophistication—she's ignoring passing style fancies," explained Kenneth Kent, president of California Furniture Designers Association.

Fads in furniture such as Far Eastern, wild and pseudo European, Gothic and Mediterranean are no longer law for a well-groomed room.

Instead, today, such styles are taking their place beside the clean lines of the functional and the informal Modern American—and nobody is losing.

The drifting away from the one-trend look was certainly in evidence at the six-day mart. The new lines viewed by the 15,000 home furnishing dealers in attendance at the huge 13-floor, 600 showroom exhibit building were anything but stereotyped.

Variety, something for every taste, every mode of living—formal or informal—was the keynote.

WHILE SPANISH continued to be the single dominant theme, a realism in interpretation of contemporary materials was seen as the primary goal of the designers.

Neither rococo nor clean-cut contemporary were out—on in.

Result? There was new emphasis on luxury of natural materials, such as woods, linen, wool and leather; new use of heavily textured fabrics and vivid color.

Designer Frank Rohloff, specializing in case goods and tables in wood and plastic, points to walnut as a must-used wood, an opinion shared by Robert Kjer-Jackobsen, who designs metal and wood dining furniture and accessories and James Kelso, working exclusively in wood cabinets for radio, television and hi-fi. Oak, cherry and rosewood were popular as accents with the natural warm colorings of these and other exotic woods seen as more important, too.

All the designers leaned heavily toward textures and generally, in color-range, toward golds, oranges and greens. Designer John Keal credits accessory and area rug manufacturers with providing the current bright look of upholstery and drapery materials; notes "that the vivid combinations were seen first in small accent pieces some years ago"—feels they may have inspired fabric suppliers to make more colorful combinations and for customers to look for them.

As to the Spanish look, it is no fleeting click of a castanet, it's definitely here to stay particularly in the hearts and homes of Californians who hunger for a link with their historic past.

BUT, SPANISH '64 has many moods. The simplicity of some of the Spanish Gothic designs looks as new as any modern style, especially in case pieces and lighting accessories. Rococo treatments of carved wood or wrought metal show up as table pedestals, in lamps, as accents on upholstered pieces and on cabinet fronts.

The typically Spanish high-backed chair, often with such adornments as carved wood framing on the seat back, finial treatment, or graceful curved and carved legs, is seen in numerous dining groups, which frequently use the familiar X-base pedestal. Similar pedestals appear on coffee, cocktail and cigarette tables but often are so simplified that at first glance they suggest no country or period.

This simplification of period stylings is perhaps, say many manufacturers and de-

Departures, Arrivals—Gay Stay-at-Homes

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Women's Editor

And now, back they go to home in Teheran.

For your info, that's a lusciously soft and very genuine Persian lamb throw rug in foreground which Barbara brought to her mother, Isabelle Welshampel, of 4435 E. Second St. She has been visiting "Mom" and brother, Charlie, on her second Stateside visit since she has made her home in Teheran, a matter of the past five years.

Barbara met her husband at Long Beach State when both were students there about 6½ to 7 years ago. Ali was on the 49er campus to take his master's degree in business administration. He originally planned to visit here, too, and accompany his family back home (they'll leave during this coming week most likely) but a business trip to Japan loomed for him so Barbara and the children will go it alone. Ali, by the way, is an importer of heavy automotive equipment to Iran and, I gather, travels considerably.

Querying Barbara about home in old Persia, discovered she really loves it and finds the living is easy. Although rice is the basic food over there, Ali developed a taste for American fare while here so Barbara says they buy their groceries at the supermarkets. "Supermarket?" sez I in my most amazed grass-is-greener on this-side-of-the-fence tone. She assured me they have several very good ones, operated primarily for the large foreign population of the city and for the many Iranians who have gone to school in U. S. of A. and like our food. She said there were about 8,000 Iranian students in U. S. last year, probably more this year. The wealthy Iranian likes to send children to U. S. for an education. They think our system is good and it has definite prestige value.

Wild Waves Say...

Getting back to the supermarkets. A little on the expensive side. A bottle of catsup, the 10 cents or so size here, is $1.50 there. Cornflakes are 70 cents. That's for the small size, you understand.

One more thing before stopping—Barbara is president of a club of 100 women, like herself, who are "foreign" in Iran—and 90 per cent of the girls are from the U.S., most of whom met their spouses while they were students in this country.

Oh. One bonus not having Ali come here. He's going to stall his trip to Land of the Rising Sun so that, after Barbara has delivered the children to their home, she can keep right on traveling—go to Japan with him.

BIG DAY for Little Clubbers was joint old and new board luncheon hosted by outgoing president, Helen (Mrs. Sterling) Pillsbury, in her home. Most "in" guest of honor was incoming president, Cora (Mrs. A. J.) Danstrom.

Among those whipping up a storm of personal conversation, with a dab of business talk thrown in, here and there, were such new to office women as Maree (Mrs. Percy) Hight, Alice (Mrs. Carleton) Wallace, Grace (Mrs. Roland) Swaffield, Dorothy (Mrs. Karl) Hawthorne, Martha (Mrs. John) Craig, all picking up tips on their new "trade" from such of the hierarchy of last year's board as Mary Ella (Mrs. John) Buol, Lu (Mrs. W. H.) Hosking and Avis (Mrs. Paul) Dudley.

THE WORD merry didn't end with the holidays thanks to Glenda and Earl Barnes. They've had two marvellously gay open houses—one the 11th and the other last night to welcome friends to their lovely new home in El Dorado Park Estates (north of Spring, east of Studebaker).

Both were cocktails and wonderful hors d'oeuvres events with only one problem for merry-makers—where to park on, or near, Barnes' Crest Circle manse. No one cared—parties kept them in the happy holiday spirit.

Among those assisting, one night or the other, were Joanne and Al McConville, Randa and Ted Pearson Jr., Maureen and Jim Cone, Sue and Bob Buck, Helen and Herb Reuter and Marjory and Gordon Johnson.

Estates home when they entertained in honor of famed metal sculptor, Claire Falkenstein.

Focal point of the night, of course, was the handsome fountain in the patio, done for the Buffums by Claire. Party was inspired by this and to have a gathering of the group that went on Claire's first conducted art tour to France in 1960.

Among those present were Dallas Conklin, Elle and Frank Person, May and Art Holtz (all these women made the tour with others from Bay area). Also enjoying themselves at party were Jane and Jim Kresl, Suzanne and Vic Mingers, Flora and John Olsen to name a few of a local army who admire Miss Falkenstein's work.

Incidentally, Claire now has a new studio in Venice—California. Because she does so much of her work in Venice, Italy, she calls this one "Venice West." She also works a lot in Paris, in fact, all over Europe as well as New York, doing commissioned pieces of art in her inimitable fashion.

REALLY surprised were Mary and Bill Green. Cameraman was skillfully maneuvered to scene to record their reaction (below) to housewarming that caught them totally off guard last Saturday.

What caught guests off guard, totally, was condition of Green's just-moved-in house in Rossmore. They were COMPLETELY settled with nary a packing crate in sight. Pictures were hung—even such homey touches in place as nuts in silver holders. Let you who have struggled through the moving transition with great pain think they are wizards, let us remind you they've had practice. They've moved 17 times in the last few years prior to Bill's retirement as an Army Lt. Col.

Party organizers were Dolores (Mrs. Herman) Weissker and Marys sister-in-law, Marge (Mrs. John) Clarke.

Camera-caught in midst of total surprise.

Nursery Education Week To Feature Open Houses

THEY LOVE SCHOOL! Jimmy Vickers, Marc Diehl and Karen Kuklish, all 4-year-olds, are happy students at the parent-participating nursery group at El Dorado Park. The group, with 16 others, will welcome visitors as a feature of Nursery Education Week, Monday through Saturday.

By Proclamation of Mayor Edwin Wade, Jan. 19 through 25 will be observed as Nursery Education Week in Long Beach. Sponsored by the Association for Nursery Education, all phases of the field in both public and private nursery schools will be on public display.

Local radio stations will have informative programs and Long Beach public libraries will have special exhibits.

The 17 parent-participating nursery groups in the Long Beach area will hold open house for interested parents. Formerly called co-operatives, these play groups provide unusual opportunities for play and social growth for the pre-schooler from 2 years nine months old to school age.

Like all nursery schools, the participating groups are licensed by the State Department of Social Welfare. They are non-profit and non-sectarian, directed by a trained teacher assisted by the mothers.

OPEN HOUSES will be held for visitors as listed:

East Long Beach-Bayshore Center, Bayshore Drive and Ocean Blvd., Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.; Colorado Lagoon Clubhouse, Colorado St. and Nieto Ave., Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.; Congregational Church, Katella St. and Pine Ave., in Los Alamitos, Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Also in East Long Beach-Recreation Park, Seventh St. and Park Ave., Friday from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.; Seal Beach Youth Center, Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.; College Estates Park, Stevely St. and Kallin Ave., Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

LOS ALTOS Area - El Dorado Park, 2800 E. Studebaker Rd., Friday; Whaley Park, Atherton St. and Bellflower Blvd., Friday; Unitarian Church, 5400 Atherton Ave., Wednesday; El Dorado Park, Wednesday; all from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

signers, the beginning of a truly new California contemporary styling which adapts from many classic sources but is beholden to none.

NEXT TO THE Spanish influence in furniture fashions comes the American modern and with it the greater use of "carefree" fabrics and table surfaces, more style variety in storage pieces and more ingenuity in expandable tables and surfaces.

All told, the philosophy of '64 furnishing follows the theme of the market: "form follows function, fashion follows form." And, that's the basis of the emerging Western look, too. A look that is pointing up California's place as a style pace-setter in both furnishings and women's fashions.

A number of the displays illustrated the close relationship between the two fields of Golden State design, too. For, no one was denying that clothing and home fashions go hand-in-hand.

"Take the era of the capris," said one designer. "It resulted in the huge decorative pillows, ottomans and low chairs—pretty places where pant-clad femmes could lounge or perch gracefully as well as informally."

"Now, with the hostess gown seeing a comeback, there's new interest in formal, separate dining rooms," he continued.

Color in home fashions also is following trends in women's clothes and vice versa.

Currently, the two color combinations finding favor simultaneously in clothing and home goods are orange and pink and blue and green.

But, a competent interior designer always advises a client to select colors for her home as she selects colors for her wardrobe—those that are becoming to her.

Worsham-Sheridan Married

St. Bartholomew's Catholic Church was chosen for the exchange of wedding vows Saturday by Patricia Louise Sheridan and James A. Worsham III, witnessed by 200 guests.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Sheridan, Mrs. Betty B. Worsham and James A. Worsham Jr.

A white velvet formal gown was worn by the bride. Her finger tip veil fell from a velvet pill box hat. Mrs. Sandra Valdez attended her as matron of honor.

William F. Silva served the bridegroom as best man. Other members of the wedding party included Marilyn Hughes, Katherine Soules, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salas, Harold Green, Roger Kuld and Bruce Worsham.

THE NEW Mrs. Worsham is a graduate of St. Anthony's High School and attended Long Beach State College. Her husband graduated from Wilson High School and attended Long Beach City College and LBSC.

On their return from a honeymoon in Aspen, Colo., the couple will reside in Lakewood.

Oswald Jacoby Bad Bid, Worse Play

South's two no-trump response to his partner's opening is not recommended. True he held 13 points and no-trump distribution, but he was totally unprepared for a heart lead.

It would have been far better tactically for South simply to have responded two clubs and let the bidding develop slowly. Three no-trump would still have been the final contract and three no-trump should make with no trouble at all, but South really compounded his first crime by misplaying the hand.

The hearts presented no problem because dummy showed up with the ace, king and queen. At trick two South played a club from dummy and finessed his jack. West won with the queen and continued hearts.

whereupon South continued with his club suit. Unfortunately, clubs failed to break and South wound up with only eight tricks.

HOW MUCH easier things would have been for South had he only stopped to count winners and losers before leading to trick two. He might have visualized the possibility of a losing club finesse and a bad club break, then noticed that dummy had a five-card diamond suit. True, it was headed by the jack, but South had the queen and ten to fit with it and had South simply started after diamonds he would have been sure of making three diamond tricks. He would still have his top spades, hearts and clubs. No one could take those from him.

SILHOUETTED against Sphere on New York World's Fair Grounds is Monte-Sano Pruzan empire cut gown of silk matelasse frosted with rare plumage.

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON
I, P-T Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Snow has been swirling outside, but there's the ruffle of spring in Seventh Avenue showrooms.

In their forecast for the coming season, designers in the New York Couture Group are blowing away forever ideas that women should look like little boys, country bumpkins or Russian cosacs.

Back again are defined waistlines, lowered necklines and bias cuts. Ruffles appear in every collection. Feathers flutter for evening as trim on chiffons or, as boas to swish over long, slim gowns. Ruffled white organdy collars and cuffs set off dark silk dresses. Ruffles flutter down front and center of short and long formal.

Standup ruffles of the same fabric outline the squared neckline of numerous daytime woools and silks.

The woman doing her spring shopping may conclude that the "basic little black dress" is out. Actually, there are plenty of the dark basics, including navy.

But watch for a splash of bold colors with the orange and pink tones way out front.

Here's Latest Word

...on
New York
Fashions and the World's Fair

Designers dub the new clear tones with such come-ons as jelly bean pink (a vivid pinkish red), strawberry ice (of the mauve family), lemon drop yellow (a clear butter shade) and marmalade (for several hues of orange).

AND THERE'LL be more color in hair, say stylists at Clairor, who treated the nation's fashion editors to a preview of the 1946 trends in hair styles during a visit to the New York World's Fair Grounds. A major exhibitor at the fair, Clairor entertained the visiting press with a dinner and fashion show at the Top of the Fair Restaurant which also doubles as a heliport.

Against a backdrop of city lights, stretching to infinity and twinkling through the structure's huge windows, mannequins introduced new softer, more feminine hair styles created by nationally famous hairdressers.

But they took second billing to the panorama of some 300 buildings of weird shapes juxtaposed within the 646-acre hoggy expanse of reclaimed swampland called Flushing Meadow, N. Y.

The fair's dynamic, controversial president, Robert Moses, builder of everything in New York from bridges, dams and tunnels to parks, apartments and playgrounds, was on hand to flash a quick smile and rush off to more important chores.

It seems inconceivable that the billion-dollar extravaganza, still a maze of incomplete buildings, equipment and general confusion, could be completed in time for the opening in April. When asked if it could be accomplished, one official remarked, "You can be sure Moses will lead his people into the promised land on schedule April 22."

On opening night a 12-billion candle-power beam of light—visible on clear nights from New Haven, Conn., to Atlantic City, N. J.—will shoot its rays skyward. And the world's largest fountain will burst into a symphony of water patterns, color and music. A 610-bell carillon will sing out for the first time.

The fair is the costliest, most commercial venture of its kind ever attempted. Some 200 pavilions and exhibitions will represent 51 countries, 24 U. S. states and close to 350 American firms. A promotion man for the fair claims it would require at least 12 days for an average mortal to take in everything.

Incidentally, California has made its mark at the fair. Ideas straight from Disneyland include a monorail and a magic skyway ride from prehistoric times to a glistening city of tomorrow. Along the way, prehistoric beasts—brought to life with Disney's system of audio-animatronics—will feed, fight and slog through primeval swamps. And at the Illinois exhibit an animated-by-Disney Abe Lincoln will grin, frown and recite speeches.

Meanwhile, spring doesn't seem to be around ANY corner in winter-bound New York. Instead, the city has been virtually paralyzed by one of the greatest snowfalls for this date in New York history.

In the time-and-tide department: Flipped on my TV last evening to find a romantic Charles Boyer and a beautiful Ingrid Bergman emoting dramatically in that old movie thriller, "Gaslight."

Afterwards, on my way down to the lobby to pick up a newspaper, stepped on the elevator.

And there, in the flesh, stood a much-older, not very romantic looking Charles Boyer, whose latest Broadway play, "Man and Boy," recently closed after a short run.

Had a few moments of nostalgia, too, at the Ed Sullivan show. While there, I interviewed featured singer Frank Sinatra Jr., a re-run of his famous father. He has the same manner, the halt in the voice, the thin frame, even sings the same songs. And the girls scream, just like they did back in dad's heyday.

Rocking Horse Guild to Have Tea Tuesday

Invitations for a tea are out for the Rocking Horse Guild of the Children's Hospital of Orange County to take place Tuesday. Rocking Horse, which is the ninth member of the guild to be chartered, serves the Rossmore area.

The tea, co-chaired by Mrs. Carl Sorenson Jr. and Mrs. Carl C. King, will be given at the Frank Vessels Ranch, 4901 Katella Ave. Mrs. Frank Vessels Jr., guild president, has arranged for Miss Lucille Kelly, executive secretary of the hospital, to speak on its purposes and needs.

Mrs. Lon Peek, hospital area chairman, will officiate at the tea table.

Aim of the guilds is to foster interest among its members and peoples of the community in support of work for the hospital. By their philanthropic endeavors they hope to help offset approximately one-third of the operation expense of the medical facility, which is scheduled for completion early this year. Services to children will be completely non-denominational. The original unit of 62 beds, guildswomen explain, will be able to be expanded to a total of 200 beds to serve the needs of children from infancy to 16.

Oh, Those Three Way Conversations

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

When I called my boy friend up to wish him a happy new year (he lives in another city and couldn't come to see me this year because of his job) his mother got on the other extension and told me that we were too young to be serious about each other and she hoped our New Year's Resolution would be to see more of other kids and not think of ourselves as going steady.

I told her that I thought that was our own business as we were both 18. My mother heard what I said and grabbed the phone from me and really told her where to get off.

Now my boy friend writes and says he thinks his mother is right and he wouldn't want to go with a girl whose mother talked like mine. I can't blame my mother—and I can't blame him. What do I do now?—LESLIE.

DEAR LESLIE:

If this boy is going to throw you over because of the way your mother talked (and maybe she had some reason at that) then he certainly is a poor bet for a boy friend—and poor indeed to think of getting serious about.

Why don't you take his mother up on her suggestion of seeing other young people, and go on out and have yourself a ball?—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I have an ex-girl friend I'm trying to win back.

We got into an argument over the phone and she won. I lost my temper and, besides losing that, lost the fight, AND HER.

Now she has started going around with this other guy and I'm out in the cold. And believe me it really feels cold where I am.

I've called and begged her to take me back but she just hangs the phone up. When I ring the doorbell she refuses to come to the door. What's a fellow to do?—SAD AND BROKENHEARTED.

DEAR SAD:

Of course, I've no idea whether this will work for you or not—but I do know it has from time to time with others. Find yourself an attractive girl, preferably one of her friends and start taking her out.

Oh, don't be serious with her—you don't want her to be glad and brokenhearted, too. But show her a good time and see if, by gum, Girl No. 1 doesn't start to warm up toward you again. —M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I live in a small midwestern town. Almost six months ago my husband and I were given an interlocutory divorce decree. A couple of months later we met on the street and he asked me to stop in a cafe with him for a drink. He was planning to take a Caribbean cruise. Would I like to go along with him? Maybe we would find we still loved each other.

I did want to go along. And we did find we still loved each other—for one week! The return week was the same old hell all over again.

Back home again, we went our separate ways, glad to be out of sight of each other. Within a week our six-months interlocutory will have ended, and I will be completely free to do anything I want to do.

Or will I? That's what worries me. A friend tells me that because I went away on that trip and lived with him as man and wife, the complete divorce cannot be made final.

Is that true, Mrs. Mayfield? Gosh, I hope not.—FOOLHEARTY.

DEAR FOOLHEARTY:

In most states I believe your living with him as man and wife during the waiting

William H. Favro

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Merchandising Is His Natural Bent

By MILDRED K. FLANARY

He's a perfectionist—and he NEVER forgets. But relax! He just remembers those things which he, himself, is supposed to do. Not YOUR idiosyncrasies.

As manager of The Broadway, Long Beach, today's Chef of the Week, William H. Favro ("a" like in aye), even remembers what's in stock at the store.

That he's in the right profession is evidenced by the fact that he grew up in it, having started at the age of 14 (part time) in his brother's hardware store in Santa Barbara.

Born in Renton, Wash., his family moved to Santa Barbara when he was 18 months old. Then he remained to finish high school before enlisting in the Air Force at the advent of World War II. Favro divided the next four years between serving as a bombardier navigator and instructing Chinese cadets in lend-lease.

AT THE CLOSE of the war, Favro returned to Santa Barbara for a time, before enrolling in Woodbury College, Los Angeles. He specialized in merchandising and advertising, graduating in 1948.

To help boost the exchequer during college, he worked part time in Milliron's Department Store. With diploma-in-hand, he joined them full time as assistant buyer in the housewares department.

Then Favro took a belated trip to see the world. After six months travel in Europe, he returned to Los Angeles and the housewares department in the May Co., Wilshire. In due time he was offered a position as buyer for five departments at Coulter's Department Store. He accepted, and remained five and one half years, or until The Broadway bought that company.

His "Broadway" itinerary reads like this: assistant buyer home furnishings department; assistant manager Westchester Store, and manager of The Broadway, Long Beach since August of '63.

THE FAVROS will move to the Long Beach area come February, and daughter, Karen, 17, will enter Long Beach State College. Son, Barry, 18, is still in a state of indecision.

A member of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, he is on the Beautification Committee. He also serves on the Board of Directors of the Los Altos Business Association and on the Los Altos Promotion and Parking Committees.

When he isn't guiding the destinies of the Broadway, he divides his time between golfing, swimming and shooting pictures.

NOTE: The turkey pictured has nothing whatsoever to do with the article. Time, place and circumstances are entirely responsible.

MAVERICK STEAK
1 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup red wine vinegar
1 tbsp. finely chopped onion
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cayenne
1 6-oz. can tomato paste
3 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tbsp. horseradish
1/2 tsp. black pepper
1/2 tsp. Tabasco

Select desired cut of beef steak for broiling and place into a dish with some lemon juice. Allow steak to marinate for 1 hour. Score meat and top with sauce, then place under hot broiler. Broil steak for desired time, basting from time to time with the above sauce.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

And What About Junior?

DEAR ABBY: As the mother of a high school freshman, I feel our schools are to blame for this demanding attitude displayed by our youth. The accent is on materialism. In the few months my son has attended high school there has been a steady stream of requests for money. He needs track shoes, a student body card, $4 for a year book, drafting instruments, a white sweater for his athletic block letter. My budget exhausted, I told him he would have to wait a while on the sweater. He was so angry he threw his hair brush at me, smeared by bedroom rug with toothpaste and threw a heavy magnet at the kitchen door with all his might. We pay high taxes, and our schools should be supported by those taxes. If students don't come up with all the extras offered, they feel out of it. I also wish to add that I just received notification from the Parents Association that a European tour is being offered next summer for those students who can afford it. I am 37 years old and have never been to Europe, but here's a great opportunity for me to pay $35 a month from here to eternity so that my son may go—at age 15. I'd like your opinion on this materialism instilled in our children.—REDWOOD CITY, CALIF. MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You are twisting the issue. True, it costs much more to go to school today than it did 25 years ago. But everything costs more. And people are earning more, too. Not every boy who wants a school sweater asks his mother for it. I once knew a young man who worked all summer at a Super Market and saved his money. You didn't say what happened after your son threw the hair brush, the magnet and decorated your rug with toothpaste. If all you did was to sit down and write me a letter blaming the schools, you can expect more such violent demonstrations of temper. Only worse. Face it, Mother. Your son is a childish, impatient sorehead. Work on straightening him out first. And then we'll talk about what's wrong with the school system.

DEAR ABBY: Recently on your radio program you called someone down for referring to a crippled person as a "cripple." You suggested the word "handicapped" instead. I must disagree with you. Calling something by another name doesn't change it. Lately morons are referred to as "retarded," insane asylums are called "mental institutions," the poor house is now "The Old People's Residence," drunken bums are alcoholics. And all the nuts are "mentally ill." Name-changing doesn't fool anybody. It's verbal dishonesty! I believe in calling a spade a spade. What do you think is gained by all this double talk?—FOR VERBAL HONESTY

DEAR FOR: If someone close or dear to you were adjudged to be a "moron," or had been committed as insane, or were forced to accept the public care provided for the indigent aged, or were helpless against alcohol, or suffered from a nervous breakdown, would you then practice the "verbal honesty" you preach? Call a spade a spade, if you like, but don't use it to dig into the hearts of others.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Comedy Premieres Thursday

"The Perfect Setup," Jack Sher's spicy comedy, makes its West Coast premiere at Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Ljme Ave., at 8:30 p.m. Thursday for a limited two-weekend engagement, closing Feb. 1.

The comedy deals with the marital mishaps of a young Madison Avenue man caught between his mistress and supposedly devoted wife who has been carrying on on her own.

Starring roles will be played by Ronan Hogue, Caryl Dunavan and Patt Henley, all of whom started their acting careers locally. The girls recently appeared in the Hollywood production of "The Whn Gets Slapped." All three have appeared at Off-Broadway previously in "The Playboy of the Western World," "The Cave Dwellers," "Where's Charley?" "Of Mice and Men" and "Thieves Carnival."

HOGUE DIRECTED the four named plays and also will direct Off-Broadway's production of "Iana La Dnce" scheduled for a February opening.

Patrick Dunavan, who appeared in "The Cave Dwellers" and currently is a film editor for CBS-TV, directs "The Perfect Setup." James Priddy is doing the sets; Gary Shelton will handle lighting.

CONCERT TONIGHT

MANY SIDES OF CHEKHOV

Alexander, Scourly, Jeanette Nolan and Geoffrey Horne mirror the tongue-in-cheek comedy and brooding drama of Chekhov's tragi-comedy, "The Sea Gull," as presented by the University Extension Theater Group at UCLA. The play will run through Feb 9 in Schoenberg Hall on campus; performances begin at 8:30 p. m. The full stage production is directed by John Houseman; costumes are by Dorothy Jenkins.

Cartoon Bill at Museum Thursday

UPA Cartoon Festival (United States) will be shown at Long Beach Museum of Art Thursday at 3 and 8 p.m. There is no admission charge.

In a lighter mood, these color films are good family entertainment. One cartoon, winner of an Academy Award, is "Gerald McBoing Boing," the story by Dr. Seuss of a little boy who didn't say words but went "hoing boing."

Also in the group is "Holsy Footsy" in which Mr. Magoo does the tango with a professional wrestler thinking he is at the Rutgers alumnae ball, and "The Compuls," lively tale of a father (a tuba) who refuses to let his son (a trumpet) play jazz but finally winds up at a swinging jam session.

Other titles are "Ballet Oop," "Christopher Crumpet," "Madeline," "Destination Magoon" and "Georgie and the Dragon."

Recitalist to Perform

First Congregational Church, Third Street and Cedar Avenue, will present George W. Decker of Philadelphia, Pa., in his debut organ recital on the West Coast Tuesday at 8:15 p.m.

Decker recently played recitals in New York City at Trinity Church, Columbia University and St. Thomas Church and was heard at conventions of the American Guild of Organists in New Jersey.

His program Tuesday will include compositions by Bach, Mozart and Dupre. The public is invited. An offering for the church's concert fund will be received.

Preview Tuesday of Symphony Bill

The Long Beach Symphony will play its annual All-Orchestral Concert next Sunday at 8 p.m. in Long

Dr. Bertram C. McGarrity Beach City College Auditorium.

There is no more important concert during the season for the orchestra, which includes professional musicians, businessmen, physicians, teachers, homemakers and students. All live, or are employed, in the Long Beach area. They are performers of talent who have been selected by audition to play under the direction of Lauris Jones.

FOR THIS concert, the orchestra will be the largest the Symphony Association ever has presented. Ten additional wind and percussion players will join regular members of the orchestra.

Concert reservations may be made by phoning the Long Beach Symphony Association, 1935 E. Seventh St. Tickets also are on sale at Humphreys Music Company, 135 E. Third St.

Tuesday morning, a free public preview of the concert will be given in the Sunset Room of Pacific Coast Club. Coffee will be served at 10:30 a.m.

AT 11 O'CLOCK, Dr. Bertram C. McGarrity of Long Beach State College music faculty will discuss the following concert program: "Death and Transfiguration" by Strauss, "Unfinished Symphony" by Schubert, Overture to "Der Freischutz" by Von Weber, and "The Planets" by Holst.

Mr. McGarrity is conductor of LBSC Orchestra and is a composer, musicologist and clarinetist. Currently he is working on the incidental score for John Whiting's play, "Penny for a Tune."

There is no charge for the preview and reservations are not necessary. Those wishing to stay for luncheon afterwards, however, should make reservations with Mrs. Walter Gray, 5540 Las Lomas.

Sta. Monica Auditorium Goes Round

The million dollar Santa Monica Civic Auditorium will be remodeled into a theater-in-the-round and will be known as Westside Civic Light Opera.

Presented by Concerts, Inc., a subsidiary of National General Corporation, the first production, starting June 12, will be "My Fair Lady."

Producers for the new project are Lou Robin and Allen Tinkley; Frank Baldwin is associate producer.

CONTRACTS for the theater reconstruction have been given to R. L. Grosh Co., California Sound and the William C. Todd Lighting Company.

Tinkley and Baldwin said that only top productions and stars will be engaged for the Westside Civic Light Opera. Other shows already committed are "Bye Bye Birdie," "Gypsy," "Sound of Music," "Flower Drum Song" and "Pajama Game." Each will run two weeks.

Season tickets will go on sale Feb. 1 at Santa Monica Civic box office and all ticket agencies.

Exotic Dancers

Sujata and Asoka, exponents of dances of India, Tibet and Japan, will present one performance only Saturday night in Scottish Rite Auditorium, Los Angeles. The husband and wife team have created spectacular dance numbers based on ancient and modern art forms.

Weather Is Film Star

Each Branch Library, 4055 Bellflower Blvd., will present its first 1964 film program at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The weather, in moods alien to the Southland, provides the subject for both films.

Walt Disney's "Storm Called Maria" is the story of man's struggles against a hurricane. "Aspen Winter Mood" combines color, scenic beauty and exciting ski scenes which were photographed in the historic mining town of Aspen, Colorado.

Admission is free.

On Stage---

CHAPEL THEATER, 4164 Pacific Coast Hwy., Torrance. "Desperate Hours," 7:30 p.m. Friday through Sunday, closing Jan. 31; runs through Feb. 29.

LBAA to Open Workshops

By ELISE EMERY Arts News Editor

Bob Click, vice president of Long Beach Art Association, will lecture on "Serigraphy" and demonstrate this silk screen process Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the LBAA gallery, 800 E. Ocean Blvd. He also will discuss print material in general.

Click is a member of the art faculty at Long Beach State College and is known as an authoritative artist on both the local and national levels.

Beginning Monday, Feb. 10 and continuing with Monday sessions through March 2, LBAA will sponsor a series of workshops for painters. Elsa Warner will serve as consultant.

Two groups will be scheduled. The first will meet from 9:30 a.m. to noon; the second from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Sessions will be held in the gallery. Both beginners and experienced artists are invited to participate. Enrollment is limited, however, and the $15 tuition must be paid in advance.

Call the gallery for further information.

BETH WILLIE of La Habra won the top prize of $50 in the current Seal Beach Artists League fifth annual Mosaic Show. Her contemporary panel is entitled "The Seventh Day."

Another first award of $50 in the representational panel category went to Ardieth Addous for "Miracle of the Sea Gulls," depicting the story of the sea gulls in the early days of the Mormon pioneers in Salt Lake Valley.

Other first place winners are William Walker, decorative panels, and Jim Abrecht, round objects.

The show is in Seal Beach Art Center, Ocean Boulevard and Main Avenue, Seal Beach. It is open to the public seven days a week from 1 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m.

LAKEWOOD ART Association will install officers Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Mayfair Park Clubhouse.

On the new board will be Louise James, president; Bill Williams, Al Dawson, Thelma Wickstrom, Wanda Pollick, Al Kramsky, Sheldon Higgins, Beverly Schriber and Pete Steyl.

THE 18TH ANNUAL exhibit of the Print Makers Society of California, which has been on display since the first of the year at the Main Library in Lincoln Park, will close Saturday.

AT THEIR January meeting, members of Spectrum Club installed these new officers: Robert K. Peck, pres-

Casting Monday at Community

Four women past middle age and an elderly man are the main characters sought in tryouts to be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday for "Breath of Spring," unusual comedy to open in March at Community Playhouse, 5021 E. Anaheim St. The women have markedly different personalities, one gaunt with booming voice, one pretty and elegant, one with tremendous vitality, and one small and untidy. The man has a military bearing and background. A pretty young woman and two men for policeman roles complete the cast.

Opera Concerts

Joan Sutherland, renowned coloratura soprano, will star in two performances of Rossini's "Semiramide" in concert version Jan. 29 and 30 in Philharmonic Auditorium, Los Angeles. Richard Bonyngue will conduct.

Monday, Marilyn Horne, soprano, will star in Gluck's "Iphigenia in Tauris," directed by Henry Lewis.

Ident; R. Saunders Bagby, F. W. Eifert and M. P. Tosso Jr.

The president is appointing chairmen of various committees. The club will encourage monthly sketch programs and is making preparations for the annual Ladies Night banquet and for participation in Long Beach Hobby Show.

THE FIRST American exhibition of 18th century drawings from the Correr Museum in Venice, Italy, will open at Los Angeles County Museum Wednesday. The 120 drawings by 42 artists will be on view through Feb. 16.

According to Ebrja Feinblatt, curator of prints and drawings at the museum, the works "define the transition from the Venetian baroque to the rococo and herald the style of early 19th century movements in Europe."

The museum also has announced that the tremendously popular "Master Works of Mexican Art" exhibit will be extended through Feb. 23.

This exhibit, largest and probably the greatest exhibition to be seen in Los Angeles, is having its only United States showing at the museum.

PAINTINGS, drawings, prints and sculpture on the universal theme "Mother and Child in Modern Art" may be seen at Los Angeles Municipal Art Gallery in Barnsdall Park until Feb. 2.

The 50 works are by 48 artists who include Henry Moore, Salvador Dali, Pablo Picasso, Marc Chagall, Paul Gauguin and Henri Matisse. Each artist is represented by a single work with the exception of Moore, who has a sculpture and a color lithograph, and Picasso, who has a painting and a drawing.

The gallery is open from 1 to 9 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays; it is closed Mondays.

REGISTRATION for new classes in Palos Verdes Community Arts Association's workshops will take place Monday, Tuesday, Saturday and Feb. 1 at 2215 Via Anacapa, Lunada Bay, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A variety of courses are offered. Further information may be had by writing to PVCAA, Box 1051, Palos Verdes Estates.

OTIS ART INSTITUTE of Los Angeles County, 2401 Wilshire Blvd., will hold its first biennial Invitational Drawing Exhibition Thursday through March 8.

Predicted Great Career for Costa

L. P. T. Music Critic

It is something of a personal triumph for a hard working music critic to have some of his predictions come true. On Oct. 26, 1959, I wrote a review of the opera "La Boheme" given by the San Francisco Opera Company at the Shrine Auditorium—and one prophetic paragraph is as follows:

"Mary Costa, singing the role of Musetta for the first time in her home town, made a tremendous impression. In fact, she stopped the show in the second act. Her acting was full of vitality and spirit. She is beautiful to look at and her full soprano voice had a glorious quality. This girl will bring future laurels to Southern California."

On Nov. 2, 1960, I wrote: "There is a joyous vibrancy that is contagious about Mary Costa. She had only to walk upon the stage and there was an avalanche of applause. A vibrant feeling of warmth and friendliness pervaded her so that all eyes followed every move she made. Her characterization of the role of Musetta is incomparable. When her luscious soprano voice poured forth voluptuously in the Waltz Song the show stopped as the applause thundered. Mary Costa will become one of our greatest opera singers."

AND NOW, on Jan. 7 of this year, the Press-Telegram carried an Associated Press story of Mary Costa's debut at the Metropolitan Opera on Jan. 6 in the role of Violetta in Verdi's "La Traviata."

"New York . . . Mary Costa, a dazzling blonde soprano, who has starred at the San Francisco Opera for five seasons, scored a triumph Monday night in her Metropolitan Opera debut."

"Miss Costa gave the role a particular fascination of verve and beauty matched with a coloratura that seemed capable of almost all of Verdi's demands. She displayed the confidence of a veteran in a role that might have been written for her. Manager Rudolf Bing will have to make more room for her next season. A new Met star, reminiscent of the young Eleanor Steber, has been born."

ON AUG. 26, 1959, I wrote a glowing review of a young American conductor, Thomas Schippers, in part as follows:

"Thomas Schippers, guest conductor with the Los Angeles Philharmonic at the Hollywood Bowl was acclaimed by a large audience with thunderous applause and shouts of enthusiasm. And rightly so, for this man is a conductor genius. The powers that be would do well to engage him as a permanent conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra."

In Time magazine of Oct. 18, 1963, four years after my "discovery," an article on Thomas Schippers has this to say in part:

"In what Metropolitan Manager Rudolf Bing calls 'The Schippers Festival,' the young conductor will lead the orchestra in at least 36 performances of four operas. After his triumphant debut at Bayreuth last summer Schippers was offered the directorship of two European opera houses. He is now established as the best conductor of opera yet born in America."

'Woman of the Year' Mends Dolls, Helps Handicapped

By MARY NETH

Toy chest cast-offs have proven a treasure chest for Realtors Wives "Woman of the Year."

She's Mrs. Stephen Hemmi, 3366 Cerritos Ave., and she runs the doll shop at Goodwill Industries.

It's quite a place—a big room crammed with a huge jumble of cartons and packing cases and tables all piled high with parts and pieces of dolls—stuffed ones, wooden ones, huge walkers, tiny miniatures.

In this crush of broken playthings, Mrs. Hemmi works a magic that recently resulted in a new truck for Goodwill—plus additional equipment for its 160 handicapped employees.

FOR 12 YEARS she has volunteered her time to putting dolls back on playroom shelves. Under her direction, Goodwill doll sales have become a booming business for the industry's charity work.

"We supply all six area stores with renewed dolls," says Mrs. Hemmi. "We also send dolls to Toy Loan in Los Angeles (where little girls can check out a Betsy Westy—adopt her if they prove good mothers) and to children's wards of various hospitals."

The salvaged dolls are first washed, then checked for missing parts, repaired, dressed and priced at about one-third new value. Even the stuffing on unfixed cloth dolls is used. Mrs. Hemmi sends it on to the women at the Terminal Island prison where they use it to make stuffed toys of their own design.

"I DO EVERYTHING but the sewing," says Mrs. Hemmi, "and there's lots to do. Each month 15 or so members of Goodwill Auxiliary come in and lend a hand, but even so the shop's two permanent workers and I find we're faced with a never-ending array of dolls to redo."

Mrs. Hemmi, who "never played with dolls as a little girl," became interested in the work through her mother, who helped out for a while at a local doll hospital.

"Through that introduction, I began collecting,"

Betrothal Revealed

Engagement of Jerrilyn Johnson to Lt. (j.g.) Martin B. McNair, USNR, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. A. Johnson, Long Beach.

The bride-elect, granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James McNulty, was graduated from UCLA where she was a member of Cal Club, Prytaneean and Kappa Kappa Gamma. She is affiliated with Junior League of Long Beach.

HER FIANCE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bennett McNair, Long Beach, was graduated from UC, Berkeley, where he was a member of Sigma Nu, Order of Golden Bear and C. Society. The wedding will take place Feb. 15.

Now she has more than 500 dolls at home including many valuable antiques and is president of Long Beach Doll Collectors' Club.

A FEW YEARS ago Mrs. Hemmi added to her growing selection of unusual dolls while on a trip to Europe. There she searched through antique shops in London and Paris for dolls of distinction—found some. Among those in her collection of particular value is a Parians (white bisque doll) from about 1840.

The adult fascination for dolls? It's a collecting interest that grows like any other—stamps, china, buttons. Once you get started you can't stop.

But, beside that, Mrs. Hemmi also admits these let's-pretend creatures have a certain magic. "I completely lose track of time when I'm here at the shop," she says.

The work is fun and the goal—dolls for little girls who wouldn't have them otherwise—is exciting."

Rico Lebrun's Work in Major Exhibition

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

A major exhibition of the works of Rico Lebrun will be at the Pavilion Gallery, Balboa, through February 15. Sponsoring groups, the Fine Arts Patrons of Newport Harbor and the Newport Harbor Service League, open the gallery for public viewing: Wednesdays through Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m.

Lebrun draws, rather than paints, in wash and line; color is incidental; his forms loom into existence in black and white. His subject is always Man; actually, most frequently, woman. His involvement with forms and their relationships has led him (I would venture to say, forced him) to come to grips with form in three dimensions; into sculpture.

Lebrun's monumental art exists on its own, however, without any other reference. The Balboa show begins with "Figure in a Dust Storm" of 1936 and "Dying Horse" of 1939 which presages the direction of his works will take. Two portraits, "Portrait of Kate Lawson" and "Seated Clown" are non-abstract; after this, facial features and individual characteristics give way to the movement of the whole form to express human agony.

TWO MAJOR works, "The Crucifixion" at Yale and "Genesis" at Pomona College, provide subjects for many of the works in the present show. "Buchenwald" is another preoccupation of Lebrun; in this series, dismembered human forms are composed into awesome statements of inhumanity.

Lebrun brings to his statements about Man today a long tradition of European romantic painting; his subject is Man in the agony and glory of his flesh.

THE achievements of the allied volunteer groups which have, in a short period, brought one magnificent show after another to the Southern California public, are gaining wide recognition. This show, accompanied by an excellent catalogue, will go on to Portland.

NEXT WEEK

Harold Lloyd is having the time of his life introducing his comedies—some of them 40 years old—to a new generation of people who like to laugh. And while he's doing it he has a few things to say about the old silent films and the comedians who made them great. Watch for "The Golden Age of Comedy" in next week's Southland.

WHAT A REPORTER SAW... AND HEARD

Behind Those Riots in Panama

By Hoyt McAfee

FIDEL CASTRO
... His agitators are busy ...

ONE DAY after the John F. Kennedy assassination in Dallas, about 30 Castro-trained agitators met quietly at a rendezvous in Panama City. Out of that secret huddle came a sinister blueprint for disruptive action. It was clearly designed to embarrass the new "Yanqui imperialist President" (Lyndon Johnson) in the eyes of Latin-American nations in particular and the world in general.

As conceived and approved by the plotters, each member of the band would circulate among Panamanian students, political hotheads, and "Yanqui" haters and seek to inflame their prejudices further. Stripped to its essence, this clandestine campaign was a high-voltage pitch to end America's sole control and ownership of the Panama Canal and give Panama "final authority" over that waterway.

In Panama City back-street cafes, clubs, and at student rallies, this reporter from Long Beach heard other Castro-indoctrinated agents spew their poison and hate. Disguised as "trade specialists" and "traveling scholars," they stepped up their campaign one day after President Johnson's first address before a joint session of Congress.

THEIR INTENT, as they revealed in their inflammatory "pep talks," was to create—or seize upon—a provocative incident and manipulate it in such a way as to make the "Yanquis" look like brutal aggressors in the eyes of the world. And, also, try to evoke an outpouring of global sympathy for Panama and "her rightful claim to full control over the Panama Canal."

There it was—out in the open. Anyone who understood Spanish, as I did, caught the full import of the insidious scheme. Two Panamanian friends—themselves sincere believers in the most cordial relations between the U.S. and Panama—escorted me to a dozen or so of the "end-the-Yanqui-control-of-the-Panama-Canal-Zone" rallies.

It embarrassed—and infuriated—them to listen to the poisonous charges and utterances of the Castro-inspired agents. Accordingly, they hesitated to explain: "We have freedom of speech here in Panama, just as you have in your U.S.A. Which means that we, too, must suffer our share of crackpots, fanatics, and political agitators."

"BUT WE THINK these Castro agitators are an insult to our country. Sadly, though, our government has hesitated to expel them and bar their return to Panama. Even worse, hundreds of Panamanians are paying more and more attention to the Castro-trained agitators and to an uncontrollable pitch. These are dangerous people to have in our midst. We've protested their presence to the Foreign Minister and Interior Minister, but without any noteworthy results."

It was in the company of these public-spirited Panamanian friends that I heard Castro-oriented rabble-rousers pour out their venom at clubs, student rallies, and in back-street cafes. Looking around discreetly, I spotted not one American intelligence agent at the fan-the-hate gatherings.

RECENT EVENTS have proved that to be a true assessment. From my own fact-gathering rounds in Panama, I'm convinced that U.S. intelligence agents there slipped into a siesta-like trance and let Castro-loving agitators pull a fast one on them. Higher-up American officials and top Panamanian government leaders also fell into a booby trap—one deftly planted by Red-inspired agents from Cuba and Russia.

After prowling around Panama City and surrounding areas, one inescapable fact struck me forcibly: Panama City now ranks with West Berlin, Hong Kong, Paris, Washington, D.C., and the United Nations in New York as one of the world's foremost espionage centers. In recent months, in fact, Panama City has become a beehive and hotbed of political intrigue and international spying activity.

Castro agents, Russian agents, and agents from Red China (from there, too!) swarm all over the place—in clever disguises, of course. In the specific instances already cited in this piece, the Castro-prompted agents boldly shed their "cover roles" and built a fire underneath Panamanian student and other extremist groups. With the upshot that they were ready to go roaring into the streets and commit acts of mob violence on the slightest provocation.

AS FOR THE action of American students in hoisting the American flag at Balboa High School, it definitely was ill-considered and unfortunate. It turned out to be just the kind of opening—or incident—the Castro-trained manipulators, hovering in the wings like vultures hungry for a feast, had been hoping and waiting for.

Functioning with trained precision, they swept into action—and within hours riots, mob violence, and bloodshed erupted in Panama City, alongside the Canal Zone, and in Colon. I know that the Castro-influenced agitators responded exactly in that fashion: because late last November and early December, I heard them declare their intentions of doing so—at an opportune psychological moment!

Here I'm recounting what I heard and witnessed in Panama last fall. I had gone there to probe, listen, and cull information for a series of magazine articles on "Panama City—Latin America's Capital of Espionage and Intrigue." By prowling widely, invading murky dens, observing closely, and drawing out numerous political firebrands, I was able to gauge the extent of international spying in Panama.

Well-placed, fair-minded, and perceptive Panamanian friends rounded out the picture for me. U.S. intelligence sources told me all they could, "off the record." Astonishingly, however, I found too many of the American intelligence officials inclined to scoff at, or minimize, the role of known or suspected Castro agents afoot in Panama.

IN CONVERSATIONS with me, two key American officials described them as "bunglers and braggarts"—and "much like the flies which alight on a horse's rump." They added: "Small numbers of malcontents will listen to them, shout encouragement, and hurl insults at the hated Yanquis. But"—the American intelligence men reminded me—"some of Panama's office-seekers in every national Presidential election are just as zealous in making a whipping boy of the U.S. and our control of the Panama Canal."

In short, U.S. intelligence agents seemed to think that Castro agitators could do little harm to America's position and its interests in Panama.

TRUSTWORTHY Panamanian friends—all of them well-informed indeed—told me worriedly: "These Castro-trained manipulators keep slipping into Panama. By a conservative estimate, there are 120 to 125 of them in the Panama City area alone! They know where all the sensitive spots and unhealed wounds of the Panamanian character are—and exactly how to inflame them."

"As experts in political intrigue, agitation, and espionage, they know where to place snipers during a riot and how to incite mob fury

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Information needed on the Scotch MELDRUM family of Meldrum Castle, who died out long ago.—F.W., Lakewood.

E.W.: MELDRUM originated from the Scotch Gaelic words Mael-Druim meaning "bare ridge," the original home site of this old family. The village of Old Meldrum, where their estates were, is 21 miles from Aberdeen. Fyvie Castle, owned by the Meldrums, passed out of their hands when William Scaton of a famous Lowland Scotch clan married the Meldrum heiress in 1440. The Meldrum shield is silver, emblazoned with an otter issuing from a wavy horizontal black stripe.

DEAR MISS RULE: What have you on LEWELLING and LIEUALLEN — D.M., E.L., Long Beach.

D.M., E.L.: LEWELLING and LIEUALLEN are variations of the Welsh surname Llewellyn. This lineage are modern descendants of an early Celtic-Welsh leader called Llyw-Ellun, meaning "King-like one." Family ancestors include Llewellyn, Lord of Yale in the 1100s and Llewellyn the Great, King of Wales, who died in 1240. The family shield is red, crossed by three silver chevrons.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly analyze BARABAS. — K.B., Compton.

K.B.: BARABAS is a Spanish surname commemorating the Biblical insurgent called Barabbas. This ancient Hebrew name deciphered as "son of the Father."

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the data on LITRELL. — R. L., L. G., Long Beach.

R. L., L. G.: LITRELL is an English form of an old obscure French surname. The source name was "Littrell" in early medieval France. This traces to a clerk's nickname, Littrell, meaning "young letter-writer."

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give genealogy on VAN DORN.—M. V., Bellflower.

M.V.: VAN DORN is Dutch, shortened from the original surname Van Doorn. This family is believed to have originated at the town of Doorn, Holland, located nine miles from the noted city of Utrecht. Doorn means "place of thorn bushes." To this was coupled the Dutch term "Van" meaning "from." The family shield is silver, emblazoned with a green tree sprouting two branches in the form of an "X."

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain BRISSENDEN.—C. B., Long Beach.

C. B.: BRISSENDEN is a rare old English name with a locational source, a formation of "Breas-ing-Dene" which in archaic Celtic English referred to "valley owned by the Great's One's family." No shield is recorded for Brissenden.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please publish data on BROCK. — J. J., Long Beach.

A First Soft Ball

By Elsa DeBra

FOR A LONG time we believed that the earth is flattened at the poles, but now scientists tell us that it might even be pear-shaped.
That's all very well for an immense ball, whirling through space, but for playing a ball must be perfectly round.

Shown is a simple playing ball, suitable for the very young in their first back-yard games.

For the center, use a small,
solid rubber ball — like a bouncy jack ball, or larger.
Wrap firmly and evenly with twine until ball measures about 5 inches in circumfer-ence. Now use odds and ends of woolen yarn, any size and color for the rest of the wrapping, until ball measures about 9½ inches around. Finished, the ball should be 10 inches.

For the last over-all wrapping, use your brightest yarn
—orange, red, yellow or brilliant green—to cover completely the colors underneath.
When ready to break off yarn,
tuck the end under securely.
You may want to re-wind this last layer to insure a perfect sphere. It takes a little practice.

NOW FOR the finish—the decorative touch. Thread a large darning needle with dark colored twine or nylon

Of German origin, the soft ball illustrated here is durable, a challenge to make and safe for a tiny tot.

yarn. Begin at the north pole of the ball and make a row
of spread-out blanket stitch, using the pole as center. Now make row after row, graduated, as shown. By the time you arrive at the equator your stitches have a spread of about three-quarters of an inch. Next do the lower half of the ball, decreasing your stitch spacing as you reach the south pole. This blanket stitching makes a firm, protective covering and adds

design and color to the toy.

Your child will like this ball
because it's light in weight, and so round—a little world
in his hands—but most of all because the youngster saw you fashion it.

Jewels ignite coifs at night

... necklaces, earrings
and clips set hair aflame

Sunday, January 19, 1964

NECKLACES, PINS—even bracelets and earrings—lead double lives when worn fetchingly in hair. Here Gitan DeVeglio wears splashy bib necklace in exotic manner of Far East. All hair styles by Rafael; models courtesy of Wilma Hastings.

By Mary Ellis Carlton
Southland Fashion Editor

ALL THAT GLITTERS is not gold . . . sometimes it's diamonds, pearls, rubies, emeralds, what-have-you . . . sometimes real, most often frankly fake. And this season, quite elegantly, they're found woven, laced, draped and wreathed in milady's coif for evening. It's the newest way to add sparkle to a night on the town . . . to ignite, excite, dramatize fashion's simple elegance. The lady with derring-do does it with necklaces, earrings, clips, bracelets—even rings.

Inspired by this new upward sweep to elegance for evening, local hair stylist Rafael fashioned these coiffures destined to set the rage of sorcery with jewelry, bold and dazzling, for a truly crowning glory.

FLIGHTS OF FANCY . . . model Pat Kurtz's coif with just-for-evening postiche swirls high, is wreathed by rhinestone necklace, garlanded by rhinestone pin.

THERE'S A RANSOM (of jewels) on her hair. Gay Harris' high-rise poof is draped with brilliant pendant necklace, is outlined with swirl of a brooch.

Twelve average men and/or women of the community will occupy these seats of justice to hear trial evidence, later to render a verdict—the "true route of democracy." Scene: a Long Beach courtroom, set up for trial.

That Justice May Be Done

By Bob Schmidt

"JUSTICE, SIR," said Daniel Webster, "is the great interest of man on earth."

And to a great many people in this country—a million and a half each year—justice and its rendering becomes an immediate and highly personal interest.

Those million and a half Americans will have served as jurors.

Citizenship confers on its holders abundant privileges, including the almost taken-for-granted right to trial by jury.

But that same citizenship also confers obligations, and one of these, it follows, is jury duty.

Why not a single, learned judge to make judgments, instead of a jury possessed of counteracting combinations of youth and of age, of naivete and of sophistication, of foolishness and of wisdom?

THE UNITED STATES Supreme Court, speaking of trial by jury, has said:

"Twelve men of the average of the community, comprising men whose learning consists only in what they have themselves seen and heard; the merchant, the mechanic, the farmer, the laborer; these sit together, consult, apply their experience of the affair of life to the facts proven and draw a conclusion. This average judgment thus given, it is the great effort of the law to obtain. It is assumed that 12 men know more of the common affairs of life than does one man."

Trial by jury, considered to be a fundamental bulwark of our democratic way of life, was originated, surprisingly, as the tool of a tyrant.

William the Conqueror, nearly 900 years ago, ordered the conscription of 12 men in each English village and manor to reveal, under oath, exactly what property each of the neighbors possessed, so that those neighbors could be taxed.

The oath-takers were known as "juratores."

But, as property disputes arose, citizens began asking juries to settle them, to decide who owned what. The idea of trial by jury fastened itself so firmly to men's minds that in the year 1215 the following paragraph was included in one of man's most revered documents, the Magna Carta:

"NO FREE MAN shall be imprisoned or outlawed or in any way destroyed except by the legal judgment of his peers and by the law of the land."

And so the jury, founded under oppression and certified by revolution, was accepted as an inherent right of man, and is so accepted today in lands where democracy exists.

Although qualifications for jury service differ from state to state, county to county, and even city to city, there are some generally accepted standards. A juror must be a citizen of the United States and of the age of 21 years or more. In Los Angeles County, he must have been a resident of the county for one year immediately before being selected for jury service.

He must be in possession of his mental faculties, of ordinary intelligence, of good health, and of a sufficient knowledge of the English language.

JURORS TODAY are called upon to try two kinds of cases. The first, civil, usually involves a dispute over property or service, boiling down, in most instances, to an argument over money.

The second, criminal, involves persons accused of violating the law.

In Long Beach, citizens are called to serve on panels for the Municipal Court and the Superior Court. The Superior Court hears the more serious civil and criminal cases, and draws its jury panel from the voters' registration polls of the judicial area it serves.

The Municipal Court hears civil cases where less than $5,000 is involved and misdemeanor criminal cases, and draws its jury panel from the voters' registration rolls of the City of Long Beach.

Joe Raycraft, presiding judge of the Superior Court in Long Beach for four years, explains that each year many thousands of names are drawn by lot from the voting register and summoned to report for a qualifying examination.

AFTER A SIMPLE examination and interviews by jury commissioners, a great many people are excused for one reason or another and the remaining names, about 1,500 in the Long Beach area, are compiled and certified as trial jurors for the next calendar year.

Each month, about 150 of these remaining names are drawn by lot, and these are notified to appear at 8 a. m. on the first court day of the next month.

In the Los Angeles Superior Court, jurors serve every day for one month, but in Long Beach, they serve every other day for two months, with a new panel sworn in each month.

Judge Raycraft feels there is value in blending the new jurors with the experienced jurors, so that each day's panel is comprised of half of each.

In the Long Beach Municipal Court, too, old and new jurors are blended. Here, jurors are called as needed, and serve until they have spent a total of 20 days in the jury box.

When the new Superior Court panel reports on the first court day of the month, its members are given a juror's handbook and a lecture by the presiding judge on what their duties are.

THE JURORS are told something about the trial process, about what evidence is, about the reason and necessity for not discussing the case they are hearing or forming opinions until they have formally begun deliberations.

They are told not to play amateur detective, not to visit the scene of the accident or alleged crime and not to attempt an investigation of their own by any other means.

They are told to regard as evidence only that

When it's time to consider the evidence and draw a conclusion of the case—the fundamental bulwark of our democratic way of life—the 12 veniremen will retire to this jury room, also a Long Beach facility.

The Race Is On for

the Riches of the Seas

By Frank Black

First ship ever outfitted for deep-sea mineral prospecting, the former 800-ton, 180-foot MV Rockeater was converted for her new role at the Craig Shipyard in Long Beach. She'll be used to explore seas for diamonds.

TO REAP the riches of the last frontier on earth—the oceans that cover over 70 per cent of this planet's surface—man is not only sacrificing his life but he is coming up with some weird machines that are as ingenious as anything the moonbound lads are constructing.

The deaths more than a year ago of two divers in the Catalina Channel underline just how high the stakes are in what is becoming a scramble for the riches of the oceans.

The two men died—one directly and the other indirectly—in an attempt to prove that it was possible for a free-swimming diver breathing specially prepared gases to explore from a diving bell the ocean floor up to depths of 1,000 feet.

While a free-swimming diver working the bottom riches is still a long way off, there have been many strange devices developed for this purpose.

THE FAMED Capt. Cousteau has developed the Soucoupe. This is a crab-like diving saucer that can explore down to 1,000 feet with the aid of observation ports, cameras and mechanical arms.

The U. S. government has built two unusual submarines which should be in operation soon. One is a two-man vessel with the unlikely nautical name of "Alvin." This craft will be capable of probing to the 5,000-foot level.

With a name more in keeping with this scientific age, the other craft is called the "Aluminant." Sausaged-shaped and constructed of aluminum, it will carry three men and reach depths of 15,000 feet.

Actually, the first deep-diving machine was developed in the 1930s by William Beebe who plunged to a depth of 3,280 feet in his steel ball or bathysphere.

THEN IN 1960, the Trieste, a bathyscaph developed by Jacques Piccard, dropped into the Pacific Ocean's Challenger Deep to a depth of 35,630.

From the Trieste has come a whole new line of deep diving vessels with closed circuit television cameras and grasping arms that will surely frighten the wits out of the denizens of the deep.

In exploring the awesome depths beyond the 1,000-foot depth of the continental shelves, scientists are making their preliminary probes with highly sensitive echo sounding reflectors and refractors mounted on surface ships. These instruments are right now the most reliable for examining the far depths, especially the vertical structure of the ocean floor.

The Sparker, developed by Alpine Geophysical Associates, Inc., is perhaps one of the most advanced of these instruments. Used recently to back up core samplings of tin deposits on the bottom of the Gulf of Siam near the city of Phuket in Thailand, the Sparker profiled the sea floor for the scientists and gave them exact readings of the thickness of the sedimentary material blanketing the tin deposits.

BASED ON the simple principle of the echo, Sparker discharges an electrical spark which blasts out a high-level, wide frequency sound pulse to the ocean floor and into the lower layers of rock. Echoes are picked up by a hydrophone towed by a surface ship and are relayed to an instrument that diagrams a cross section of the earth below the ocean floor.

To examine the strata at greater depths, the company has developed a booster sound source called the Gas Exploder. It works on a mixture of propane and oxygen and is set off by a small spark in a combustion chamber towed by the surface vessel. The explosion is so powerful that it can reach the deepest mineral deposits.

This type of sonic equipment has already been used to explore coal deposits off the coast of England, iron deposits off Labrador and oil deposits along coast of the United States.

Compared to the money spent by our government on space exploration, the sums spent on underwater exploration are infinitesimal, although the administration announced recently that it would spend around $2.3 billion on oceanographic research over the next 10 years.

WHY THE SEA bottom is considered by many scientists to be the last frontier on earth is apparent from some of the estimates of the riches down there.

located diamond deposits off the west coast of South Africa that hold twice the value of the gem resources still in the De Beers famed diggings. Collins' findings so rattled the world monopoly diamond company of De Beers that it tied the Texan up tight with a $2.8 million loan. Three years ago De Beers had turned down a partnership in Collins' Marine Diamond Co. but snapped to financial attention as soon as MD dredged up 60,000 carats or $2 million worth of diamonds.

Just recently Collins had a former Army light freighter converted into a diamond exploring ship at Craig Shipyard in the Port of Long Beach at a cost of $750,000 to be used along the coast of South Africa.

MOVIES

'Cinderella, 1964!'

"I SIMPLY hate that name," the Method Body said.

Movie town hung that sobriquet on Chris Noel when she came out of nowhere, completely inexperienced at film acting, to walk off with the romantic role opposite Steve McQueen in the Jackie Gleason-McQueen starrer, "Soldier in the Rain."

But then the tag was sort of inevitable.

Producer Martin Jurov had interviewed exactly 10 candidates for the part in the Allied Artists movie and had screen-tested exactly 10. No luck.

"WHERE are today's young Lana Turners and Linda Darnells?" he wanted to know. "The new girls are all 'Method' actresses now"—a reference to the so-called "Method" cult of histrionics, which bases its approach on soul-searching psychological principles: "What I'm looking for is a Method body."

So when he came up with Chris, the delighted town just naturally bestowed the title. But she can't blame Hollywood if on her it looks good. She seems to have educated her physique down in Florida as a champion baton-twirler and as winner of 15 beauty contests, including the "Miss Palm Beach" affair. Then she went to New York and became a Madison Avenue model, rated in the top six.

She was visiting Hollywood on vacation when Jurov met her and arranged screen test No. 11, which ended the competition for the plum "Soldier in the Rain" role. MGM has placed her under long-term contract and is grooming her for stardom.

She's a native of Florida's West Palm Beach, a blonde with a 36-23½-35 figure and blue-green eyes that slant slightly upward.

REAL NAME: Sandra Noel. A New York model agency told her it sounded "phony" and changed the Sandra to Chris after first trying "Elizabeth Barrett" on her.

"But 'the Method Body,'" she said, stamping a foot, "is the limit!"

Gleason has his own name for her. "Meet the 1964-model Cinderella," he says, explaining: "That's Cinderella with p'zazz."

Chris is an ex-baton champion making her film debut in Allied Artists' "Soldier in the Rain."

You Ask We Answer

By Hoskin

Q. Why are bridges compared as to length of span instead of total length? W. A.

A. The length of the longest single span (distance between supports) is usually used as basis for comparison because overall length has little meaning. Theoretically, it is possible to construct approaches of almost unlimited length to a bridge which is in itself quite unimportant. The Golden Gate Bridge, for example, is a comparatively short bridge of only 6,450 feet, including its two anchor spans—yet it is world-famous because of its central unsupported span length of 4,200 feet, the longest clear channel span in the world.

Q. How old were the ancient lotus seeds which were found some years ago in the Far East, and germinated? D. O'N.

A. In 1951, plant pathologist Horace V. Wester of the National Park Service successfully germinated two lotus seeds which had been found in a peat bog in Manchuria. A radio-carbon test on similar seeds taken later from the same deposit showed these seeds were between 830 and 1,250 years old.

Q. Does the greenish film that sometimes collects on statues do any harm to the metal? M. F.

A. No. The natural patina which forms on copper and bronze after long exposure to the atmosphere often has a distinct artistic value, and in addition it protects the metal from further oxidation. Not all patinas are a greenish color; some are red, black, and of varying hues, depending on the composition of the metal and its location.

Q. Are people reading more than they used to? R. E.

A. In a recent survey of the larger public libraries of the United States, the American Library Association found that adult book circulation has increased almost 30 percent in five years.

Q. What is a "cycloid curve?" J. H.

A. A cycloid curve is "the path traveled by a point on a circle as the circle rolls along a straight line." To visualize a cycloid curve, imagine a spot of red paint on the rim of a wheel which is rolling along a straight line. As the wheel moves, the red spot moves in a path which is called a cycloid curve. The cycloid is one of the most celebrated of special curves.

Rustic family room is a pleasant change from the formal dining room of the revised plan of the Bill W. Maddox home. Remodeling, on a do-it-yourself basis, has added a wealth of family living to this tract dwelling. The family room is shown above, and new front at upper right.

Beauty,

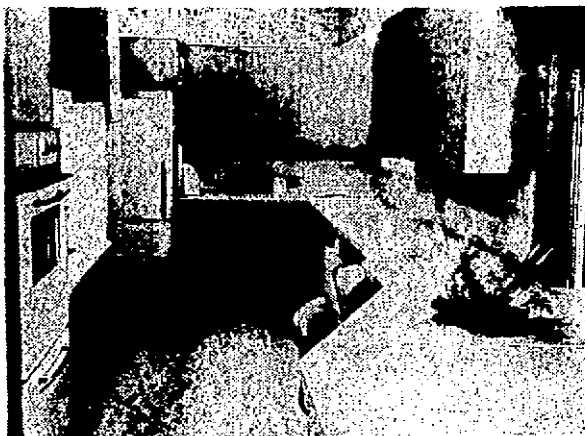

Function via Do-It-Yourself

By Diane George

FIVE years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Bill W. Maddox, 6240 Fairbrook Ave., had an average tract home. Now they have remodeled it, entirely by themselves, so that it appears custom-built. Passersby often stop to admire the exterior veneered from ground to roof in brick which continues to form a long planter down to the sidewalk.

An unusual idea was transferring the garage door around the corner from side to front and installing brick in its place. A professionally landscaped lawn covers the old driveway in front of the Considerable planning and a good-sized chunk of the remodeling budget went into revamping the kitchen.

Peacock coloring themes the living room. The curved sofa is off-white. Wall plaques are of unique African design.

house, with half of the porch converted into a planter. The rest of the porch was made into an entry hall. At the right of the entry is a stained glass window in shades of amber, at the left a convenient cedar closet.

One side of the entry hall is paneled in walnut which is carried down one wall in the living room. Styled in Danish modern, the living room has a comfortable but formal atmosphere, enhanced by walnut tables and a stereo set. An off-white curved sofa in one corner stands in front of long drapes in the same hue, with a white marble coffee table and large round lamps adding to the modern air. A brass and white hanging lamp over the sofa adds an elegant touch, while a large green plant in another corner brightens the room.

The color scheme, peacock and orange, is carried throughout the house. Wall-to-wall carpeting in the living room and hall is peacock, with peacock in the sofa pillows, the candles in the white scones on the wall, a lamp base, and African wall plaques.

ENTRY TO the kitchen from the living room is through two tall, gold filigree screens which appear to be metallic, but actually are pressed wood in a design of birds—peacocks—tied in with the color scheme. Gold etchings by Lionel Barrymore can be seen on the wall through the screens.

The Maddoxes have put more money and time into the re-designing of their kitchen-dinette than in any other area. The all-electric kitchen has magnetic touch, built-in, ash wood cabinets. Electric units for mixers, can openers, etc., are built into the yellow tile, and the yellow appliances are built in the wall. Thus, the effect is uncluttered spaciousness—a housewife's dream. Orange chairs surround the tile bar, while an orange lobster is imprinted on the tile above the stove.

This entire section of the home can be closed off from the rest of the house by a wood pella sliding door (where a wall, used to be), in an accordion fashion. However, when it is open, the kitchen area becomes a part of the family room ahead, since the tan montina corlon floor extends throughout both rooms.

THE RUSTIC family room affords a pleasant change from the formal living room. A yellow  $\frac{3}{4}$  bathroom is off to one side. The walls are in knotty pine, the same shade as the ash in the kitchen, adorned by knickknacks and conversation pieces such as an old-fashioned telephone and Mrs. Maddox's salt and pepper collection. To carry out the family's favorite color, they have placed orange pillows, stools, a lamp and large ash tray in this room. A clinker brick fireplace at the end of the room (which can be seen from the living room) lends a warm atmosphere. The room is complete with a library and a television.

The Maddox boys, ages 7 and 17, step down to their bedroom off the family room. Also in knotty pine, this room is a brand new addition to the home. The built-in drawers and adjustable shelves are in ash, with white brick above one desk. White formica covers the tops of desks and bureaus. The beds form an "L" shape against one corner. The orange in the room is in the bedspreads, candy-stripe carpeting of orange and peacock, and in wall decorations. The boys are fortunate to have their own TV here.

THE LONG white hall to the left of the living room leads to two more bedrooms. The master bedroom is done in bone white and peacock, with birch furniture, including a television.

The 12-year-old daughter's bedroom is in the stages of being redecorated. When completed, it will have antique white furniture and curtains, with a powder-blue bedspread and carpeting. There is a bathroom across from the two bedrooms, with tile, sink, and tub in light aqua, which blends well with the powder and peacock blue of the bedrooms.

Off left from the hall is a guest room. With two bone white walls and one in ash, print wallpaper, it does not seem to be just an extra room; it still fits in with the decor of the home.

Outside House Painting Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is Fiberglas FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every Fiberglas FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking, or peeling.

Fiberglas, a product of Owens-Corning, brings to FLEXON its great strength, its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather, and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest, tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

SHOT FROM A GUN

FLEXON is applied with special heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without mess, fuss or odor. FLEXON fuses itself to the wall and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects.

Every Home Should Have One

By Herb Shannon

PROBLEM: An open-plan house in which a short hallway off the living room led directly to a bathroom. While the architect's design apparently placed function first, it contributed nothing to gracious living, exposing the array of sanitary fixtures to the entire living room each time the bathroom door was opened.

SOLUTION: A sliding door, built into cabinet work surrounding the entrance to the hallway.

BETTER SOLUTION: Make the sliding door useful in more than one way by building it to the same depth as the surrounding cabinets so it serves as a magazine rack as well.

The second solution, which was chosen in this case, provides some unexpected dividends. The sliding magazine rack not only performs both of its design purposes, but also adds a charming note of mystery and surprise to the house. When closed, it appears to be just another part of the bookshelf and storage wall.

IT IS ALSO just about as soundproof as any door can be, since it is eight inches thick and carries a built-in acoustic baffle with its cargo of magazines and decorative paneling. This quality is more appreciated than any other because it cuts off annoying plumbing sounds and allows the bath, den and bedroom on one side of the house to be completely closed off as a separate wing.

The mobile magazine rack is supported by two overhead tracks of the kind used to hang sliding closet doors. Side sway is prevented by a pair of nylon rollers at floor level behind the cabinets into which the magazine rack slides.

The only problem involved in this installation was the requirement for adequate overhead support. The solution was provided by toenailing a 2x8 plank framework up one side of the hall opening and across the top. One end of the top piece is supported by the side post and the other is securely anchored to a corner of the wall. The framework was faced with quarter-inch red birch plywood to match the cabinets around it.

THE TRACKS above the door were disguised by gluing a layer of wood veneer over the metal facing the living room. The tracks are indistinguishable from the birch to which they are attached.

The magazine rack was built on a standard one-inch wardrobe door, using quarter-inch red birch plywood to keep the assembly light in weight. Three-quarter-inch birch facings were used in front to conform to the appearance of the other cabinet work.

Very lightweight panels made of eighth-inch plywood trimmed with birch hold the magazines in the rack shelves. These panels are hinged at the bottom and spring-loaded so they return to position without interfering with the sliding action of the door.

AN UNOBTRUSIVE pull bracket was attached inside one of the magazine shelves for convenience in opening the door from the front. The regular recessed finger-pull was left in the wardrobe door back so it can be opened as easily from the other side.

Besides all the previously mentioned advantages of this arrangement, there is another which should not be underestimated. Secret panels have a fascination all their own. Every home should have one.

It's a magazine rack, apparently just one cabinet unit among others in wall.

Surprise! It's also a secret panel concealing a hall to another wing of house.

Rack slides fully into cabinets at one side of doorway, leaving passage clear.

Your Name

over 750 years. This name originated as an inn-sign portraying a "broch" or badger as the hostelry's trademark. The inn owner assumed the name of his premises after a generation of ownership and usage. Robert Le Broc lived in the reign of King John, 1199-1216. The Brock family shield is silver, decorated with a symbolic black badger in the center.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please analyze VENNARD.—J. S., Long Beach.

I. S.: VENNARD originated as Venard, a well known surname in Normandy, north-western France. Venard was a Norman dialect spelling of the east French name Guenard. In the early Middle Ages Guenard was a hero-warrior title for "strong governor and ruler."

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like the origin of WILLHOITE.—R. W., Long Beach.

R. W.: WILLHOITE is a variation of the German surname Willheit. This originated as a 10th century Teutonic noting "man with the resolute manner," that is, one with a firmness of purpose.

DEAR MISS RULE: What have you on PELLETIER.—Mrs. C., Long Beach.

Mrs. C.: PELLETIER, a French surname, indicates the progenitor's occupation. This name reveals that the ancestor was a "Pelletier" or "furrer" centuries ago. Among the ancestors was Pierre Pelletier, noted chemist of the early 1800s.

Justice

which comes to them from the witness stand, or by direction of the court.

They are told they'll be paid $5 for each day they serve, plus 15 cents per mile from the zone in which they live to the courthouse.

They are told not to compromise, not to make decisions by the flip of a coin, but to use their common sense. They are asked to have the courage of their convictions.

They are told that the community has imposed a grave responsibility on their shoulders, and that the community is grateful for the jurors having accepted that responsibility.

Then they wait in the jury assembly room until they are called.

And if they are selected to serve as jurors sitting in judgment on a fellow man, they swear to this oath:

"You and each of you, do solemnly swear that you will well and truly try the cause now pending before this court, and a true verdict render therein, according to the evidence and the instructions of the court, so help you God."

And a process, as old as freedom, begins again.

Try a Lemonegg
Fluff or an exotic
Merry Meringue

Desserts for the Gourmet

By Mildred K. Flanary

Southeast Magazine Home Economics Editor

Just enough time has elapsed since the exotic holiday fare that you should be interested in real gourmet desserts. This Lemonegg Fluff served in Merry Meringues and topped with Custard Filling and Cherry-Cinnamon Sauce will rate you a reputation for "what's good to serve and to eat," second to none.

Lemonegg Fluff

3 envelopes unflavored gelatin	1 can (6 oz.) frozen lemonade concentrate, undiluted
$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar	10 egg whites
Dash of salt	$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
10 egg yolks, beaten
1 cup water

Combine gelatin, sugar and salt in a heavy saucepan; add water. Cook over medium low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Add a small amount of the hot gelatin mixture to egg yolks and blend. Return egg yolk mixture to saucepan and continue cooking, stirring constantly, 2 minutes longer. Do not let mixture boil. Remove from heat. Stir in lemonade concentrate. Chill mixture until partially set (a syrupy consistency).

Meanwhile, beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually add sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into a 2-quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold and serve with Cherry-Cinnamon Sauce. Makes 12 servings. Note: Double recipe to fill mold shown in photo.

Merry Meringues

6 egg whites	Pinch of cream of tartar
$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt	$1\frac{1}{2}$ cups granulated sugar

Beat egg whites until frothy. Add salt and cream of tartar. Continue beating for 5 minutes or until soft peak stage. Add sugar gradually, one tablespoon at a time; continue beating after each addition, for a total of 25 to 30 minutes, counting from the time of starting. The meringue should be beaten until the sugar has completely dissolved.

Shape meringues with a pastry tube or a spoon, as desired, on heavy brown paper on cookie sheet. Bake in a very slow oven (250 degrees F) 1 hour. When done, the meringue should lift off the paper easily.

Store in airtight tin so meringues will not absorb moisture and become soft. They should be crisp and dry and have a very fine texture. Makes 12 individual meringues.

Custard Filling

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar	6 egg yolks, beaten
2 teaspoons flour	1 teaspoon vanilla extract
$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk

Blend sugar, flour and salt in a heavy saucepan. Add milk to sugar mixture. Cook over medium low heat, stirring constantly, until bubbly and thickened. Add a small amount of the hot mixture to egg yolks and blend. Return egg yolks to saucepan and continue cooking 1 minute longer. Remove from heat and cool immediately. Cool by pouring custard into chilled bowl and place in refrigerator or into pan of cold water. Immediate cooling of the custard is important to prevent curdling. After custard is cooled, blend in vanilla. Chill until serving time.

Fill meringue shells with Custard Filling just before serving. Top with Cherry-Cinnamon Sauce.

Cherry-Cinnamon Sauce

1 can (No. 303) tart red cherries
$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
3 tablespoons cinnamon red hot candies
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Drain cherries, reserving juice. Combine sugar, cinnamon candies and cornstarch in a saucepan. Add cherry juice and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and is clear. Remove from heat. Add lemon juice and cherries. Cool before serving. Makes  $2\frac{1}{4}$  cups.

Spiced Cherries

1 can (No. 303) tart red cherries
$\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar
$1\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons cornstarch
$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon ground allspice
$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon ground cloves
Dash salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Few drops red food coloring

Drain cherries, reserving juice. Combine sugar, cornstarch, spices and salt in saucepan. Add cherry juice, blending until smooth. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Remove from heat; add cherries and lemon juice. Color with food coloring if desired. Makes 2 cups. Serve warm or cold with holiday poultry.

Appetites recovered from the richness of holiday treats are now ready for desserts of gourmet caliber, and those illustrated above and described below are certain to stir taste buds, enhance the cook's reputation.

Alter View of Poison Antidote

By Ben Zinser
Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

THE "UNIVERSAL" antidote, a mixture given for many years to persons who have swallowed an unknown poison, is being downgraded by the American Association of Poison Control Centers, a pharmacy expert says.

The universal antidote contains one part tannic acid, one part magnesium oxide and two parts activated charcoal.

Recent evidence shows that activated charcoal alone appears to be preferable to the combination of ingredients, according to Dr. Charles A. Walton of the University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy.

Drs. L. Emmett Holt Jr. and Peter M. Holz of New York University College of Medicine say that charcoal is probably the most effective single agent available for the emergency treatment of poisoning.

In a report in Journal of Pediatrics, the doctors say charcoal is a powerful absorbent agent that rapidly inactivates poison. But not just any charcoal will do, they say. The best are the vegetable charcoals made from wood pulp with a low ash content.

They recommend one of the three following brands:

- Norit A (American Norit Co.).
- Nuchar C (West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co.).
- Darco G60 (Atlas Powder Co.).

They recommend a bottle of charcoal on every medicine shelf. The charcoal should be in a bottle—not in a can or box—to catch the eye. This way, in an emergency, a person can look for the black bottle, they say.

PERSONS who receive cortisone-like drugs over a long period should seek an eye examination every now and then, a research team suggests.

Dr. Howard N. Bernstein and others at Washington University found that a 25-year-old woman who had been taking a cortisone-like medication experienced an increase in pressure inside the eyeball. An increase in intraocular pressure can be an indication of glaucoma, an ailment that can lead to blindness if not treated in time.

When the drug dosage was reduced, intraocular pressure dropped.

The researchers say eye pressure should be checked periodically for those taking such drugs over a long period.

HERE'S THE latest report on transplanted kidney operations:

At last count, 244 persons had received transplanted kidneys. Ninety-two of them are still living.

Longest survival: more than eight years.

Three recipients have lived with a donor kidney for more than two years, 100 lived less than one month.

According to Dr. Joseph E. Murray, Boston, chairman of a National Research Council committee, kidney transplantation is still highly experimental and should be attempted only by a skilled team of physicians and surgeons.

ACUTE gastrointestinal attacks during the winter are often called "stomach flu"—but this is incorrect, says a consultant to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Dr. A. Martin Lerner, Detroit, says these 24-hour-long illnesses marked by severe nausea, vomiting and diarrhea are caused by gastrointestinal viruses known as ECHO and adenoviruses. These infections are not related to influenza.

CAPSULES: A major new penicillin named nafcillin soon will be available for general prescription under the trade name Unipen. . . . A Cleveland researcher has developed a hypodermic-needle microscope that enables a scientist to view living tissue beneath the skin. . . . A two-minute pregnancy test has proved 100 per cent accurate in trials in Scotland on 100 women. . . . # Home Workshop

"Coffee and . . ." close at hand, chessmen set on built-in board, there's nothing left but relax and play the game.

By Bill Meyerriecks

SKETCHBOOK often has a problem to solve in pleasing both the handyman and the homemaker. The project that the lady of the home likes might not be the cup of tea for his home workshop. And the dream job for him is stymied if she appears cool about it. This week's Sketchbook design idea, a Coffee Chess Table, is one that both partners will love and enjoy.

Let's look at the queen's interest in this smart, multi-game table for playroom or living room use. Its ample top offers enough room to serve "coffee and —" with the built-in game of chess, checkers or any number of other games played on the standard checkerboard. Its semi-modern styling fits in nicely almost with any type furniture. Its size is about 16 inches wide, by 36 inches long. Three drawers, two small, one large one at one end, provide plenty of space to store those "sit-down" game pieces that have a habit of disappearing when not stored properly.

NOW FOR the King who has to make the table. If he prefers to take on a project that he can do without a lot of trouble and fuss, he will enjoy this one. Or if he is a particular type in wood-working, this table offers some challenges. The Sketchbook plan on building gives all the basic construction details of the table, all parts and materials, and shows step-by-step how to make it. It also offers several different ways to build in the chess squares on the table top. You can choose to do it simply, or go to inlaid woods for a fancy, attractive finish. Also you are shown in the plan, in full-size diagrams, how you can make your own chess set.

To obtain Sketchbook Coffee-Chess Table Plan S-143, specify number and send 50 cents with name and address to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

HOW YOUR CHILD LEARNS

Importance of 3 R's

By Howard E. Kent

QUESTION: "All my life I've listened to parents, educators, and politicians harp on the importance of the 'Three R's.' It has been a universal chant. Are the 'Three R's' all that important? How about some of the other subjects?"

ANSWER: Granted, the line about the Three R's has had a long, hard play. Some persons who repeat it do so because it has that wholesome, solid, old-fashioned ring; if called on to explain why the Three R's are all that important, they couldn't do it.

But this doesn't reduce the importance of the Three R's.

Reading, writing, and arithmetic are important because they are fundamental. A student must have a grasp of these basic subjects in order to learn other lessons as he advances through school and college.

When a college student has trouble with physics, his difficulty quite possibly may be traced to his failure to learn basic arithmetic. His trouble in history may stem from weakness in reading. His difficulty with examinations may be the result of a lack of skill in writing his ideas.

Thus, the Three R's are the foundation stones of a person's structure of knowledge. How the building rises depends on the strength of the foundation.

The Three R's are really important enough for constant and repeated emphasis.

QUESTION: Is automation increasing the importance of the high school diploma?

ANSWER: Yes.

"Technology has now developed to the point where machines have, on the average, ability equal to a high school education," says Secretary of Labor Wirtz. "More precisely, most work which has been done by people with less than a high school education can now be done more cheaply by machines. So most people without a high school education are not going to find meaningful employment."

ONE OF NUMEROUS ILLUSTRATIONS in "BEYOND TIME," Michel Siffre's story taken from his diaries and other writings of his extraordinary expedition during which he spent 63 days "in darkness and solitude," in an icy cavern he discovered in southern France (McGraw-Hill, $4.95).

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

"JUST the facts, ma'am," the man on television used to say, and here are the facts about the men who hunt for the same.

"JOURNALISTS IN ACTION," (Channel Press, $5.95) was compiled by Dean Edward W. Barrett in honor of Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism 50th anniversary. From reporters to big city editors, from weekly newspaper editors to by-line commentators, graduates have come forward with their big and unforgettable stories.

From Everest Derthick's "Quiet Afternoon in Cleveland" to Milton Bracker's "Bless You, Mr. Frost," this book contains great writing by great reporters. It is far beyond the scope of a trade publication; it is something worth reading, in piece and part, again and again. Nearly 75 etchings in prose of the great American scene, in understanding and tenderness.

Hawthorne has issued "THE COMPACT HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER." Here are the Bonfils, the Danas, the Pullitzers and, alas, the Chaplins, in factual account. A book for the tradesman who, we hope, can afford it at $4.95.

BRITAIN'S Encounter Magazine manages to snag many of the better writers on both sides of the Atlantic, so a selection from it ought to be a literary event of some importance. That selection, a very abundant one called "ENCOUNTERS" (Basic Books, $8.50) has some particularly choice names attached to its essays, poetry and occasional stories.

Dylan Thomas' "Elegy," Auden's "Vespers," Robert Graves' "The Second-Fated," Louis Mac Neice's "Solitary Traveler" are among the poems. All are top-rate. And they are just a few among some 25 or more poems.

Edmund Wilson's story, "The Messiah of the Seder," is a not quickly forgotten, touchy tale of a gathering of old, middle-aged friends around the Passover table. Dan Jacobson and Nadine Gordimer are represented by beautiful examples of their short story near-genius with South African settings.

Nancy Mitford castigates English aristocracy, and Evelyn Waugh defends it in "A Reply to Nancy Mitford." Often his tongue is in cheek, more often not, and sometimes you're not sure whether it is or not. In cheek or not, it is a sharp tongue. Arthur Koestler's "The Trial of the Dinosaur," later published as part of a book of essays, appears here, tracing "a vertiginous rise of the power-curve coinciding with an equally unprecedented decline of the spiritual curve of living faith" and finding it is the coincidence of the two curves "which makes the present crisis" (of mankind) "so great."

Melvin J. Lasky is to be congratulated for the high quality of his selections.

"AMERICA TODAY stands poised on a pinnacle of wealth and power, yet we live in a land of vanishing beauty, of increasing ugliness, of shrinking open space, and of an over-all environment that is diminished daily by pollution and noise and blight."

Thus Stewart L. Udall, secretary of the interior, in "THE QUIET CRISIS" (Holt, Rinehart and Winston) sums up the conservation crisis in the United States.

Udall makes a point that seems to need hammering home generation after generation in this country. The fight to preserve our material and scenic resources is a never-ending one; we cannot afford to lose it; men like Udall see to it that we don't.

Udall harkens back to the Indians to bolster his arguments. Says he: "In recent decades we have slowly come back to some of the truths that the Indians knew from the beginning; that unborn generations have a claim on the land equal to our own; that men need to learn from nature, to keep an ear to the earth, and to replenish their spirits in frequent contacts with animals and wild land."

Atoms Turn to Crime Detection

By Aubrey B. Haines

WHILE nuclear energy becomes more deadly on an international scale, detectives are working on a new weapon against the individual criminal—the atomic reactor. "For the past two years crime laboratory detectives in

tion in San Diego. "Already atomic detection is spectacularly successful. It's opened so many new avenues in crime detection that I see no reason why the FBI shouldn't be using a reactor soon. Reactors locate and identify tell-

MORE POOL PER DOLLAR! Anthony has built more pools by far than any other single builder. Huge volume buying of materials plus factory-to-you pricing of sub-assemblies and accessories plus the unparalleled efficiency of Anthony's teams of trained specialists, puts a plus into every dollar you invest in your pool. Anthony's policy of value through volume is still working for you. In the first eight months of 1963, for example, Anthony has exceeded the largest other pool firm (a group of franchised builders) in the greater Los Angeles area by 666 pools, and the third largest by 1139 pools.

Anthony has built twice as many pools as any single builder.

A reactor is capable of identifying a trace of gunpowder ten billion times smaller than a pencil point or a smudge of grease that might be found on a hit-run victim's clothing. Analysis of such minute particles by reactors is so advanced that grease can be traced to the actual car that it came from or a speck of gunpowder to a specific gun.

tim has been poisoned. Non-lethal doses of arsenic, for instance, produce in strands of hair arsenic-rich regions that gradually move from root to tip. Hair even hundreds of years old can be analyzed successfully for arsenic and other residues. Recently English scientists found an unusual amount of arsenic in a relic of hair from Napoleon's head. The suspicion now is that he was slowly but fatally poisoned.

THE CASE of King Eric XIV of Sweden is similar. A murder legend has persisted in Sweden for four centuries. When the King's body was exhumed recently, activation analysis showed that the body contained traces of poisonous mercury. Canada, Argentina, and Scotland also have programs that investigate reactors for use against criminals. However, criminals in underdeveloped countries may not have to worry for a while, for nuclear reactors cost from $200,000 to $1,000,000 apiece!

Siamese kits, 10 days old, are pawns in two-cat family games, like "Kitten, Kitten, Who's Got Whose Kittens?"

Cat Families Shared

By Jane Hamer

SIAMESE mother cats can become such close friends that they insist on having their kittens in the same box and nursing each other's babies. This is hard to believe but it was true for nine years at the Frank J. Hardesty home, 3850 Jotham Pl.

When Ginger first came to live with Dolly and Monkey, nicknames for pedigree names of Da Lee and Mon Kee, she was welcomed by the male. Dolly, however, resented the full-grown newcomer and made no attempt to disguise her feelings. Spats and scraps and nasty cat language made Ginger miserable.

Dolly's attitude changed to interest, wonder and finally excited delight when Ginger started having her kittens. After the birth of the third kitten, Dolly could contain herself no longer. She went into the cat maternity ward under the kitchen sink and took over the duties of mother and nurse by licking clean, not only the kittens, but the exhausted new mother also. Ginger welcomed her ministrations purrfully, forgiving and forgetting all former abuse.

Since then both have had their kittens together, coming in season and giving birth nine weeks later within 36 hours of each other. Because big Dolly has only two or three kittens, it is very handy for Ginger's six or seven at mealtime. Dolly's offspring, being bigger boned, round-eyed and white, are distinguishable from Ginger's fine-boned, slant-eyed, faun-colored kittens.

Need 'Exercise'

Camera shutter speed settings, like human muscles, need steady activity to keep them in good working condition. Unfortunately, certain shutter settings aren't used often enough by some photographers and can slow down and become inaccurate. This is most often true of the settings at the extreme high speed end of the shutter dial, such as 1-500 and 1-1,000, and the very slow speeds such as one and 1/2 second.

Camera owners can help prevent shutter sluggishness by working out these seldom-used important settings between shooting sessions when their cameras are empty.

Porpoises Make Whistles Count

THE talking porpoise may be an international linguist as well. This is the view of two

Southern California scientists, Dr. John Dreher and William Evans. Dreher and Evans, researchers for the ocean systems division of Lockheed California Co., have found that at least three different porpoise species and the related pilot whale have common words in their underwater vocabularies.

That inscrutable smile on a girl porpoise may come from a boy porpoise's smoothly delivered and knowing whistle.

The pair have identified 32 different whistle contours, which are believed to be the porpoise equivalent of words. Five of the 32 patterns were used by all three species and the Pacific pilot whales.

SEVERAL of the common sound patterns were associated with searching for food, great fright, disturbance and other distinct conditions, the scientists claim.

It also was observed that one of the whistle contours and variations of this form were used only by the juveniles of a single species, a sort of porpoise juvenile slang.

The young porpoises also seem to have smaller vocabularies, employing only six of the 17 whistle contours used by adults of the same species.

"THIS MAY indicate a state of vocabulary development analogous to that of a child," say the scientists in a technical paper on the study.

The study of marine mammal acoustics, partly financed by the U.S. Navy, is part of the company's anti-submarine warfare research.

The recording of the whale and porpoise talk was made at Marineland at Palos Verdes Peninsula and in the Pacific off the California coast with hydrophones.—LOU JOBST.

Recipe of the Week

SOMETHING with a Tahitian touch wins $5 for Robert Ferris, 242 Quincy Ave., Long Beach 3, as best recipe submitted this week. The recipe:

Alligator Pear Eggs

- 1/2 medium-sized avocado
- 1/4 tsp. garlic salt
- Dash of pepper
- 4 eggs
- 1 tblsp. butter

Mash the avocado, adding the garlic salt and the pepper. Work to a smooth consistency. Beat the eggs lightly, add them to the avocado and mix thoroughly. Melt the tablespoon of butter in a skillet, add the egg-avocado mixture and cook slowly, stirring frequently. Do not overcook. They may be served like scrambled eggs or for a Tahitian touch, drizzle a few drops of fresh lime juice over them just before serving. If you plan to use the lime juice, remember to leave out part or all of the salt in the avocado mixture. Serves 2.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to: Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

DEPLANE

"We are planning a few weeks along the west coast of Mexico and have heard San Blas is an interesting town. Or do you know of others?"

I WAS in San Blas once.

You reach it off the main highway 15 miles south of Mazatlan, turning toward the coast along a tropical river. The hotels were just fair. If there's any town, I didn't find it. Couple of thatched stands opening coconuts for you. And a small, biting sand fly that chewed the ankles off me.

I like Mazatlan much better. Couple good hotels on the north beach. Few fair restaurants. Sort of interesting town—the French held the fort on the hill for many years. And so many revolutionists have been shot up there that the wall is all marked with bullet holes. (Lot of bad shots.)

Farther south, I've been hearing good things about the beach at Topolobampo near Los Mochis. Supposed to be one good hotel.

In this same area north, turning inland off the Highway 15 about Navajo—but check this with your map, I haven't one with me now—is Los Alamos. Very old, gone-to-seed mining town. Crumbling mansions. One excellent hotel with a fine shop—probably best all-around selection of Mexican crafts in Mexico. Hotel closed in summer.)

"Are there any duty-free airport shops such as Shannon in other parts of Europe?"

THE AIRPORT at Amsterdam has a fair selection. Only at Paris is pretty good. None compare with the big selection at Shannon, Ireland.

No matter what airline you are flying on, you can arrange to stop at Shannon at no extra cost enroute to or from the U.S. They have a special layover that is attractive: Afternoon sightseeing. Old style dinner in Bunratty Castle. Overnight hotel. Morning for shopping. Cost $15.

"We are taking two very small children with us to Mexico. But we understand that hotels and restaurants give you safe water to drink. Is that so?"

IN THE CORRIDOR of your hotel (or in a nearby closet), there's a 5-gallon bottle of water marked "agua purificada"—or something like that. Your room maid is supposed to fill your room bottle with this. But chances are she hasn't changed it since the room was last occupied. Empty your room bottle and fill it yourself.

In restaurants, order Tehuacan water in bottles. And if you say, "sin gas," it will not be carbonated.

HAWAII is getting set for more visitors in 1964.

On Oahu island, site of Honolulu and Waikiki beach, 1,000 hotel units will be added the first three months of the year.

The majority of these are at Waikiki, although the new 300-room Kahala Hilton, which opens this month, is situated on the Waialae beach in Honolulu's exclusive Kahala residential area just 10 minutes from the resort mecca.

Largest of the new Waikiki complexes is the Ilikai which overlooks Waikiki Yacht Harbor. The 30-story hotel will offer more than 500 view rooms when it opens March 1.

Also opening within the next few months at the foot of Diamond Head will be the 221-room Alohalani, overlooking Kuliou Beach.

The Reef Hotel also will open a several hundred-room addition in early 1964.

THE ORIENT CRUISE schedule of American President Lines' trans-Pacific passenger liners during Spring and Fall months has been revised to provide travelers with an opportunity to visit two additional ports in the Orient, Keelung, Taiwan (Formosa) and Nagasaki, Japan — and a daylight trip through Japan's beautiful Inland Sea.

The new routing, says APL President George Killian, will apply to the luxury liners Presidents Cleveland, Wilson, and Roosevelt, which sail in regular service to Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong and the Philippines on six-week cruises.

The President Roosevelt, sailing from San Francisco on April 5, will be the first ship to make the new 44-day cruise. The all-First Class luxury liner is scheduled to call at Keelung on April 29, Nagasaki on May 1 and make the Inland Sea trip to Kobe on May 2.

There will be five sailings this year with Keelung and Nagasaki added and thereafter six a year, two by each ship.

Open invitation to Shakespeare's Year in Britain

—a feast of merry goings-on in 1964

Once every 100 years, Britain pays special homage to her greatest poet and playwright. His four hundredth birthday comes this year. Read about some of the glittering celebrations you can enjoy. And about Britain's low prices. Then clip coupon for free Shakespeare's Year Travel Kit.

APRIL 23 is Shakespeare's 400th birthday—and the signal for nine months of celebrations throughout Britain. You'll be able to tour the country and see a different play or festival every day. Here's a short list of events to start you planning:

LONDON Sir Laurence Olivier will play Othello with the new National Theatre Company. The Aldwych Theatre will be host to six international companies (March through June). And the Covent Garden Opera Company is presenting Britten's A Midsummer Night's Dream, and Verdi's Macbeth, Othello and Fulstaf.

SCOTLAND You can see Shakespeare performed at the Edinburgh International Festival of Music and Drama (August 16–September 5), and in Pitlochry's tranquil "theatre in the hills" (April through September).

STRATFORD-UPON-AVON The Shakespeare Season of Plays will run for seven months—from April through November. The program includes Henry IV (both parts), Henry V and Richard II. And

The Happy, Happy Land of Thailand

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

BANGKOK

THAILAND means "land of the free" and, although ruled by the ninth King Rama, it appears to be just that.

The Tais, or Siamese if you prefer, love their king and the king, in turn, allows them a life practically without government interference. They are happy, sincere, industrious and even though Bangkok is a breath of fresh air after stops in many cities of the Orient, the people believe they should labor harder to achieve their true Utopia.

No one goes hungry. When employment stops, said one Tai, the government steps in to lend a hand. But since

VILLAGES of the Austrian Tyrol, floating in a bowl of winter white, resemble a Christmas card come to life. Sleigh bells tinkle in the valley, snow crunches under foot and trims the onion-bulb churches and chalets. These hushed hamlets will bustle with athletes and spectators from around the world pouring into Innsbruck, capital of the Tyrol, for the Olympic Games beginning Jan. 29, Bangkok is one of the leading commercial centers of Southeast Asia, most of its 2 million people work regularly.

BECAUSE of its proximity to the equator, heat is a factor in Tai economy. The working day is short, as we know it, and this gives the father a chance to stress family life which he loves.

The Siamese father usually looks forward to getting home immediately after his work day, rest through the late afternoon heat, and then take his family out to eat in the evening. Often a family will spend as many as three hours, chatting happily and greeting friends as they dine.

One Tai told me Siamese families are growing smaller. "We feel we provide greater opportunities for our children if there are fewer of them," he explained. Birth control is practiced widely.

IN BANGKOK, you whiz through customs as fast as anywhere on earth after landing in a luxurious Japan Air Lines' DC-8 on the famous "Silk Road" run, and you're on your way to a multitude of strange and delightful sights and adventures.

Buddhist temples are everywhere (some estimates put the number in the city at 400) and some of the larger ones are handsomely ornate. One of these is Wat Pra Kaew, possibly the most respected of all. Another is Wat Po, where lies the 160-foot Reclining Buddha.

An excursion on the klongs (canals) is an adventure few tourists miss. As your boat winds its way around hundreds of other craft, floating vendors bargain with housewives who swarm about in sampans to shop.

Restaurants and shops line the klongs and give them added oriental flavor. Here are gathered the novelties of the Far East, and at bargain prices; and some, like the floating vendors, offer fresh fruits of the tropics—pineapples, coconuts, papayas, bananas (a dozen varieties), mangoes and citrus—plus vegetables in tremendous variety, noodles, spices, herbs, fresh eggs, fish and even cuts of fresh meat.

Downtown Bangkok is fast becoming as modern as many cities in America.

NIGHT LIFE, like other oriental cities, is often gay—and expensive. The Japanese night club proprietors now are inaugurating their country's custom of offering hostesses for male night club visitors, for conversation and as a dancing partner—nothing more—at $2.50 an hour, American.

Native restaurants are a revelation, and the prices are reasonable. The cuisine usually is Indian and Chinese, which means generous use of green and red peppers. But deliciously different.

I had Gang Tom-Yam, a soup made with prawns, chicken and fish served from a charcoal brazier; Poo Cha, a concoction of crab meat mixed with vegetables and spice, fried in a deep shell that later is cracked and picked up with the fingers, and Gang Pet, a hot, spicy, curry.

CURRENCY is based on the baht which is also identified by its prewar name, tical. It's worth 5 cents, so they invariably explain to the newly arrived tourist that "a tical is a nickel." A baht also equals 100 satang.

So, when a tourist says he is down to his last satang—after loading his bags with jewelry, silks and mementos he simply couldn't resist—you darned well know he's shot the works.

Dog Show Season Starts

Fino Rottweiler, Birgita of Gertase, shown with owner-handler Mrs. J. E. McIntyre and judge, Dr. F. P. Miller.

By Eleanor Avery Price

FIRST dog show of the year in Southern California will be held Jan. 26 by Orange Empire Dog Club at

National Orange Show Grounds in San Bernardino. Buildings will be heated. Frank Inn will have his famous performing animals there. They include Cleo the Basset and Rhubarb the cat.

Look for a big entry of dogs, one of which will be the up-and-coming Rottweiler. Shown here is young Birgita of Gertase owned and shown by Mrs. John E. McIntyre, 8 Packet Road, Palos Verdes Peninsula. "Jantu" went best of breed first time shown and was only 6 months old at the time.

ROTTWEILERS are used as "milk-boys" in Belgium. And they need no guide to steer them on their course. They wear a clever harness, about a foot wide over the back. It buckles under the stomach and has straps branching from the saddle that go around the neck and then buckle to the belly band.

The Rottweiler is really an ancient dog. He probably first served as a cattle drover and guard for the supply dumps of the Roman armies. When the Romans conquered the countryside around the town of Rottweil in south Germany, they probably left some dogs there, and the breed flourished and was given its name.

Robbers used to lie in wait in the forests for butchers on their buying tours about the area. But when the butchers attached their money belts to the necks of their Rottweiler dogs, the dogs were not molested.

Around 1900, with cattle driving outlawed in Germany, the breed almost disappeared. However, he served so admirably in army and police duties that a program to save the breed was undertaken.

THE ROTTWEILER is the pillar of the Doberman pinscher. But he is heavier, slower, extremely powerful. He has a good disposition and is self-reliant. And recently the breed has been making a good advancement in shows.

In a letter to me, Calver Oram Mace, D.D.S., of San Gabriel, writes: "In southeastern Kentucky I went to boarding school and lots of nights I went 'possum hunting with a Negro, an old man in his seventies. One night as we sat on a log resting, with a small fire going while we waited for the hound dogs to regroup, Old Zack said to me, 'You know, in this world a man is entitled to one good woman and one good dog. If you've had that, well, what are you waiting for, there ain't no more!'"

Dr. Mace, as can be noted, was a hound dog man, but he seems to have added the working Rottweiler to his list of canine favorites, for the letter was sent to me totally in favor of the Rottweiler as the "one good dog."

AS OF FEBRUARY, the American Kennel Club will be located at 51 Madison Ave., New York.

Race for Riches

has started major operations in the sand-iron deposits on the bottom of Ariake Bay.

Some marine geologists believe that when adequate equipment is available minerals can be dredged from the ocean at only 70 per cent of the cost of mining on land.

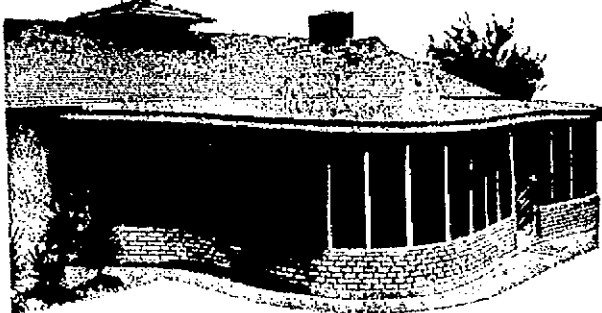

The waters of the world themselves, according to estimates, contain 60 useful elements. And the quantity of these minerals is fantastic—15 million tons of manganese, 20 million tons of uranium and 10 million tons of gold.

The race for the riches of the seas is under way. Many men will die and strange new machines will be built. Their voyages into the unknown realms of the seas will be just as dramatic and strange as their colleagues who will be probing the far reaches of space.

Hotels for Athens

Announcement has been made recently of plans for two large class "B" hotels for downtown Athens. Both will be constructed by private interests. In addition, plans are moving forward rapidly for six suburban hotels near beaches and in scenic locations near the Greek capital.

Amaryllis Is a Color Specialist

By Joe Littlefield

Hybrid amaryllis are showy, providing color in mass plantings or in pots for portable, temporary accents.

HYBRID amaryllis flowers are strikingly showy, especially when planted in a group in a sunny flower bed. Potted, they are colorful and attractive, too, for patio, porch, or to be used temporarily indoors.

Professional gardeners know these bulbs should not be deep. If too deep they may not bloom. Usually about an inch of the top of bulb should be above the soil level, the same in a pot.

These bulbs may be left in the ground for three years and even longer, and they'll multiply and develop a colony of bulbs.

Local nurserymen and garden center dealers have them on hand now. Plan to set out some, also pot some, and you will realize you've made a wise bulb investment for beautiful flowers in the years to come.

later on into the spring season.

The gardener cuts the flowering branches as long or as short as he desires, then finishes pruning the flowering trees.

Feed Primroses

Primroses and geraniums in pots probably are blooming or (in the case of primroses) in bud. This is a good time to give them some plant food.

One of the soluble fertilizers can be obtained from your C.A.N. nurseryman and used in small doses. Follow the directions of the particular product you select and do not add a "pinch" more because the dose seems so tiny. The manufacturer knows best.

WISE INVESTMENT time for flowering deciduous trees is in the winter when nurserymen have them in bare-root form. They cost less than trees that have been canned.

Flowering peaches, plums, and dwarf crab apples are the three main flowering trees. Blooming locusts too are showy.

Winter is the time to prune deciduous fruit trees such as peaches, plums, apricots, prunes, apples, pears, nectarines, and nut trees, but not walnuts. Only time that walnut branches are cut if necessary is late fall, not winter.

However, winter is not the time to prune deciduous flowering trees, because the gardener simply cuts the prospective branches that will be blooming shortly and some

Tips on Gardening

Garden tips for the week. . . This is bare-root planting season when your dormant

Dorothy Digs

Now is the peak of the bare-root rose season. If you have not already purchased the varieties you want, better do so now before the rose of your choice becomes scarce.

Many times nurserymen are not able to re-order some of the varieties that happen to be in great demand. Be sure to get instructions from your nurseryman for planting roses in the district in which you live, as conditions vary in certain areas.

If the soil in which you are planting the roses has ever been infested with nematodes then do not plant in this area until you have properly treated the soil with a liquid spray containing dichlorethyl ether.

plants are least expensive. Don't forget to cut off the scuffed or broken root ends when you plant.

Plant grapes, berries and fruit trees now. Soak the plants in well, then let the rains take over.

You can still set out bulbs. Tulips, hyacinths, daffodils are the big ones. Get them planted without further delay for good spring bloom.

This is the important time for dormant spraying of fruit trees. Ask your C.A.N. nurseryman what to use — and if you don't know for sure, ask him the best way to apply it.

This is catalog-studying time. You can get an idea what you want come spring. You can then check with your nurseryman to see when he'll have the plants you want so you can prepare your planting areas in advance.

Earl Slack
The Public Is Kind

THE PUBLIC can be merciful. If people, for no particular reason, don't like a restaurant, it is doomed—no matter how hard the management tries to keep it going.

The public can also be exceedingly kind. If people really like a restaurant, they go back again and again, making it a cheerful place full of chatter and good fellowship, where the food and beverages always seem better than anywhere else.

Such a restaurant is Ileo's lounge and dining room at 1174 E. Wardlow Rd., a spot which—although closed Sundays—enjoys a fabulous luncheon trade daily from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and an equally fabulous dinner trade nightly from 3 to 11:30 p.m. The success of Ileo's is directly traceable to its owner, Earl Slack, who has been there nearly 17 years. Since he took over as owner in 1952, the restaurant has increased its trade each year. Its volume of business is now five times greater than it was 11 years ago.

Earl is a large, outgoing personality who likes people and enjoys his work as host. His new York steak dinner ($2.95) is one of the finest values served in Long Beach. It is a select, eight-ounce steak, tender but firm, with lots of character and flavor. It's served with steaming, mild French onion soup, or soup of the day; a tremendous green salad with tomato slices, fine baked potato stuffed with cheese sauce and chopped onions; fresh soft cheese toast and beverage. Also featured are such superior entrees as sirloin steak-lobster combination, $3.95, including dessert; golden-brown pan-fried chicken, $2.50; choice top sirloin, $3.50; French fried jumbo shrimp, $2.25, and eastern loin pork chops with spiced apple, $2.50.

NEED HELP WITH TAX PROBLEMS?

INCOME TAX

PERSONAL AND ALL BUSINESS

FEDERAL & STATE RETURNS

The law requires you to pay no more than your legal tax liability on a correct and proper tax return! WHY GUESS! Bring your Tax Problems to US!

THE MOST EFFICIENT OVERALL PROCEDURE IN EXISTENCE FOR PROFESSIONAL PREPARATION OF INCOME TAX RETURNS

WE CAN HELP YOU!

OUR UNIQUE 6-STEP OPERATION AND TRIPLE CHECK ✓✓✓ SERVICE

ADD UP TO TOTAL PERFORMANCE PLUS!

- Most effectively elicits, analyzes and presents all pertinent data.
- Assures you of maximum legal savings on a correct and proper return.
- Provides you with continuing "all year" accounting and tax counsel.

YOU ARE EXPOSED TO ONLY ONE Accountant-Interviewer who confers with you and prepares our applicable Worksheet-Schedules.

BUT 5 OTHER

carefully-selected, fully trained technicians insure the accuracy of your tax returns.

FIRST CHECK

Arithmetical computations are checked and re-checked. Then points of theory are researched and inter-researched for optimum propriety & legality.

TYPING OPERATION

Legibility insures faster processing by the automatic equipment now being used by the government. Your refund, if due you, will not be delayed.

4

SECOND CHECK

Typing is checked. Computations and worksheet-schedules are cross-checked again. Errors which escaped first check are now corrected.

FINAL ASSEMBLY

Your forms are assembled into quadruplicate sets. Originals for I.R.S. and F.T.B. Full copies for you. Our file set remains available to you indefinitely.

THIRD CHECK, REVIEW

Assembly is re-examined and reviewed for proper attachment of Worksheet-Schedules to returns and all "copy" sets, then re-inserted into envelopes.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Star From 'Old School' Creates Transformation Before Awed Stagehands

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

SHE IS A STAR of the "old school" and you can sense it in the feeling on the set.

Even between scenes, there is a quiet, an awe.

It is an awe of respect that grasps the toughest audience in the world, the cameramen, the grips, the script-girl, the stagehands.

Surfeted with the one-tone Method performers and the psychological nuances of the new school of actors, this audience watches a transformation, not just a performance.

This is acting. This is the definition, the dedication, the guts of the word.

SHE IS A STAR of the "old school," Miriam Hopkins.

She is not physically the Miriam Hopkins you may remember. Not if you are old enough to recall her unforgettable performance as the seductive dancer in the Fredric March version of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

She is middle-aged now and the lines of that aging are accented by the grotesque flapper costuming and makeup for her "Outer Limits" appearance at 7:30 p.m. Monday, channel 7.

She looks the way the producers of the show wanted her to look, like a television "Baby Jane" comparable to Bette Davis' movie role.

And you are reminded of another star and another movie, Gloria Swanson in "Sunset Strip."

Miss Hopkins is on her knees now, pleading to a boxed present in which her husband was encased on their wedding night in 1929.

Her voice whispers and sobs. It throbs to a point that stops just short of being melodramatic. It is this "just-short-point" that marks the significant difference between being a star or a ham.

IT IS THIS JUST-SHORT-POINT that is the trademark of greatness.

A trademark immediately recognized.

Keith Allen, an ABC-TV public relations man, puts that recognition into words.

"Gad!" he exclaims. "How she can put emotion in words! When I read the script, they were just words."

The scene rehearsal is over and someone hands her a cup of coffee. She takes it with trembling hands. The tears still roll from her eyes. She is still caught in the emotional demands of the scene.

So is everyone else

SPECIAL

BOSTON'S MEMORIAL TO JFK—A solemn Pontifical requiem high mass at Boston's Holy Cross Cathedral, in memory of President Kennedy is seen live at 7 a.m., ch. 4. Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, celebrates the mass, with the Boston Symphony, directed by Erich Leinsdorf, performing Mozart's Requiem Mass in D Minor, joined by 180 members of 3 Boston Choruses. Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy will be among the family members as state dignitaries attending.

NBC OPERA—Donizetti's most famous work, "Lucia di Lammermoor," famed for its "sextette" and the "mad scene," is sung in English at 5 p.m., in color, ch. 4, with Linda Newman as Lucia, Michael Trimbel as her lover Edgardo and Richard Torrig as her brother Enrico, Lord Ashton. The tale of two young lovers from feuding families was based on Sir Walter Scott's novel "The Bride of Lammermoor."

ART OF COLLECTING—Art Critic Aline Saarinen is narrator and guide for a color exploration of the world of private art collections, at 10 p.m., ch. 4. First distinguishing between "acquirers" and "collectors," Miss Saarinen views art treasures on view in Washington and Philadelphia museums, and shows five important collections as displayed in the homes of their owners—Robert Lehman, N.Y. investment banker; Norton Simon, president of Hunt Foods, Calif.; Alexander Girard, New Mexico designer and architect; John Denman, Seattle airline pilot; and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

THE GOLDEN AGE—The finest drama, by Shakespeare and others, plus music and song of England's Elizabethan era, is seen on ch. 11, at 11 p.m., as studio-taped during its Broadway run. Nancy Wickwire, Douglas Campbell and Lester Raw-

Will you please tell me why Joe Pyne doesn't get more mention in the radio news?

Mrs. Lola B. Derry
Long Beach

Joe Pyne. Joe Pyne. Joe Pyne. Who says he doesn't?

I understand that "The Richard Boone Show," my favorite, is going off. Is this true?

If it is true, I'm seriously considering trading in my television set for one of those new FM radios.

Joe W. Black, Garden Grove

There have been 13 Boone shows so far. There will be 13 more original dramas and then 12 repeats. After that, the show, a victim of poor ratings, will be axed. Good luck with your FM.

I don't care what anyone says. I enjoyed the "Jerry Lewis Show."

He deserved the two hours they gave him. It's just too bad his show was dropped.

I just hope some other station will wise up and hire him.

Thomas P. Littel, Norwalk

With the kind of cash settlement Jerry got, he can afford to hire his own station.

Are Adam and Laura on "Bonanza" going to get married? I think they'd make a nice pair.

Jessie Wittbaum, Long Beach

I don't know if they're going to get married. NBC doesn't know if they're going to get married. Adam and Laura don't know.

Originally, they were supposed to wed. Laura, played by Kathie Browne, was brought into the series because Adam, portrayed by Pernell Roberts, was unhappy.

Roberts reportedly wanted out of the series. The wedding march, producers felt, would give him a chance to keep marching with his bride right out of the series.

Either Roberts is happier with the series now or the producers have decided to make him stick with his contract. Chances are that Laura, unwed, will march into the sunset by herself.

TV Advertising Plans May Go Up in Smoke

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It is difficult to be impressed by the television networks for deciding, at the last possible moment, to re-examine their advertising because of the surgeon general's report on smoking.

Television officials, who like to tell the government to mind its own business and let the industry handle its own problems, in this case used the government report as a crutch to avoid major action until there was virtually no other choice.

The "respectable" argument has been that though evidence about smoking has mounted, it was only fair to let such an authoritative body resolve the heated pros and cons. Suddenly these same television officials found themselves unequipped to handle their problem, though warning signals have been issued for more than a year by no less a person than Leroy Collins, president of the National Assn. of Broadcasters (NAB).

IF NAB MEMBERS listen to Collins in the future, they may find themselves avoiding adverse situation. Long ago, he warned his colleagues about the ratings mess—before Congress investigated it. But, as with his admonition about aiming cigarette commercials at youngsters, he had little success.

In 1962, he caused a furor when he said there was growing evidence that cigarette smoking posed "a serious hazard to health."

The television industry had other danger signals in the past year or so. "CBS Reports" created a rumble when it did a study of the smoking question. Last June, a Tobacco Institute spokesman admitted that most top cigarette companies would stop advertising in college publications. The same month, tobacco sponsors in Canada decided to hold back their radio and television commercials until 9 p.m. each day. There is a similar practice in England, where the Royal College of Physicians issued a condemning report about cigarette smoking about two years ago.

No one, of course, expects cigarette smoking, or advertising about it, to disappear. If the British reaction is typical, it will hold its own numerically. The key point, however, has been the depiction of such advertising for youngsters as equating smoking with sex, maturity, virility and glamour. This has been a particular problem because of the growing amount of spending money wielded by teenagers, and the increasing advertising aimed at them. Yet another storm warning was the indication last year that athletes would be finding less employment in television cigarette commercials.

SPECIAL

CBS REPORTS—Jay McMullen, TV's crime reporter, follows heroin from a Turkish poppy field to a Harlem street corner during an hour-long report at 7:30 p.m., ch. 2. In addition to filming syndicate bosses, smugglers, street pushers and addicts (through hidden cameras), plus law enforcement officials, McMullen follows the poppy from Turkey to Syria, where opium is turned into a morphine base, to smugglers in Beirut, Lebanon, to ports in France and Italy where the base is turned into pure heroin, to the U. S. where the heroin is cut chemically, and to the Harlem street where $5,500,000 of heroin is bought and sold annually. McMullen's previous "CBS Reports" on Crime included "Biography of a Bookie Joint" and "The People vs. Peter Manceri."

OF IRON

Without binding, costly monthly purchase plans, we pay the expense of this nutritional aid... not just a sample, but a fully freshly-packed 25-day supply of Fermented Olfins, America's unsurpassed Food Supplement (superior to products that retail at $4.95 and more per 100 capsules)... because we're sure this trial will prove that nowhere, but nowhere, in America is there such a powerful, substantial, and responsible product. Each new 25-day supply of Olfins contains a powerful, natural, and ferrous fumarate, the newer form of organic iron—more potent than iron phosphate, more palatable and better tolerated... value in the treatment of iron nutritional deficiency—combined with vitamins, minerals, and amino acids... for your 25-day supply today, together with Vitamins Guide Book that shows you how to cut vitamin costs 50% and more... by using our new 25-day supply to pay nothing. Supply limited. One to a family. Send check, money order, or cash to: VITAMIN GUIDES, INC., 1715 E. Crenshaw Blvd., Los Angeles 17, Calif.

SPECIAL

THE RESTLESS SEA—Bell Science Series hour looks at oceanography, through filmed and animated sequences, in a Walt Disney production at 7:30 p.m., in color, ch. 4. Films reveal hurricanes and mountainous waves, marine life from microscopic plants to huge mammals, and the new instruments that enable scientists to study the bottom of the ocean. Animated sequences show the movements of tides and currents, and the topography of the ocean floor with its great mountains and canyons. Hour's only "character" is a drop of water, characterized by Disney artists.

THE 7 LITTLE FOYS—Eddie Foy Jr. portrays his own father in a "Chrysler Theatre" spinoff for a proposed series about the celebrated vaudeville family, at 8:30 p.m., ch. 4, in color. Mickey Rooney plays George M. Cohan, with George Tobias as agent Barney Green, and with Osmond Brothers, their younger brother Donny, and two young actresses, as the 7 stage-struck kids. Narrator Bob Hope starred in the 1955 Paramount film of the same title.

TEN SECONDS That Shook the World—David Wolper's documentary of the scientific adventure, moral conflicts, twists of fate and desperate races that are part of the A-bomb story, is narrated by Richard Basehart at 9 p.m., ch. 11. Films from six nations are used to document the story of how America, in the words of President Truman, "spent $2 billion on the greatest scientific gamble in history — and won."

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, PARADE, 733 Third Ave., New York 17, N.Y. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. Who are the wealthiest actresses in motion pictures today?—Ann Kempton, Miami, Fla.

A. Doris Day, Elizabeth Taylor and Audrey Hepburn are all multimillionaires.

Q. I would like to know if Happy Rockefeller is with child. Yes or no?—R. C. Robinson, Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

A. Reportedly yes.

Q. Christine Kaufmann, teenage wife of Tony Curtis—is she going to have a baby?—Lois Angers, Santa Fe, N. Mex.

A. Yes, in the spring.

Q. How much pension money is Jackie Kennedy getting from the government? Was she ever really popular with the female Washington press corps?—N. Linde, Baltimore, Md.

A. Mrs. Kennedy will get $10,000 per year until she remarries. When she was First Lady, the newspaper-women assigned to the White House found her "a bit difficult." The current First Lady, Mrs. Claudia Johnson, is more accessible.

Q. I would appreciate your telling me approximately how much comedian Bob Hope is worth. I understand he is the richest comedian in the world.—Carl Doff, Seattle, Wash.

A. Hope is worth approximately $25,000,000.

Q. There is a character in Hollywood named Sy Bartlett. I believe he's a writer of sorts. He specializes in marrying actresses. Can you tell me how old he is and how many actresses he's been married to? We were in the Air Force together.—F. T., Bethesda, Md.

A. Sy Bartlett, 55, Hollywood writer-producer, has been married 4 times: to Alice White, Ellen Drew, Patricia Owens and now Carol Weber, widow of a Kansas theater-owner and oilman.

Q. Is it true that when Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire made their films together they hated each other?—Ronnie Elms, Corpus Christi, Tex.

A. Between them, no love was lost.

Q. Is Albert Finney going Hollywood?—Jane Van Deusen, Glencoe, Ill.

A. Yes and no. Last year Finney said, "I'm not Hollywood bait. I don't want to be bound by a contract, owned by a house, possessed by a swimming pool or divided up between agents, managers and accountants." Recently, however, Finney signed to make a film in Hollywood.

Q. Can you tell me if Army officers are given a mental examination when promoted to general? I have reference to Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, who refused to fly the American flag at half-staff in honor of his deceased Commander-in-Chief.—D. C., Texarkana, Tex.

A. Army officers are given an annual physical on their birthdays. An officer promoted to general is not given a special mental or psychiatric exam unless the examining physician thinks he needs one—in which case he probably would not be made a general to begin with.

Q. Is it true that Juan Perón, former dictator of Argentina, corrupted a 14-year-old girl in Buenos Aires?—Diane Hegstrom, St. Paul, Minn.

A. In 1954 and 1955, Perón lived in Buenos Aires with a 14-year-old mistress, Nelly Rivas. The government of Argentina is now seeking to extradite Perón from Spain on charges of corrupting a minor.

Q. Do Paul Getty and his son have gambling interests in Nevada?—T. Price, Bartlesville, Okla.

A. Getty's youngest son, Gordon, is building a million-dollar motel for divorcees in Reno.

Q. Is it true that King George VI did not want Winston Churchill as Prime Minister during World War II?—L. B., Oakland, Calif.

A. The King's preference for Prime Minister in 1940 was Lord Halifax. The King wrote in his diary: "I, of course, suggested Halifax for Prime Minister . . . I cannot yet think of Winston as Prime Minister . . . I met Halifax in the garden, and I told him I was sorry not to have him as P.M."

Q. I would like to know if the late President John F. Kennedy wore glasses.—Sara Stern, Boston, Mass.

A. He did, for reading.

Q. How many sons did Ernest Hemingway have, and was Hemingway ever in love with Ingrid Bergman?—Charles LeWinter, Los Angeles, Calif.

A. Hemingway fathered three sons: John, a San Francisco stockbroker; Pat, a graduate student at the University of California; and Gregory, a student at the University of Miami. Hemingway fell in love with Bergman in what he termed "a damn brotherly way," during the filming of For Whom the Bell Tolls.

Q. Edwin Pauley of California—what is his occupation?—A. E. S., New York, N. Y.

A. Pauley has no interests, is a close friend of Harry Truman, recently entered into partnership with Bob Hope and others to construct a musical theater in Los Angeles.

Q. Is it true that many sponsors of the Jerry Lewis TV show handed in their cancellations long before the network dropped the show?—Robert Bender, New Canaan, Conn.

A. Yes. U.S. Plywood, Star-Kist, Bayette and others were convinced the show was a disaster and announced that they wanted out.

Q. I understand that George Murphy plans to run for U.S. Senator from California. Murphy used to be a dancer at MGM. Does he plan to run as "your dancing Senator"?—D. F., Palo Alto, Calif.

A. Murphy's senatorial campaign is not at this time fully planned.

Q. Who said: "The trouble with American women is that they expect to find in their husbands a perfection that English women only hope to find in their butlers"?—Vic Masson, Omaha, Neb.

A. Somerset Maugham, English novelist.

INTELLIGENCE REPORT

GUNS. There are an estimated 50 million guns in this country owned by almost half of America's householders. More than half of the 7,258 murders reported to the FBI last year were by gun shot. All four assassinations of U.S. Presidents were by gun.

In London today, there are fewer than 100 persons walking around with guns. The 90,000 British police do not carry guns, and detectives detailed to hunt down dangerous criminals are temporarily issued guns and ammunition, but on returning the guns to the police precinct, must account for each bullet. Private guards in Great Britain, those employed by banks and others, are not permitted to carry guns. Only bodyguards protecting the royal family and prime minister are permitted firearms. In England no citizen may buy a rifle or pistol without a police certificate, and the weapon can be carried only between specified places such as home and hunting grounds. The general lack of guns in England contributes to its low murder rate. Last year only 173 people were murdered in all of Britain.

BUYER'S CHOICE. The average U.S. housewife can choose from about 6,000 different foods when she goes to market.

CONTRAST. Christine Keeler, 21, and Mandy Rice-Davies, 18, both involved in the Profumo affair which last year shook the British government, are today a study in contrasting fates. Christine is just another number in England's largest women's jail, one they call "Heartbreak" Holloway. Mandy Rice-Davies, on the other hand, lives in an expensive mews flat in Kensington, has signed to do a cabaret act in Germany, later goes to Rome to star in an Italian film.

ADVICE TO WIVES. If your husband is nervous or suffers from ulcers, don't turn on the vacuum cleaner or washing machine while he's at home. "Often," Dr. Lee Farr claims, "tenseness in men with clinical manifestations such as ulcers can be directly attributed to home noises."

THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH. President Lyndon Johnson is a member of the Christian Church. His wife and two daughters are Episcopalians. The President was brought up a Southern Baptist, but in his late teens switched to the Christian Church, also known as the Disciples of Christ. The Christian Church, with a membership of approximately 2,000,000, runs 37 colleges and universities including Drake University in Iowa, Butler in Indiana, Texas Christian and Bethany in West Virginia. The Christian Church is one of the 10 largest Protestant denominations in America, has 9,000 listed ministers, 8,000 churches. In Washington the President and his family attend an Episcopal church. In Texas they attend a Christian church.

JOHNSONS ARRIVE AT ST. MARK'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

EXPERIMENT. What happens when you take away cigarettes from heavy smokers? The U.S. Navy tried the experiment on the nuclear submarine, Triton, and gave it up in three days. All smoking was banned on the sub, but according to Dr. Benjamin Weybrow, the experiment was halted after 72 hours because of the "danger of impairing the efficiency of the crew...The heavy smokers became irritable, ate too much, had trouble sleeping and began to quarrel."

TV REPAIR FRAUDS. California has organized a new state bureau charged with protecting the public against crooked TV repairmen. Called the Bureau of Electronic Repair Dealer Registration, it requires the registration of all repairmen engaged in repairing TV sets, radios and phonographs used in the home. Its object is to prevent fraudulent and incompetent repair practices. Those guilty of same can be fined $1,000 and imprisoned for 6 months.

AUTO TAGS. In Great Britain, a car owner may hold the same license plate number for life, may also transfer it at will.

MALARIA-FREE. Europe has become the world's first continent to defeat malaria. Last year in a population of 648 million, it had only 194 cases of the disease.

OIL BOOM. Libya, the North African desert country with a population of only 1.2 million people, has become the center of the latest all-out oil boom. Socony Mobil is constructing a pipeline that eventually will carry 380,000 barrels of Libyan crude oil per day, while 19 other oil operators, including Standard of New Jersey, Texaco and Gulf, are searching for and striking oil. Libya has tremendous deposits of oil which are easily and profitably produced. The Libyan government splits 50-50 with the producers.

Are we becoming a

Through our nation today lives on the edge of danger, the stern finger of Uncle Sam pointing from recruitment posters has not produced a dash to the colors. Instead there has been a wild scramble for cover. The threat of military service has scared thousands into premature marriages, unscheduled schooling and jobs they don't like.

The fellow who puts on a uniform is more pitied than praised. The one who manages to keep his civilian suit, even by chicanery, becomes an object of envy. For the uncertainties and inequities in our selective service system are creating a generation of draft dodgers and an erosion of morals and morale.

Young men register for the draft at 18 but usually must wait until 23 to be called. Some enlist early to get their service behind them, but the majority take a chance on evading their duty. They spend five crucial years in limbo unable to plan their future. During this long wait, most are branded 1A. This means they are draft bait, unsure of deferment, unlikely to find a good job, unable to begin a permanent career.

The local boards now spend 85 per cent of their time arranging deferments. So many escape the draft that those who get caught feel cheated.

This doesn't mean that America's youth isn't every bit as patriotic as its fathers and grandfathers. But those who ask what they can do for their country seek the answer outside of boot camp. So far as the armed forces are concerned, the big question isn't "How can I serve?" but "How can I get out of it?"

The draft is such a jungle that most Americans no longer even understand the rules. For the record, however, it should be said that the draft law now makes all men between 18 and 26 subject to 2 years of active service. The law also allows draftees to volunteer ahead of their call for the same term, or to avoid 2 years' service by signing up for 6 months on active duty followed by about 6 years in the reserve. In theory, the draft is for all the armed services; but in practice only the Army has taken draftees since 1956.

On the average of 12,000 to 17,000 young men are called per month, depending upon such factors as the defense budget and the Army's need. Although youths register at 18, the draft boards, under pressure from parents and from Congress, who want eligibles to complete their education before being drafted, choose older registrants first. This usually means the 23-year-olds.

PARADE has discussed the draft with several young men. (See below.) Here are a few typical comments:

A Bethesda, Md., gas station attendant: "It's the uncertainty that gets me down. They were supposed to call me last July, but they still haven't gotten around to it. I've been working at odd jobs now for four years, just marking time. Who wants to hire a 1A?"

A Duke University senior: "The brass hats like to make it appear that military service is the highest form of patriotic endeavor. Personally, I think I can do more for my country by using my brains than my feet."

'IT'S FORCED LABOR'

An American University graduate facing immediate induction: "The draft is nothing more than forced labor. The government forces guys to serve at less than civilian pay. The draft isn't really needed to get combat troops but to get cheap clerks, cooks, truck drivers and handymen. We buy weapons on the open market and pay the market price. If we are going to draft military labor, then why not draft the scientists and engineers who design the weapons? Why not draft the profits of the munitions makers?"

Under the quixotic induction rate, of the men who have reached 26 this year and can now feel in the clear, only 1 in 10 has been drafted. True, 4 out of 10 have done duty voluntarily and a 6th has signed up in the reserves. But this still leaves about half the nation's militarily eligible youth escaping service.

There are many ways to beat the draft—from flunking educational tests to "instant" fatherhood. Most common exemption: 3 out of 10 avoid service on the grounds they are physically or mentally unfit. The standards are relaxed or tightened according to the Army's manpower needs.

Mental unfitness is a catchall that means lack of education. But even many high school and college graduates flunk the pre-induction exams. Complains Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the veteran selective service chief: "We have had trouble with people with master's degrees getting turned down." He admits some get away with deliberate failures but doubts that the incidence "is as great as some other factors."

The late President Kennedy, two months before his assassination, exempted married men from military service. All the draft boards contacted by PARADE reported that since then, prospective inductees have shown up with eleventh-hour marriage certificates. Says Lt. Col. Harry O. Smith, Georgia draft director, "In one week, we had 46 men who had been ordered to report for induction suddenly get married."

A famous folk singer discovered marriage alone wouldn't keep him out of the draft; he had to live with his wife. When she complained he had abandoned her, the draft board classified him 1A. This brought him scurrying back to the home fires long enough to get deferred again. Then he walked out on his wife again, but the draft board happily brought them together once more by reclassifying him 1A.

A Colorado youth, also married, received his greetings late last summer. He hastily moved to another state, apparently hoping to delay induction, but was drafted earlier instead. Sworn in just before the new marriage policy, he filed a complaint that he had been "erroneously" inducted. He would still have been a civilian, he charged, if he had remained in Colorado.

Before marriage became a way out of service, it took fatherhood to obtain a draft exemption. One young husband got his wife pregnant three times, but each ended in a miscarriage. Between pregnancies, he neglected to notify his board that he had

SIX YOUNG MEN TALK ABOUT THE DRAFT

Neil Medoff, 21: "In a democracy, you have to do your duty as a citizen. But I feel that something like the Peace Corps should be allowed to take the place of the draft. That's serving your country, too."

Michael Taylor, 22: "Not being in favor of war, I'm not in favor of the draft. It disrupts lives. It places great burdens on people. I wouldn't have the slightest compunction about avoiding being drafted."

Robert Federico, 18: "People's lives are too short to go into the Army unless they're fighting for something—I mean a war. I think they ought to abolish the draft. If war does come, we'll all be in it, anyway."

Richard Grossman, 20: "I haven't heard of any reasonable alternative to the draft. Increasing the pay or the benefits won't get more soldiers. If Johnson says that we need the draft, I'll take his word for it."

by JACK ANDERSON

nation of draft dodgers?

failed to become a father. This breach of the rules earned him an induction notice.

Nearly 300,000 students are now deferred to attend college, but Hershey confides that the Army doesn't need them now anyway. "I don't want to claim that we are keeping these boys in college," he declares, "because we couldn't induct them in any great numbers if they didn't go to college." It's no secret, however, that many students prolong their studies with postgraduate work until they get past the safe age of 26.

SOME SEEK JOB SECURITY

Those less well heeled, unable to afford the high cost of education, often choose jobs they may dislike or aren't suited for simply to escape the draft. "We probably have around 70,000 or 80,000 individuals deferred in scientific, engineering and school-teaching jobs," says Hershey.

The draft boards are also lenient in deferring men who claim dependents, though not all hardship stories are credited. A middleweight boxer, who had deserted his family, raced home to Louisiana when his draft board got on his tail and begged his wife to let him take the children on a trip. He then put them in school and claimed them as dependents. His wife, with her own score to settle, put him down for a count of two years by giving him away.

Another dodger claimed he was the sole support of a widowed mother. He got away with it until his board discovered that she had her own home, a new automobile, paid-up insurance and $30,000 in cash.

Out of PARADE's study, one inevitable question has loomed: Is the draft necessary? From brass hats and draft officials comes a resounding yes! Military leaders doubt that they could keep our defense installations manned without compulsion. Though comparatively few are drafted, Army and Air Force surveys reveal that 40 per cent of volunteers sign up to keep a jump ahead of the draft.

But the Army had admitted to PARADE that 95 out of every 100 draftees return to civilian life after their hitch ends. Thus they can be given no more than superficial training and perfunctory jobs. The Army can hardly get the skilled professionals, needed for modern war, from a turnover of disgruntled young men whose first desire is to get back to civilian life.

"The military needs for manpower," says Congressman Thomas Curtis (R., Mo.), "are primarily quality needs, not quantity needs, needs for skills rather than for numbers. The peacetime draft has proved to be a costly, inefficient personnel procurement system."

Most generals agree that the best age for training young soldiers is 18 to 20. By waiting to grab men after they turn 23, selective service not only leaves them floundering for five years but reduces their availability in the ready reserves. "Men begin to lose their effectiveness for combat after 30," admits Col. Arthur Holmes, Michigan's selective service chief. "We are now drafting them at 23 to 24; they are 25 to 26 by the time they complete their training. This leaves only four or five useful years in case they should have to be called up for combat."

The draft law hasn't been given a thorough study since 1951. Under pressure from the Pentagon, which never seems to have enough men, Congress has merely extended the draft every four years, slapping patch on patch to make a crazy quilt.

There are pressing questions which have never been answered. How much does it cost to keep training new men to do the same jobs? Wouldn't it save money and strengthen defense to build up a volunteer system, offering higher pay and more advantages? How many of the 2.7 million men under arms could be safely replaced by civilians? Are recruits today getting adequate training for modern war?

These are questions which a Presidential commission or a Congressional committee should explore thoroughly. Out of this could come a decision to re-draft the draft or scrap it altogether.

Daniel Singer, 16: "Everybody owes some service to his country. It could be the Peace Corps, the reserve or some other kind of service. But I sure wouldn't try to get out of serving my country. When you gotta go, you gotta go."

Anthony Kurapko, 17: "The other services maintain their strength without the draft; why can't the Army? I think the setup, the way it is now, encourages rather than discourages draft-dodging. I'd abolish the draft in peacetime."

As draft director, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey has conscripted men since World War II. He supervises 4,000 draft boards.

Learn The Truth About THE CATHOLIC CHURCH By Mail... At No Cost!

You can easily investigate Catholic faith and worship in the privacy of your home.

Just send us your name and address and advise that you want to know what the Catholic Church really teaches... what Catholics really believe. We will send you an interesting course of instruction which is short, yet complete.

We will send you a book explaining Catholic faith and worship... written in an easy-to-understand form. There are six test sheets which you can mark and we will check and return to you. This will enable you to determine how well you understand the book. It will give you quick and authentic answers on any point you do not understand.

There is no writing to do... and nobody calls on you unless you request it. Nobody knows, in fact, that you are inquiring into Catholic teaching. Thousands of people are taking the course and learning for the first time wonderful truths about the Church, established by Christ Himself.

We know that many people would like to learn all about the Catholic Church — but hesitate to make personal inquiries. This offer is made so they may get authentic Catholic information

How to get a dog to pose with a President: Author Blumenthal throws stick to Kennedy...

...but soon gets tired of waiting and grabs on. Their picture is taken.

Kennedy and Blumenthal congratulate one another on outwitting Charlie.

... who holds it out to Charlie. Charlie waits for him to throw it ...

The making of a PRESIDENT'S PICTURE

BY FRED BLUMENTHAL

There are many of us who cherish personal remembrances of the late President—remembrances encompassing everything from a smile and a handshake to long years of close, intimate friendship. Today, on the eve of the third anniversary of his inauguration, mine center around a crisp snow-covered Sunday morning in March 1962. They are recorded by the photos on these pages.

Photographer Larry Fried and I had gone to Glen Ora, President and Mrs. Kennedy's retreat near Middleburg, Va., in connection with a PARADE article. Before leaving I wanted to get some shots of the President and Charlie, Caroline's Welsh terrier.

We went outdoors with Charlie, and Kennedy called to him. Charlie promptly ran the other way and began to play busily in the snow. The President called him again. He clapped his hands. He slapped his thigh. Nothing doing. "He never comes when he knows you really want him," observed the President ruefully.

We went back into the house. Standing at the foot of the stairs, the President shouted, "Somebody please get me a tennis ball!"—and aside to me he confided, "Charlie always likes a ball."

"This is a crazy time of year to play tennis," came a familiar feminine voice from upstairs. Then it added helpfully, "I can't find a ball, but I've got a racket." The President said no thanks.

After a moment he said, "Let's go outside again. Maybe we can find a stick. Charlie also likes sticks—but maybe not on Sundays." A few minutes later a Secret Service agent brought us a stick. We tossed it back and forth to catch Charlie's attention.

He spotted the stick and came running. The President walked along, talking to Charlie and me: "That's a good boy! C'mon, Fred, throw the stick!"

Then the President had to go to church. He tossed the stick aside. Charlie brought it back to him. The President threw the stick to me, and I tossed it aside. Charlie brought it back to the President. This went on for a while. Finally a Secret Service agent took the stick away from Charlie and hid it. Charlie forgot the stick and stayed with the President.

Smiling, Kennedy grasped my hands and said, "Somebody'll probably say that the President has gone to the dogs. They'll never know how long it took for the dog to go to the President!"

HOW TO LIVE TO BE A HUNDRED!

At last! A leading American doctor releases positive proof that you can add up to forty health-packed years to your life — AND LOOK UP TO TWENTY YEARS YOUNGER DOING IT!

Here it is! The revolutionary new Live-Longer, Look-Younger, Feel-Better Medical Program that you've been hearing rumors about for years! Whose main principles have already been featured in twenty-seven major American newspapers... broadcast to the country by NBC Monitor news and the United Press... released to the medical profession by articles in medical journals after medical journal throughout the United States!

Now brought to you, in complete detail, in one of the most thrilling books you have ever read! A fascinating, down-to-earth, easy-to-read book that shows you—in the first ten minutes you pick it up how to:

1) Add up to forty health-packed years to your life! Years filled with strength, vigor and vitality! And have the time of your life doing it!

2) Ward off the diseases of middle and old age that cripple your friends and do it in just a few fun-packed minutes each day!

3) Look younger, younger, far more attractive! OVERNIGHT! Perform a miracle in your figure in just six seconds a day! Develop maximum strength in whatever part of your body you wish in just six seconds a day! Beat daily fatigue—drain away that "always tired" feeling—eat better, work better, play better and sleep better, starting this very same week!

In other words, pump up to twenty years of new youth back into your body—whether you're thirty, fifty or eighty-year old today!

WHY LET YOUTH SLIP THROUGH YOUR FINGERS,
WHEN YOU CAN GAIN IT BACK IN JUST A FEW SHORT MINUTES A DAY!

Yes! For years medical science has asked itself one unanswerable question—Why do people age before their time?

Why do men lose their vigor and vitality—develop joints and a painful—begin to hurt and put when their elbow sticks—etc. etc. etc. to fatigue, sickness and pain that shouldn't be there for another twenty to thirty to forty years at the least!

Why do women turn almost overnight from slim young ladies into fat middle-aged women with all the glow gone from their complexion—with their faces and bodies covered with wrinkles, their eyes, exhaustion and all creeping diseases that make them old, decrepit?

Can something be done to prevent this? Can you play? Can these symptoms of old age be pushed off for ten, twenty, even forty years? Can your physical age—with the proper training—actually be up to FORTY YEARS BELOW YOUR CALENDAR AGE?

The answer to all these questions is Yes! Medical science has now discovered that there are whole nations of men and women who live to be a hundred and healthy and hundred and twenty five years old! Who do hard productive physical work in the age of our children and feel Whose men actually father children right up past the age of ninety!

Medical science has proved in Europe that a simple self-preservative exercise—in ten, after ten—has cut the amount of bed-ridden illnesses among participants to a mere 1957 Medical science has proved in this that this same simple routine has increased the life span of old over-weight men by as much as twenty full years—even though these men suffered from blood pressure so high it was as dangerous as poison!

Yes! Medical science has proved—all over the Free World—that the man or woman who follows this simple program of self-preservation MAY ACTUALLY BE IN BETTER CONDITION AT EIGHTY OR NINETY THAN OTHER MEN ARE AT THIRTY OR FORTY!

How can this be done? What is this simple self-preservation routine? As now released to you in Dr. Martin's revolutionary new book, it consists of two thrilling parts—both of which will not only add years to your life, but at the same time that they add years to your life!

THE FIRST STEP—EXERCISES WITHOUT MOTION, THAT TAKE ONLY 6 SECONDS EACH!

First to give you overnight results from this amazing Live-Longer, Look-Younger Program, Dr. Martin introduces you to the incredible SIX SECOND EXERCISES! These exercises were recommended by the Illinois State Medical Association... that are so fantastically effective that they were actually kept "too secret" when they were used in hospital training by the United States men and women Olympic coaches. Think of it! There are simple, easy-to-do exercises that you perform only three times a day, and only six seconds each time! A total of only eighteen seconds per week for each exercise—with no motion and no sweat—simply setting the muscles against another system in the illustration on this page! And here's what they do for you—

If you are a man, these six-second exercises will straighten your back, broaden your shoulders and—where all—pull in your stomach, sometimes as much as two to three inches in the last few weeks! They'll put new drive in your legs, new wind in your chest, new power in your joints!

If you are a woman, these six-second exercises will firm you up where you need it most—on your hips and thighs, in the buttocks, tummy, under your chin and around the neck, even in that sagging upper arm! They'll put new glow to your skin—give you a posture and a figure and a way the top men in their tracks a full look behind you!

And you'll see the results, you'll feel the results, your friends will comment on the results. IN THE FIRST FEW WEEKS ALONE!

All this from just sixteen seconds per exercise per week! Plus simple low resistance exercises that also amazing new strength in your lower and upper body with almost no effort—that gives you that wonderful "I'll-as-a-Peak" source of energy, that can work all day and play all night!

And this is just the beginning! The best is yet to come!

THE SECOND STEP—A NEW KIND OF DIET, WITH DIET SNACKS EVERY DAY, AND DIET HOLIDAYS
EVERY WEEK!

And finally to really get off that extra fat... to get you "as slim as a teenager" to the

Why you should take Contac® instead of other remedies when you have a cold:

If you take aspirin, you don't get any of the relief from sneezes, sniffles and nasal congestion that Contac gives.

If you take ordinary cold tablets, you don't get the continuous action against these symptoms that Contac gives.

If you take one of the new capsules, you don't get the tiny "time pills" that Contac (and only Contac) has.

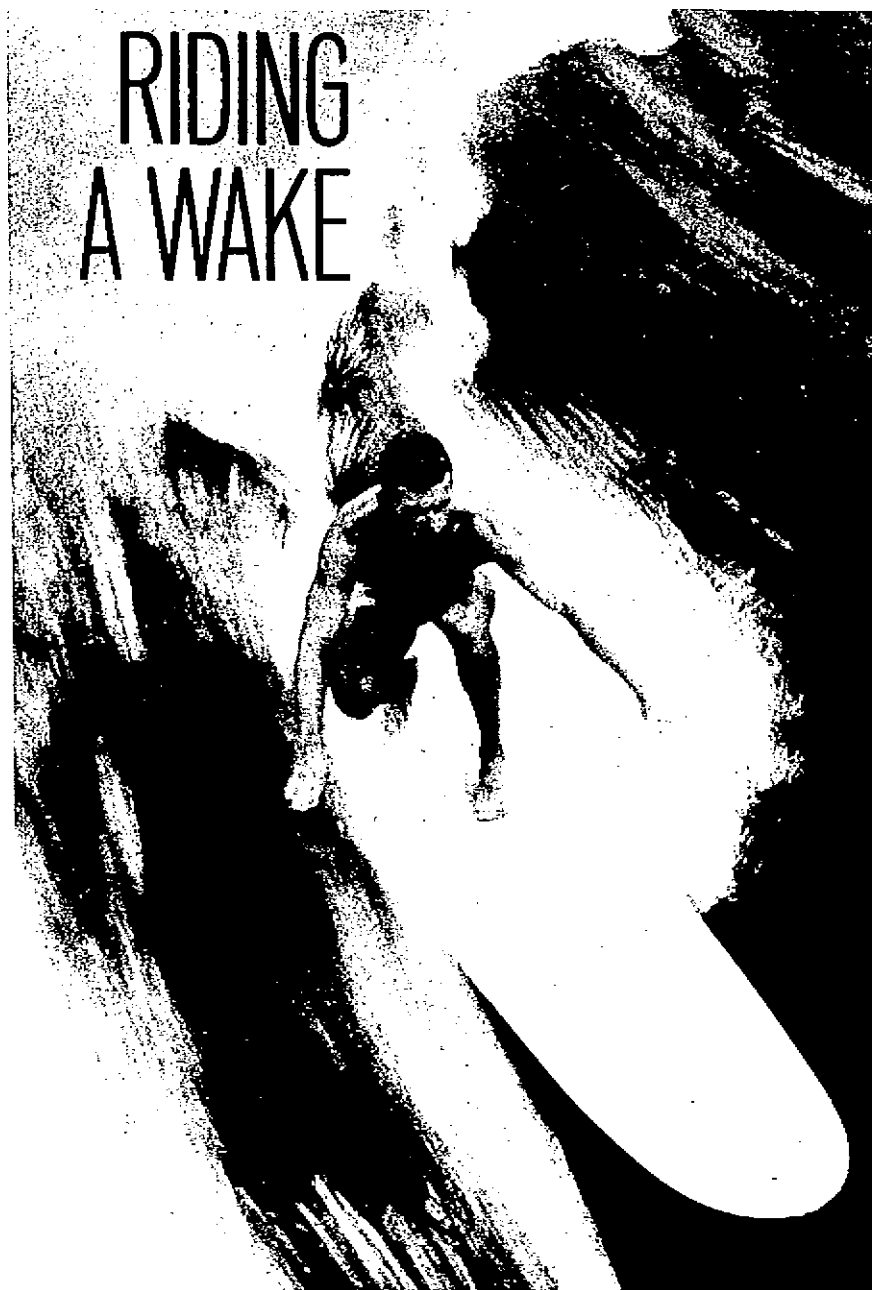

Nothing else does as much for head cold congestion as the tiny "time pills" in Contac. That's why it's today's largest-selling cold medication at your pharmacy. Now in a money-saving 20-capsule package too.

Full steam ahead! Crouching low for maximum speed, experts like Dick Scotter reach up to 20 mph.

The latest ripple in water sports is one which provides all the thrills—minus most of the spills—of big-sea surfing. It's called inland surfboarding and is ideal for all members of the family.

Professionals at this Florida resort came up with this new sport about two months ago, and it has caught on like wildfire. Inland surfing can be done on almost any lake or bay in the world. All you need, as these photos show, is a boat, a board, a bathing suit and a yen for excitement. Here's how it's done:

With a large outboard or any size inboard cruiser as tow boat, a surfboard and a ski rope tied to the side of the boat, the surfer tosses the board into the water, jumps in after it and grabs the ski rope. Then he gets onto the surfboard, stands up and throws away the rope, which is pulled back into the boat. The powerful

And finally, inland surfboarding is almost as much fun for those watching from the boat as for the riders themselves. A board, anyone?

Ready to begin surf ride, surfer gets her balance, still holding ski rope, then tosses it away to ride high and pretty.

Not long ago, a New York business executive began to behave very strangely. On working days, he was competent, charming and pleasant, but on Sundays he suddenly became extremely abusive, demanding, almost psychotic.

For a while his wife believed that her husband preferred his job to his home, was irritable because he would rather be with his friends at the office—maybe his secretary.

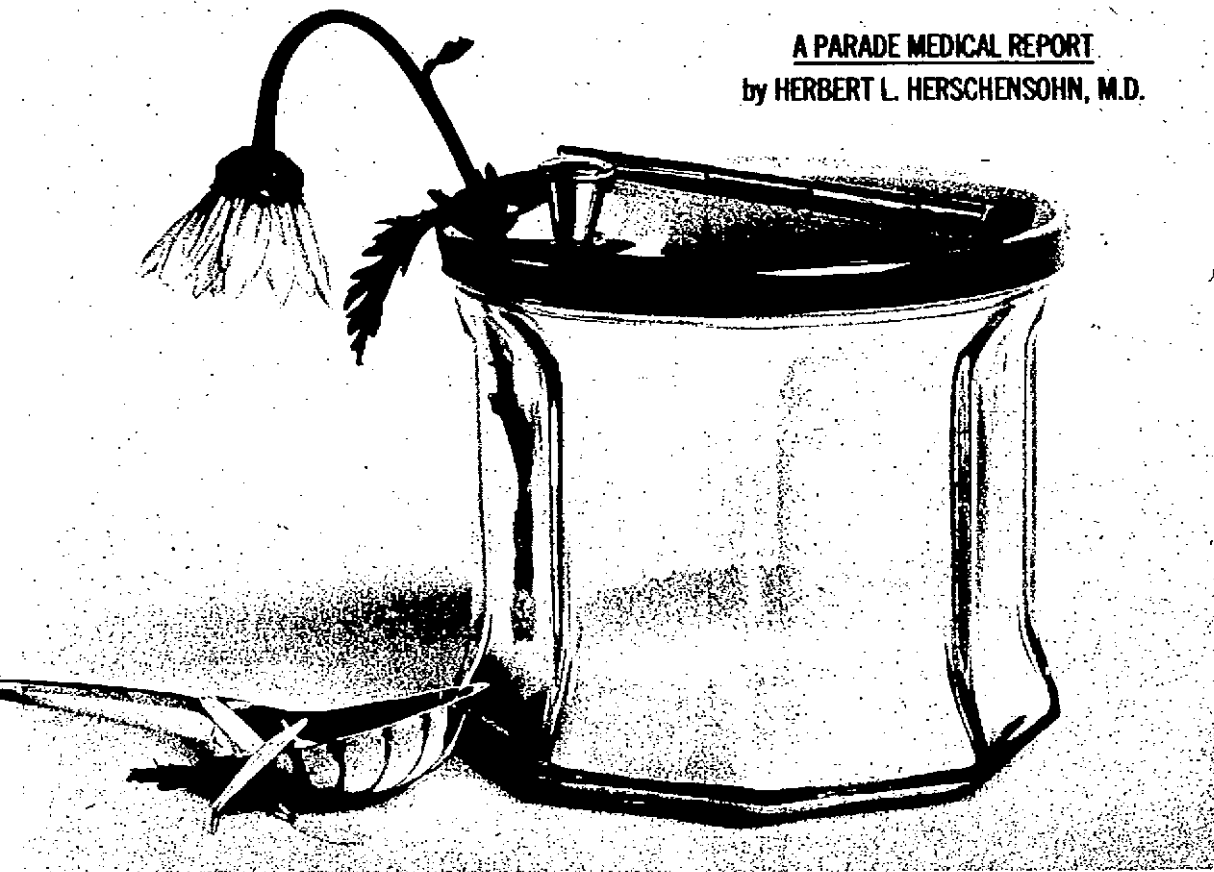

Then one day she took a long, cool look at the situation. There was a peculiar pattern to her husband's behavior. On Sunday, instead of getting up at the usual hour of 6 A.M., he slept until about 10. When he awoke he acted as irrational as a man who was intoxicated and stayed that way until he had had breakfast. Then, like magic, he was as charming and considerate as ever.

She discussed this with her family doctor, who gave her a suggestion. On the following Sunday, as soon as her husband opened his eyes, she gave him a glass of orange juice. He drank it, smiled and thanked her. There was no "psychotic" behavior that Sunday or any Sunday since.

The mystery was solved. The executive suffered a brain disturbance whenever the level of sugar in his blood was lower than normal—as was the case when his breakfast was delayed on Sunday mornings. The orange juice immediately restored the level of blood sugar—as well as his mind.

Hypoglycemia is the word used to indicate a low level of sugar in the blood. A recent report by the Mayo Clinic reveals that it is a far more common disorder than had been previously realized. Frequently misdiagnosed as a nervous or emotional disturbance, it is coming increasingly to the attention of personal physicians, whose patients complain of symptoms ranging from mere irritability to almost complete loss of coordination and orientation.

A PARADE MEDICAL REPORT
by HERBERT L. HERSCHENSOHN, M.D.

Some people are well aware of what happens to them when they have to wait too long between meals. One woman set her wedding mass at 7 in the morning instead of the customary 9 o'clock. She knew that if she went without food too long she would get a spell of uncontrollable laughter.

Why should lack of sugar in the blood affect the mind? Nerve tissue gets most of its energy from glucose, or sugar. However, since nerve tissue has only an insignificant amount of readily available glucose, it must have an adequate supply close by in the blood. When this supply is low, nerve tissue suffers immediately and dramatically.

SNACKS REDUCE STRESS

One mistake made by people subject to hypoglycemia attacks who are on diets is to give up their nighttime raids on the refrigerator. They undergo great mental anguish, wanting something to eat very badly, yet denying themselves this pleasure in order to lose weight. It would be far wiser to save a portion of dinner to eat at bedtime, thus adding no calories but preventing feelings of stress and anxiety. So many reducing diets fail because the compulsion to eat is too great for the mind to endure.

There are other reasons besides lack of food for this hypoglycemic effect on the mind. Insulin is manufactured in the pancreas and is necessary for the proper utilization of sugar. If the pancreas is diseased or otherwise disturbed, insulin production is hindered.

A 50-year-old man, who had been jealous of his wife ever since their marriage 30 years earlier, suddenly became paranoid. He suspected his wife of affairs with other men and of poisoning his food. Finally, after a violent quarrel, the couple separated.

Their son insisted that his father see a psychiatrist. The psychiatrist found no family or personal explanation for the psychotic behavior, and suggested that the man see his personal physician. The doctor discovered that he had a tumor of the pancreas, which was then removed.

The change in behavior was phenomenal. Although the man was still jealous, all evidence of paranoia disappeared. The family was reunited. Fortunately, in this case the tumor was removed in time. If the diagnosis had not been made early enough, the damage to his mind could have been permanent.

Another cause of "psychosis" due to hypoglycemia is an unaccustomed burst of exercise or strenuous physical exertion.

A sales manager decided to start a physical fitness program at a local health club for his sales force. One cheerful, slap-happy salesman who went to the club every week returned to his office, after exercising, feeling surly, depressed and confused. He argued with customers and lost sales. The manager discussed this strange personality change with the doctor who was medical advisor for the health club. The doctor had an idea.

The following week the salesman performed the gym exercises, played handball and got his usual rubdown. This time, before leaving the club, he was given a tall glass of soft drink and told to drink all of it. He returned to his office, feeling his usual jubilant self.

A RESTORING DRINK

What had happened was this. The sudden, unaccustomed physical exertion used up too much blood sugar, and hypoglycemia resulted. The sweet beverage restored the blood sugar to its normal level before the mind had time to be adversely affected.

Most of us can wait hours between meals and not become emotionally or physically distressed. Unfortunately there are many who cannot. They suffer from repeated hypoglycemic episodes which cause friends and relatives to tell them, "It's all in your head." Or they may be told that the nervous symptoms they are experiencing are due to "change of life," tension headaches or maladjusted sex life.

If attacks are quickly cured by something sweet or by a meal—whether symptoms occur on Saturday nights, Sunday mornings or any hour of the week—hypoglycemia should be seriously considered as a possible cause. And a physician should be consulted immediately, in case the attacks are due to disease or disturbance which could cause permanent damage.

New Winegard Antenna Development for Better TV Reception!

excellent for Color
and
Black and White

Winegard engineers have developed a super-sensitive TV antenna that increases the amount of signal that gets to your TV set... at the same time knocks out ghosts, snow and other interference.

This unusual antenna is the gold anodized Winegard Colortron. It will give you sharply detailed TV pictures for color or black & white sets... even in difficult reception areas. It will pull in TV pictures hardly visible with ordinary antennas. And it is so powerful, you can operate 2, 3 or more TV sets from one Colortron antenna.

The Winegard Colortron works two ways to give you better reception. First, a patented Electro-lens design intercepts more signal. Second, a powerful electronic power pack amplifies the signal. The result is the finest possible reception.

Colortrons are rugged, too. Wind tested to 100 mph. Permanent GOLD ANODIZED finish won't weather-wear—stays like new for years.

For the best reception, insist on a Winegard Colortron. Four models from $24.95, electronic power pack extra... satisfaction guaranteed.* Ask your TV service dealer or send coupon for full story.

MOTHER OF FIVE

Where? Why out in the bright, spirited air. A bit of nip doesn't mean you have to skip baby's daily constitutional unless it's sleety, snowy or really frigid. Any baby over 10 pounds adjusts well to the cold and will reap the sweet rewards of good appetite and glowing color from daily outings. Jack Frost preparation pointers:

- Baby should be dressed warmly but loosely. Tight bundling restricts movement, possibly circulation, which may lead to chilling.
- Before venturing out, get yourself set before dressing baby. A smidgen of lotion on baby's face will protect petal-soft skin.
- Best airing hours for wee ones are between 10 A.M. and 2 P.M. feedings. You can be more flexible with an older tot.

Crisp-weather menu cues. No doubt about it... outdoorsing calls for a hearty bill of fare. Gerber Strained and Junior High Meat Dinners fill the bill beautifully, give baby a flavor bonus to boot. First, they have three times as much meat as regular vegetable-meat combinations. That means more protein for growing babies. Second, garden-good vegetables are added for flavor interest... subtle seasoning makes them extra palate-pleasing.

Toasty trick for an older tot. If your baby is at the open stroller stage you can keep toes cosy by slipping a pair of dad's woolen socks over his shoes or snowsuit.

Inside information. A baby who is up and about will fare best in a comfortably warm room, with the temperature not exceeding 74 degrees.

Nutrition notation from Dan Gerber. "As you probably know, protein makes a big contribution to your baby's growth. And the most effective protein is that which provides all the essential amino acids (vital protein substances) needed to maintain normal growth. Gerber High Protein Cereal is a good example of a single food containing all the needed amino acids. What's more, they're scientifically balanced to go to work most efficiently for your baby—the result of Gerber research on protein values."

For your baby's well-being: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

Ready for visiting royalty treatment, American Nat Thayer is helped out of his jacket at Japanese inn.

After drink of green tea, a bath, by custom, comes next for Thayer, press attaché to the U.S. ambassador.

Comfortable in kimono, Thayer enjoys welcome restfulness of garden surrounding the inn. Maids wait, ready to serve.

THE JAPANESE INN: WHERE A MAN IS STILL KING

by BERNARD KRISHER

TOKYO.
All too often, a man in this coldly systematized age feels like an IBM card, a statistic, a head of livestock herded through the entrance and out the exit. But here in Japan, an institution still flourishes in which a man is treated as he likes to be treated—like a king.

It's the Japanese country inn. Encircled by lovely gardens or resting beside mountains or lakes, it has been a tradition in Japan since feudal times. From the moment you arrive at one, leaving your shoes and your troubles at the doorstep as the owner or manager and maids smile and bow in greeting, the emphasis is on service.

Nat Thayer, the young American pictured here, was recently the happy object of all this fuss at the Tofuya Inn at Yoshino Spa, four hours from Tokyo. As he discovered, the treatment starts when you are helped into a pair of slippers and relieved of your luggage by one of the charming, kimono-clad maids, then ushered to your straw-matted room. The maid assists you out of your clothes and into your own kimono. While she draws your bath, you sit on a soft pillow on the floor and drink green tea.

Later, you pull up a cushion to the low, cocktail-height table in your room to dine. A maid gracefully serves your dinner, which may include turtle soup (drunk out of the bowl), steamed egg custard, broiled fish, boiled rice and pickles. As you eat, the maid sits close by, filling your glass and replenishing your rice bowl. If it's warm, she may fan you.

MASSAGED & TUCKED IN

Before retiring, you can enjoy the relaxing ministrations of a masseuse for just $1.15 per hour. A maid will have spread your thick quilt upon the floor and now will tuck you in.

A stay at an inn—the Japanese word is ryokan—affords an authentic look at interior Japan. The industrious Japanese, who work 48 to 60 hours a week and average only 3 days' vacation a year, throng to the inns in small groups on weekends.

After the arrival bath, they dine amid boisterous talk, laughter and much drinking of sake. Following a walk through the local community, in kimonos and wooden clogs, they return for games of pool or ping-pong before bedtime.

Usually, four or five Japanese traveling together occupy a room, although Westerners are accommodated one to a room. Rates vary from $5 to $10 a day per person, including breakfast and dinner. Most inns add a 10 per cent service charge, plus 10 per cent tax.

Japan's inns do lack many of the comforts of America. You don't have running water in every room. No ham and eggs for breakfast. The staff won't be able to speak English. You sleep on the floor. There is no bathroom, floor show, cars to rent or shopping arcade in the lobby.

But the considerate attention will be a revelation to all travelers who feel that service has become a lost art.

Even this rare vestige of attentive hospitality is under attack. Many Japanese complain the inns extend an "excess of service." Some tourist agencies steer visitors away from them and into new Westernized hotels in the belief that these travelers feel more comfortable in familiar surroundings. Some sensitive proprietors have tried to modernize the inns, spoiling their charm by introducing air conditioning, TV and foam rubber mattresses in every room.

MORE APPEAL THAN BUDDHA

But most of the inns retain their ancient appeal. Many Westerners find them a more rewarding attraction than Japan's historically or architecturally significant outdoor Buddha at Kamakura, the Golden Pavilion in the old capital of Kyoto or the temples of Nikko. Especially when the manager and the maids line up as you depart, bow and call "sayonara." It's treatment to a king's taste!

Bisquick

Look, what you can make with Bisquick.
Family favorites—quick to make—
Commanded good and that's a promise.
Betty Crocker

PANCAKES
2 cups Bisquick 1 1/2 cups milk
1 egg
Beat smooth with rotary beater.
Cook on griddle if necessary. Turn when bubbles appear. Makes about 18. Use 2 cups milk for thinner
pancakes.

VELVET CHEESE CAKE
1 1/2 cups Bisquick 1 cup vanilla
1/2 cup sugar 1 egg
1/2 cup milk
Heat oven to 350°. Grease and flour 8" square or 9" round pan.
Mix 1/2 cup of the milk with other ingredients. Beat 1 min. and spread on butter or vigorously by hand.
Sift in rest of milk; beat 15 min.
Pour in pan. Bake 35 to 40 min.
While warm, cover with topping.
Topping: Mix 1/2 cup soft butter, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 2 tsp. cream, 1/2 cup coconut, 1/2 cup chopped nuts. Spread on half of cake. Put about 1/2" under broiler until brown, about 3 min.
*Over 2,500 ft. altitude, add 2 tsp.
milk. Bake at 175° 25 to 30 min.

COFFEE CAKE
1 cup Bisquick 1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar 1 egg
Heat oven to 400°. Mix ingredients.
Beat vigorously half min. Spread evenly in 9" round pan. Sprinkle with mixture of 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup Bisquick, 1/2 cup cold butter, 1/2 cup cinnamon. Blend with fork until crumbly. Bake 20 to 25 min.
For richer flavor add 2 tbsp.
more sugar, 2 tbsp. melted shortening or vegetable oil.

FRUITY SHORTCAKE
1 cup Bisquick 2 tbsp. sugar
1/2 cup cream 1/2 cup fruit
Heat oven to 450°. Mix ingredients with fork to soft dough. Beat vigorously 20 seconds. Knead 6 to 10 times on lightly floured board. Roll dough 1/2" thick. Cut with 3" diam.
cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet about 10 min. Split short-cakes, spread with butter and over berries. Makes 6 shortcakes.
*Over 2,500 ft. cap milk plus 1/4 cup melted butter.

WAFFLES
1 cup Bisquick 1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup sugar 1 egg
1/2 cup milk
Beat with rotary beater until smooth. Makes three 9" waffles.

BISCUITS
1 cup Bisquick 1/2 cup milk
Heat oven to 450°. Roll to a soft dough with fork. Beat vigorously 10 strokes with stiff but sticky.

DINNER ROLLS
2 cups Bisquick 1/2 cup milk
Mix milk with fork. Sprinkle milk baking over. Cook over low heat 10 min. uncovered and 10 min. covered. Makes 18 to 20 dinner rolls.

Stamping machine

Vanity pole

Vertical rotisserie

Stamp and seal: Here's a handy little machine (top) to simplify and speed mailing chores—and save on lost and torn stamps. It holds standard roll of 500 stamps, automatically wets and sticks one on an envelope as fast as you press fingertip control. It also wets the envelope flap for quick sealing. $19.95. Lynn, Dept. PP, Box 83, Upper Montclair, N. J.

Vanity pole: Latest pole-type fixture is this vanity pole with mirror and make-up table (above, left). It takes little space, can go in bedroom, bath or dressing room, adjusts for 7'8" to 8'2" ceilings. In two finishes: chrome pole with white plastic table; or brass with walnut finish table. 14" x 34" mirror is shatterproof. $8.88 in stores. Snyder Mfg. Co., Dept. PP, 22nd & Ontario Sts., Philadelphia, Pa.

Vertical rotisserie: This vertical rotary broiler (above, right) takes less counter space than a dinner plate, yet can cook 2 broiler-size chickens or an 8-lb. rolled roast—and without basting. Turning spit and infrared heat impart rotisserie flavor to foods. Has handy wire basket for cooking vegetables, warming buns. $34.95. Gay, Dept. PP, 430 Teaneck Rd., Ridgefield Park, N. J.

8-end wrench: A new tool does the work of a whole set of socket wrenches. It's a handle with swivel ends that have 3/16", 1/4", 5/16", 3/8", 1/2", 5/8", 3/4", 1", 1 1/4", 1 1/2", 1 3/4", 2" sockets. No search for the right socket; it's always on the handle. Useful for car, boat, mower, etc. $4.95. Witherby Products, Dept. PP, 105 Duane St., New York 8, N.Y.

Woman of the cloth, the Rev. Marie Hubbel, stands before her new church.

the LADY is a

Most people think of a minister as an imposing paternal figure with a deep bass voice, wearing a clawhammer coat. The pastor of the Good Shepherd United Presbyterian Church here, however, is vastly different from all stereotypes. As the photos on these pages show, Good Shepherd's clergyman is a slender, attractive woman named the Rev. Marie Hubbel.

Marie Hubbel, in her early 40s, represents something new in Christian churches. She is one of 33 women ordained by the United Presbyterian Church and one of a growing number of women occupying pulpits in churches the country over. Within the last few years, churches have begun to lift the bars that long relegated women to second-class membership, and today virtually all major U.S. Protestant denominations admit them to the clergy. The recent Vatican Council discussed the possibilities of increasing the role of women in the Roman Catholic Church.

Even among the handful of women in the clergy, Marie Hubbel is unusual. Whereas most women clergy are assigned as assistant pastors in charge of music or the Sunday school, she has her own parish. She handles all the regular duties of any minister. She counsels the troubled, prays for the sick, administers the sacraments and performs weddings.

Actually, Miss Hubbel has been serving as a kind of unofficial clergyman for years. After graduating from McCormick Theological Seminary, she became a Presbyterian Sunday school missionary, organizing first education programs and then parishes in Houston, Albuquerque and in Albion, Calif. She came to McKinleyville in 1958, started a Sunday school and then a church from scratch. When the time came to appoint a permanent minister, the congregation urged her to apply for ordination, and to stay. "I prayed about it, thought about it, finally concluded that my work was not done here, and so I stayed," she says.

As a woman doing what is usually thought of as a man's job, Miss Hubbel confesses she has her problems. She finds, for example, that some men in this logging country are unwilling to attend a church with a woman pastor, or to work for such a church. She also finds some members of the congregation unwilling to ask her for pastoral help. They seem to feel, she says, that they will shock her.

On the other hand, the Good Shepherd Church has made real progress under her direction. It recently moved into a new, A-frame building; its per-capita contributions are the largest in the Presbytery. Although membership is on a plateau, this is partly accounted for by a stiff educational course for prospective members. About half the congregation now are young, energetic couples. And Good Shepherd, thanks to Miss Hubbel and some aggressive church officers, has been chosen for a pilot project on how the church can best put across its message in a changing world.

"She is a wonderful pastor; no man could be better," says one of her church members, a man, but Miss Hubbel shies from the comparison. "I wouldn't urge any woman, as a woman, to enter the clergy," she says. "You do what God wants you to do. I see almost as many differences among male ministers as I do between women and men."

Business head of church, Miss Hubbel meets with trustees. The church is partly supported by mission funds.

Friend of the young, Miss Hubbel exchanges quips during coffee hour. The town has many young families.

LESLIE BLANCHARD WITHINGER STEVENS, STAR OF "THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER," CLAIROL'S NEW WEDNESDAY-EVENING SERIES ON ABC-TV

A famous haircoloring artist tells why you should use a special colorfast shampoo if you color or lighten your hair

"The more beautiful your haircoloring, the more important it is to keep it beautiful," says Leslie Blanchard of New York, Color Director for Antoine Salon, Saks Fifth Avenue, and originator of many exciting haircoloring effects. "We use color to achieve the utmost in flattery for a woman—to play up her best features, and add life and elegance to the simplest styling.

"With haircoloring so important, naturally I like it to stay the way I designed it, clear and fresh looking. I don't want to see it turn cloudy or change after a shampoo or two."

When asked how he handles this important shampoo problem, Mr. Blanchard explained, "Now we have a very special answer in new Clairol Shampoo. It's special because it's colorfast—that is, it won't change hair color."

Very different from other leading shampoos, new colorfast shampoo by Clairol was specifically created for women who color or lighten their hair. In two unique formulas: Clairol Blue for all light delicate blonde shades of lightened and toned hair. Clairol Green for all red, brown and black shades of tints and lasting rinses. So you see, however you color your hair, one of these two is exactly right for you! Used by leading beauty salons everywhere. Now available at fine cosmetic counters.

my favorite jokes

by ALLAN DRAKE

EDITOR'S NOTE: Allan Drake, originally from Boston, wanted to become a prize fighter. At age 18, however, he changed his mind, ran away from home and settled in Miami Beach. There he became the youngest cab driver in town. To hear Drake tell it, cabbies have more laughs than any other occupational group. Two of his passengers, comedians Jackie Miles and Lenny Kent, became his friends and ultimately got him into show business. Both these men gave Drake enough material with which to work up an act, then got him a job at the Arcadia Lake Hotel. Drake has been working as a comic ever since and appears regularly at the top night spots throughout the country. One of his latest dates was at the Flamingo in Las Vegas, where he told the following jokes:

I do my act in Las Vegas a good deal, and I've finally decided that gambling is an emotional disease. A friend of mine made millions of dollars in the dress industry, but because he was a bad gambler, he was a bad businessman. He never paid his bills on time. He postdated his checks. He signed his notes in advance. And even when he died, it said on his tombstone, "Here lies Sam Schwartz—died April 1st as of the 15th."

A woman on a television audience-participation show was asked the name of her favorite author.

"Why, it's my husband," she replied.

"Your husband?" questioned the interviewer. "What does he write?"

The woman smiled brightly, then answered: "Checks."

Last year I took up gardening as a hobby. So this year I have a brand-new lawn, two new cherry trees, gorgeous flowers and beautiful hedges. I find it all a little uncomfortable, though, as I only have a three-room apartment!

Because I am a little crowded in such a small apartment, I went to a real estate dealer last week and said I wanted to buy a home. He showed me a beautiful old Early American house and asked: "What do you think of it, Mr. Drake?"

"I like it," I told him, "but I really had in mind a split level home."

"Mr. Drake," he said, "just give it time."

I've finally figured out what separates the men from the boys—it's the price of their toys!

Parents nowadays are too busy even to punish their kids! Mothers are running to bingo games. Fathers are running off to golf courses and bowling alleys. Before they leave the house, they just say: "Son, we left a strap on the bed. If you do something wrong, hit yourself six times."

The principal of the school my neighbor's son attends says he will spend his next summer vacation with the Cosa Nostra. He wants to know how it feels to be with an organization that's had only one dropout in 30 years!

"My wife and I have been very happily married for 12 years," said a man to his friend at a stag party. "We go out twice a week and have steak, imported wine, soft music and candlelight."

"Cee," said his friend with admiration, "that's wonderful!"

"It sure is," answered the married man. "She goes out on Tuesdays, and I go out on Fridays."

ANECDOTE OF THE WEEK

■ Famed editorial cartoonist Herblock (Herbert Block) picked up his phone and a cheery voice said: "If you can answer just one question correctly we'll give you 10 free dancing lessons."

Dancing lessons—free or paid—were the last thing in the world Herb wanted, but he was curious.

"Okay," he said. "What's the question?"

"What's the name of the first President of the United States?"

"Gee," said the two-time Pulitzer Prize winner. "May I call you back?"

"Yes. But I can give you only 15 minutes," said the quiz master.

Two hours later Herblock phoned back. "I've got it! It was Thomas Jefferson." "Congratulations!"

"STRIKE IT RICH" with this PROSPECTOR'S PACKET of exotic rocks, minerals and gems

QUARTZ
Is the most abundant of all minerals and is found in many rocks. It forms crystals, but this variety comes from veins.

MARBLE
The "perfect medium" for sculpture. When polished, it closely resembles the texture of human skin.

GARNET
Is a gem mentioned in the Bible. Crystals are common in the rock called schist, which once was hardened mud.

IRON PYRITE
The lazier is "fool's gold," because its yellow glitter has deceived many an unwary seeker of gold.

STAUROLITE
Is sometimes found in form of cross-shaped double crystals. They are prized as good-luck charms.

ASBESTOS
This fibre-like mineral can be woven into fireproof fabrics. The ancient Greeks used it for wicks of sacred oil lamps.

MAGNETITE
Is a rich ore of iron. It can be picked up by a magnet, like iron or steel. Your sample will deflect a compass needle.

FLUORITE
Occurs in veins in limestone and several other rocks. Once carved into ornaments, it now is used as a flux in steel making.

SPHALERITE
An ancient superstition says that this mineral grows larger and smaller along with the waxing and waning of the moon.

CHRYSOCELLA
When cut and polished, it is often set in jewelry. Chrysocolla is a copper mineral found in many Western mines.

BORNITE
A copper ore, also called Peacock Ore because when broken it will change from coppery color to blue and red.

Only a few years ago, Vernon Pick, a prospector, found an outcropping of uranium ore (Life Magazine, Nov. 1, 1954) which he sold for ten million dollars. You may not be able to duplicate this prospector's "strike"—but when you can identify rocks, minerals and gems, the countryside near your own home becomes a world of natural wonders. Every boulder, cliff and hillside tells you a fascinating story!

You can recognize the flint from which the Indians made their arrowheads...the kind of rocks that show the impression of prehistoric animals... "frozen" lava flows from old volcanoes... meteorites of metallic iron and nickel that came from outer space... gold in "native" flakes... rare jade and aquamarine... even emeralds and diamonds. You can tell the rock formations that contain iron... copper... and other ores. Yes, you can become an amateur "prospector" and start a rock collection as an exciting hobby.

All this information is yours in the Audubon Nature Program's illustrated Album Guide, "Rocks, Minerals, Gems," which, along with your collection of named specimens, is part of the huge 4-part Gift Package you receive for 10 cents.

With your introductory package for 10¢

you will also receive the current Audubon Nature Program Album Set for which you will be billed only $1.00 plus a few cents shipping.

Enjoy the wonders of our world with this program. No obligation to continue!

You are under no obligation to continue with the program after you receive your introductory package. You may discontinue your membership at any time. But we're certain that once you are acquainted with these thrilling albums, they will become a wonderful, eagerly anticipated adventure for your whole family. One month, a friendly guide will take you on a safari through the game-filled plains of East Africa... another time you will dive below the surface of the sea to observe the incredible forms of marine life. The entire program is under the distinguished sponsorship of The National Audubon Society. The cost is pleasantly low, too: only $1.00 for each album and series of photo prints, plus a few cents shipping. We have just a limited number of collections on hand. May we suggest that you make sure of receiving yours by sending for it today. Mail coupon to: The Audubon Nature Program, Garden City, N. Y.

Woman Aeronaut Missing in Catalina Channel Race

6 BALLOONS FALL IN SEA

A woman balloonist was reported missing late Saturday by the Coast Guard as the first Annual Catalina Channel Balloon Race ran into fog, brisk winds and heartbreak.

One racer crashed into a hillside near Avalon and six others plunged into the sea.

Ed Yost of Sioux Falls, S.D., waded ashore near San Clemente to claim victory in the race.

Reported missing by the Coast Guard is Mrs. Barbara Keith of Hartford, Conn.

Race officials identified her as a member of the Balloon Club of America and the Parachute Club of America. They said Mrs. Keith, grandmother of three, was the second person to get aloft from the golf course at Avalon at 2:07 p.m.

Late Saturday, George Bookasta, a sponsor of the race, said he had received reports that Mrs. Keith had been found "somewhere near San Diego."

However, the Coast Guard said it had checked out this report and "could not confirm it."

"We are going on the assumption that she is missing and we have aircraft and cutters searching the area between Catalina and the mainland."

"The Navy has joined the search and we are officially calling for a 'maximum effort in this search.'"

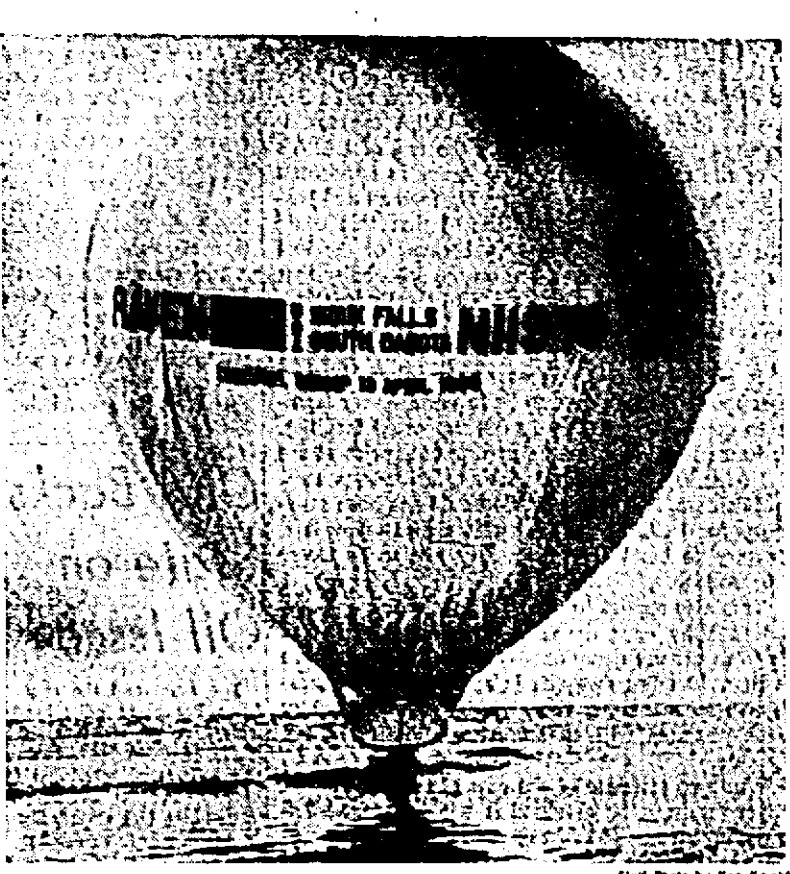

Mrs. Keith, whose age was not known to race officials, is the only woman balloon owner in the United States.

The Coast Guard said that among those dunked in the sea during the race Saturday were screen actor Cliff Robertson and stunt pilot Frank Tallman, who were riding one balloon.

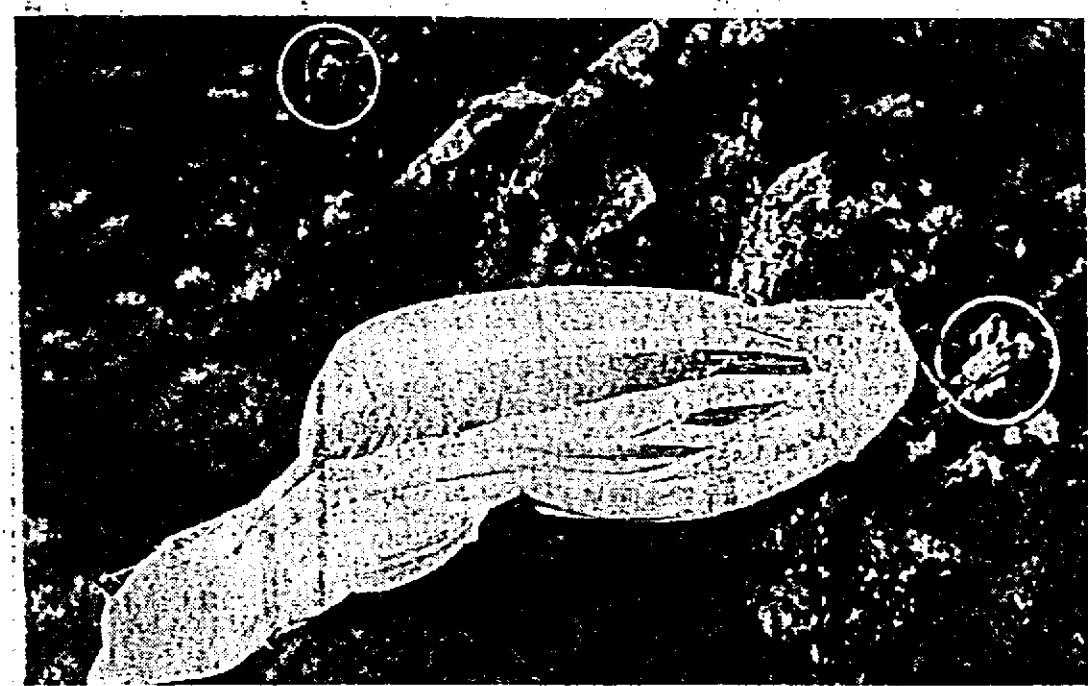

The Coast Guard said the pair was picked up by a private boat and taken to Oceanside.

The first balloon to fall was piloted by Don Piccard, scion of the famed balloonist family and himself holder of most of the world's balloon altitude records.

His balloon skimmed the top of a home on a hill above Avalon shortly after take-off and he was barely

Mend Cut Lines To 5,000 Phones

General Telephone Co. repairmen were still busy early today trying to return service to normal in Rolling Hills and Rolling Hills Estates where more than 5,000 telephones had been out of service because of cable damage.

G. A. Woods, public relations director for the company, said service to 127 "critical" customers was interrupted in the Frontier 7 exchange when cables on Palos Verdes Peninsula were cut with hacksaws.

Woods said telephone communications with the Air Force SAGE warning installation, the Army Nike defense-missile base and the U.S. Coast Guard peninsula transmitter were broken when 10 cables were sawed through near an automatic switching

ATLANTA (AP)—At least 75 persons were arrested Saturday night in two racial demonstrations in downtown Atlanta after Negroes picketed a restaurant in which several Ku Klux Klansmen were having coffee.

Thirty were arrested in a melee outside the Krystal Restaurant on Marietta Street.

At least 45 more persons were arrested outside the city jail where they had gone to protest the first arrests.

POLICE SAID they arrested the second group, members of civil rights organizations, after they refused to move on. Officers said the second group raised a loud protest outside the jail.

The first group included 27 Negroes and three white persons. They were charged with disorderly conduct.

A spokesman for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee said the second group was singing freedom songs outside the city jail and then some of them sat down in a nearby parking lot. After the arrests some walked and some were carried to jail.

87 Die in Formosa Quake, 320 Injured

TAIPEI, Formosa, Sunday (AP)—A sharp earthquake that rocked Formosa Saturday killed 87 persons, injured 320 and left thousands homeless, the nationalist government reported today.

In Chiayi, a huge fire destroyed 124 houses.

No Americans or other foreigners were reported among the casualties.

The weather bureau said that the sharpest tremors that hit Tainan, the former capital, were grade five in the ascending scale of six used in Formosa. At Chiayi they were grade four and in Taipei grade three.

The quake continued for 30 minutes after the first hard jolts.

Buildings in Taipei, a city of more than one million persons, shuddered under the impact but there were no reported casualties or major damage.

Throughout Formosa thousands fled into the streets.

Press dispatches said 32 persons were killed in the Tainan area and more than 100 injured. Eight were dead in Chiayi and more than 100 injured. More than 300 houses collapsed. Most of those killed were felled by flying debris.

The Chiayi fire apparently was started by overturned charcoal stoves.

Nationalist Chinese armed forces worked through the night aiding the injured and the homeless.

Tainan, a city of 250,000, is an economic center with a big Nationalist air force base.

Rail and highway communications were cut in the Chiayi area and electric light and power service was interrupted at Tainan for two hours.

Tainan, near the Formosa Strait, is 160 miles south of Taipei.

Founded by the Dutch in 1650, it became Formosa's capital in 1662 under the name of Taiwanfu. The name was changed to Tainan when the government was transferred to Taipei in 1865.

ONE ENGINE KNOCKED OUT

7 Hurt as Turbulence Hits Jetliner

CLEVELAND (AP)—An American Airlines jet with 87 passengers aboard ran into severe turbulence over the New Mexico-Colorado border Saturday, injuring four passengers and three stewardesses.

The plane, with one of its four engines out, continued to Cleveland, where one passenger was hospitalized and the other injured were treated and released.

The plane, a Boeing 707, was on a flight from Los Angeles.

Airport operations at Cleveland Hopkins Airport said the plane made a routine landing.

Pilot of the plane was Capt. H. Schmidt of Los Angeles. He said the throttle failed to respond on the right engine after the turbulence shook the plane.

One of the passengers said the turbulence had been sighted on radar and the passengers were told to fasten their seat belts. The passenger said trays and other objects flew from their compartments.

The flight from where the trouble started to Cleveland took about two hours.

Charles Harris, manager of the airline here, said it was decided to continue to Cleveland rather than land because none of the injuries appeared serious.

Kept at Fairview Park Hospital was Mrs. Blanche Harris of Euclid, a Cleveland suburb, who suffered a fractured vertebra in her back.

A physician on the plane suggested the pilot continue to Cleveland.

Sprinkle Ends Long Drought

After two months of unbroken drought the rains came—but not much nor for long. In Long Beach Saturday it amounted to .12 inch.

The prediction for today is no rain in the area except for scattered showers in the foothills. Persons nostalgic for snow can find it at the 5,000 foot elevation.

M'NAMARA SEES RUSS SUBS AS THREAT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Looking to 1970, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara believes that the greatest increase in military threats from Soviet Russia will be in nuclear-powered submarines and long-range reconnaissance and attack capabilities.

That is why, the Pentagon's civilian chief explained to a critical congressional atomic committee, he decided against spending $160 million more to provide nuclear power for the Navy's new aircraft carrier for which Congress voted $250 million for conventional power.

In testimony taken in October and November and released in censored form Saturday by the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, McNamara stressed these points:

1. Large aircraft carriers, pride of Navy admirals and aviators, have a relatively low priority in over-all defense needs. The secretary ranked the controversial new carrier in 7th place.
2. The big increase in costs of fighting ships "is pricing the Navy out of the market. There are other ways of doing these jobs."
3. A nuclear-powered Navy has advantages.

See McNamara reveals critical shortage of fighter and transport planes during Cuban crisis in 1962. See story on Page A-19.

over other power but the added costs must be reduced.

4. The United States could afford to spend as much as $50 billion a year on defense—compared to recent costs of about $50 billion—but the secretary thinks this is unnecessary.

Sharp differences with McNamara's views on nuclear power for the future Navy and the strategic value of aircraft carriers were voiced by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., chairman of the committee.

McNamara announced last Oct. 25 that the new aircraft carrier would use conventional propulsion. The closed committee hearings followed on Oct. 30 and 31, with naval officials and admirals urging a shift to nuclear power, and McNamara rejecting this at a closed session Nov. 13.

Pastore held that the Pentagon should ask Congress to reverse its previous decision and order nuclear power for the new carrier.

He asked also that all future major surface ships for the Navy use nuclear power.

McNamara said defense planning must meet probable future threats and argued that between now and 1970 "you can be fairly sure of two things":

"One is more Soviet nuclear-powered submarines. The other is greater Soviet capabilities for long-range reconnaissance and long-range attack."

Both "endanger an aircraft carrier substantially," McNamara said. He added that countering U.S. forces should include more U.S. killer submarines, and many patrol and similar smaller surface vessels.

For the next five or six years, McNamara said, he expects the Navy will continue to require some 600 fighting ships for its global missions. Although he gave aircraft carriers a low priority, he indicated two or more would be built, adding:

"I don't know whether they will be conventional or nuclear. I hope they will be nuclear."

"I believe this nation is wealthy enough to buy whatever defense we require to maintain our security," he said. "I don't think it makes any difference from that point of view whether it is $40, $50, or $80 billion."

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

LBJ Asks Nikita to Support U.N.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson sent a message to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Saturday urging increased use of United Nations peace-keeping machinery.

The message was handed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly E. Dobrynin.

It was in reply to a message Khrushchev had sent Johnson and a large number of other world leaders Jan. 3.

Khrushchev proposed that world powers sign a declaration renouncing the use of force in territorial disputes.

Johnson's reply was not expected to be made public until today or Monday when Khrushchev will have received it. The reply was understood to be more of a counter-proposal than a rejection of Khrushchev's plan.

McClosky Comes Home to Raise Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Matthew W. McCloskey, inventor of the $100-a-plate political-fund-raising dinner, has resigned as ambassador to Ireland and will help the Democratic Party raise money for the 1964 general election campaign, the White House announced today.

McCloskey's return from weariness of the green to raising it, marks the end of a political reward he got less than two years ago from another sentimental Irishman, John F. Kennedy. The ambassadorship was in appreciation of the millionaire Philadelphia contractor's notable success in raising huge sums of money for the party.

Johnson to Tell of High Prosperity

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson will tell Congress Monday that the U.S. economy soared to a record $600 billion level late in 1963. He will call for quick approval of the proposed $11.1-billion tax cut to bring greater prosperity this year.

White House sources said Saturday that Johnson also will picture Senate passage of the House-approved tax-reduction bill as the key to avoiding recession and spurring growth.

Panama Businessmen Warn U.S.

PANAMA CITY (UPI)—A committee of Panamanian businessmen warned the United States Saturday it must yield to Panamanian demands on the Canal Zone because Panama is not going to back down.

The committee said not only must current demands be negotiated but the United States must prepare for eventual withdrawal from the waterway, leaving it entirely under Panama's control.

The views were spelled out for U.S. and other foreign businessmen here by a committee of top Panama business, professional and industrial figures who formed what they called "The National Committee for Reaffirmation."

Their news-conference support for President Roberto Chirri's tough stand on the issue came as evacuated U.S. Embassy and Embassy-connected personnel waited in the zone for instructions from Washington on their next move in the deadlocked crisis.

Marine Engineers Idle Five Ships

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Marine engineers Saturday idled five West Coast ships, including the luxury liner President Wilson, by refusing to go to sea until they get greater pension benefits.

A spokesman for their union said the work stoppage was unauthorized.

Vessels affected were those whose owners are members of the Pacific Maritime Association. Conceivably, the work stoppage could tie up all 130 ships represented by the PMA on the West Coast.

Prankster Clips 'Hot Line' to Moscow

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI)—A prankster or thief, but not a saboteur, clipped in two the Moscow-Washington "hot line" set up last year to prevent an accidental atomic war between the world's nuclear giants, Finnish police said today. It was repaired quickly.

Police said someone cut a 20-foot chunk from the telegraph cable in the early hours of Jan. 9, west of Helsinki.

The cable, running above ground from Helsinki to a relay station at nearby Porkkala, carries the direct teleprinter "hot line" channel between the White House and the Kremlin and 11 other communication channels.

Truman Supports Sen. Young

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—U.S. Sen. Stephen Young Saturday picked up the support of former President Harry S. Truman as the senator began his re-election fight against the challenge of space hero John H. Glenn.

Truman, almost the only Democrat of consequence to support Young in his upset victory six years ago, told the senator's campaign manager in Cleveland he wanted to see Young returned to the Senate.

The showdown will come Monday afternoon when about 700 Democrats from all over the state meet in the ballroom where Glenn plunged into politics Friday to endorse candidates for the coming election.

4 Lost as Viet Reds Down U.S. Copter

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Communist gunners downed another U.S. helicopter and fought on Saturday against American-supported Vietnamese troops trying to wipe out Red bases in the Mekong River delta.

Two American crewmen, a Vietnamese and a British observer were listed as missing and believed dead in a helicopter incident at the mouth of the Mekong.

'Miss Wonderful' Abandoner Seen

Investigation of Saturday's later, Rev. Edwin Bonander, abandonment of six-week-old girl, "Miss Wonderful" at the doorway of Lakewood First Baptist Church revealed a resident of the area watched a woman leave the infant there, police said Saturday.

The witness, whose name was withheld, was to be interviewed by detectives who are seeking to trace the mother.

The infant, bundled in blankets, warmly dressed and provided with a suitcase of extra clothing and a market sack of full formula-bottles and canned milk, was abandoned early Saturday.

She was found after a woman called Mrs. Harold S. Carlson, whose husband is the minister, and reported the baby was at the church, 5336 Arbor Road.

L.B. Trio Rescues Them

MINISTER SAVES WIFE'S LIFE

By DONNELL CULPEPPER, Staff Writer
A Wilmington minister saved his wife from drowning in Lake Mead and they, in turn, were rescued from an isolated cove in below-freezing weather by three Long Beach persons in another boat.

All this occurred late in the afternoon of Jan. 10, but was not disclosed until late last week when the five participants returned to Long Beach.

HERE IS the strange sequence of events:

Rev. Vincent Irwin, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Wilmington, and his wife, Elaine, of 22821 Catskill, Wilmington, had taken their 23-foot trailer to Temple Bar, Lake Mead, for a fishing trip.

They embarked in their 12-foot aluminum boat and cruised into Monkey Cove.

At about 1:15 p.m. the pastor stood up in the boat to cast and suddenly tripped. Realizing he was going to fall overboard, he tried to dive so as not to upset the craft.

His foot caught the side and when he came up, he saw that the boat was capsized. Looking around frantically for his wife, he saw her down about five feet. He dived and brought her up to the boat.

She had been hurt and was semiconscious.

He got her into the life jacket and she gained consciousness, enough so she could cling to the boat. Irwin started swimming toward shore. It was at least an hour in 40-degree water before he was able to beach the boat and get his wife ashore.

MEANWHILE, back at Temple Bar, Walter E. Hoffman, Long Beach electrical contractor and a member of the Southern California Tuna Club, had set out in his boat with Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hurley, 4224 Pepperwood Ave., Lakewood, for a fishing trip.

They, too, cruised into Monkey Cove and, as usual, Walt kept the motor going even though they were casting for bass. Finally Mrs. Hurley told Walt they might have a better chance to catch fish if he cut the motor. He did, and it was then, just minutes before darkness, that they heard some one crying, "HELP, HELP, HELP!"

They saw a man, waving and yelling, on a high knoll. After Irwin had reached shore, he and his wife had set out on foot to try to reach Temple Bar, an impossible nine-mile hike over rough terrain at night. After walking on sharp rocks for an hour, the pastor left his wife and climbed the knoll.

HE HAD been screaming "HELP!" for some time before Walt cut the motor.

Hoffman and the Hurleys roared away to the shore and took on board Mrs. Irwin. The three men had a rough time in finally righting the boat and getting it into towing position.

The five persons finally returned to Temple Bar and, shortly thereafter, a howling gale started and the temperature dropped to 23 degrees.

While the Irwins' money, all their new fishing equipment and an expensive stay with the boat if it's float-night on the rocky ridges of camera. All in all, said the ing.

Those were material things. Our lives were spared by the good Lord and the help of Mr. Hoffman and his friends."

The strange sequence of events proved another thing: Always stay with the boat if it's float-

Men vs. Machines

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Machines that put men out of jobs are a growing worry to American labor. They have been a worry since John Henry, the legendary steel driver of the 1870's, tried to out-work a new-fangled steam drill and died with a hammer in his hand.

Today, rising concern over the problem of automation appears to be nearing something of a climax in the highest reaches of government, labor and industry.

Rep. William Fitts Ryan, D-N.Y., calling for a congressional study, warns of an approaching "economic revolution" as ever more men give way to automated production lines and electronic brains.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, and Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers chief, warn of the spectre of a chronic mass army of the unemployed they claim would make today's jobless total of 3.5 million look like a corporal's guard.

John I. Snyder Jr., head of a multi-million dollar company that makes automation equipment, says machines are replacing men at the rate of 40,000 jobs a week.

Meanwhile, the labor force grows at the rate of more than one million workers a year, the Labor Department says.

NO ONE, in short, disagrees that the problem is there.

Just how bad it is, and what to do about it, is something else again.

John Henry took the most direct approach, according to folklore wielding a 20-pound hammer in each hand to drill two seven-foot holes in solid rock faster than the rudimentary steam drill.

"A man ain't nothing but a man," John Henry told his foreman in the words of one folk song based on his exploits, "but before I let that steam drill beat me in the ground, I'll die with a hammer in my hand."

John Henry won but he died in the effort.

MEN NO longer risk their lives trying to compete physically with machines that threaten their jobs, but their economic survival is at stake.

Take the railroads of today, facing a crisis that has been building up for more than four years after Diesel engines replaced virtually all the old coal burners.

The railroads served notice they intended to eliminate some 50,000 jobs as unnecessary, bringing the long dispute to a head. Congress finally stepped in with an emergency law to avert a nationwide train strike compulsory arbitration.

The railroad problem could be a harbinger of a long series of future labor disputes over automation.

The AFL-CIO says unemployment and automation are the most vital problems facing U.S. labor. It has begun a political drive to elect throughout the nation men pledged to find a solution.

THE PROBLEM, says Reuther, is beyond the power of collective bargaining alone, he sees it this way:

"When you sit at the bargaining table . . . and you represent two workers and there is only one job, there is no magic in the bargaining process that can solve the problem."

What, then, would organized labor do to solve it?

Shorter hours, a bigger share for workers of the productivity increases from automation, broad government programs to educate the young and care for the elderly are some of the demands.

Reuther, quoting educator James B. Conant, says the approximately one million young persons who don't go to school and can't get a job are "social dynamite on America's doorstep."

THE NATION, Reuther says, will need 41 million new jobs in the next 10 years to take care of new young workers and offset job displacement by automation.

But "that's only the beginning," he said. "This is a whole new revolution because it's built around . . . the electronic brain." And the computer of today, with an impulse cycle of three-tenths of a millionth of a second, is already as obsolete as the Model T Ford he said.

JOHN I. SNYDER JR., president of U.S. Industries, automation producing concern, says it's a myth that automation creates jobs. If it were true "there would be no point in automating."

WALTER REUTHER, United Auto Workers chief: "When you sit at the bargaining table . . . and you represent two workers and there is only one job . . . no magic in the bargaining process can solve the problem."

SECRETARY of Labor W. Willard Wirtz calls the proposed $11 billion tax cut the best short-term solution to unemployment. He says it would spur activity.

For the long term, he favors a broad range of educational legislation to teach the young and unskilled how to compete in an increasingly technological job market.

But both solutions are bogged down in Congress and organized labor is becoming impatient.

THE PROBLEM worries industry too, for if jobs disappear, who will buy the rising flood of goods from the cornucopia of automation?

Snyder, president of U.S. Industries Inc., has formed a foundation to do something about it.

Snyder, whose firm produces a large percentage of automation equipment in its $100-million-a-year business, says "it is in the area of automation's effects on human beings that our foundation is focusing its primary attention."

But, he adds the problem is too large, too all-encompassing, too serious a responsibility not to be everyone's.

He called it a myth that automation creates jobs. If that were true "there would be no point in automating," he said.

"If we are to survive as a nation, we will need new sociological and economic ideas to solve the problems we face in this area," Snyder said.

The problem is long-term but men must live in the short term.

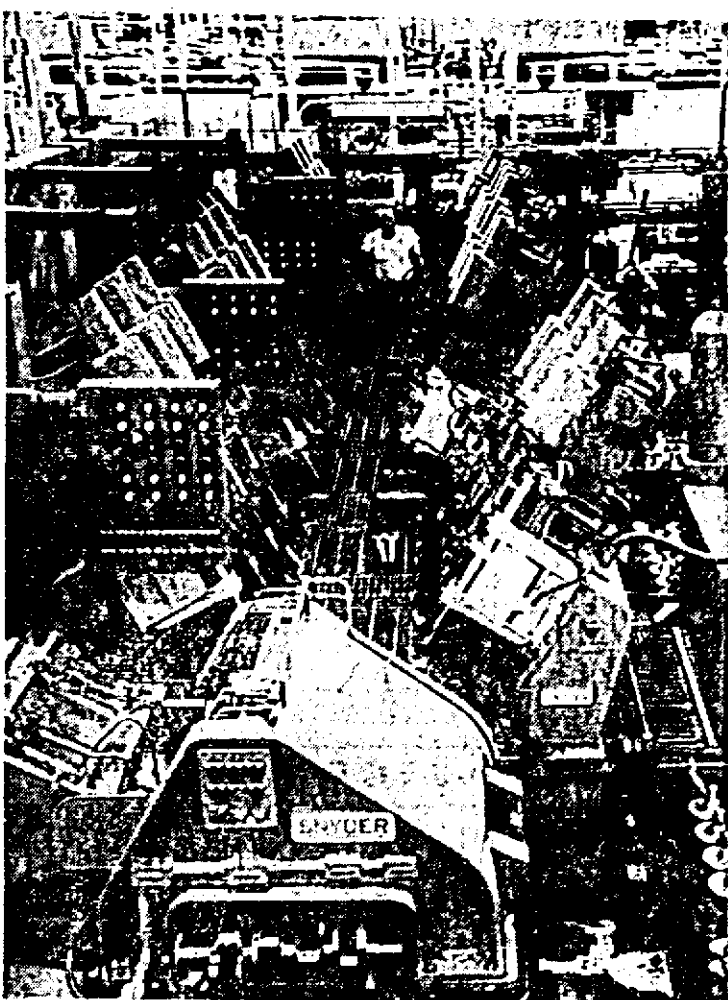

Reuther declares:

"The unemployed in America can't pay their rent and they can't feed their kids and they can't assure them of a decent education just because we have a great economic potential."

And labor appears in no mood to wait for long-term solutions while men continue to lose jobs to machines.

The railroad unions say they have already lost 500,000 jobs in the last 10 years to automation.

"Don't expect us to bear the full burden of this transition," says one union spokesman.

A SMALL PART of the growing army of unemployed workers line up for jobless pay insurance. Automation is bringing to a crisis point the old problem of displacement of men by machines.

JUDGE A MODEL OF COMPOSURE UNTIL HE ENTERS FREEWAY

L.A. Psycho Court Like No Other in the Land

The morning session had gone badly.

One woman flatly had told Superior Court Judge William A. Munnell that she wasn't crazy—he was.

Another wide-eyed defendant took issue with the court for claiming she was insane. You see, it's her mother they should be out looking for.

To a visitor in Department 95—Psychiatric Court—on the grounds of Los Angeles General Hospital, Judge Munnell was shockingly calm. He didn't argue with the women. His voice was sympathetic, almost inaudible.

JUDGE WILLIAM MUNNELL
Patience Personified

"YOU HAVE to realize," he said in his chambers at the noon break as he lit a cigar, "that these people are filled up to here with tranquilizers. Once they get out to the hospital and get some electrotherapy, they'll quiet down so the doctors can talk to them."

After two years on the bench of the unique court, Judge Munnell worries only that he may be losing his sense of humor and that "we jammed with personal his may not be doing all we can for the mentally ill because nosis of the case and recommendations, psychiatry, are such mendations.

tions. Is someone trying to put an elderly relative into storage in a state institution, at state expense? The wife that claims her husband is insane—did she dream that one up after a family quarrel?

At the afternoon session, there are no questions when five young men appear before Judge Munnell.

All are narcotic addicts. All have walked into the court voluntarily and said they are addicts. All say they can't fight the battle against narcotics by themselves, that they need help from the court.

JUDGE MUNNELL com-mits each to the California Rehabilitation Center at No-where a trained staff will treat them for addiction.

"Good luck, boy," Judge Munnell tells the first. He expresses similar feelings when he commits each of the others.

But now the worst part of the day has arrived. The imprisoned narcotic addicts have arrived in court, escorted by sheriff's deputies.

"Man, I want to go to prison, no hospital," one tells the judge.

"Man, you know every-thing," the prisoner snarls. "They'll help you at the center."

"Man, this court is for—" "Come back here," the judge says. A deputy helps the prisoner. "I'm postponing your case two weeks. I'll decide then."

(LATER, Munnell explains. "This might just be a one-day thing with this young man. He's upset, suffering from withdrawal from addiction. Two weeks will cool him off. Then, we'll see if his attitude has changed.")

The two psychiatrists argue over whether another person should be sent to the rehabilitation center.

"He has a police record of assaults," one debates. "He might be a bad apple at the center, stir up trouble."

"Well, his police troubles started when he began using narcotics," contends the other. "If we clear up the narcotics problem, I feel he will fall in line."

Munnell must decide. Prison or the treatment center?

"I'M SENDING him to the rehabilitation center," he says. "When he gets out there, he'll see the light."

The prisoners obviously is happy at the choice.

Russ, Peking Break Seems Complete

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI)—It is now apparent that the ideological rift between the Soviet Union and Communist China is a complete break.

The schism has been accepted by both Moscow and Peking and there is virtually no chance for patching things up under the present leadership.

From now on, the two Red giants will go it alone under their existing regimes. Such gestures as there have been toward reconciliation—more on the side of the Kremlin than China—have ended.

This is the meaning most diplomatic observers read into Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's current African tour and his week-long side trip to Peking's only real ally on the European continent, Albania.

CHOU COULD not have signalled Peking's determination to veer away from Moscow under Premier Nikita Khrushchev's leadership more clearly than he did earlier this month during his talks with Albanian chief Enver Hoxha. Their language, jointly and separately, left no doubt.

In his farewell remarks Chou put an equal curse on "revisionist (meaning Khrushchev's coexistence line) and imperialists." Both, he said, were paper tigers.

"Only revolution," Chou said, "can resolve the various contradictions in the world," thus directly contradicting Khrushchev.

According to Henry Shapiro, UPI chief correspondent in Moscow and dean of western correspondents there, Chou's words and actions on his trip have palpably demonstrated "that the Chinese intend to go their own way independently of the Russians, and prospects for reconciliation now are practically nil."

INFORMED observers in London, and Far East diplomats currently in Europe, agree completely.

"Chou," Shapiro notes, "has made it clear that Peking would continue to turn a deaf ear to Khrushchev's repeated appeals to end Sino-Soviet polemics."

There are now indications that the Russians are fed up with their own turning-the-other-cheek. They are expected to hit back shortly with a new blast against the mounting Chinese efforts to split the world Communist movement.

Peking, too, is planning a new offensive, according to current reports. These reports say Red China is preparing to establish a powerful radio transmitting station in Albania to bombard all Eastern Europe with its own ideological concepts, while attacking Moscow's.

This is conceived as something of a Voice of Red China beamed over and through the iron curtain in much the same manner as the Voice of America carries its message counteracting Moscow.

ONE THING that did not develop in Albania during Chou's visit was a meeting of pro-Chinese Communist leaders. This was taken as a further indication that if Peking had had any thoughts of trying to work out a compromise with Moscow—possibly by bringing pressure to bear from within the European or African Communist camps—the thought has been abandoned.

Moscow, on the other hand, is believed to be still considering calling a world conference of Communist parties for a final showdown with the Chinese. Shapiro reports there is some pressure on Khrushchev not to do this by Communists whose loyalty to Moscow is unquestioned, but who fear the damaging effects of an irreconcilable split with China.

Meanwhile, Chou is preaching in Africa the Peking theme of revolution against all remnants of colonialism and, less openly, pushing the racial conflict in which China is paired with the non-white races against the white—with Russia placed in the latter camp.

Reporter Made Undercover Investigation

CITY LOOKING INTO MASSAGE PARLORS

By WILLIAM JONES

On Friday the 13th last month, Long Beach Vice Squad Lt. Lew H. Jacobsen sat down with me and began a two-hour indoctrination course that was to change my identity.

The mission was to visit massage parlors in the weeks that followed posing as a regular customer.

During this indoctrination, I was told what to look like, what to say, and—eventually—what to report.

I was given a new name. And, with the help of a downtown Long Beach firm, I became a Singer Sewing Machine "salesman."

A few hours later, I sat in my car in front of the first massage parlor. In my pockets were wads of sewing machine literature. My wallet with proper identification was stored in the glove compartment.

I TOOK A HEALTHY mouthful from the bottle of cheap whiskey in my car, swished it around in my mouth and walked up to the door. ("The smell of alcohol on your breath should help you seem as a good-time Charlie, not an undercover man," they had told me.)

The house was as cheap as the whiskey. It needed a paint job as much as I needed nerves.

The woman who answered the door was blonde and about 35. There was the faint odor of perfume. Because of their work, masseuses generally keep their finger nails severely trimmed. But her nails were long, well-kept.

The furniture was cheap. There was little light in the house. A row of curtained cubicles took up most of the room. To the back, the door to the bathroom was open. In there, a red light bulb burned.

In most massage parlors, the customer undresses completely. He covers himself with a small towel. A good massage last 20 minutes or more. But in this case, the blonde was through within 20 minutes.

"Is there anything else I can do for you?" she asked. "No," I said, and my first assignment was done.

The police know about her. She has been arrested once for immoral conduct. But, because she has not been convicted, she is allowed to continue to practice.

OBTAINING A MORALS conviction of a masseuse in Long Beach is difficult and is becoming more so as high courts take a more sophisticated view of sex offenses.

In Long Beach, the problem is becoming more acute because of the influx of masseuses. This is because Long Beach is one of the few cities in Southern California which still allows a masseuse to give a person of the opposite sex a massage.

There are 63 persons holding massage licenses in the city today, nearly doubled from the number 10 years ago. The telephone book lists 23 massage parlors, notably under the first names of women.

As surrounding cities, one by one, have banned the opposite-sex massage, Long Beach has become the mecca of masseuses.

Police time is being taken to photograph, fingerprint, interview and process the applications of the line of women seeking massage licenses.

Checking the backgrounds of these women is difficult, police said. Though the laws says she must have a diploma from a school of massage, many are from out-of-state, from out of the country.

"We'd have to go around the world, personally checking these so-called schools," said Lt. Jacobsen, "if we wanted an accurate picture of their education."

"Many of these women," he added, "are from countries like Sweden, Denmark and Norway where society views morals from a different standpoint."

ONCE THE MASSEUSE obtains her Long Beach license for $25, police work is only beginning.

Complaints, mostly anonymous, must be checked out. Undercover agents have spent months revisiting a particular troublesome establishment before obtaining an arrest.

Because of the so-called "entrapment law," the undercover agent is prohibited from making the first verbal inquiry of an illegal act. Because of the privacy in massage parlors, it is impossible to have a third party as a witness.

Even after arrests, records show that most of the women escaped with fines as low as $50. Few served any jail time.

Police Chief William Mooney has carried out an intensive investigation of the problem in recent months. Four arrests have been made in the last three months at massage parlors. Information from the separate investigation by this newspaper was given to police.

But now, legal experts say, there is the possibility that the Long Beach ordinance—allowing the opposite-sex massage, but prohibiting any hanky-panky—may be thrown out of court as null and void.

In effect what this would do: Allow the massaging to go on and prohibit police from making arrests on sex charges.

CITY PROSECUTOR James Starr explained that recent California court decisions point out that the state—not the city—has jurisdiction in this field of morals. There is a case under study in Long Beach Municipal Court at present in which this question may very well be answered within a few days.

Police authorities, however, point out there is no specific state law prohibiting masseuses from massaging persons of the opposite sex for immoral purposes.

Because of this, Chief Mooney has dispatched a special report to City Manager John Mansell.

Councilmen are scheduled to hear the police and city manager's reports on the problem at their meeting Tuesday.

Whites Convict Killer of Negro

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—An all-white jury Saturday night convicted a 16-year-old white boy in the slaying of a Negro youth last Sept. 15, in the aftermath of a church bombing that threw this city into racial turmoil.

The 12-man jury deliberated 4 hours and 11 minutes and then convicted Larry Joe Sims of second-degree murder and sentenced him to seven months in the county jail.

SIMS WAS allowed to go free for the time being under the $10,000 bond that was put up on his behalf after his preliminary hearing last September. He will appear again in Circuit Court Thursday for formal sentencing by the judge, although the jury's sentencing is considered automatic in such cases.

In the week-long trial, the prosecution had reminded the white jurors that they were sworn to decide the case on its merits without regard to the race of the boys.

This Deep South city was the scene of frequent racial violence, including massive demonstrations and several bombings last summer and fall.

Sims, an Eagle Scout, had been charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of Virgil Ware, a 13-year-old Negro. The shooting took place several hours after the 16th Street Baptist Church was bombed. Four Negro girls died in the blast.

THE DEFENSE had claimed Sims shot in self-defense and that Ware allegedly had thrown a rock at Sims and another white boy, Michael Lee Farley, also 16, just prior to the shooting.

Farley is scheduled to be tried in March. The shooting took place as the two white youths were riding on a motor scooter and passing Ware and his brother, James, 16, who were on a Charles L. Werner, of 7447 E. Third St.

Officers said Werner's car passed through his lungs, sheared off a power pole, carrying a 46,000-volt line Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Sims, crashing broadside into a restaurant.

Both Sims and his parents maintained their composure as the verdict was read.

California's AEC Share $39 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's budget for the year beginning July 1 will call for appropriations totaling $39,265,000 for plant expansion for the Atomic Energy Commission in California.

The breakdown of construction items was reported Saturday by Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., a member of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee.

Among the projects: High-energy-physics laboratory, California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, $2 million.

Hosmer said the $39.3 million budget for next year compares with $11 million requested for the current fiscal year.

Cuba Caught U.S. Short of Aircraft

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States was caught "terribly short" of planes—fighters and transports—for a massive invasion during the Cuban crisis in the fall of 1962, according to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

McNamara told the Joint Atomic Energy Committee during testimony in November that the crisis also caught the United States without enough patrol craft and escort vessels.

McNamara's testimony was released Saturday by the committee.

"WE NEEDED fighter aircraft to support a massive invasion," McNamara said. "We were terribly short of fighter aircraft. We moved them from all over the country and we still were short."

McNamara said the United States was so short of transport planes for the invasion that at 10:30 on a Saturday night, Oct. 20, "I called up his decision to build a conventional aircraft instead of into the Air Force and brought one powered by a nuclear reactor."

He disclosed the shortages in order that they might be in an attempt to explain that used to fly over Cuba 36 the nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise did not play a

U.S. Hope of A-Space Rocket Faces Critical Test

By RALPH DIGHTON
JACKASS FLATS, Nev. (AP)—America's hopes of developing a nuclear-powered space rocket, already plagued with budget cutbacks, face a critical technical hurdle this spring.

That's when an extensively reworked engine called Kiwi will get its first hot run since shaking itself to pieces Nov. 30, 1962.

Officials are confident they have whipped the vibration problem and a flyable engine will be produced in the early 1970s.

The whole program, called Rover, ran into a serious setback recently when the government's economy drive resulted in cancellation of simultaneous development of a vehicle to be powered by a nuclear engine. The vehicle was to be called RIFT, for reactor in flight test.

THE CANCELLATION attaches more than ordinary importance to the upcoming Kiwi test. If the Kiwi fails, experts at this test site again, Rover may be a dead duck. If it succeeds, the entire changes that have been made program could be spurred in a series of exclusive interviews, nuclear propulsion.

A new way of making fuel

elements has reduced radioactivity in the engine exhaust by 90 percent—and possibly lessened the danger from blast effects should the engine fall into the ocean during a launching disaster and explode.

“IMMERSION IN water is the worst thing that could happen to a reactor — it's about the only way one could be made to explode,” said Dr. Herbert T. Knight, test director for the University of California's Los Alamos, N. M. Scientific Laboratory, which runs the Kiwi tests for the Atomic Energy Commission-National Aeronautics and

Space Administration's Space Nuclear Propulsion Office.

Kiwi, named for a flightless New Zealand bird, is not designed to power the canceled signed to go aloft but simply to test design principles on the ground. If the spring test is successful, scientists will build a similar reactor to be per stage of the advanced called NERVA — nuclear Original plans called for NERVA to power the vehicle. Now the plan is to use it in whatever vehicle is available when NERVA is ready—possibly as an up-burner for the advanced Saturn V moon ship.

Kiwi engines operate by forcing supercold hydrogen through the superheat of a nuclear reactor. When the 400-degrees-below-zero liquid hits the 3,500 degree-above-zero core of the engine, it expands and escapes through a nozzle with high velocity, creating thrust.

MIAMI (UPI)—The Coast Guard said Saturday it has abandoned its search for a 55-foot schooner that disappeared in the gale-whipped Atlantic with a California family of four and a seasoned skipper aboard.

It dropped from sight last Monday night with a child's voice fading on the radio of a distress channel.

Aboard the vessel were John Pelton, 47, of Whittier, registered under the name of Calif., his 21-year-old wife, “Mrs. Roberts,” the duchess Linda, and two young sons and duke arrived here Friday by a previous marriage.

EGYPT PROGRESSIVES

Challenge Divorce by 'Male Order'

CAIRO (AP)—The 14-century-old male privilege of divorce may soon be curtailed in Egypt.

A law under discussion by a Ministry of Social Affairs committee suggests that women be insured against “arbitrary divorce by tyrannical husbands.”

According to Islamic regulations all a Moslem has to do to divorce his wife is to declare three times in determined tones: “Go, you are divorced.”

Under the proposed law

no Moslem could divorce his wife away from court.

The proposed law also deals with polygamy. Opponents argue that the percentage of polygamists in Egypt has been dropping so sharply that polygamy should be left to time.

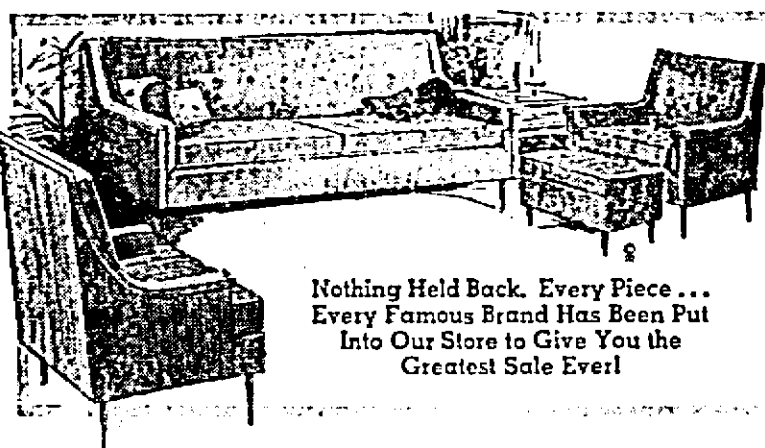

Strongly behind the law is Dr. Kikmat Abu Zeid, minister of social affairs and the first woman to serve in an Egyptian cabinet. She is married to Dr. Mohamed Sayyid of Cairo University.

Old Thief

MILAN, Italy (UPI)—Francesco Culotta, 85, was arrested by police Saturday on charges of stealing a woman's purse. His police record dates back to 1893 when he was first arrested as a pick-pocket at the age of 17.

'MARXIST EAGERNESS NOT ENOUGH'

Castro Calls for Technical Revolution

By DANIEL HARKER
HAVANA (U) — Cubans are facing another "revolution" this year. This "technical revolution," as Prime Minister Fidel Castro has called it, is the government's chief hope to end chaotic conditions in the economy which officials have acknowledged. Five years after Castro took over, Cubans lack enough food and consumer goods. Meat and milk are a luxury for many. So are shoes and clothing. Electrical appliances, and spare parts for them as well as radios and cars, are sold on the black market. One set of tires may cost 1,000 pesos (this would be equivalent to $1,000 at the exchange rate the Cuban government insists upon.) "We have accomplished the social revolution and now we have to make the technical revolution," Castro has said. HE EXPLAINED that this revolution is necessary to increase agricultural and industrial production so his government can overcome the economic crisis and put an end to rationing. The program calls for a rapid increase in the number of engineers and other technicians. It also includes careful attention to development plans and the enforcing of strict working norms. Castro has made clear that he is tired of having to stand for the mistakes of zealous but unskilled revolutionaries. He has said: "We have had enough of those theoretical Marxists. They cost too much to the society."

THE CUBAN LEADER hopes that the technical revolution along with the drastic shift made in 1963 in the aims of Cuban economic policy giving top priority again to agriculture over industry, will solve the economic problems. The shift, which halted the campaign for "instant industrialization," is explained by the Communist paper Hoy in this way: "The Cuban economy must increase agricultural production to satisfy first of all internal needs and then export what is left, to obtain the hard currency needed to import equipment and push the industry." How hard and fast the dreams of a quick industrialization crumbled can be learned from the picture of disorganization described by the industries minister, Ernesto Guevara. HE SAYS the "American blockade" is the main reason for the failure. Closely behind it he mentions the organization which led to copy mechanically the experiences of other socialist countries." "lack of technicians, too glaring mistakes," and to top them, the "efforts to much bureaucracy, and dis-

Parolees Get Break at 'Part-Way House'

By CHARLES SUTTON
L.A. Staff Writer

BEACH COMBING
MALCOLM EPLEY

THIS is an election year and maybe we can kick up a little interest in personal politics with this true yarn that has just reached my ears.

At the last primary election Gladys Tisdale of Long Beach, though a registered Democrat, wanted to vote for Republican Craig Hosmer. Her husband explained to her that Hosmer's name wouldn't be on her Democratic ballot and she'd have to write it in.

He was waiting outside and heard her call from the booth. "There's no pencil in here."

An election official, unaware of what she was up to, called to her to use the "x-stamp."

Mrs. Tisdale was there a long time. When her husband asked her why, she replied:

"Did you ever try to write Craig Hosmer with an x-stamp? Well, I tried and I did it."

A sedate two-story house in a quiet residential neighborhood of Los Angeles may soon supply the solution to one of the toughest problems facing California juvenile authorities today.

How to help young law offenders become useful, law-abiding citizens before they turn irrevocably to a life of crime.

It's a problem that has long concerned officials of the California Youth Authority.

Many young parolees, they say, often return to crime because they simply can't adjust to life outside institutional walls.

"In fact, the failure rate among them is highest during the first six months after release," says CYA parole officer Joseph Phelan.

UNTIL THE legislature gave the CYA $63,000 last year to test three experimental part-way houses for young parolees, there wasn't much the Youth Authority could do to reduce the rate, however.

The boys, mostly in their late teens, were given every possible break by the CYA—a free room in a hotel, a meal ticket and as much guidance by a parole officer as was possible under a burdensome case load. But apparently it wasn't enough in many cases.

When the meal ticket ended, the world outside proved too much for them and they returned to law-breaking.

Freedom is a great responsibility to shoulder, observes Phelan, and many of the boys simply can't cope with it.

Now, with the first of the three part-way houses contracted for and under way, the Youth Authority feels that at last it may have the answer—or at least part of the answer—to youthful recidivism, that is, repeated relapses into criminal or delinquent behavior.

AS PHELAN sees it, the part-way house is not a treatment center, but a kind of buffer zone—a place where a young parolee who has no home to go back to is given a chance to ease into everyday life instead of having to "jump in cold."

"Don't forget," he says, "it's not an easy transition to make. The young parolee has to go from the absolute control of institutional life to the relative freedom of the streets."

"While he was in an institution, for example, he didn't have to worry about where he was going to sleep at night, where his next meal was coming from, or where he was going to make a buck."

"When he gets out, he has to worry about these and many other things. Some of them are pretty simple things, too. Things you would expect he'd know about but doesn't."

Phelan goes on to point out that many of the boys have had interrupted educations and miserable home lives. None have had much job experience.

IN FACT, when you come right down to it, he adds, they have little or nothing going for them.

And, said Philip Toia, the social worker and counselor assigned to working closely with the boys in the house, many are terribly apprehensive on coming out of an institution. "It's true they chafe under the rules of institutional life, yet they miss those rules when they get out," he says.

The part-way house in Los Angeles, the first of the three for which Phelan will be statewide coordinator, is an extraordinary structure.

"It is Georgian in style," says Mrs. Grace Murphy, who, with her husband, manages the home. "And it has five bedrooms, four and a half baths, a large living room, kitchen and dining room, and a miscellany of other rooms."

Enough room, in fact,

PHILIP TOIA ... Counsels Part-Way House Boys

to accommodate 11 boys and the Murphys—as unlikely a pair of house managers as you'll find anywhere, incidentally.

FOR ONE thing, the Murphys are an urbane couple, and urbanity is a quality seldom found in the line of work they're in.

Murphy himself is 63, droll and white-haired—a real estate broker by profession and a graduate of National College in Dublin, Ireland. His wife, also white-haired, is a spry, witty matron who took her degree from fashionable Wellesley College in Massachusetts. She's a former teacher.

Why did they take the job?

"Well," quips Murphy, "when you get this close to St. Peter, you don't mind building up a few credits. Besides," he adds, "for us it's an exciting challenge, and it gets us both away from the rat race."

After the house was opened last October, there was a great temptation for the Murphys to give the boys advice when they were approached for it. But they soon learned to resist the temptation when they discovered they were stepping into Toia's domain.

Now they stick strictly to managing the big house and the boys, and find it much more to their liking, they confess.

TOIA IS a big brother to the youths. A social worker who formerly worked among delinquent gangs, he's young—30—and has a serious but easy-going manner.

His job is to give day-to-day guidance to the boys. He helps them look for work and solve their little problems.

Quite often, he says, the boys have to be told how to use the want ads, how to fill out job applications and what to wear when they go for interviews.

He says they're terribly sensitive to job rejections. "They've had things refused them so often in their lives that each rejection comes like a hammer blow. I've seen them talk themselves out of going in for a job for fear of being rejected," he adds.

Under the Youth Authority plan, each of the parolees in the house spends as much as three months there. By the end of that period, it's expected that he'll have a job.

During the following three months, when there's still a good chance that he'll throw in the towel and refuse to face up to the tough realities of everyday life, he's placed on what is known as "close parole." That is, he's given more than the usual attention from his parole officer, in this case, Phelan.

THE BOYS themselves are grateful for a chance to stay at the part-way house, which is run under contract with a nonprofit agency known as Special Service for Groups.

For them, it means the difference between success or failure in life.

Compared to institutional life, the part-way house is a veritable paradise, they say.

In some of the rougher penal institutions, says one boy, "you never know when some guy is going to stick a knife in your back."

"You're treated like animals in some of those places," says another boy. "At least here we're treated like human beings."

THE BOYS agree that on first leaving a penal institution, they're gripped by fear and uncertainty. They wonder: Are they going to be able to get a job? When?

And, not least of all, will people outside accept them?

Maybe the part-way house is just the thing they need to allay those fears and set them off on the right track.

Certainly it's worth a try, say CYA officials.

Five-Day 'Stop Smoking' Clinic Will Be Repeated

By DON KIRKLAND
Staff Writer

A five-day smoking clinic was so successful in Torrance last year, its backers said today, that it will be repeated next month.

Sponsors of the program said studies thus far have shown 75 percent of the participants have not resumed smoking.

This bears out a similar rate of success in eastern states where, backers said, ex-smokers have gone two years—the life of the program—without starting anew.

Dr. Ruth Temple, coordinator of the plan for the sponsoring Southern California Council of Seventh Day Adventist Churches, said the announcement by the U.S. Surgeon General linking cigarette smoking with cancer and certain other illnesses, has created new interest in the program.

"Our phone has been ringing off the hook," she said.

THE PROGRAM, called "The Five Day Plan," was initiated in 1961 in several eastern communities, and only last year reached Southern California.

Thus far, Dr. Temple said, it has been tried in Hollywood, the San Fernando Valley and Torrance.

Although the program got off to a shaky start in Torrance, Dr. Temple said its response has been so favorable that she was appointed to act as area-wide coordinator.

Rev. Manson Metcalf, pastor of the Torrance Seventh Day Adventist Church and local sponsor, said he plans another identical program from Feb. 9 to 13. The first started Sept. 15.

Interest has grown since September, however, and many more persons are becoming concerned over the problem, Dr. Temple said.

"WE KNOW THAT a very high percentage of doctors working in chest medicine have stopped smoking," said Dr. Temple, "and are advising their patients to do the same."

Under the plan, smokers are bolstered physiologically and psychologically to break the habit. They are told to take short walks, retire early, have warm baths, drink no liquor, eat fresh fruit and, upon waking, think to themselves, "Last night I chose to stop smoking, for the good of myself and my loved ones."

These, though, are only part of the requirements.

Although participants must demonstrate a certain will power, Dr. Temple says, the program is geared for "busy people who work under pressure."

THE PLAN IS designed to reduce discomfort, and is offered free.

Participants get their individual guide books and meet nightly during the sessions from 7:45 to 9 p.m.

"Unfortunately," says Dr. Temple, "our volunteer workers in this program have been so rushed with the unexpected flood of participants, there hasn't been time to gather as much statistical information as we'd like regarding the results."

"We do know, however, that the program has worked and is working."

JC Man of Year Dinner Set

Attorney General Stanley Mosk will speak on "The Role of the Young Man in the Community" at the Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award and Bosses Night Banquet Monday in the Lafayette Hotel Grand Ball Room.

The service award will cite a man between 21 and 36 years of age for his outstanding contribution to the city. A panel of judges selects the recipient from nominations offered by service or civic groups or private citizens. The winner need not be a Jaycee.

Tickets for the $5 a plate affair may be obtained at the door. Cocktails will be served 6 to 7 p.m., dinner at 7 p.m.

The award banquet coincides with the opening of National Junior Chamber of Commerce Week, Jan. 20-24.

Talk Slated on Chinese New Year

"Chinese New Year—As It Used to Be, and Now" will be the subject of a talk by Mrs. Donald G. Moore at the dinner meeting of the Long Beach Chapter of the Military Order of the World Wars and their guests at Allen Center (U. S. Naval Station) next Thursday evening.

Mrs. Moore is the wife of Lt. Col. Donald G. Moore, regular Army officer assigned to the Poly High School unit of the ROTC. Both Mrs. Moore and her husband spent many years in the Orient. Chinese New Year begins Feb. 13, so the authoritative talk is regarded as timely.

The recently purchased official M.O.W.W. Chapter flag will be dedicated by Lt. Lesley G. Erickson, USN Ret. Rear Adm. Wayne B. Gamet, USN Ret., chapter senior vice commander, will preside.

VFW Post Will Honor Past Chiefs Thursday

Golden State Post 279 Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary will honor past post commanders and past auxiliary presidents at the Veterans Memorial Building, at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Lynn Exdell, senior vice commander, announces that the program will include a historical illustrated lecture with slides, from the collection of the Title Insurance and Trust Company, Los Angeles. Herb Saup will present the lecture.

The public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

NROS Offers 4 New Courses

America's all-out effort to forge ahead of Russia in the mounting struggle for supremacy in space and oceanography will be underscored in two of the four new midyear courses to be offered by the Naval Reserve Officers School 11-4 beginning this week, according to Capt. Harry B. Frishman, commanding officer of the graduate school.

"Rapid changes are taking place in national defense," said Capt. Frishman. "Through these courses, reserve officers of the Long Beach-Orange County area are brought up to date and kept combat ready."

"The midyear course in space technology provides a basic orientation in this dynamic field. It introduces the student to the sciences germane to this revolutionary subject and focuses attention on problems which remain to be solved and the developments which have been advanced thus far by the United States and Russia."

"ALTHOUGH not as widely publicized as Russia's space efforts, the Soviets have markedly stepped up their research in oceanography and are making tremendous strides in this little known science. The NROS course in oceanography starting this week provides a general overview of this rapidly developing area of research including the study of the physical and chemical properties of sea water, transmission of sound through water, marine sedimentation, tides and tidal currents and oceanic currents."

The third and fourth new courses to be offered by NROS 11-4 are in the fields of leadership and personnel administration.

THREE of the new courses will be offered on the campus of Long Beach State College where NROS 11-4 has its central offices beginning Thursday, 7:30 p.m., and the fourth course will be held at the Naval Reserve Training Center in Santa Ana beginning Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m.

These new courses are in addition to the 18 year-long courses which began in September.

Although the courses are planned primarily for Navy and Marine reserve officers, the courses are open to and attended by reserve officers from the Army, Air Force, and Coast Guard. Promotion and retirement points are earned by all officer students.

Additional information about the reserve officer school can be obtained by contacting the NROS 11-4 offices on the lower campus of the State College.

Port Pilot May Travel by Copter

Progress may soon overwhelm the pilot boat, one of the sea's oldest and most honored craft.

The Los Angeles Harbor Commission, bowing to the Air Age, has called for feasibility studies of helicopters to carry port pilots to and from freighters calling at the port.

The suggestion was made by Commission President Albert Ferrish, who said, "I may be way out on a limb, but I think the project bears looking into."

ALL THE commissioners said a study was only sensible, but Dr. George Wall and George Watson wanted it on the record that neither, as a resident of the waterfront area, had proposed the airborne taxi service.

"We have to live down here," they said.

Ferrish, president of a steel-importing firm, said the port will have to pay $200,000 to build a new pilot boat and that it can purchase a four-seat helicopter for about $71,000.

HE SAID he saw nothing more dangerous in lowering or lifting a harbor pilot from a vessel than the traditional climbing ladder dangling on the side of a bouncing ship.

He said he was convinced that the helicopter would have "fringe benefits" and could be used in emergency work, inspections and for other tasks.

Ferrish admitted that the pilots themselves may look askance at his suggestion, but "it's worth looking into in the interest of progress."

DRIFTWOOD—Excluding the girls, prettiest sight downtown these days are the workmen tackling the remodeling of the Wise Bldg. at Pine and Broadway. The ancient structure is on its way to becoming a handsome United California Bank Bldg. I've observed some of the old-timers watching the proceedings from across the street, obviously finding them a feast for their sore eyes. . . . And it's nice that the sale signs in a window in that area have been changed so that incredible is spelled that way, and not incredible.

The rush season may be to be really jammed until Jan. 23," says Howard Link, manager of the Long Beach office of the California Department of Motor Vehicles.

From now until Feb. 4, the last day to get 1964 motor vehicle license stickers without paying a penalty, the DMV expects to do a land office business.

Glenn Candidacy —a Healthy Sign

JOHN GLENN, the world-famous astronaut, and Bud Wilkinson, the football coach of national reputation, are spectacular examples of a growing fashion in politics—the practice by political newcomers of using their success in non-political fields as the key to elective offices.

A national hero without any experience in politics or public office, Glenn plans to enter an election campaign that will pit him against a legislative and congressional veteran in the Democratic primary and, if he wins, against a veteran Republican lawmaker who is a member of one of the nation's most prominent families of public servants.

In spite of his lack of political experience, contrasted with the strong political backgrounds of his opponents, Glenn is given an excellent chance of winning the nomination and later the U.S. Senate seat which he seeks.

NOT NECESSARILY. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's situation was very much like that of Glenn when the World War II hero decided to run for the presidency. Although he had no background in politics and civil government, Mr. Eisenhower brought some extremely useful qualities to the White House and served with distinction. There are, it seems, other considerations beside previous experience in public office.

Astronaut Glenn has the brains, the courage, and the coolness necessary for orbital flight and its frightening emergencies. Coach Wilkinson, also interested in the U.S. Senate, has exceptional intelligence, poise, and leadership ability. All these are traits needed in political office; they are traits not always possessed by men, otherwise favored, who have accumulated political "experience."

TOO OFTEN, THE honor and burden of public service fall upon political hacks, who know everything about how to get out the vote and very little about how to use constructively the power they acquire thereby. Essentially, Glenn and Wilkinson are well-equipped for public service. It is a healthy sign for the country when men such as these, who could earn fortunes in a dozen fields in private life, express an interest in politics.

America Short of Ambassadors

I, P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — When President Johnson succeeded to the presidency, he set "continuity without confusion" as his first goal. For the most, he has succeeded. But there is a great deal of confusion in at least one area, and that is appointment of ambassadors abroad.

In three of the most sensitive diplomatic posts in the world, the United States has been without an ambassador for more than three months. We are without a No. 1 man in five other world capitals.

Joseph Farland resigned suddenly as Ambassador to Panama last August. Deputy Aid Director Frank Coffin was picked by President Kennedy to succeed him, but the appointment is still pending. Meanwhile, Panama has become America's No. 1 diplomatic saddle sore.

In Yugoslavia, the best listening post behind the Iron Curtain, we have been without an ambassador since George Kennan resigned last August. Last week, career man Burke Elbrick was finally, at long last, named. He will leave for Belgrade in a month.

Former Ambassador William Macomber left Jordan in December to get married. The White House and the State Department had known for months he would resign as our representative to that tiny kingdom, with peace in the Middle East hinges. Yet no replacement is in sight, and it will be at least two months, probably more, before one can get there.

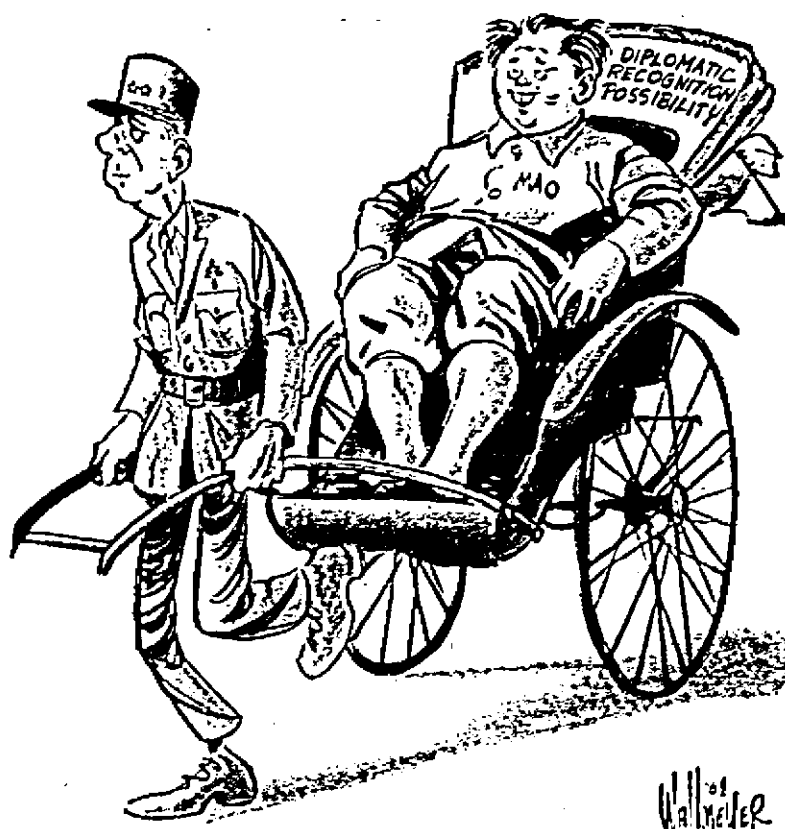

Other vacancies at U.S. chanceries abroad exist in the French Congo (since December), Mexico (since Thomas Mann resigned in December to head the Alliance for Progress and the Division of Inter-American Affairs), Sierra Leone (since July). Our man is leaving Malaysia, we do not exchange ambassadors with Hungary or Yemen, and our plan to use our Ambassador to Tanganyika as envoy to Zanzibar is suspended since last week's coup.

REP. DON EDWARDS (D-Calif.) is having the latest laugh in his running feud with a fellow freshman, Rep. Ed Foreman (R-Texas). While short-lying along the right-wing trail several months ago, the Texan accused a number of his House colleagues of being "pink," including Edwards. He subsequently got his knuckles rapped and apologized to Edwards for the statement.

Last week, Foreman was picked by a Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the 10 outstanding young men of 1963. And this was Edwards' reaction to the selection:

"I note with interest this selection. The last time a resident of the 16th congressional district of Texas was so honored occurred in 1953. His name was Billie Sol Estes."

AMA Lobbying Behind Scenes to Kill Kefauver Drug Laws

WASHINGTON—The American Medical Association has taken such a peculiar attitude toward drugs and cigarettes lately that some senators are beginning to wonder whether the doctors are for health or against it.

This bewilderment is, of course, unfair to the great majority of doctors, most of whom are too busy to know exactly what their "trade union" is doing in their behalf.

However, for their information and for the public's, here are the latest maneuvers which the AMA has made in behalf of the nation's doctors: 1. The AMA is lobbying behind the scenes to cut the new drug laws, particularly the provision that allows the Food and Drug Administration to ban useless drugs.

The drug reforms were pushed through Congress by the late Sen. Estes Kefauver, who had scarcely been laid to rest before AMA leaders quietly began their campaign to undo his work.

It is no secret that the drug manufacturers sell millions of dollars worth of pills and nostrums that have absolutely no medical value. The effect of what the AMA is doing is to keep these drugs on the market.

2. The AMA's Council on Drugs, which evaluates new drugs for safety and efficacy, has cut off the government from access to its findings.

Before the Food and Drug Administration had the power to stop the sale of worthless drugs, the AMA council permitted government officials to sit in on its confidential discussions and read its confidential reports. Now the AMA won't let the government know what drugs its doctors decide are no good.

3. On the eve of the powerful government warning that cigarettes are a health hazard, the AMA suddenly announced an investigation of its own into tobacco and health. This played right into the hands of the tobacco interests, which can now cite the AMA investigation as evidence that more research is needed.

For 10 years, the tobacco companies have tried to persuade smokers to suspend their judgment on cigarettes until more facts are in. Meanwhile, people continue smoking billions of cigarettes a year, while the companies rake in the profits.

Today the AMA is lending its prestige to this campaign by starting still another study of the cigaret menace, thus indirectly suggesting that the nation's doctors aren't yet convinced smoking is bad for health.

It was not many years ago that Camels featured white-jacketed physicians in its ads, claiming: "More doctors smoke Camels than any other cigaret."

Other cigarettes were ballyhooed as cures for jangled nerves, poor digestion, and other ailments. Chesterfield ads even guaranteed: "Nose, throat, and accessory organs not affected adversely by smoking Chesterfields."

The public no longer can be taken in by such advertising, but gullible smokers may be willing to believe they can wait now until the AMA report is finished before making up their minds about cigarettes.

AFTER READING of the coming political battles in California, President Johnson placed a long distance call the other day to the governor of California, Gov. Brown was busy at a building dedication ceremony, but went to the nearest telephone.

"You may have seen some names in the papers of people who are supposed to manage my campaign in California," the President told him. "I just wanted you to know that you are my man in California. I want you to run my campaign."

As his first move in this new capacity, Brown persuaded LBJ to meet Mexico's President Lopez Mateos in Los Angeles.

CHARLIE HALLECK, the versatile, sometimes vitriolic Republican leader, has been quietly plotting with GOP colleagues to steal the thunder from LBJ and the Democrats in civil rights. This is partly why Chairman Howard Smith, D-Va., decided to lift the blockade and let the civil rights bill out of his rules committee.

Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, leaked the Republican strategy when he informed Smith that he and the other four Republicans on the Rules Committee would vote to release the civil rights bill in late January, after hearings. Smith also is keenly aware that civil rights champions can muster the 218 petition signatures to free the bill for a vote on the House floor.

So reluctantly he decided to toss in the sponge. GOP strategy is to pass the bill before Lincoln's birthday so GOP congressmen can go home and boast about their part in continuing the Great Emancipator's fight against slavery.

This will be a big talking point during the Republican-Lincoln holiday.

Panama Gave Radicals Opening

WASHINGTON—It may seem easy to conclude that the dispute between the United States and the Republic of Panama is merely a case of excessive emotionalism about flying national flags — but the controversy goes deeper. The basic cause is a feeling of discouragement among Panamanians who see no economic future for themselves except as it is related to potential income from the use of the canal.

When national pride, moreover, complicates an international problem, there are always opportunities for provocative action and the intensification of bitterness.

The people of Panama originally leased their territory for an interoceanic canal. The United States built the waterway and has been collecting tolls from the ships of all nations. But the Republic of Panama gets less than $2 million a year rent. It used to be only $250,000. Surely in the 50 years since the canal has been operating it would seem that the United States could afford to increase considerably more its annual payment, especially in these days of "foreign aid" to many countries which do not furnish any facility to the United States as useful as the Panama Canal has been, including its military value in World War I and World War II.

There are economic improvements which can be made after proper negotiation. But since there's an election campaign going on inside the Republic of Panama, it is customary for national sensitiveness to be expressed in the political arena. On top of this, the Americans who live in the Canal Zone have families with teen-age students who naturally have a feeling of patriotism about flying the American flag.

FOR MANY YEARS, only the American flag was flown inside the Canal Zone—which is leased permanently to the United States. Then the demand was made that the Panamanian flag should also be flown, and in January 1963 it was agreed that the Panamanian flag would fly side by side wherever the U. S. flag was flown by civilian authorities in the Zone. In the first week of this year, the U. S. flag was hauled down from a number of sites—including the high schools—which had not been designated for the joint flying of the two flags. For some strange reason, no explanation of this order—that no flag be flown—was made to the Zone residents. The whole squabble was mishandled.

Bowler, Man in the Middle, May Have Choicest Position

MANLEY J. BOWLER can see the chair from where he sits and has the backing of the man in the chair, Los Angeles County District Attorney William B. McKesson. Bowler, as McKesson's chief deputy, watches the chair as his chief rivals stand by on the bench—the Superior Court bench, that is. They are Judge Evelle J. Younger, who declared his candidacy Jan. 6, and Judge Vincent S. Dalsimer, not expected to announce formally for several weeks.

The game is afoot. The rules to date boil up around the issues of the nonpartisanship of the D. A. race and the propriety of campaigning in judicial robes. Each man is briefing out his own code and uses a list of impressive supporters to lend it strength.

Bowler, who announced Jan. 9, has an additional resource from his unique inside-man position—he's already instituting some operational changes in the office. One is the forthcoming opening of a special trial division staffed by highly trained prosecutors on 24-hour call.

In passing, Bowler said he felt Judge Younger should resign from the bench before beginning his campaign.

"I am leaving the bench," said Younger's announcement statement. But what he meant apparently is that he is leaving it at the end of his term expiring at year's end, and that he won't seek reelection.

DALSIMER, elected in 1962, would not have to face a judicial race until 1968. So he won't be leaving the bench for the D. A. race in the same manner that Younger is leaving. His route will undoubtedly be a leave of absence.

Partisanship? The Democratic County Central Committee and a passel of Democratic organizations have jumped to the Dalsimer banner. Younger has blasted this practice and is reinforced by a couple of bar associations.

Younger further drafted a letter to be read into the record of an Assembly interim committee on elections taking testimony on bills which would make city and county elective offices partisan. The letter contends against the bills in strong terms: "A Republican or Democratic mother threatened by burglary, aggravated assault or forcible rape has absolutely no interest in the party affiliation of law enforcement officials."

"HYPOCRISY!" answered Dalsimer, noting that Younger—"Mr. Republican"—had been a county Republican chairman and that his sponsors for the D. A. race "read more like a Who's Who of the Nixon for Governor committee than the backers of a nonpartisan candidate."

Representative of the Younger group, said Dalsimer, are Robert Finch, "Nixon's right hand man; Robert Haldeman, Nixon's local campaign chief, and Robert Rowan, who recently resigned as treasurer of the Republican State Central Committee . . . and Howard Edgerton, who has been accused by other Republicans of being the intermediary in the abortive deal to get former Gov. Goodwin Knight out of the 1962 gubernatorial campaign."

Dalsimer also has told friends of a recent meeting in the home of former GOP Assemblyman Joe Shell at which ultra-conservative Republican support was enlisted for Younger.

"It can be seen," said Dalsimer, "that he has been drawing his support from Republican organizations while criticizing Democratic organizations for supporting my possible candidacy."

YOUNGER'S announcement statement pledged "a completely nonpartisan campaign. I will not solicit on a partisan basis the endorsement of any Democrat or Republican organization."

Bowler, as the man one step removed from incumbent McKesson, is being bracketed by the partisanship cry into a kind of middle-man position. He has the all-out endorsement of Democrat McKesson. Although Bowler is a registered Republican he asserts he is essentially a nonpolitical animal.

Thus, he seems in good position to scorn the political label and can run free of the controversy over "How black is my robe."

EDITOR:

In a dispatch from your Washington Bureau, our ersatz Republican Senator is quoted by you as indicating that the United States share the views of our Democratic President. It has been a puzzle to me as a registered Republican how this product of Anaheim can be so far left of a real Republican, Rep. James Utt, from the same area.

For the record Sen. Kuchel has voted along with the administration on the following issues:

An increase in the national debt to 315 billion dollars, thus placing the American taxpayer into further liability.

Additional taxpayer expense in the administration bill to spend an additional $25,000,000 in federal aid to public libraries, plus $20-

000,000 to states of federal funds for construction of public libraries. Extension of United States credit to Soviet Russia for American wheat.

Thus it is my feeling that Thomas Kuchel, a Republican in party label only, is not a true representative of the noble party of Alexander Hamilton, or of the constitutional government promulgated by Thomas Jefferson.

'Discriminate' Not a Naughty Word

EDITOR:

I have never seen Californians so stirred up over any issues as they are currently over the threat to take away their constitutional rights by enforcing the Rumford bill.

The supporters of this vicious legislation have de-based the meaning of a perfectly good word, discriminate, which means to use fine judgment, and they are trying to make a naughty word of it. At a very tender age I was taught to be discriminating in my choice of playmates, and in my choice of routes to and from school and in the manner in which I spent the few pennies I had to spend. A little later there was the choice of books which I brought home from the school library. Later on I had to use discrimination in how to divide up my studying time among the various subjects I was studying and later, in two college courses, in choosing the courses and subjects I would study.

After getting out into the business world, I had to choose what organizations to join to further my advancement, when to quit a position, when to stick with one, when to go into business for myself, which directorates to accept when offered, and which to turn down, and what stocks to buy.

Any degree of success I have attained I attribute to my innate, acquired and trained ability to discriminate. If they can take the exercise of this ability from us in one field, they can take it from us in all fields. Let's fight valiantly for our rights!

Wheat Pot Calls Bus Kettle Black

EDITOR:

Why the brickbats for England for selling buses to Castro? It would seem to be a case of the pot calling the kettle black. Only recently we witnessed the transporting of Congressmen back to Washington in order that the President would have the power to underwrite at taxpayer expense credit to Russia for wheat. Wheat partly paid for with subsidies paid for by American taxpayers. Russia is underwriting Castro at more than a million dollars a day and doubtless some of the grain bought here will also go to Castro. This is to say nothing about the $11 billion still owed us by Russia.

The Johnson philosophy is but a continuation of the Kennedy peace at any price policy. Therefore, the less said to other nations for dealing with the Reds, the less the finger of scorn can be pointed at our bright boys in Washington, D.C.

Panama, Zanzibar--Foreign Troubles Increase

By HARRY SHARPE
United Press International

Astronaut John H. Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, abandoned the celestial skyways last week for a more mundane pursuit — running for the Ohio Democratic senatorial nomination.

The famous 42-year-old Marine officer said he would support President Johnson's policies if elected. The White House had no comment nor would it discuss reports that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had inspired Glenn's action.

GLENN'S decision plunged Ohio Democrats into turmoil. To win the nomination he must whip the 74-year-old Democratic incumbent, Sen. Steven M. Young, who has gone down the line on Kennedy-Johnson policy and had already announced for re-election.

The United States was in deep trouble on two foreign fronts last week—Zanzibar, site of a U. S. space tracking station off the coast of Africa, which was seized by a rebel regime, and Panama.

The only two American diplomats left in Zanzibar—Frederick P. Picard III, in charge of the embassy in the absence of the previously departed ambassador, and Donald K. Petterson, embassy third secretary—were arrested at gunpoint by rebel President Abeid Karume.

THEY WERE released later, but Picard was flown to Tanganyika. Petterson was allowed to remain and thus became the sole American there. Four American newsmen also were arrested on grounds they had filed copy detrimental to the government. All were expected to be forced from the country.

The Royal Navy evacuated British women and children. The U. S. State Department watched the situation closely. The 55 Americans assigned to the tracking station were brought out early in the week.

The sovereignty crisis in the riot-torn Panama Canal Zone remained in an explosive state while U. S. diplomats sought to iron out differences with fiery Panamanian President Roberto F. Chiari.

IN THE WAKE of bloody clashes that cost the lives of four American soldiers and 17 Panamanians, Chiari was demanding, but not getting, a pledge from President Johnson that treaties vesting control of the zone in the United States would be renegotiated.

Both the White House and the State Department agreed to discuss the treaties and other volatile issues on the traditional good neighbor basis. But both made it clear that discussion did not mean negotiating away 60-year-old canal rights that are vital to U. S. and hemispheric security.

There was no doubt the United States had suffered a diplomatic blackeye throughout the world and particularly in Latin America where Johnson is trying to revitalize the late President John F. Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program. The U. S. Information Agency said the United States had "taken a shattering" on the propaganda front.

JOHNSON and Secretary of State Dean Rusk still felt the trouble could be resolved in the absence of violence and with the beginning of hard rock discussions with Chiari. But Rusk said the U. S. would not talk under threats of disorder.

Army Secretary Cyrus R. Vance, whom Johnson dispatched to Panama City as one of his trouble-shooters, asserted that Panama had arrested 10 agents of Communist Cuban Premier Fidel Castro for inciting the riot. Panama denied this. But Rusk declared that agents hostile to both nations "had moved in quickly to whip up the dispute."

At the height of the strife, Castro flew to Moscow apparently to try to capitalize on the U. S. discomfiture and also to drum up new Russian economic support for his beleaguered island.

The two avowed candidates for the GOP presidential nomination, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, continued chopping away at each other and at the Johnson administration.

Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa realized one of his cherished ambitions. He signed in Chicago a precedent-setting master agreement with 1,000 big trucking companies, a giant step toward bringing all the nation's truck drivers under one contract. About 400,000 drivers were affected.

President Johnson asked Congress to authorize $115 million for the Peace Corps in his impending budget, a $19 million increase over the current year. He said the day-to-day achievements of the corps in overseas stations were a living memorial to the late President Kennedy.

The President dispatched Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy to Tokyo for conferences with Indonesian President Sukarno in hopes of heading off Sukarno's war-like campaign against pro-western Malaysia, which is threatening peace in South-east Asia. Kennedy stressed that the territorial dispute

"must be decided and resolved by Asian countries, not by outsiders." Malaysia is a new British commonwealth federation bordering Indonesia.

The U. S. Information Agency revealed it is distributing a new motion picture designed to introduce President Johnson to peoples of 106 countries. Entitled "The President," it will be shown on five continents. The film emphasizes Johnson's travels abroad, then shows him giving his views on civil rights, economy, defense and peace.

On other news fronts, the President discussed free world strategy with a visitor of state, President Antonio Segni of Italy. Segni also addressed Congress, saying Italy wants to create a Europe that is "tied to America by indissoluble bonds of interdependence, loyalty and solidarity."

Several bills to curb cigarette advertising and to promote educational campaigns against smoking were introduced in Senate and House in the wake of the government's report warning that smoking could cause cancer and other afflictions.

Theodore C. Sorenson resigned as special counsel to the President to write a book about the late President Kennedy. He is the first member of the Kennedy staff to leave the White House.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy went on television to thank the nation for the 800,000 letters of condolence she has received since her husband's assassination. She said all would be answered, then placed in a Kennedy Memorial Library in Charles River, Mass.

U.S. to Orbit Second Relay Satellite

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The United States plans to rocket its second Relay satellite into orbit Tuesday in another step toward a space network for earth's communications.

Relay No. 2 like its still-working predecessor, will act as a switchboard in space to pick up and amplify radio and television signals from one continent and beam them to another.

Ground stations in the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, Japan, Italy, Brazil and Sweden will join in experiments with the eight-sided moonlet which could pave the way for a global communications system of the future.

If all goes well, the 172-pound Relay-2 will be the fourth active radio-television satellite in orbit. The others are Relay-1, its famous cousin Telstar-2, and the high orbit Syncom-2 "Hanging" moonlet.

THE FIRST RELAY, hurled into orbit Dec. 13, 1962, started out as a problem and may end up as one. Soon after launch, it appeared to be a dud because of a power failure which was later corrected. Now it refuses to die on schedule because a chemical executioner is working slower than expected.

But Relay 1 has done a yeoman's job in relaying television programs and telephone and teletype messages and Relay 2 is expected to do even better.

Relay 1's first telecast from the United States to Europe showed the late President Kennedy at the Washington unveiling of the Mona Lisa. One of its latest transmissions showed a portion of Pope Paul's visit to Israel.

Relay 2 will be boosted into an orbit ranging from 4,600 miles away from earth to 13,225 miles at its low point by a Douglas Delta rocket seeking an unprecedented 22nd straight success.

THE DELTA HAS not let down the National Aeronautics and Space Administration since a failure on its first launch, on May 13, 1960. The reliable rocket's latest success was a near perfect orbital shot last month of the Tiro 8 weather satellite.

Relay 2 will look identically like its older sister on the outside but it has several inside changes to give it longer life and better reliability. One major change is a new type of solar power cell which will last twice as long as the cells on Relay 1.

The new Relay will not carry the yet-to-work chemical cut-off device on Relay 1. Scientists want to see how long the latest relay moonlet will live.

Shortly after Relay 2 is placed into orbit by the third stage of the Delta, it will be in a position between North America and Europe to relay hour-long "live" television programs over the Atlantic.

TRANSMISSION time will gradually lengthen to 70 minutes at a stretch until April. Then, as its orbital path swings south, the time it will be "visible" to U.S. and European stations will shorten to about 10 minutes in July before increasing again in the fall.

Relay 2's planned orbital path will give it a longer transmission time between Europe, South America and Asia than Relay 1.

Beside carrying the necessary communications equipment, Relay 2 will send back to earth information on radiation it encounters and its effect on the spacecraft's parts.

L.B. Private Schools Announce Mid-Year Term Openings

AUTOMATION INSTITUTEphere of rural peace and announces the completion of quiet. Surrounded by farms, the school's modern buildings and school. Courses in IBM Key Punch Operation, Machine Tabulation and Wiring and Computer Programming will be offered starting Monday, Jan. 27, in the completely renovated facilities located in Jergins Building, 100 E. Ocean Blvd. in Long Beach, Harry E. White, director, announced.

White stated that academic and administrative staff of Automation Institute are prepared to meet the increasing need in our market area for many more well-qualified personnel skilled in using automated office equipment.

Charles E. Wolff has been named as vice president and educational director. He will supervise educational administration and academic policies. He is currently an associate professor of marketing at Long Beach State College. Evert Carrall, long time resident and city employee of Long Beach is registrar. Carrall holds a Bachelor of Laws degree. He stated that interested persons may contact him now for further information on the various Data Processing courses.

Robert McEwan is the new supervisory instructor. He has had 23 years experience with several large companies operating, installing and supervising many types of IBM Business Machine equipment. Mrs. Betty Hansmann has just been appointed the school's placement supervisor. She most recently was with the Long Beach City College placement office.

MARINELLO BEAUTY SCHOOL, 432 Pine Ave., is now accepting a limited, select group for evening training for beginners. The school, the largest in the State, has over 20,000 square feet and has new classes starting continually for daytime training. The new night course, which will consist of two evenings and all day Saturday is planned to enable those selected to prepare for a Marinello Beauty Career without quitting their present jobs. These selected few will be accepted after personal interviews have proven their ability and qualifications. To enroll for a Marinello course, contact the registrar at the school by phoning HE 5-9100.

COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL is a school for boys and girls who live in the city but go daily to the country to study the three R's in an atmosphere of rural peace and quiet.

PLAYMATE DAY SCHOOL is one of the finest private elementary schools for lower grades in Long Beach, with excellent facilities. The playgrounds have ample equipment. Veterans Recreation Park is two blocks away and is frequently used by the school children for part of their physical education program.

The teachers are all well qualified, and have had experience in teaching in the public schools before coming to Playmate Day School. The class size is small. Special attention is given to phonetics and all forms of remedial reading when necessary.

If parents are working, the school has extended day care for their children. The school opens at 6:00 a.m. and closes at 6 p.m. It is located at 2650 Pacific Ave. Appointments for interviews can be arranged by calling Dorothy or Wilbur Kellogg, the directors, at 424-4994.

THE HUNTINGTON SCHOOL, the oldest established private school in Long Beach, has long been associated with an excellent program of education and recreation.

This school maintains quality through its scope in the large, well-lighted classrooms; its fenced-in playground with custom-made equipment, and in its personnel.

The entire faculty at Huntington hold teaching credentials and are skilled in the individual guidance of children. Small classes make it possible for each child to perform and progress at individual capacity.

The course of study follows that adopted by the State, with additional subjects such as phonetics, science, language, fine arts and crafts.

READING DEVELOPMENT CENTER, a member of the American Reading Society for the maintenance of high ethical standards is staffed by professional, licensed specialists and directed by Dr. Gerhard Kohn, psychologist-educator. Programs for elementary, high school, college students, as well as for business men, professionals, and adults interested in reading improvement are offered. For slow, immature readers with physical, neurological or emotional problems remedial programs are offered.

The center offers speed reading and study skill programs for children and adults stressing those skills essential for the passing of college entrance tests, promotional examinations, real estate and other State examinations. Appointments for information may be made by calling Geneva -5755.

U.S. to Orbit Second Relay Satellite CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The United States plans to rocket its second Relay satellite into orbit Tuesday in another step toward a space network for earth's communications. Relay No. 2 like its still-working predecessor, will act as a switchboard in space to pick up and amplify radio and television signals from one continent and beam them to another. Ground stations in the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, Japan, Italy, Brazil and Sweden will join in experiments with the eight-sided moonlet which could pave the way for a global communications system of the future. If all goes well, the 172-pound Relay-2 will be the fourth active radio-television satellite in orbit. The others are Relay-1, its famous cousin Telstar-2, and the high orbit Syncom-2 "Hanging" moonlet. THE FIRST RELAY, hurled into orbit Dec. 13, 1962, started out as a problem and may end up as one. Soon after launch, it appeared to be a dud because of a power failure which was later corrected. Now it refuses to die on schedule because a chemical executioner is working slower than expected. But Relay 1 has done a yeoman's job in relaying television programs and telephone and teletype messages and Relay 2 is expected to do even better. Relay 1's first telecast from the United States to Europe showed the late President Kennedy at the Washington unveiling of the Mona Lisa. One of its latest transmissions showed a portion of Pope Paul's visit to Israel. Relay 2 will be boosted into an orbit ranging from 4,600 miles away from earth to 13,225 miles at its low point by a Douglas Delta rocket seeking an unprecedented 22nd straight success. THE DELTA HAS not let down the National Aeronautics and Space Administration since a failure on its first launch, on May 13, 1960. The reliable rocket's latest success was a near perfect orbital shot last month of the Tiro 8 weather satellite. Relay 2 will look identically like its older sister on the outside but it has several inside changes to give it longer life and better reliability. One major change is a new type of solar power cell which will last twice as long as the cells on Relay 1. The new Relay will not carry the yet-to-work chemical cut-off device on Relay 1. Scientists want to see how long the latest relay moonlet will live. Shortly after Relay 2 is placed into orbit by the third stage of the Delta, it will be in a position between North America and Europe to relay hour-long "live" television programs over the Atlantic. TRANSMISSION time will gradually lengthen to 70 minutes at a stretch until April. Then, as its orbital path swings south, the time it will be "visible" to U.S. and European stations will shorten to about 10 minutes in July before increasing again in the fall. Relay 2's planned orbital path will give it a longer transmission time between Europe, South America and Asia than Relay 1. Beside carrying the necessary communications equipment, Relay 2 will send back to earth information on radiation it encounters and its effect on the spacecraft's parts. Early Days in Topeka, Kan. TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI)—Topeka city clerk Bill Douglas shook some dust out of the city's archives and produced: City dog license No. 1 issued May 23, 1867, to an English bull terrier named "Scotter." An insurance policy covering a stagecoach line. A 1906 petition from citizens asking for a paved sidewalk.

PLAYMATE DAY SCHOOL is one of the finest private elementary schools for lower grades in Long Beach, with excellent facilities. The playgrounds have ample equipment. Veterans Recreation Park is two blocks away and is frequently used by the school children for part of their physical education program. The teachers are all well qualified, and have had experience in teaching in the public schools before coming to Playmate Day School. The class size is small. Special attention is given to phonetics and all forms of remedial reading when necessary. If parents are working, the school has extended day care for their children. The school opens at 6:00 a.m. and closes at 6 p.m. It is located at 2650 Pacific Ave. Appointments for interviews can be arranged by calling Dorothy or Wilbur Kellogg, the directors, at 424-4994.

THE HUNTINGTON SCHOOL, the oldest established private school in Long Beach, has long been associated with an excellent program of education and recreation. This school maintains quality through its scope in the large, well-lighted classrooms; its fenced-in playground with custom-made equipment, and in its personnel. The entire faculty at Huntington hold teaching credentials and are skilled in the individual guidance of children. Small classes make it possible for each child to perform and progress at individual capacity. ### PLAN WORLD'S TALLEST BUILDING

Twin towers in drawing of New York's proposed $350-million world trade center would be 100 feet higher than the Empire State Building.

Trade Center in N.Y. to Cost $350 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Plans for a new New York-New Jersey harbor whose twin towers of 110 stories would be the tallest buildings in the world.

The twin towers of gleaming metal would soar 100 feet higher than the Empire State Building, which is 1,250 feet from the street to the tip of its mooring mast. A 222-foot television transmitting tower atop the Empire State Building gives it a technical height of 1,472 feet.

THE SCALE model of the 16-acre world trade center, unveiled at a news conference by New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Mayor Thomas J. Whelan of Jersey City, N.J., they were joined by Chairman S. Sloan Colt and Vice Chairman James C. Kellogg III, of the Port of New York Authority.

The trade center will be on the lower west side of

Bank Declares Stock Dividend

A 3-percent stock dividend, payable Feb. 1 to stockholders of record Jan. 14, was approved last week at the annual meeting of stockholders of the United States National Bank of San Diego.

The bank plans to issue 17,651 additional shares of stock as the dividend. Shareholders also agreed to drop "of San Diego" from the bank's name. The institution now has branches in five Southland counties.

The bank decided to issue $5 million in capital debentures at 4 1/2 percent annual interest with a maturity date of Jan. 31, 1984.

The Sunday Sermon

Pearls from the Sunday pulpit:

Midweek note received in the mail: "You are invited to attend a cocktail party and press reception for Leo Durocher at Courtyard Chevrolet in L.A. on Monday. Leo will be available for interview any time before and after his new KHL sports show which starts that day."

(What timing for poor Leo... just days after that $150,000 alienation of affections suit was filed against him in the East. You think there won't be a million questions fired at the Lip during THAT interview?)

Incidentally, one member of the Dodger official family claims he's certain the suit against Durocher was a frameup—a "practical joke" perpetrated by some of Leo's buddies in the movie colony. Some joke, although Durocher himself has been known to pull a few "tricks" on his Hollywood pals in the past.

"It has to be a gag," insisted the Dodger informant. "Every time we hit New York during the past two seasons Durocher rented a suite of rooms to entertain this family in the suite. It was like a big family reunion. (Anyway, some joke—to be awakened at 3 a.m., hauled to the pokey and forced to cough up $30,000 bail. No thanks.)"

Pittsburgh Pirates rookies Bob Bailey and Tom Sisk were in the Long Beach Ad Club luncheon audience which marveled at the World Series movies seen here this week. Both concurred with this corner's earlier opinion: The films are outstanding. (Even ancient Beans Reardon, never one to be lavish with praise, called the '63 Series movies the best he's ever seen. Beans' running commentary added "spice" to Vin Scully's regular film narration, not that it needed any.)

By the way, any clubs or groups in the area looking for luncheon or dinner speakers might do better by securing the World Series films. They can be obtained by contacting the Dodger office.

Both Bailey and Sisk were optimistic that the Pirates' 1963 youth movement would pay off in '64. "I know I'm looking for a better year at the plate," commented Bailey, who wasn't a base-hit ball of fire in his freshman season.

SPEAKING OF BAILEY, a story hit the wires Saturday that the former Wilson star may be tested in the Pirate outfield this season. Bob held down third base most of last season. "Right now third base is wide open," declared manager Danny Murtagh. "It'll be a race between Bailey, Gene Alley and Gene Freese, and I possibly might put Bailey in the outfield. He's got a strong arm."

Sisk, who pitched in 57 games last year, said he's delighted at the opportunity Murtagh promised of becoming a starter. "It's like having a vacation pitching every four days," he enthused. "That working in the bullpen every day is rough." Tom admitted he had learned the "art of relief pitching, a chore that has ruined many promising youngsters' arms. "You just have to pace yourself—and everybody's pace is different," explained Sisk. "I've learned to get ready by throwing hard for just five pitches. Others need more. Then, there's Eloy Face. All he has to do is take the mound and he's warmed up."

When the Harlem Globetrotters appear here Feb. 1 you better make certain that you get to the Arena in time for the preliminary game. The opener will feature the Chicago pro football Bears, with the probable opponent—the Century Club Cardinals! Those old men better show up in suits of armor otherwise there won't be anything left of them after the likes of Mike Ditka, Joe Maroon and terrible-tempered Ed O'Bradovich rip into them.

THE ENTIRE pro football world is focusing on the every move of veteran Chicago Bear linebacker Bill George. At the writing, George is a free agent, having played out his option with the world champions. Pro Bowl participants in Southern California last weekend all wondered about what will happen to George, still a tremendously competent athlete. He can just about pick his spot anywhere in pro football, but what would be the price?

"The Philadelphia Eagles worked out a $125,000 deal for Bob Brown (a raw rookie guard from Nebraska)," commented one of George's Chicago teammates, "so what kind of salary do you think a proven all-pro like Bill could command?"

As far as I know, NFL teams are keeping mum on George. Sure, every one of the other 13 clubs would want him on their roster, but what if they did sign him? Wouldn't that encourage some of their own stars to play out their options and wheel-and-deal with another outfit the following year? You bet your life it would. (NFL club owners still are trembling about a similar case—R. C. Owens "jumping" the 49ers for Baltimore's Colts. If another NFL club signs George, Pete Rozelle's empire could be blown into more pieces than a jigsaw puzzle.)

The rift in Minnesota between two ex-Rams, Norm Van Brocklin and Bert Rose, is growing. As many people anticipated, the Dutchman wants to run his NFL Vikings all by his lonesome. Norm always encountered difficulty working with other people. On the other hand, ex-publicity man Rose has done an excellent job as Viking general manager, albeit maybe not to Norm's particular liking. The situation is acute enough that insiders think one head is bound to be chopped.

Diamonds-Watches and Jewelry

Purchased from individuals, estates, and abandoned loans. Offered to you at exceptional values.

MORE: You get more at American Loan... that's why more and more smart people are buying their diamonds at American Loan.

MORE: If you buy one of our Diamonds you may trade it in within five years and the price you paid (less tax) will be applied toward your purchase of a more expensive diamond. You can even trade in diamonds not purchased at American Loan, and we will apply their value toward your new diamonds from American Loan.

MORE: Here is just a small selection from our large and ever-changing collection. All are outstanding values brought to us by private owners and dealers.

MORE: Every diamond sold at American Loan is accompanied by a salescheck stating the color, cut, size and perfection. This is your guarantee of getting exactly what you pay for.

MORE: If you live out of town, American Loan will send the diamond of your choice to your local bank, where you can examine it before buying.

One-of-a-kind diamonds are subject to prior sale. Buy now, pay as you enjoy your diamonds. American Loan credit plan. Weights are approximate. *All prices plus Federal tax.

Jr. Chamber Begins 12-Day Member Drive

Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce will launch an intensive 12-day membership drive Monday.

The drive has been planned to open with National Junior Chamber of Commerce Week, which runs Jan. 20 through 24.

Calling itself a service organization for "Young Men of Action," the chamber is seeking to enroll men between the ages of 21 and 36 who live, work or have an interest in the city of Long Beach.

Included in the many activities sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce are: Bi-Partisan Candidate Night, Distinguished Service Award banquet, junior golf and tennis programs, Wings over the World Show, polo clinics and blood donation programs.

Included in the special VACATION TIME will be more fun if you turn your no-longer-used household articles into cash by selling them with an Independent Press-Telegram Want Ad. Dial HE 2-5959 right away to start things moving!

10 New Buses Due Tomorrow

Ten silver and blue Dreamliner buses for the recently formed Long Beach Public Transportation Co., will arrive Monday, after a 2,500-mile, cross-country goodwill tour.

Mayor Edwin W. Wade, other city officials, Chamber of Commerce directors and directors of the bus company will be present at the Edge-water Inn at noon to greet the buses, drivers and the organization's general manager, Bill Farrell, who also is making the journey.

A MOTORCYCLE escort from the Long Beach Police Department will meet the vehicles at the city limits on Highway 101 via Seal Beach and lead them to the hotel for luncheon ceremonies with Dr. O. W. Cole, Chamber president, presiding.

After the luncheon Long Beach Municipal band members will board the buses and travel about town to stage concerts. Stops will be at shopping center in Los Altos, North Long Beach, Bixby Knolls, Belmont Shore, Lake-

ANDY WILLIAMS—RICH SINGER

Makes Acting Debut in Film

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Andy Williams, a rich singer, is making his movie-acting debut playing a rich singer. The work should be easy for him. Since he became a star Andy has fattened his bank account through recordings, real estate and investments.

Williams' acting debut will be in the movie "I'd Rather Be Rich" with Robert Goulet, Maurice Chevalier and Sandra Dee. Previously, Andy starred on records and in television.

His only other movie experience was so insignificant that he hardly considers it. He worked in a couple of pictures with his three brothers when they performed as a singing quartet.

Williams is under contract to Universal Pictures. If the studio exercises all of its options on Andy's services, he'll make seven films there.

Originally Andy's part in the picture called for him to portray a pianist.

"It wasn't supposed to be a singing picture at all," he said. "I was supposed to be a jazz pianist. They decided it was silly to make me a piano player instead of a singer. So I sing one song."

Nobody in Hollywood is more easy-going than Andy. He's the West Coast Perry Como when it comes to relaxation. So it's fair to expect that the slow pace of motion picture production is to his liking.

"When I do television somebody is either giving me a song to do, a dance to learn, or shoving a sandwich in my mouth. This movie is a delightful change of pace. I can sit down and think a little bit."

ANDY IS AN excellent singer. Can he act? "I've never taken any dramatic lessons," he said. "I think I can do light comedy like this picture. I do sketches and stuff on television and some of them turn out quite funny."

"I've done a couple of summer stock things, 'Pal Joey' and 'Bye Bye Birdie.' I did them to see if I could memorize the lines and play a part all the way through. I guess I did them pretty well."

EDIE ADAMS

Out of the Woods

By DAVID FARMER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Edie Adams is a singer-actress-Comedienne, but she has also pulled off what looks like one of Hollywood's best magic acts.

Edie suddenly found her emotional and financial worlds in ruins when her husband, comedian Ernie Kovacs, was killed in an auto accident two years ago.

She was driven to the brink of bankruptcy, despite huge salaries she and Kovacs had been making.

"ERNE had everything filed in his head," she said in an interview between shows at the Riviera Hotel. "He had a different lawyer for every phase of our business affairs. I had to untangle it."

She plunged into television shows and nightclub acts.

But the creditors were at the door. One started to foreclose on her daughters' horse.

"That's when I started fighting tooth and nail. It was like the vultures coming in. I refused to declare bankruptcy. I guess that's the Pennsylvania Dutch in me."

EDIE EVEN enrolled in a course on advanced federal tax accounting at UCLA. Did that help?

"Oh, yes. I still use the textbook. When I get a wild idea, I look it up in the book first. Numbers aren't my long suit. I can't add two and two."

Edie says she's pretty well out of the woods now, but she still has plenty of expenses.

EDIE ADAMS

now, but she still has plenty of expenses. She sang and did parodies of famous women in her Las Vegas act.

PART OF the income goes to maintain the family—Betty, 16; Kippie, 15, and Mia, 4.

"I have a big house. Some of my friends have urged me to sell it, but I'd just have to buy one the same size. I have a couple and a nurse living there."

"I can't work unless I know the children are taken care of."

Edie is occasionally seen around Hollywood with some eligible bachelor. Will she marry again soon?

"I'm not going to marry anybody. Not for a couple of years. It would be unfair to the man. Two careers won't work. No, not even one and a little one."

"A guy is a fulltime job. And my career right now has to come first."

'OH, MEN! OH, WOMEN!'

Support Players Hit at Playhouse

By SAMUEL A. BOYEA

Supporting players run away with the show in Community Playhouse Presentation of Edward Chodorov's comedy, "Oh Men! Oh, Women!"—a highly successful Broadway hit a few years ago.

Well-tooled rather than well-thought out, "OH!OW!" started out to be an amusing tale about a phillandering psychoanalyst (Patrick Dempsey) and his girl (Sue Sage) who preferred other couches to his. Then playwright Chodorov got bogged down in a lot of half-cooked solemnities about psychoanalysis and society.

Uncertain as to where the playwright's spurious solemnities end and his properly light-headed comedy begins, Dempsey as psychoanalyst Dr. Alan Coles and Miss Sage as Myra Hagerman are trapped into two strange, libelous performances.

The modish Miss Sage, all hands and semaphore signaling, is prim and unsmiling throughout. Mr. Dempsey, all voice and pose, is similarly unbending. The male members of the audience reacted more "acutely" to the trim Marilyn Herman (Mildred Turner) lying seductively on his couch than he did. Oh, Men! Oh, Women! Oh, Mr. Dempsey!

Slinky entry of Miss Herman lifted the veil of doctor's solemnity. She is sly with a line and double-meaning with a movement as she traverses the "astronomical distance between the doctor's library and his bedroom." This Bellflower housewife, formerly of the Canal Zone and Panama, is a welcome addition to our local comedy stage.

Her author-husband (Ralph Richmond) more than carries his weight in support. He is grand as he helps beef up a sagging second act by re-enacting Nora and husband in a take-off on Ibsen's "A Doll's House."

Alvin Randall (Grant Cobler), the third of these outstanding supporting players, is a man who certainly does

Auditions Tuesday

"Theater Upstairs" has set final auditions at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at 835 Locust Ave., for three men, 20 to 30 years of age, to appear in the scheduled production of Shaw's "Man and Superman." Backstage workers also are being sought.

Long Beach Marina Sparkles at Night

turn and go past the Captain's Inn, proceed along the Marina to area at right of picture, then turn and drive along far side of Marina past the Edgewater Inn (mass of lights near top of photo, left of center). Spread of housing and business construction has brought a tremendous increase of lighting, and the view is indeed awesome on clear nights.

Clear Site for Construction of 31-Story Circular Tower in L.B.

Work on The Tower, circular 31-story, 204-apartment building to be erected at 660 E. Ocean Blvd., has been started by builder Henry Sassoon.

Bungalows of the El Mirador Motel, which was on the site, south of Ocean Boulevard just east of Sassoon's new 600 E. Ocean Building at the foot of Atlantic Avenue, have been cleared away.

Piledriving activities will start this week and actual construction on the $7 million high-rise is slated to start about Feb. 1.

THIS WILL BE the tallest building in Long Beach. There will be 27 stories above the Ocean Boulevard level. The four lower floors will be for garages. On the lobby level will be entry, office and commercial areas; heated pool; recreational section; and deck landscaping.

Plans call for 25 typical apartment floors, eight units per floor; four penthouses on one level; two high-speed passenger elevators and a freight elevator; double mail chute; trash chute; 1, 2 and 3 bedroom all-electric units; two baths per apartment; ceramic wall tiling; marble pullmans; wall to wall carpeting and draperies; and complete glass room exteriors.

THE BUILDING is engineered to be fire and earthquake proof. Structural design was done by computer for intense analysis.

Architect is Carl Troedson of Los Angeles; structural engineer, T. Y. Lin & Associates of Van Nuys; mechanical engineer, John Kerr & Associates; electrical engineer, Ken Hygeria of Electric-Planners; coordinating architect, Chuck Boland; and consulting architect, James R. Wilke.

Magrann set up his administration operations as The Orient, Inc., at 1127 N. Mission Road, Los Angeles. The designing of the project is being done by the Anaheim architectural firm of Tom and Truskier.

Even the merchants will be Oriental, if Magrann's plan works out.

They will purvey goods from all over the world — but chiefly from the Orient. They will have "magic carpet" rides over the Yellow Sea, as their main amusement attraction for whole families. They will have sales rooms to exhibit the imports to volume buyers.

A GREAT WALL—reminiscent of China's great wall pal buyer was Alex Lash. The wall will contain "haunted chambers" and "specialty shops." It will lead to a bazaar area, behind 4,000 feet fronting on the which will be an artificial lake to be known as the Yellow Sea.

A six-story pagoda will flank its sampans, junks and other vessels will ride the waters.

His plan calls first for development of the bazaar of 70,000 square feet of space. He said it was leased in 20 building at 555 N. Euclid Ave. Harold Wilkes of the Gar-den Grove Collection Bureau by it, will have 500,000 square feet of leasable area, including a multi-story hotel and

Bank Will Add Sixth Floor in 'New Look'

By VERN ANTHONY
Southland Progress Editor

Another floor will be added to the former Wise Building at Broadway and Pine Avenue as it is remodeled and becomes the United California Bank Building — and "like new."

Details in the next chapter in the story of the "Gray Ghost," as the much-vacant structure built by Herbert Wise in the late 1920's has been known, were unfolded to half a hundred Long Beach business leaders at a luncheon in the Lafayette Hotel the past week.

It was, in the words of Vito Romans, executive director of Downtown Long Beach Associates, a sort of "funeral" for the old Gray Ghost... but plans as unfolded portended happier days ahead for the business corner.

VAILE G. YOUNG, president of Buifums, chair-manned the luncheon meeting and introduced architect Kenneth S. Wing, F.A.I.A. Wing presented these facts:

Civil Defense Program to Be Given at Forum

Vincent J. Young, field representative in civil defense, will present lect $300,000 through public a program on living during subscription to construct the a nuclear age at the Long Beach Community Forum Wednesday.

Sponsored weekly by the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Forum is conducted in the Crown Cafeteria, First Street and Alameda Avenue, beginning at 7:15 a.m.

A film entitled "No Need To Live" will be shown during the program. The film deals with radiation, its harmful effects and its practical uses.

A question and answer session will follow Young's presentation. Clive Graham is program chairman.

A sixth floor will be added to the structure, on which reconstruction work already is under way.

The east half of the old building will be razed and there will be a new five-level garage on that portion of the property, with space for 185 cars and two floors under-ground.

Terra-cotta and windows are being removed from the west half of the building, and rebuilding will start from the concrete frame.

There will be three elevators; and two fireproof stairways.

UNITED CALIFORNIA BANK, which purchased the building last fall, will occupy the first floor from the Pine Avenue front to a depth of 75 feet on Broadway;

The building will be air-conditioned and have glare-proof windows;

Size of the building will be 80,000 square feet, of which the bank will occupy 20,000 square feet, leaving the rest for other tenants;

The building is structurally sound, having weathered the 1933 earthquake, and it will have a completely new look;

Circular New Library Slated at Signal Hill

Mayor William F. Mendenhall of Signal Hill has announced plans for a $300,000 library building to be erected on city property with approval of the City Council.

Fred W. Baxter, city administrator and a member of the board of directors of the newly formed Signal Hill Rotary Club, has been named chairman of the Library Fund.

The club has pledged to collect $300,000 through public subscription to construct the 25,000-book classic style library.

Thomas W. Denham Sr., mayor pro tem, noted that the club should be highly commended for this action.

Baxter advised that contributions be sent in care of the Signal Hill City Hall.

ACTUAL construction work on the library is expected to start this spring.

Mendenhall said the library project was highly favored by Councilmen Paul Kemner, Don Bradshaw and Einar Solo, along with Mrs. Harry Nickles.

Members of the library board

The mayor said an architect had prepared preliminary plans for the two-story, 13,317 square foot library, which will be circular and completely enclosed in glass, with an interior patio.

THE BUILDING will be on the south side of Hill Street, west of the fire station.

There will be a children's library on the ground floor, along with a vault, audio visual room, binding and storage area. A play area for children will be convenient to the first floor.

The library will have an entry bridge off Hill Street leading into the main lobby.

In the adult section on the second floor, this floor will contain the office, book stacks, magazine racks and reading tables.

Parking space will be at the rear of the property.

R. A. REID, vice president and manager, UCB branch at 129 E. Broadway, declared "United California Bank thinks a lot of downtown Long Beach."

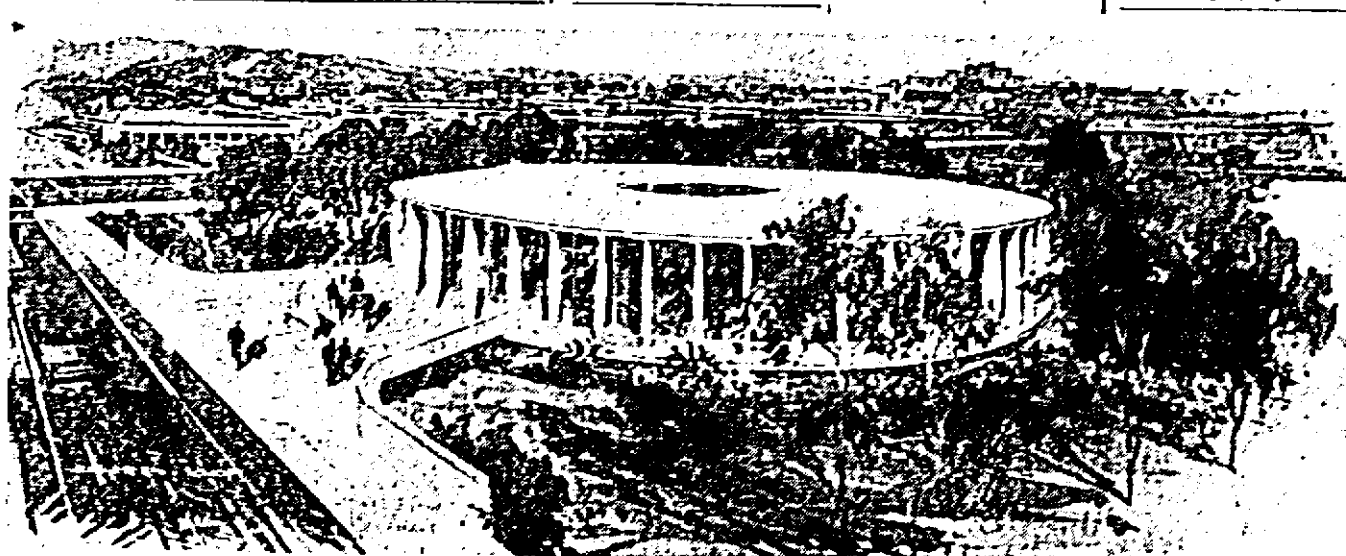

Councilman Raymond Kealer expressed special satisfaction on behalf of the city that UCB had "got into the saddle with Edison and others" to help instill confidence in downtown Long Beach. (Edison recently constructed a high-rise building at Long Beach Boulevard and First Street.)

Also representing the bank at the luncheon was Ed Thompson, vice president and assistant to the manager in the Long Beach office.

Young Builders Will Hear Olin

Effects of legislation under consideration by the California legislature on the home building industry will be analyzed and described by Robert A. Olin, new president of the Home Builders Association of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties, at the dinner meeting Monday at 6 p.m. of the Young Home Builders Council, educational arm of the HBA.

Olin's talk, at Rodger Young Auditorium in Los Angeles, will be the kick-off address of the new schedule of addresses set by the YHBC for 1964 under the overall theme of "Controversy, 1964," according to Gregory B. Snyder, program chairman.

Reemphasize Support of Housing Act Initiative Drive

Some 1,000 California Real Estate Association directors, meeting in San Diego, voted overwhelmingly to continue sponsorship of an initiative constitutional amendment aimed at nullifying the Rumford Housing Act and similar legislation.

The Rumford Act denies Californians the right to refuse to sell, lease or rent their property for reasons of race, creed, color, religion or national origin.

CREA has been one of the principal opponents of the Act on the grounds that it abridges the freedom of choice property owners have traditionally had.

ART S. LEITCH of San Diego, incoming president for 1964, pledged continuing effort to qualify the initiative.

Leitch is the 57th president of CREA and succeeds L. H. Wilson of Fresno.

At an inaugural luncheon following the morning directors' session, Leitch was installed by John Cotton of San Diego, a CREA past president. Installed with Leitch were Carl W. Newport of Sherman Oaks, treasurer, and H. Jackson Pontius of Arcadia, state secretary and executive vice president.

Edward Mendenhall to Take NAREB Helm

Installation of Edward E. Mendenhall Jr., High Point, N. C., as president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards will climax the annual mid-winter meeting of the association and its affiliated organizations in Washington, D. C., from Jan. 30 to Feb. 4.

The NAREB leader is a brother of Mayor William F. Mendenhall of Signal Hill. Edward Mendenhall, who will succeed Daniel F. Sheehan, Sr., St. Louis, as president of the 75,552-member Realtor organization, was elected president of many of NAREB's 1,473 constituent real estate boards throughout the nation and the executive officers of the boards. Total attendance at the six-day gathering is expected to exceed 1,000.

Another feature will be the attendance at an orientation meeting on Feb. 3 of newly elected presidents of many of NAREB's 1,473 constituent real estate boards throughout the nation and the executive officers of the boards. Total attendance at the six-day gathering is expected to exceed 1,000.

Also to be inducted into office at the inaugural banquet on the evening of Feb. 4 is the Sheraton-Park Hotel are Richard B. Morris, N. C., as president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards will climax the annual mid-winter meeting of the association and its affiliated organizations in Washington, D. C., from Jan. 30 to Feb. 4.

JUDGE SARAH T. HUGHES of the U. S. District Court for Northern Texas will be speaker at the installation luncheon of the Women's Council Feb. 1. Judge Hughes administered the oath of office to President Johnson on board his plane in Dallas Nov. 22.

Of interest to all Realtors will be the luncheon meeting of the Realtor-Public Relations Committee and the Realtors' National Foundation, Inc., on Feb. 2 to discuss plans for further educational services offered by Realtors through an expanded nationwide advertising program.

Hill Heads New Agency

A fourth agency center for California was announced by Great Southern Life Insurance Company with the recent opening of new offices at 853 Atlantic Ave. in Long Beach.

Sam C. Hill has been named manager of the new agency.

Hill entered the insurance business in 1935 as a life underwriter with a Canadian-based company and was named unit manager a short time later. In 1951 he changed to the Prudential Life Insurance Co. where he was division manager, a post he held until joining Great Southern late last year.

In his former position Hill was among the top five men in health insurance production and among the top 15 in ordinary life insurance production.

Hill has served as president of the Saskatchewan Association of Life Underwriters and more recently as vice president, president and director of the Long Beach Association of Life Underwriters.

HE IS A DIRECTOR of the YMCA, having served on both the building fund and membership committees. He is a Mason, an elder in the Covenant Presbyterian Church and a member of the Kiwanis Club of Long Beach and Pacific Coast Club. Great Southern Life Insurance Co. was founded in Houston, Texas, in 1909. The company has progressed through the past 55 years so it now operates in 13 states across the southern part of the United States from Georgia to Hawaii.

Firm Declares Extra Dividend

SOUTH GATE—The Board of Directors of Anthony Pools, Inc. (AMEX) has declared a 5 per cent stock dividend in addition to its regular quarterly dividend of 9 cents a share.

The cash dividend will be paid March 13 to stock of record Feb. 27 and the stock dividend will be paid April 1 to stock of record March 2.

Phil Anthony, president, said the extra dividend was voted "largely because of the company's performance in the year just completed as well as on our belief that the year ahead will be one of even greater achievement, both in terms of sales and earnings."

Anthony said the company's year-end statement for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1963, has not been completed yet. But he said there is "no doubt" it will be the best in the 16-year history of the company.

Green, Signal Oil President, to Retire; Shumway to Take Post

Top level management changes to fill approaching retirement vacancies at Signal Oil & Gas Co. have been announced by Samuel B. Mosher, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, who continues in this capacity.

Forrest N. Shumway has been named to succeed President Russell H. Green, who reaches retirement Jan. 31. Green will continue as a member of the board of directors and serve the company as a consultant.

Ronald W. Heath reaches retirement Feb. 29 and, at that time, relinquishes his duties as executive vice president, but will remain as a member of the board of directors, and continue to serve the company in a consulting capacity.

A NEW executive alignment will become effective Feb. 1 for three top officials, who will report directly to the president.

William E. Walkup has been named senior executive vice president in charge of general administration; Frank D. Lortscher has been named executive vice president of refining, supply and distribution, and foreign and domestic marketing; and Russell H. Green Jr. will become executive vice president in charge of exploration, crude oil and gas production.

"WITH THESE new assignments, we are transferring greater responsibilities to capable executives who have been developed within our own organization in order to meet the increased scope of operations that has come with the company's growth," Mosher said. "At the same time, we are retaining the counsel and guidance of our veteran directors."

Shumway started his oil career as a roustabout and drill-

Master Plan Will Get Airing Tuesday

The Master Plan Section of the Orange County Planning Department will be presenting the Capistrano Valley Preliminary Land Use General Plan to the community of Capistrano Beach Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., at the Community Church on Camino Estrella in Capistrano Beach.

The Plan had been presented to the Dana Point community on Dec. 2, 1963. It was heard very favorably at that time by the citizens of Dana Point and surrounding areas.

Women Realtors Told of Escrow Problems

BELLFLOWER—The Women's Council of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors held its first luncheon meeting for 1964 at the Board Auditorium, Wednesday, with President Frankie Harrell presiding. Fifty members and affiliates were present.

Henry "Hank" Dunlevy, vice president, public relations, Liberty Escrow Group, discussed the "Pitfalls of Escrow."

Anthony said the company's year-end statement for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1963, has not been completed yet. But he said there is "no doubt" it will be the best in the 16-year history of the company.

NLB Realty Club Will Hear Solon

Assemblyman C. George Deukmejian will speak at the breakfast meeting of the North Long Beach Estate Club Thursday.

His subject will be "Forecast of the 1964 Legislative Session."

Pier J Fill Small Compared to Japanese Dredging Project

A Japanese businessman is, by comparison, a midget, but we need to make more land because we have so much, although polite, was not impressed. Murata reported, however, that even before the Osaka job was started his company obtained valuable ideas on planning and methods of development from the Port of Long Beach. Mitsui sent engineers here two years ago. They took back with them a thick file of information from Chief Harbor Engineer Bob Hoffmaster. Mitsui is putting up some $60 million for reclaiming and developing the 2,000 acres as the site for a huge mill and other industrial installations, Murata said. The company will become the owner of two-thirds of the land, with the remainder in government ownership.

Sanjiro Murata, liaison adviser to Mitsui Real Estate Co., Ltd., visited the harbor only briefly. His principal purpose here was to pursue negotiations with Pacific Dredging Co. and its parent firm, Macco Corp., of Paramount, for purchase of the big dredge San Diego.

THE SAN DIEGO is currently midway in a $3 million, two-year contract to fill 2,000 acres of shoal water with new land off Osaka harbor, Pier J as Long Beach," he added.

M. E. Morris Heads L.B. Architect Unit

Merritt E. Morris was installed as president of the Long Beach District of the Southern California Chapter of the American Institute of Architects Friday night at the Annual Meeting, held at the Petroleum Club.

Also installed were Richard O. Prior, vice president; Richard L. Poper, secretary; and Robert Lane, treasurer. Installing officer was Howard H. Morgridge, immediate past president of the Southern California Chapter, AIA.

M. E. MORRIS District President

WILLIAM A. LOCKETT, retiring district president, reviewed the year's accomplishments in the fields of city beautification, urban redevelopment and architectural education in Long Beach.

The chapter, which has moved into new headquarters more than 900 members and at the International Design is second largest AIA chapter Center in Los Angeles.

Port Sets Record in Steel Movement

The largest two-way movement of steel in West Coast port history—19,376 tons—million. Unloading was completed Los Angeles Harbor Friday.

Almost simultaneously, 15,750 tons of steel coil produced by the Kaiser Steel plant at Fontana was being loaded aboard the freighter SS Miss Chandris at Berth 145 for shipment to the Far East.

Port officials said the handling would take about five days and should be finished by today.

Value of the export load THE STEEL is consigned $1.9 million.

IN ANNOUNCING the acquisition, Robert G. Bailey, president of Pacific Tile, Paramount, stated, "We are extremely fortunate in being able to acquire this full line producer of quality tools. We are particularly pleased that Mr. Baum, who did such an outstanding job of developing Dresden Manufacturing will continue managing this division."

B of A Promotes Phil Infelise

Phil Infelise of 3529 Lees Ave., Long Beach, has been named assistant manager at Bank of America's North Long Beach branch, it is announced by Manager Herbert P. Sipple.

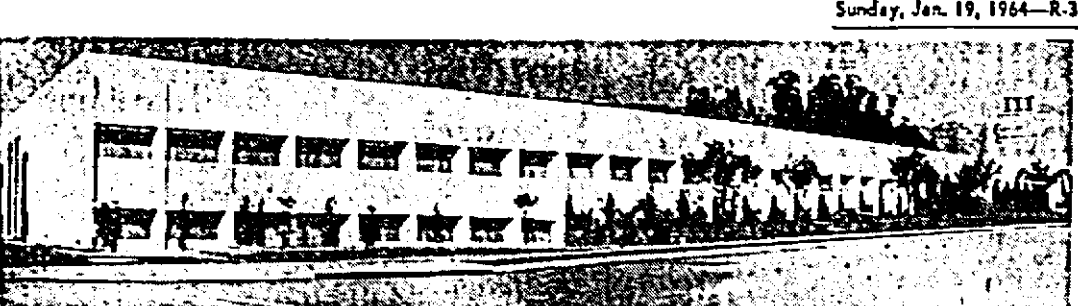

Assistant cashier and loan officer for the past six months, Infelise previously served in the bank's Business Development department in Orange County.

He began his career in 1952 as a teller and first was promoted to officer rank in 1956.

Building 'Future Unlimited' Seen by New HBA President

The future for the home builder is unlimited providing our product remains attractive and is within the means of our buyers," declared Robert A. Olin at his recent installation as president of the Home Builders Association of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties.

Olin foresees two decades of spectacular increases in home and apartment construction, based on the growth of new households to 80 million in 1983 as compared with 55 million at present.

The Pomona builder, formerly of Chicago, was installed as HBA president at a banquet in the Biltmore Hotel at Los Angeles.

OTHER OFFICERS installed were Larry Armour, Anaheim, first vice president; William Lyon, Anaheim, second vice president; Norman Shanahan, Beverly Hills, treasurer, and Lawrence J. Weinberg, Beverly Hills, secretary. Patrick J. O'Donovan continues as executive vice president.

Beckman Gets $ Million Contract

FULLERTON—Beckman Instruments, Inc., has announced receipt of a contract in excess of $1 million from AETRON, a Division of Aerojet-General Corp., for two data acquisition systems to be used in development of the Saturn Space Vehicle of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Louis B. Horwitz, manager of Beckman's Systems Division in Fullerton, said the systems will monitor and record data from static test firings of the engines of the Saturn rocket.

Ray A. Watt, Gardena, who was HBA president for 1963, presided at the ceremonies and turned over the gavel to Olin near the end of the program for the 23rd annual installation banquet.

A CONTINUED unfettered industry with the minimum amount of government controls and regulations, dedicated to the principles of free enterprise without subsidization to give the buyer public the best home for the least amount of money remains the objective of the HBA, Olin said.

County supervisors, city councilmen, mayors, city managers, planning commission members, planning department executives of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura counties were guests of the HBA and were introduced by Watt.

Sparkletts Corp. to Have $675,000 Gardena Plant

Sparkletts Drinking Water Corp. is building a new $675,000 bottling facility at Gardena with the opening scheduled for early January.

The facility will be on more than three acres with the address at 221 E. Alondra Blvd.

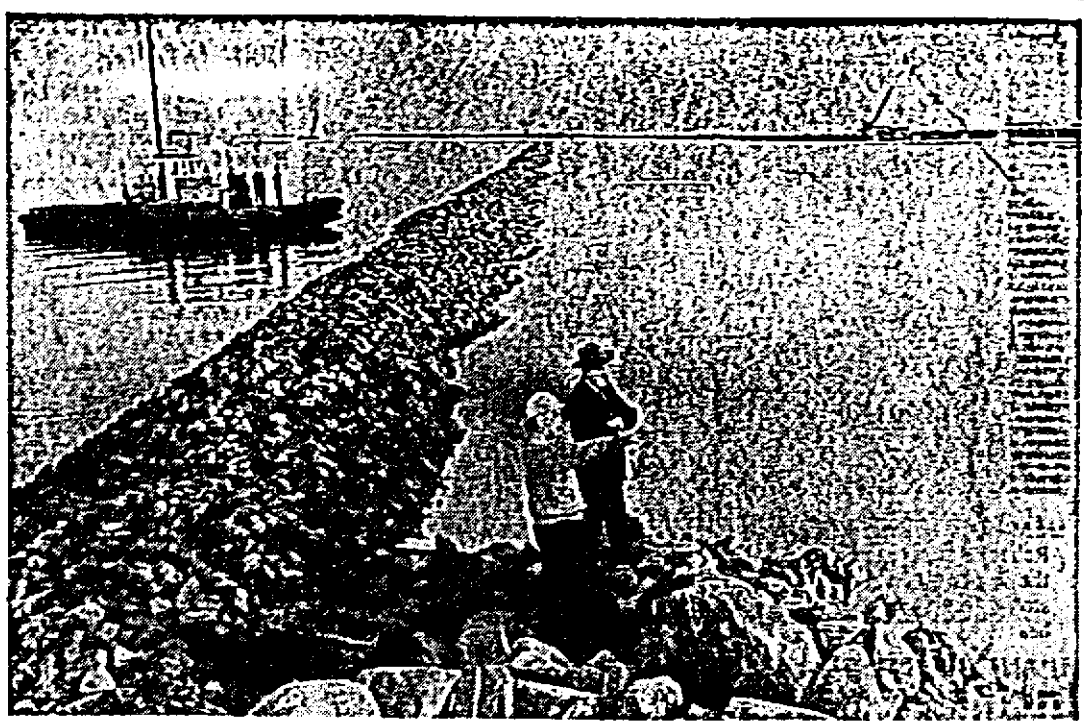

Glen Bollinger, Sparkletts president, said some 150 persons will be employed at the facility, which will produce approximately 1,500,000 five-gallon bottles of drinking water annually, in addition to specialized distilled water for the Navy, missile plants and industries.

Kenneth C. Hornback, 1130 Compton Blvd., Gardena, will be the manager.

Sparkletts wells on the property will be the source of supply for production of the drinking waters.

Industrial Development Trophy Awarded to Texas

Texas has been selected prior to January 1962, its shows the state advanced to winner of the 1963 Professional Contractors Association trophy. The trophy was presented annually by the Society of Industrial Realtors Texas program since its inception less than two years ending Oct. 31, major new province with the most effective industrial development program.

The decision of a panel of five independent judges was announced recently by H. R. (Bob) Hudson, Los Angeles, society president.

Kentucky was voted runner-up for the third consecutive year.

THE AWARD trophy will be presented to Gov. John B. Connally of Texas at a luncheon Jan. 31 at the Marriott Twin Bridges Motor Hotel in Washington during the mid-winter meetings of the society, a professional affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Premier Duff Roblin of the province of Manitoba — the 1962 award recipient — will make the presentation.

A special runnerup trophy will be presented to Kentucky.

THIS IS the fourth year the Professional Trophy—donated by Clinton B. Snyder, Hoboken, N. J., 1960 SIR president—has been awarded. North Carolina won in 1960, Maine in 1961, and Manitoba last year.

Until a few years ago, Texas had no program for industrial development as compared with other states.

New Facilities for Arrowhead-Puritas

Construction of a new distribution facility for the South Bay branch of Arrowhead and Puritas Waters Inc. will be completed in January, it was announced by Hugo W. Druehl, president.

Located at 2445 E. Dominguez, the new office will replace smaller quarters now located at 502 E. 213th St. Under the direction of H. L. Evans, district manager, it will serve not only as district headquarters for the coastal area from Malibu to San Clemente, but as the main distribution center for the company's products in the South Bay region.

The 4,400 square foot building will house general offices, a conference room, and a reception area, as well as warehouse space for coolers and other equipment.

LIGHTING will be provided by a combination of fluorescent and incandescent fixtures recessed in an acoustical tile ceiling. Floors will be covered with vinyl asbestos tile.

Apartment Association Installs; Honors Solon as 'Citizen of the Year'

By VERN ANTHONY
Regional News Editor

Arnold B. Berg was installed as new president of the Long Beach Apartment House Association Thursday night to succeed James Odegard in a meeting which also highlighted selection of a Citizen of the Year award winner and 'fireworks' over the Rumford housing act initiative issue.

Assemblyman George Deukmejian of the 39th District, as speaker of the evening on the subject "Are You Heard in Sacramento?" climaxed his talk with a strong defense of the initiative drive and a blast at Gov. Edmund Brown's administrative war on opponents of the Rumford Act on the racial housing question.

"I THINK it is deplorable," Deukmejian said, "for the governor of this state to use governmental funds to try to discourage the right of citizens to use the initiative process."

The assemblyman received a standing ovation from the apartment house group which along with the California Real Estate Association is pressing a drive for signatures on an initiative which would let voters decide the property rights issue.

Shortly after finishing his talk, Deukmejian was announced as winner of the association's Citizen of the Year Award, presented to him by the outgoing president. Last year's winner was William Grant, councilman and former assemblyman.

BUSINESS GOOD

Building Gains Highlight '63

Southern California's business activity, which moved to new highs throughout most of 1963, ended the year by equaling the previous record level set in November, according to L. H. Showalter, vice president and manager of Security First National Bank's Long Beach office.

As of Dec. 27, the bank's business index was reported at 136.6 (preliminary), more than 7% over the corresponding period of 1962.

In reviewing the Southland's economic progress during the past year, Security Bank's report said the highlight of 1963 was the increase in building activity, particularly residential construction.

TOTAL CONSTRUCTION valuation approximated $4.5 billion, a 15% gain over 1962. Residential building, which represents 60 per cent of all construction activity, reached $2.6 billion, for a 27% increase over 1962. The sharp rise was attributed to the increased volume of apartment unit construction.

Multiple unit activity accounted for 60% of the 200,000 new dwelling units authorized in the 14-county area during 1963, and 75% of the total in Los Angeles County.

NON-RESIDENTIAL building, represented by the dollar valuation of commercial and industrial building permits and other buildings not subject to permit requirements, was estimated at $1.4 billion, up slightly over 1962.

Commercial building, estimated at $530 million, and industrial building, at $130 million, showed only minor changes from 1962.

Population growth continued to be a prime stimulant to the Southland economy.

Two Shifted in Bank Positions Transfer of Edward P. Levesque, assistant manager, to Security First National Bank's Babby Knolls branch in Long Beach, has been announced.

In addition, Preston Barr, 14259 Grayville Drive, La Mirada, has been appointed assistant manager of Security First National Bank's Carson & Woodruff branch, which opened Dec. 2 in Lakewood.

Levesque, of 5347 East 2nd St., Long Beach, formerly was assigned to the Crenshaw & Imperial branch, and prior to that was at the Lynwood branch.

Barr is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, where he received a BS degree in banking.

He has been in banking charge of public relations, Belmont Savings and Loan Association. He has been in show business and is active with the Long Beach Community event "to honor the small boat cruise made in capacity of branch platform."

Historic Past MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Miami since 1946, having worked annual Columbus Day regatta for a northern California institution prior to joining Se-Timothy J. Sullivan who says curi- Before assuming his new post, he was assigned to the Lynwood branch.

Speaker will be Keith Houdyshele, vice president in Belmont Savings and Loan Association. He has been in show business and is active with the Long Beach Community event "to honor the small boat cruise made in capacity of branch platform."

Kitchens Hold Key to Popular Homes

"It takes a lot of planning and a team of specialists to develop a successful residential community in Southern California, or any place in the country," says John Euston, general manager of Alco-Pacific Construction Co. in Westminster. Alco-Pacific has built hundreds of Sol-Vista homes in the Southland. Their current undertaking is the 565-home International Home Fair community in Westminster.

Alco-Pacific, in cooperation with Caloric Corp. and the Southern Counties Gas Co., decided the lady of the house has a strong word to say in the selection of a home. They came to the conclusion that the kitchen would be a good place to appeal to the little woman.

BEATRICE WEST, internationally known color consultant and interior designer, was flown to Westminster to study the plans. By this time the International theme had been developed and carried out by construction of models depicting the flavor of the Continent, Mediterranean, Scandinavian, Oriental and the Americas. Miss West gave special attention to the color planning of the Balanced Power Caloric kitchens.

Alco-Pacific then called upon their veteran building specialist and general superintendent, Vern Davis, to build homes worthy of the reputation of their company.

NOW THE International Home Fair is a reality. Thousands of families have come from all over the country to visit. Hundreds of homes have been built, school, church and playground sites have been designated. There is a massive shopping center planned adjacent to the homes.

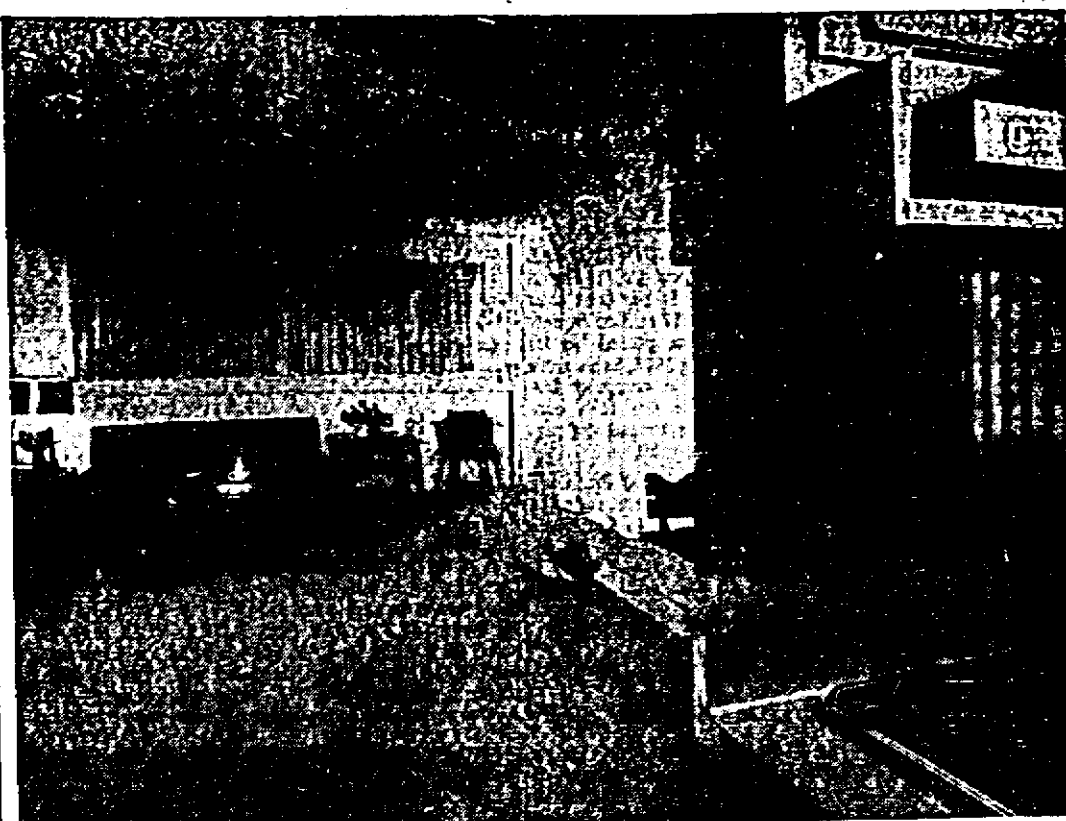

Meantime, International Home Fair families are enjoying the cultural and recreational activities so con-

Market Chain to Add Stores

"Expand more in '64" is the theme adopted for the new year by Mayfair Markets, headquartered in Los Angeles, according to J. Earl Garrett, president.

He indicated that a record-breaking 1963 would serve as a pattern for continued growth and progress for the company during the next 12 months.

In 1963, the company operated 194 stores in California, Arizona, Utah, Oregon and Washington, and had total sales of $320 million, compared with similar 1962 figures of 178 stores and $288 million.

During the coming year, Mayfair expects to open 15 new stores, a number of which will be located in the Southern California area, and attain an annual sales volume in excess of $350 million.

The second unit of Regal Homes is now under construction, states Tom Simms, developer of the popular Buena Park community. According to Simms, there are still several choice homes available for immediate occupancy in the first unit. The excellent location of Regal Homes is one of the biggest reasons for the fine sales reported in this new subdivision, Simms further stated.

Simms also announced new conventional financing terms requiring only $395 down, plus costs has proven very popular with buyers.

Regal Homes are three and enclosed with a block wall, four bedrooms, family rooms, two baths. They are priced from $21,300 and can be purchased on low down FHA financing. Families with an income of $650 monthly can qualify.

Noll Jr., former controller at Aeronutronic Division of Philco Corp., a subsidiary of Ford Motor Co., has been appointed operations director. He has been succeeded as controller by Paul A. Hanna, former manager of the Contract Administration Office.

In announcing the appointments, Aeronutronic vice president and general manager John B. Lawson said that the Contract Administration Office and the Finance Office have been combined into one office, headed by Hanna.

As operations director, Noll succeeds Herbert L. Karsch, recently appointed director of Aeronutronic's new Electronic System Programs organization.

Pacifica Series Homes Sell Fast

Extra values included in the homes that are made possible by the Sunkist Plaza Building firm's mass buying power, have been instrumental in bringing about a fast sales pace at the current Pacifica Series of Springdale South in Huntington Beach, according to Sy Bram, executive director of the firm.

Bram listed these extras as the kitchens which include a complete array of built-in appliances in the famous make Waste King-Universal line. Each kitchen, Bram emphasized, has built-in range and oven in color, waste disposer, Modern-Aire range hood and fan in matching color, natural ash cabinets and separate utility rooms.

BRAM EXPLAINS that the Pacifica Series is following suit on the Diamond Head Series, which preceded it and which sold in record time.

"In both cases," he added, "stepped-up construction schedules have been put into effect to keep abreast of the sales."

Springdale South, whose models are at the corner of Bolsa Ave. and Edwards St. in Huntington Beach, features an array of four three and four bedroom plans with a variety of exterior designs. Prices start at $18,250 with terms of no down payment and only $100 costs to move in.

Sunkist Plaza Builders have constructed thousands of quality residences in various locations throughout Southern California.

ALL HOMES have Custom Aire forced-air heating systems, sliding glass doors, vinyl asbestos floor tile and decorator-designed lighting fixtures.

The sparkling bathrooms feature spacious stall showers, vinyl asbestos floor tile, luxury Pullmans with Formica counters and deluxe medicine cabinets. Interiors are carefully planned for the best furniture arrangements and have shades and aluminum screens throughout.

As an extra bonus feature, the large rear yards are fully fenced with approximately 130 lineal feet of Redwood Fencing, plus gate. The finest recreation, schools, shopping centers and employment centers are nearby.

To reach the development go West on Bolsa to Edwards and models.

Yorba Linda Park Holds Open House

Celebration at Yorba Linda Park's Unit 3 today is in the form of an "open house" with refreshments for all viewers, as well as a clown and gifts for children.

Developer Andrew J. Hamer states that the new series of homes has been designed to appeal to buyers needing ample room for family growth. The residences are styled in a variety of two-story elevations, featuring four and five-bedroom floor plans. Generously proportioned family and dining room, two and 2½ baths, and two showers also contribute to uncrowded living environment.

OPEN HOUSE TODAY

Refreshments, a clown to entertain the kiddies, will be an added treat today for home viewers at Yorba Linda Park. On display will be Unit 3 models, featuring two-story stylings with four and five bedrooms. Yorba Linda Park is located at McCormack Lane and Berkenstock Lane in Yorba Linda.

Employment Sets Mark

Total employment in the Long Beach-Los Angeles-Orange County area was at a new high of 2,900,800 in November, Albert R. Tieberg, director of employment, has announced.

The number of jobholders increased by 1,500 over October, a less than usual increase for that time of the year. Unemployment increased seasonally from 159,900 in October to 174,700 in November.

The employment upswing in November was checked by a trade dispute in the communications industry, a further drop in electronics employment, and the usual fall decline in construction and other outdoor activities.

MOST OF THE overall month-to-month gain was in retail trade reflecting pre-Christmas expansion in department stores and apparel shops.

Smaller increases also were reported in services, government and finance.

Factory jobs, on the other hand, declined by 1,500 as a result of seasonal curtailment in food canning, toy manufacturing and fabricated metals industries. Electrical machinery continued to be a soft spot in manufacturing, with layoffs in this industry offsetting hirings in ordnance and aircraft during the past month.

FLOOR PLANS are designed to avoid "through traffic." They show family room or dining room, built-in kitchens with double ovens, range with exhaust fan and hood, disposal, natural finish cabinets, and breakfast bars. Wall-to-wall bedroom wardrobes have double shelves. Sliding glass doors and windows are aluminum framed and screened. Forced-air heating is an important feature.

The development is convenient to metropolitan Los Angeles, Long Beach, upper Orange County cities, beaches, golf courses, schools and shopping centers.

Lakewood East is on Del Amo Road, in the city of Lakewood, just west of Pioneer Boulevard. Visitors will find signs directing them to the model homes, open for viewing every day.

IN GLEN MAR SHORES

Here is a view in the Glen Mar Shores area in Huntington Beach, showing the trees and shrubs in the landscaping.

Home Landscaping Depicts Good Living

Consistent sales and enthusiasm of homebuyers at the Glen Mar Shore Series homes in Huntington Beach has been credited to the beautiful landscaping in the model home area that has been designed to provide the finer adjuncts of good living, states Ron Walker, sales manager.

"Since our model home area was completed this summer we have had a great many compliments from homebuyers. In some cases our homebuyers see themselves living in one of the model homes and surrounded by all of the beautiful landscaping," continued Walker.

LOCATED JUST one and one-half miles from the ocean, Glen Mar Shore Series homes offer three bedroom, family room homes from $21,450, four bedroom, family room homes from $22,000, and two-story five bedroom homes from $24,950 with down payments of $495 and financing up to 35 years.

Among the major attractions to this community is the all families and unrelated individuals was $4,600 in 1959; no smog. Many outstanding $5,700 for families and $1,600 features are offered in the for unrelated individuals. That homes which boast a "bonus" is, one-half more than the of square footage in each median and one-half received room of the two-story, five-bedroom home.

INCLUDED IN the purchase price are: wall-to-wall carpeting in living room, hall, entry and master bedroom; cash incomes of less than $3,000; landscaped front lawn, front yard sprinklers installed; side yard sprinklers installed; side posol, breakfast bar and ash kitchen cabinets. Large massive fireplaces are included in each home. An additional important factor added by Macco Realty is that land ownership is insured.

The sales office can be reached by taking the Santa Ana Freeway to Brookhurst and traveling south to Adams.

Here's How Americans Share in $333 Billions

How the American people share $333 billion in money income is told graphically in a pamphlet just published by the U.S. Department of Commerce.

If the third of a trillion dollars had been equally divided it would have meant $5,700 for each of the 45 million families and each of the 13 million unrelated individuals not living as a part of families, according to the pamphlet which was prepared by the department's Bureau of the Census. The pamphlet shows how income actually is divided.

THE MEDIAN INCOME of all families and unrelated individuals was $4,600 in 1959; no smog. Many outstanding $5,700 for families and $1,600 features are offered in the for unrelated individuals. That homes which boast a "bonus" is, one-half more than the of square footage in each median and one-half received room of the two-story, five-bedroom home.

ABOUT 14 million families and unrelated individuals, or 23 per cent of the 58 million families and unrelated individuals in the nation, received cash incomes of less than $3,000. These units received about the like.

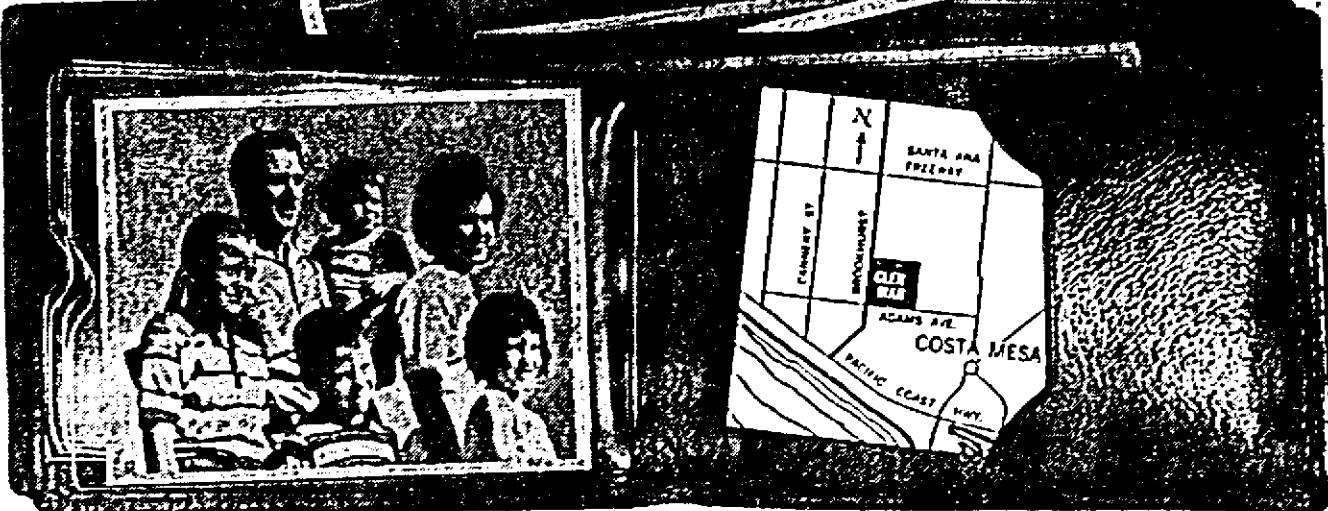

FAMILY INCOMES are generally much higher than those of unrelated individuals because more than one person in a family may be receiving income, and for other reasons, including the fact that a large proportion of individuals are older persons with diminished incomes.

A fifth of all families had incomes under $2,500 in 1959. This lowest 20 per cent of families received only 5 per cent of the nearly $300 billion total family income.

The highest one-fifth of the families had incomes over $9,000 and received 44 per cent of the total family income.

In the top 5 per cent only one family out of 100 lived entirely on income from interest, dividends, rents, royalties, and

35th Year With Security Bank

Harry W. Schurch of Seal Beach, manager of Security First National Bank's Fourth Street and Cherry Avenue branch in Long Beach, this month celebrates his 35th anniversary with the bank.

A native of Atlantic City, N.J., Schurch moved to California in 1916. He worked for a bank in San Diego for approximately six years prior to joining Security's staff as a teller.

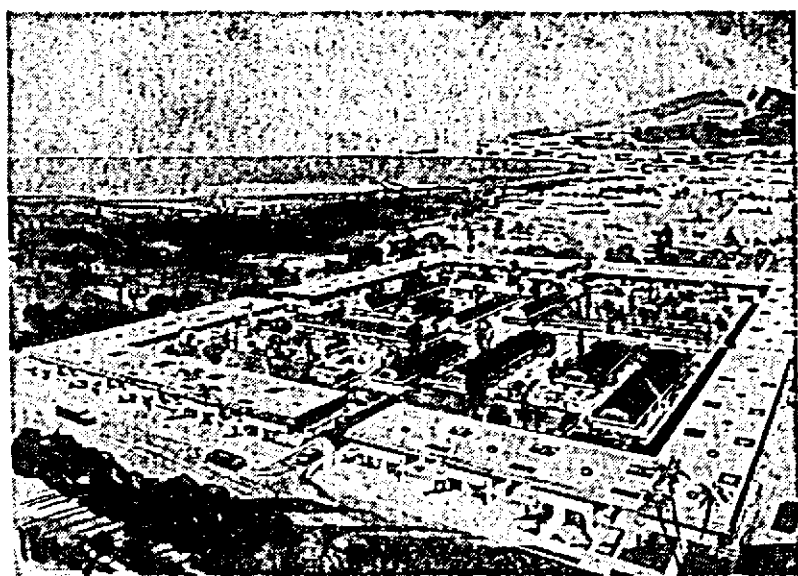

He has managed the Fourth and M. W. Schurch Cherry branch since 1943, during which time he has engaged in various community and civic activities. He is a member of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, Long Beach Optimist Club and Long Beach Yacht Club.

He also belongs to the Long Beach Elks Club No. 888 and has participated in the Community Chest, Red Cross and Cancer drives.

Schurch, his wife, four daughters and a son live at 1616 Ocean Ave.

Luxury Apartments Open in Huntington Gardens

IN FOUR DISTINCT STYLINGS

Huntington Gardens apartments will be open today in Huntington Beach. Here is an artist's rendering of the over-all scene where four distinct stylings of architecture are offered.

Opening today of Huntington Gardens has created much interest in the apartment building trades due to the original and distinctive styling of the 208 units.

Four architectural styles, Oriental, Polynesian, New England and Mediterranean, are subtly blended, maintaining their individual design yet blended into an apartment community that rests in a park-like setting. "We feel that we can offer the apartment seeker not only a unit that embodies every convenience and luxury but our penthouses have been sited as one of the outstanding innovations in the field today," stated Henry H. Brudelin, owner-builder of Huntington Gardens.

THE PENTHOUSE apartments have been designed for the executive bachelor or career woman looking for exciting style and impressive decor. Completely custom furnished including original oil paintings, the units are decorated with bright colors, coordinated to create a dramatic setting. Soft music is piped in. Gold Medallion kitchen and queen-size beds are a few of the multitude of features. A private stairway from the garage leads to each individual unit so that inclement weather is not considered from automobile to apartment. There is ample parking for 2 cars provided each unit.

All units feature handloomed draperies, luxurious wool carpeting. Electric thermostat controlled heating and air conditioning. Maid service, 4 large swimming pools, 2 hot swirling baths, 4 Saunas, baths, poolside telephones, private individual storage rooms, private patios, fireplaces in 60 of the units and four individually styled gardens with Cabanas and Bar-B Ques.

P. L. PALMER, chairman of the board, Newport-Balboa Savings & Loan, states "Huntington Gardens will set a milestone in the building of luxury apartments. Their proximity to the new Douglas Space Missiles System, numerous industrial centers and recreational facilities make them an important advancement in executive housing."

Rental reservations are being accepted and further information may be obtained by calling the W. G. Long Construction Co., 425 30th, Newport Beach.

TO LONG BEACH

B. T. McClendon, wage and salary supervisor for General Telephone Co.'s personnel department in Santa Monica, has been appointed southern area personnel administrator, with offices in Long Beach, according to an announcement by M. R. Houston, director of personnel for the utility. In his new position, McClendon reports to H. W. Frahm, southern area general manager.

Engineers' Week Set Feb. 17-22

Vice Admiral William F. Raborn Jr., USN-Ret., now a vice president of Aerojet-General Corp., will serve as general chairman of the Los Angeles area observance of 1964 Engineers' Week, set for Feb. 17-22.

A highlight of the week will be selection of "The Engineer of the Year" in Southern California and presentation to him of the annual "George" award, the engineers' counterpart of Oscar and Emmy.

The award is named for George Washington, one of the nation's first engineers.

General Chairman REAR ADMIRAL RABORN

Engineers' Week is observed nationally by presidential proclamation each year during the week of Washington's birthday.

A week-long program of activities will culminate with an address by a national figure at the annual banquet in the Biltmore Hotel on Feb. 21.

"THE PURPOSE of Engineers' Week" said Raborn, "is to develop greater public understanding of the engineering profession and its vital role in the day-to-day life of every American and for the future growth of America."

The observance is sponsored by the Los Angeles Council of Engineering Societies, Consulting Engineers Association of California, and the Los Angeles Technical Societies Council.

Raborn joined Aerojet three months ago after 39 years of Navy service. He is known as the "father" of the Polaris missile program, which he directed from inception through deployment.

Approximately 8 out of every 10 homes built today are put up by tract or development builders, according to building authorities.

Hillview Regency Townhouses in Anaheim Will Open Today

A little over three years ago Tom Coughlin was a leading salesman for the Kimberly-Clark Corp. Hearing about a small parcel of commercial property available on Katella Avenue in Anaheim, Tom and his wife Jean, after deliberation, decided to take a flyer and buy it. Since then they have parlayed that piece of land into a $2½ million condominium complex, Hillview Regency Townhouses, the first ever offered in Santa Ana.

A gala three-day grand opening for the 120-unit development is scheduled for this week-end. Highlighting the event will be songs by the Santa Ana Junior College Madrigal Singers, and the personal appearance of Miss Santa Ana, Lee Fernandez. In addition, free perfume will be given to lady visitors.

THE 10-ACRE development features own-your-own townhouses in both two and three-bedroom models, one and two-story units. Prices start at $17,900 with down payments as low as $895, according to Tom Coughlin, president of KRIC Enterprises, Inc. "With terms as convenient as these," Tom adds, "monthly payments are only $90.39 which is better than paying rent." "And for just $22.50 per month the new owner enjoys complete exterior maintenance, painting, gardening, in addition to all recreation facilities."

New residents at Hillview Regency will have luxurious country club facilities right at their door step including 9-hole pitch-and-putt course, 60-foot heated pool, fenced-in patios, recreation hall with massive circular fireplace, pool and billiard tables, table tennis, card room, fully equipped kitchen, showers and Sauna heat rooms for both men and women.

THEIR DREAM COMES TRUE

Tom and Jean Coughlin parlayed a piece of land in Anaheim into a $2,500,000 condominium complex, Hillview Regency Townhouses, which will open today.

The furnished models have been decorated by Mrs. Coughlin. Contrasting golds and whites against electric blues, greens and purples, Jean has achieved an appealing temporary atmosphere which blends with the warmth of walnut paneled walls and Palos Verdes stone fireplaces.

HILLVIEW REGENCY

Townhouses represent Jean's and Tom's second major development, having already completed over 100 deluxe garden-type apartments a year ago in Garden Grove.

When asked how two young people have done so much in so little time, Jean replied: "Well, we like to do things."

Visitors planning to attend the grand opening should take the 17th Street off-ramp driving either north or south on the Santa Ana Freeway, and proceed a half mile east of Grand Avenue in Santa Ana, suggests Bob Moore, president of the Robert J. Moore Co., Santa Ana, in charge of sales promotion.

Sales are being directed by Richard Murray of the Farrow Co., Garden Grove.

Fountainhead Homes Family-Ready to Save Occupants Further Costs

REAR VIEW OF HOME SHOWS BIG LAWN All outside landscaping is in when occupants move into a Fountainhead Home. This shows the large rear lawn provided the occupants.

According to many home moves in has made Fountainhead one of the most successful home developments in Orange County. Many people find the family-ready features financially attractive because of a long established community. The homes are available for immediate occupancy in many models.

Unlike the flat, uninteresting, bare look usually found in a new subdivision, Fountainhead homes are surrounded by green grass, trees, shrubs and fences. As soon as each home is built, sprinkler systems are installed, grass, trees and shrubs are planted and the back yard is fenced. As a result, when the new owner moves in, he has all the advantages of a brand new house without the disadvantages of a bare lot that requires money, work, and time before it provides the proper setting.

Swap Hoe for Nine-Iron

By CURTYNE DRISCOLL

"I want this place to look beautiful, but I want to play golf weekends," is the number one request of home owners, male, according to landscape architect Edward Lovell, ASLA.

"There's nothing wrong with low maintenance gardens," Lovell continued, "but it certainly reaches its lowest ebb with mounds, rock and a yucca."

Women who used to be proud of their prize peonies now rarely ask for room for a cut flower bed. They are busy, too.

In Long Beach, all of this activity has led to the replacement of the old-fashioned rose garden with tropicals or "oriental" gardens.

"Oriental is the least understood in landscape planning," said Lovell.

"An oriental gardener would have apoplexy if he saw some of the Japanese gardens here."

In oriental design, everything has meaning and a story—everything is there for a reason, not an effect. The purpose of the design is to reproduce a natural scene in symbolism, according to Lovell.

THE AMERICAN Society of Landscape Architects defines the profession as encompassing "the arrangement of land and everything thereon."

It's a five year course leading to a bachelor of landscape architecture degree at only 16 universities accredited by ASLA in the United States.

The American Institute of Landscape Architects has similar qualifications for membership.

Ideally, from the landscape architects' point of view, he would go to work with the architect and interior decorator in the preliminary design of a new building.

"Unfortunately," commented Lovell, "this happens only about one percent of the time."

The province of the landscape architect includes walks, steps, pool, walls, paved areas, pergolas and out-building with planting to carry out the design.

Design comes first and the planting should always compliment the architecture.

No banana trees with Cape Cod houses, please! If you are going to use temperate zone plants, and you probably are if you live in a contemporary design home, stick to temperate zone plants. Bird of Paradise and junipers do not go well together.

"For the weekend gardener, pot culture is ideal," Lovell said.

With the use of pots, there comes the opportunity to change the scene and the season with color and a variety of textures. The form of the pot itself is pleasant.

LOVELL LIKES unglazed pots best. He also suggests the use of chimney flue tiles for containers.

The art of landscape gardening came from Italy to France during the reign of Louis XIV, bringing with it "a hundred devices and surprises; bowers, trellises, grottos, caves, grotesques, colored stones, bird houses, statues, vases, brooks, fountains, waterspouts, even organs played by running water," according to Will Durant in "The Age of Louis XIV."

In France it reached a zenith in the gardens of Versailles when Louis gave Le Notre carte blanche to turn a wilderness into acres of beauty.

The English felt the influence of the French, but developed a style of their own, "the grand meadow" or "deer park" look, where they pursued such an imitation of nature that if a tree fell, they left it there.

In the United States, one of the notable first landscape architects (also an architect and engineer) was the designer of Washington, D.C., Pierre Charles L'Enfant.

ALTHOUGH his plan was generally followed, L'Enfant was fired in the middle of the job for defying the commission by removing the home of an influential resident to make room for an important avenue.

Another famed American landscape architect was Frederick Law Olmstead, designer of Central Park in New York City.

His firm designed the original plans for Palos Verdes Estates.

Well, back to that low maintenance problem. There's always sand, gravel, bark, sawdust, ground-up seashells, brick, quarry tile, exposed aggregate, wood decking or that old favorite green cement.

But don't tell Eddie Lovell!

SEEN AT WINTER MART

...Classic Furnishings Pass Up the Past

By MARY NETH

Is return to past elegance in furnishings passe?

Are gold leaf and rococo trim and curvey clutter as out of date now as back when going modern meant striving for the clean cut, antiseptic look of an operating room?

According to designers questioned at the Los Angeles Home Furnishings Mart (the big annual winter show of interior design), the trend toward the past HAS lost its usefulness.

"The homemaker is reaching a new level of sophistication—she's ignoring passing style fancies," explained Kenneth Kent, president of California Furniture Designers Association.

Fads in furniture such as Far Eastern, wild and pseudo European, Gothic and Mediterranean are no longer law for a well-groomed room.

Instead, today, such styles are taking their place beside the clean lines of the functional and the informal Modern American—and nobody is losing.

The drifting away from the one-trend look was certainly in evidence at the six-day mart. The new lines viewed by the 15,000 home furnishing dealers in attendance at the huge 13-floor, 600 showroom exhibit building were anything but stereotyped.

Variety, something for every taste, every mode of living—formal or informal—was the keynote.

★ ★ ★

WHILE SPANISH continued to be the single dominant theme, a realism in interpretation of contemporary materials was seen as the primary goal of the designers.

Neither rococo nor clean-cut contemporary were out—on in.

Result? There was new emphasis on luxury of natural materials, such as woods, linen, wool and leather; new use of heavily textured fabrics and vivid color.

Designer Frank Rohloff, specializing in case goods and tables in wood and plastic, points to walnut as a most-used wood, an opinion shared by Robert Kjer-Jackobson, who designs metal and wood dining furniture and accessories and James Kelso, working exclusively in wood cabinets for radio, television and hi-fi. Oak, cherry and rosewood were popular as accents with the natural warm colorings of these and other exotic woods seen as more important, too.

All the designers leaned heavily toward textures and generally, in color-range, toward golds, oranges and greens. Designer John Keal credits accessory and area rug manufacturers with providing the current bright look of upholstery and drapery materials; notes "that the vivid combinations were seen first in small accent pieces some years ago"—feels they may have inspired fabric suppliers to make more colorful combinations and for customers to look for them.

As to the Spanish look, it is no fleeting click of a castanet, it's definitely here to stay particularly in the hearts and homes of Californians who hunger for a link with their historic past.

BUT, SPANISH '61 has many moods. The simplicity of some of the Spanish Gothic designs looks as new as any modern style, especially in case pieces and lighting accessories. Rococo treatments of carved wood or wrought metal show up as table pedestals, in lamps, as accents on upholstered pieces and on cabinet fronts.

The typically Spanish high-backed chair, often with such adornments as carved wood framing on the seat back, finial treatment, or graceful curved and carved legs, is seen in numerous dining groups, which frequently use the familiar X-base pedestal. Similar pedestals appear on coffee, cocktail and cigarette tables but often are so simplified that at first glance they suggest no country or period.

This simplification of period stylings is perhaps, say many manufacturers and de-

Departures, Arrivals—Gay Stay-at-Homes

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Women's Editor

TARRYING IN Long Beach before taking off for Teheran, Iran, is almost over for Mrs. Ali Fouladi (the former Barbara Weishampel of our town). She is pictured below with children, Stuart Darush, 11-months, and Lisa, 2½-year old.

And now, back they go to home in Teheran.

For your info, that's a lusciously soft and very genuine Persian lamb throw rug in foreground which Barbara brought to her mother, Isabelle Weishampel, of 4135 E. Second St. She has been visiting "Mom" and brother, Charlie, on her second Stateside visit since she has made her home in Teheran, a matter of the past five years.

Barbara met her husband at Long Beach State when both were students there about 6½ to 7 years ago. Ali was on the 49er campus to take his master's degree in business administration. He originally planned to visit here, too, and accompany his family back home (they'll leave during this coming week most likely) but a business trip to Japan loomed for him so Barbara and the children will go it alone. Ali, by the way, is an importer of heavy automotive equipment to Iran and, I gather, travels considerably.

Querying Barbara about home in old Persia, discovered she really loves it and finds the livin' is easy. Although rice is the basic food over there, Ali developed a taste for American fare while here so Barbara says they buy their groceries at the supermarkets. "Supermarket?" sez I in my most amazed grass-is-greener on this-side-of-the-fence tone. She assured me they have several very good ones, operated primarily for the large foreign population of the city and for the many Iranians who have gone to school in U. S. of A. and like our food. She said there were about 8,000 Iranian students in U. S. last year, probably more this year. The wealthy Iranian likes to send children to U. S. for an education. They think our system is good and it has definite prestige value.

Wild Waves Say...

Getting back to the supermarkets. A little on the expensive side. A bottle of catsup, the 19 cents or so size here, is $1.50 there. Cornflakes are 70 cents. That's for the small size, you understand.

One more thing before stopping—Barbara is president of a club of 100 women, like herself, who are "foreign" in Iran—and 90 per cent of the girls are from the U.S., most of whom met their spouses while they were students in this country.

Oh. One bonus not having Ali come here. He's going to stall his trip to Land of the Rising Sun so that, after Barbara has delivered the children to their home, she can keep right on traveling—go to Japan with him.

BIG DAY for Little Clubbers was joint old and new board luncheon hosted by outgoing president, Helen (Mrs. Sterling) Pillsbury, in her home. Most "in" guest of honor was incoming president, Cora (Mrs. A. J.) Danstrom.

Among those whipping up a storm of personal conversation, with a dab of business talk thrown in, here and there, were such new to office women as Marce (Mrs. Perry) Hight, Alice (Mrs. Carleton) Wallace, Grace (Mrs. Roland) Swaffield, Dorothy (Mrs. Karl) Hawthorne, Martha (Mrs. John) Craig, all picking up tips on their new "trade" from such of the hierarchy of last year's board as Mary Ella (Mrs. John) Buol, Lu (Mrs. W. H.) Hosking and Avis (Mrs. Paul) Dudley.

THE WORD merry didn't end with the holidays thanks to Glenda and Earl Barnes. They've had two marvellously gay open houses—one the 11th and the other last night to welcome friends to their lovely new home in El Dorado Park Estates (north of Spring, east of Studebaker).

Both were cocktails and wonderful hors d'oeuvres events with only one problem for merry-makers—where to park on, or near, Barnes' Crest Circle manse. No one cared—parties kept them in the happy holiday spirit.

Among those assisting, one night or the other, were Joanne and Al McConville, Randa and Ted Pearson Jr., Maureen and Jim Cone, Sue and Bob Buck, Helen and Herb Reuter and Marjory and Gordon Johnson.

ART TALK and plain people's frolic type conversation intermingled at Betty and Bob Buffum's Park

Estates home when they entertained in honor of famed metal sculptor, Claire Falkenstein.

Focal point of the night, of course, was the handsome fountain in the patio, done for the Buffums by Claire. Party was inspired by this and to have a gathering of the group that went on Claire's first conducted art tour to France in 1960.

Among those present were Dallas Conklin, Ellie and Frank Person, May and Art Holtz (all these women made the tour with others from Bay area). Also enjoying themselves at party were Jane and Jim Kresl, Suzanne and Vic Mingers, Flora and John Olsen to name a few of a local army who admire Miss Falkenstein's work.

Incidentally, Claire now has a new studio in Venice—California. Because she does so much of her work in Venice, Italy, she calls this one "Venice West." She also works a lot in Paris, in fact, all over Europe as well as New York, doing commissioned pieces of art in her inimitable fashion.

REALLY surprised were Mary and Bill Green. Cameraman was skillfully maneuvered to scene to record their reaction (below) to housewarming that caught them totally off guard last Saturday.

What caught guests off guard, totally, was condition of Green's just-moved-into house in Rossmore. They were COMPLETELY settled with nary a packing crate in sight. Pictures were hung—even such honey touches in place as nuts in silver holders. Left you who have struggled through the moving transition with great pain think they are wizards, let us remind you they've had practice. They've moved 17 times in the last few years prior to Bill's retirement as an Army Lt. Col.

Party organizers were Dolores (Mrs. Herman) Weissker and Marys sister-in-law, Marge (Mrs. John) Clarke.

Camera-caught in midst of total surprise.

Newlyweds Given the Papal Blessing

Newlywed Lt. (j.g.) and Mrs. George Nicholas Gee were honored at a champagne reception in Virginia Country Club following their wedding Saturday in St. Bartholomew's Catholic Church.

Guests entered the reception hall through doorways decorated with garlands of gardenias. A buffet brunch was served.

Mrs. Gee, the former Julianne Bescos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julie A. Bescos, Long Beach, is an alumna of the University of Southern California.

While there she was affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma, Trojan Amazons and Spurs. Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Gee, Lakewood, Ohio, was graduated from the University of Notre Dame.

THE WEDDING was an 11 a.m. Nuptial Mass in which bride and bridegroom received the Papal Blessing. For the ceremony, the bride chose a white tulle sheath with Alencon lace bodice, long sleeves, portrait neckline and detachable waist length train. Her cascade bouquet was of intermingled stephanotis, hyacinth and butterfly orchids.

Attending her were Toni Marie Bescos, her sister, as maid of honor, and Victoria Bescos, another sister; Mrs. Michael R. McKeever and Susanna W. Palmer, bridesmaids.

John Vynal was best man and Barry L. Bescos, the bride's brother; Lt. (j.g.) Thomas Cool and Hunt Payne were ushers.

The Gees will make their home in Newport, R.I., where the bridegroom is serving with the U.S. Navy.

Nursery Education Week To Feature Open Houses

THEY LOVE SCHOOL! Jimmy Vickers, Marc Diehl and Karen Kuklish, all 4-year-olds, are happy students at the parent-participating nursery group at El Dorado Park. The group, with 16 others, will welcome visitors as a feature of Nursery Education Week, Monday through Saturday.

By Proclamation of Mayor Edwin Wade, Jan. 19 through 25 will be observed as Nursery Education Week in Long Beach. Sponsored by the Association for Nursery Education, all phases of the field in both public and private nursery schools will be on public display.

Local radio stations will have informative programs and Long Beach public libraries will have special exhibits.

The 17 parent-participating nursery groups in the Long Beach area will hold open house for interested parents. Formerly called co-operatives, these play groups provide unusual opportunities for play and social growth for the pre-schooler from 2 years nine months old to school age.

Like all nursery schools, the participating groups are licensed by the State Department of Social Welfare. They are non-profit and non-sectarian, directed by a trained teacher assisted by the mothers.

OPEN HOUSES will be held for visitors as listed:

East Long Beach-Bayshore Center, Bayshore Drive and Ocean Blvd., Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.; Colorado Lagoon Clubhouse, Colorado St. and Nieto Ave., Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.; Congregational Church, Katella St. and Pine Ave. in Los Alamitos, Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Also in East Long Beach-Recreation Park, Seventh St. and Park Ave., Friday from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.; Seal Beach Youth Center, Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.; College Estates Park, Stevely St. and Kallin Ave., Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. Margaret Wempe, assisted by Mrs. Josephine Bombardier, is in charge of arrangements.

Oval Elegance

...A DIAMOND OF RARE BEAUTY

All that is mysteriously and beautifully feminine scintillates in the radiant depths of the new oval diamond. The new oval ELEGANCE ring is the season's most talked about creation—and pure fantasy on the hand.

For an engagement ring that is both classical in form and fashion's companion forever, for a gift of impeccable taste, you'll want to see OVAL ELEGANCE.

See how OVAL ELEGANCE is larger and lovelier than a conventional round gem of exactly the same carat weight.

signers, the beginning of a truly new California contemporary styling which adapts from many classic sources but is beholden to none.

NEXT TO THE Spanish influence in furniture fashions comes the American modern and with it the greater use of "carefree" fabrics and table surfaces, more style variety in storage pieces and more ingenuity in expandable tables and surfaces.

All told, the philosophy of '64 furnishing follows the theme of the market: "form follows function, fashion follows form." And, that's the basis of the emerging Western look, too. A look that is pointing up California's place as a style pace-setter in both furnishings and women's fashions.

A number of the displays illustrated the close relationship between the two fields of Golden State design, too. For, no one was denying that clothing and home fashions go hand-in-hand.

"Take the era of the capris," said one designer. "It resulted in the huge decorative pillows, ottomans and low chairs—pretty places where pant-clad femmes could lounge or perch gracefully as well as informally."

"Now, with the hostess gown seeing a comeback, there's new interest in formal, separate dining rooms," he continued.

Color in home fashions also is following trends in women's clothes and vice versa.

Currently, the two color combinations finding favor simultaneously in clothing and home goods are orange and pink and blue and green.

But, a competent interior designer always advises a client to select colors for her home as she selects colors for her wardrobe—those that are becoming to her.

Worsham-Sheridan Married

St. Bartholomew's Catholic Church was chosen for the exchange of wedding vows Saturday by Patricia Louise Sheridan and James A. Worsham III, witnessed by 200 guests.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Sheridan, Mrs. Betty B. Worsham and James A. Worsham Jr.

A white velvet formal gown was worn by the bride. Her finger tip veil fell from a velvet pill box hat. Mrs. Sandra Valdez attended her as matron of honor.

William F. Silva served the bridegroom as best man. Other members of the wedding party included Marilyn Hughes, Katherine Soules, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salas, Harold Green, Roger Kidd and Bruce Worsham.

THE NEW Mrs. Worsham is a graduate of St. Anthony's High School and attended Long Beach State College. Her husband graduated from Wilson High School and attended Long Beach City College and LBSC.

On their return from a honeymoon in Aspen, Colo., the couple will reside in Lakewood.

Oswald Jacoby Bad Bid, Worse Play

South's two no-trump response to his partner's opening is not recommended. True he held 13 points and no-trump distribution, but he was totally unprepared for a heart lead.

It would have been far better tactically for South simply to have responded two clubs and let the bidding develop slowly. Three no-trump would still have been the final contract and three no-trump should make with no trouble at all, but South really compounded his first crime by misplaying the hand.

The hearts presented no problem because dummy showed up with the ace, king and queen. At trick two South played a club from dummy and finessed his jack. West won with the queen and continued hearts.

whereupon South continued with his club suit. Unfortunately, clubs failed to break and South wound up with only eight tricks.

HOW MUCH easier things would have been for South had he only stopped to count winners and losers before leading to trick two. He might have visualized the possibility of a losing club finesse and a bad club break, then noticed that dummy had a five-card diamond suit. True, it was headed by the jack, but South had the queen and ten to fit with it and had South simply started after diamonds he would have been sure of making three diamond tricks. He would still have his top spades, hearts and clubs. No one could take those from him

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON
I, P-T Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Snow has been swirling outside, but there's the ruffle of spring in Seventh Avenue showrooms.

In their forecast for the coming season, designers in the New York Couture Group are blowing away forever ideas that women should look like little boys, country bumpkins or Russian cossacks.

Back again are defined waistlines, lowered necklines and bias cuts. Ruffles appear in every collection. Feathers flutter for evening as trim on chiffons or, as boas to swish over long, slim gowns.

Ruffled white organdy collars and cuffs set off dark silk dresses. Ruffles flutter down front and center of short and long formals.

Standup ruffles of the same fabric outline the squared neckline of numerous daytime wools and silks.

The woman doing her spring shopping may conclude that the "basic little black dress" is out. Actually, there are plenty of the dark basics, including navy.

But watch for a splash of bold colors with the orange and pink tones way out front.

Here's Latest Word

...on
New York
Fashions
and the World's Fair

Designers dub the new clear tones with such come-ons as jelly bean pink (a vivid pinkish red), strawberry ice (of the mauve family), lemon drop yellow (a clear butter shade) and marmalade (for several hues of orange).

AND THERE'LL be more color in hair, say stylists at Clairol, who treated the nation's fashion editors to a preview of the 1946 trends in hair styles during a visit to the New York World's Fair Grounds. A major exhibitor at the fair, Clairol entertained the visiting press with a dinner and fashion show at the Top of the Fair Restaurant which also doubles as a heliport.

Against a backdrop of city lights, stretching to infinity and twinkling through the structure's huge windows, mannequins introduced new softer, more feminine hair styles created by nationally famous hairdressers.

But they took second billing to the panorama of some 300 buildings of weird shapes juxtaposed within the 646-acre boggy expanse of reclaimed swampland called Flushing Meadow, N. Y.

The fair's dynamic, controversial president, Robert Moses, builder of everything in New York from bridges, dams and tunnels to parks, apartments and playgrounds, was on hand to flash a quick smile and rush off to more important chores.

It seems inconceivable that the billion-dollar extravaganza, still a maze of incompleting buildings, equipment and general confusion, could be completed in time for the opening in April. When asked if it could be accomplished, one official remarked, "You can be sure Moses will lead his people into the promised land on schedule April 22."

On opening night a 12-billion candle-power beam of light—visible on clear nights from New Haven, Conn., to Atlantic City, N. J.—will shoot its rays skyward. And the world's largest fountain will burst into a symphony of water patterns, color and music. A 610-bell carillon will sing out for the first time.

The fair is the costliest, most commercial venture of its kind ever attempted. Some 200 pavilions and exhibitions will represent 51 countries, 24 U. S. states and close to 350 American firms. A promotion man for the fair claims it would require at least 12 days for an average mortal to take in everything.

Incidentally, California has made its mark at the fair. Ideas straight from Disneyland include a monorail and a magic skyway ride from prehistoric times to a glistening city of tomorrow. Along the way, prehistoric beasts—brought to life with Disney's system of audio-animatronics—will feed, fight and slog through primeval swamps. And at the Illinois exhibit an animated-by-Disney Abe Lincoln will grin, frown and recite speeches.

Meanwhile, spring doesn't seem to be around ANY corner in winter-bound New York. Instead, the city has been virtually paralyzed by one of the greatest snowfalls for this date in New York history.

In the time-and-tide department: Flipped on my TV last evening to find a romantic Charles Boyer and a beautiful Ingrid Bergman emoting dramatically in that old movie thriller, "Gaslight."

Afterwards, on my way down to the lobby to pick up a newspaper, stepped on the elevator.

And there, in the flesh, stood a much-older, not very romantic looking Charles Boyer, whose latest Broadway play, "Man and Boy," recently closed after a short run.

I had a few moments of nostalgia, too, at the Ed Sullivan show. While there, I interviewed featured singer Frank Sinatra Jr., a re-run of his famous father. He has the same manner, the halt in the voice, the thin frame, even sings the same songs. And the girls scream, just like they did back in dad's heyday.

Rocking Horse Guild to Have Tea Tuesday

Invitations for a tea are out for the Rocking Horse Guild of the Children's Hospital of Orange County to take place Tuesday. Rocking Horse, which is the ninth member of the guild to be chartered, serves the Rossmore area.

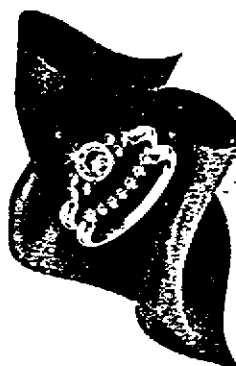

The tea, co-chaired by Mrs. Carl Sorenson Jr. and Mrs. Carl C. King, will be given at the Frank Vessels Ranch, 4901 Katella Ave. Mrs. Frank Vessels Jr., guild president, has arranged for Miss Lucille Kelly, executive secretary of the hospital, to speak on its purposes and needs.

Mrs. Lon Peek, hospital area chairman, will officiate at the tea table.

Aim of the guilds is to foster interest among its members and peoples of the community in support of work for the hospital. By their philanthropic endeavors they hope to help offset approximately one-third of the operation expense of the medical facility, which is scheduled for completion early this year. Services to children will be completely non-denominational. The original unit of 62 beds, guildswomen explain, will be able to be expanded to a total of 200 beds to serve the needs of children from infancy to 16.

Oh, Those Three Way Conversations

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

When I called my boy friend up to wish him a happy new year (he lives in another city and couldn't come to see me this year because of his job) his mother got on the other extension and told me that we were too young to be serious about each other and she hoped our New Year's Resolution would be to see more of other kids and not think of ourselves as going steady.

I told her that I thought that was our own business as we were both 18. My mother heard what I said and grabbed the phone from me and really told her where to get off.

Now my boy friend writes and says he thinks his mother is right and he wouldn't want to go with a girl whose mother talked like mine. I can't blame my mother—and I can't blame him. What do I do now?—LESLIE.

DEAR LESLIE:

If this boy is going to throw you over because of the way your mother talked (and maybe she had some reason at that) then he certainly is a poor bet for a boy friend—and poor indeed to think of getting serious about.

Why don't you take his mother up on her suggestion of seeing other young people, and go on out and have yourself a ball?—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I have an ex-girl friend I'm trying to win back.

We got into an argument over the phone and she won. I lost my temper and, besides losing that, lost the fight, AND HER.

Dear Molly Mayfield

Now she has started going around with this other guy and I'm out in the cold. And believe me it really feels cold where I am.

I've called and begged her to take me back but she just hangs the phone up. When I ring the doorbell she refuses to come to the door. What's a fellow to do?—SAD AND BROKENHEARTED.

DEAR SAD:

Of course, I've no idea whether this will work for you or not—but I do know it has from time to time with others. Find yourself an attractive girl, preferably one of her friends and start taking her out.

Oh, don't be serious with her—you don't want her to be glad and brokenhearted, too. But show her a good time and see if, by gum, Girl No. 1 doesn't start to warm up toward you again. —M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I live in a small midwestern town. Almost six months ago my husband and I were given an interlocutory divorce decree. A couple of months later we met on the street and he asked me to stop in a cafe with him for a drink. He was planning to take a Caribbean cruise. Would I like to go along with him? Maybe we would find we still loved each other.

I did want to go along. And we did find we still loved each other—for one week! The return week was the same old hell all over again.

Back home again, we went our separate ways, glad to be out of sight of each other. Within a week our six-months interlocutory will have ended, and I will be completely free to do anything I want to do.

Or will I? That's what worries me. A friend tells me that because I went away on that trip and lived with him as man and wife, the complete divorce cannot be made final.

Is that true, Mrs. Mayfield? Gosh, I hope not.—FOOLHEARTY.

DEAR FOOLHEARTY:

In most states I believe your living with him as man and wife during the waiting

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Merchandising Is His Natural Bent

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
L. P. T. Food Editor

He's a perfectionist—and he NEVER forgets. But relax! He just remembers those things which he, himself, is supposed to do. Not YOUR idiosyncrasies.

As manager of The Broadway, Long Beach, today's Chef of the Week, William H. Favro ("a" like in eye), even remembers what's in stock at the store.

That he's in the right profession is evidenced by the fact that he grew up in it, having started at the age of 14 (part time) in his brother's hardware store in Santa Barbara.

Born in Renton, Wash., his family moved to Santa Barbara when he was 18 months old. Then he remained to finish high school before enlisting in the Air Force at the advent of World War II. Favro divided the next four years between serving as a bombardier navigator and instructing Chinese cadets in lend-lease.

AT THE CLOSE of the war, Favro returned to Santa Barbara for a time, before enrolling in Woodbury College, Los Angeles. He specialized in merchandising and advertising, graduating in 1948.

To help boost the exchequer during college, he worked part time in Milliron's Department Store. With diploma in hand, he joined them full time as assistant buyer in the housewares department.

Then Favro took a belated trip to see the world. After six months travel in Europe, he returned to Los Angeles

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

And What About Junior?

DEAR ABBY: As the mother of a high school freshman, I feel our schools are to blame for this demanding attitude displayed by our youth. The accent is on materialism. In the few months my son has attended high school there has been a steady stream of requests for money. He needs track shoes, a student body card, $4 for a year book, drafting instruments, a white sweater for his athletic block letter. My budget exhausted, I told him he would have to wait a while on the sweater. He was so angry he threw his hair brush at me, smeared by bedroom rug with toothpaste and threw a heavy magnet at the kitchen door with all his might. We pay high taxes, and our schools should be supported by those taxes. If students don't come up with all the extras offered, they feel out of it. I also wish to add that I just received notification from the Parents Association that a European tour is being offered next summer for those students who can afford it. I am 37 years old and have never been to Europe, but here's a great opportunity for me to pay $35 a month from here to eternity so that my son may go—at age 15. I'd like your opinion on this materialism instilled in our children.—REDWOOD CITY, CALIF. MOTHER

ABBY

DEAR MOTHER: You are twisting the issue. True, it costs much more to go to school today than it did 25 years ago. But everything costs more. And people are earning more, too. Not every boy who wants a school sweater asks his mother for it. I once knew a young man who worked all summer at a Super Market and saved his money. You didn't say what happened after your son threw the hair brush, the magnet and decorated your rug with toothpaste. If all you did was to sit down and write me a letter blaming the schools, you can expect more such violent demonstrations of temper. Only worse. Face it, Mother. Your son is a childish, impatient sorehead. Work on straightening him out first. And then we'll talk about what's wrong with the school system.

DEAR ABBY: Recently on your radio program you called someone down for referring to a crippled person as a "cripple." You suggested the word "handicapped" instead. I must disagree with you. Calling something by another name doesn't change it. Lately morons are referred to as "retarded," insane asylums are called "mental institutions," the poor house is now "The Old People's Residence," drunken bums are alcoholics. And all the nuts are "mentally ill." Name-changing doesn't fool anybody. It's verbal dishonesty! I believe in calling a spade a spade. What do you think is gained by all this double talk?—FOR VERBAL HONESTY

DEAR FOR: If someone close or dear to you were adjudged to be a "moron," or had been committed as insane, or were forced to accept the public care provided for the indigent aged, or were helpless against alcohol, or suffered from a nervous breakdown, would you then practice the "verbal honesty" you preach? Call a spade a spade, if you like, but don't use it to dig into the hearts of others.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Comedy Premieres Thursday

"The Perfect Setup," Jack Sher's spiky comedy, makes its West Coast premiere at Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Lime Ave., at 8:30 p.m. Thursday for a limited two-week engagement, closing Feb. 1.

The comedy deals with the marital mishaps of a young Madison Avenue man caught between his mistress and supposedly devoted wife who has been carrying on on her own.

Starring roles will be played by Ronan Hogue, Caryl Dunavan and Pat Henley, all of whom started their acting careers locally. The girls recently appeared in the Hollywood production of "He Who Gets Slapped." All three have appeared at Off-Broadway previously in "The Playboy of the Western World," "The Cave Dwellers," "Where's Charley?" "Of Mice and Men" and "Thieves' Carnival."

HOGUE DIRECTED the four named plays and also will direct Off-Broadway's production of "Imma La Douce" scheduled for a February opening.

Patrick Dunavan, who appeared in "The Cave Dwellers" and currently is a film editor for CBS-TV, directs "The Perfect Setup." James Fridy is doing the sets; Gary Shelton will handle lighting.

CONCERT TONIGHT
Eugene Istomin, pianist, will be guest artist with Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra tonight at 8 o'clock in the Concert Hall of Municipal Auditorium. He will perform Chopin's "Concerto No. 2." Andre Vandernoot will be guest conductor.

MANY SIDES OF CHEKHOV

Alexander Scourby, Jeanette Nolan and Geoffrey Horne mirror the tongue-in-cheek comedy and brooding drama of Chekhov's tragedy-comedy, "The Sea Gull," as presented by the University Extension Theater Group at UCLA. The play will run through Feb. 9 in Schoenberg Hall on campus; performances begin at 8:30 p.m. The full stage production is directed by John Houseman; costumes are by Dorothy Jenkins.

Cartoon Bill at Museum Thursday

UPA Cartoon Festival (United States) will be shown at Long Beach Museum of Art Thursday at 3 and 8 p.m. There is no admission charge.

In a lighter mood, these color films are good family entertainment. One cartoon, winner of an Academy Award, is "Gerald McBoing Boing," the story by Dr. Seuss of a little boy who didn't say words but went "boing boing."

Also in the group is "Hoty Footy" in which Mr. Magoo does the tango with a professional wrestler thinking he is at the Rutgers alumnae ball, and "The Oompahs," lively tale of a father (a tuba) who refuses to let his son (a trumpet) play jazz but finally winds up at a swinging jam session.

Other titles are "Ballet Oop," "Christopher Crumpet," "Madeline," "Destination Magoo" and "George and the Dragon."

Recitalist to Perform

First Congregational Church, Third Street and Cedar Avenue, will present George W. Decker of Philadelphia, Pa., in his debut organ recital on the West Coast Tuesday at 8:15 p.m.

Decker recently played recitals in New York City at Trinity Church, Columbia University and St. Thomas Church and was heard at conventions of the American Guild of Organists in New Jersey.

His program Tuesday will include compositions by Bach, Mozart and Dupre. The public is invited. An offering for the church's concert fund will be received.

Preview Tuesday of Symphony Bill

The Long Beach Symphony will play its annual All-Orchestral Concert next Sunday at 8 p.m. in Long

Dr. Bertram C. McGarrity

Beach City College Auditorium.

There is no more important concert during the season for the orchestra, which includes professional musicians, businessmen, physicians, teachers, homemakers and students. All live, or are employed, in the Long Beach area. They are performers of talent who have been selected by audition to play under the direction of Lauris Jones.

FOR THIS concert, the orchestra will be the largest the Symphony Association ever has presented. Ten additional wind and percussion players will join regular members of the orchestra.

Concert reservations may be made by phoning the Long Beach Symphony Association, 1935 E. Seventh St. Tickets also are on sale at Humphreys Music Company, 135 E. Third St.

Tuesday morning, a free public preview of the concert will be given in the Sunset Room of Pacific Coast Club. Coffee will be served at 10:30 a.m.

AT 11 O'CLOCK, Dr. Bertram C. McGarrity of Long Beach State College music faculty will discuss the following concert program: "Death and Transfiguration" by Strauss, "Unfinished Symphony" by Schubert, Overture to "Der Freischutz" by Von Weber, and "The Planets" by Holst.

Mr. McGarrity is conductor of LBSC Orchestra and is a composer, musicologist and clarinetist. Currently he is working on the incidental score for John Whiting's play, "Penny for a Tune."

There is no charge for the preview and reservations are not necessary. Those wishing to stay for luncheon afterwards, however, should make reservations with Mrs. Walter Gray, 5540 Las Lomas.

Sta. Monica Auditorium Goes Round

The million dollar Santa Monica Civic Auditorium will be remodeled into a theater-in-the-round and will be known as Westside Civic Light Opera.

Presented by Concerts, Inc., a subsidiary of National General Corporation, the first production, starting June 12, will be "My Fair Lady."

Producers for the new project are Lou Robin and Allen Tinkley; Frank Baldwin is associate producer.

CONTRACTS for the theater reconstruction have been given to R. L. Gosh Co., California Sound and the William C. Todd Lighting Company.

Tinkley and Baldwin said that only top productions and stars will be engaged for the Westside Civic Light Opera. Other shows already committed are "Bye Bye Birdie," "Gypsy," "Sound of Music," "Flower Drum Song" and "Pajama Game." Each will run two weeks.

Season tickets will go on sale Feb. 1 at Santa Monica Civic box office and all ticket agencies.

Exotic Dancers

Sujata and Azoka, exponents of dances of India, Tibet and Japan, will present one performance only Saturday night in Scottish Rite Auditorium, Los Angeles. The husband and wife team have created spectacular dance numbers based on ancient and modern art forms.

Weather Is Film Star

Back Branch Library, 4055 Bellflower Blvd., will present its first 1964 film program at 7:20 p.m. Tuesday. The weather, in moods alien to the Southland, provides the subject for both films.

Walt Disney's "Storm Called Maria" is the story of man's struggles against a hurricane. "Aspen Winter Mood" combines color, scenic beauty and exciting ski scenes which were photographed in the historic mining town of Aspen, Colorado.

Admission is free.

LBAA to Open Workshops

By ELISE EMERY Arts Page Editor

Bob Click, vice president of Long Beach Art Association, will lecture on "Serigraphy" and demonstrate this silk screen process Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the LBAA gallery, 800 E. Ocean Blvd. He also will discuss print material in general.

Click is a member of the art faculty at Long Beach State College and is known as an authoritative artist on both the local and national levels.

Beginning Monday, Feb. 10 and continuing with Monday sessions through March 2, LBAA will sponsor a series of workshops for painters. Elsa Warner will serve as consultant.

Two groups will be scheduled. The first will meet from 9:30 a.m. to noon; the second from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Sessions will be held in the gallery. Both beginners and experienced artists are invited to participate. Enrollment is limited, however, and the $15 tuition must be paid in advance.

Call the gallery for further information.

BETH WILLIE of La Habra won the top prize of $50 in the current Seal Beach Artists League fifth annual Mosaic Show. Her contemporary panel is entitled "The Seventh Day."

Another first award of $50 in the representational panel category went to Ardis Addous for "Miracle of the Sea Gulls," depicting the story of the sea gulls in the early days of the Mormon pioneers in Salt Lake Valley.

Other first place winners are William Walker, decorative panels, and Jim Abrecht, round objects.

The show is in Seal Beach Art Center, Ocean Boulevard and Main Avenue, Seal Beach. It is open to the public seven days a week from 1 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m.

LAKEWOOD ART Association will install officers Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Mayfair Park Clubhouse.

On the new board will be Louise James, president; Bill Williams, Al Dawson, Thelma Wickstrom, Wanda Pollock, Al Kramsky, Sheldon Higgins, Beverly Schriber and Pete Steyl.

THE 18TH ANNUAL exhibit of the Print Makers Society of California, which has been on display since the first of the year at the Main Library in Lincoln Park, will close Saturday.

AT THEIR January meeting, members of Spectrum Club installed these new officers: Robert K. Peck, president.

ident; R. Saunders Bagby, F. W. Eifert and M. P. Tosso Jr.

The president is appointing chairmen of various committees. The club will encourage monthly sketch programs and is making preparations for the annual Ladies Night banquet and for participation in Long Beach Hobby Show.

THE FIRST American exhibition of 18th century drawings from the Correr Museum in Venice, Italy, will open at Los Angeles County Museum Wednesday. The 120 drawings by 42 artists will be on view through Feb. 16.

According to Ebra Feinblatt, curator of prints and drawings at the museum, the works "define the transition from the Venetian baroque to the rococo and herald the style of early 19th century movements in Europe."

The museum also has announced that the tremendously popular "Master Works of Mexican Art" exhibit will be extended through Feb. 23.

This exhibit, largest and probably the greatest exhibition to be seen in Los Angeles, is having its only United States showing at the museum.

PAINTINGS, drawings, prints and sculpture on the universal theme "Mother and Child in Modern Art" may be seen at Los Angeles Municipal Art Gallery in Bamsdall Park until Feb. 2.

The 50 works are by 48 artists who include Henry Moore, Salvador Dali, Pablo Picasso, Marc Chagall, Paul Gauguin and Henri Matisse. Each artist is represented by a single work with the exception of Moore, who has a sculpture and a color lithograph, and Picasso, who has a painting and a drawing.

The gallery is open from 1 to 9 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays; it is closed Mondays.

REGISTRATION for new classes in Palos Verdes Community Arts Association's workshops will take place Monday, Tuesday, Saturday and Feb. 1 at 2215 Via Anacapa, Lomada Bay, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A variety of courses are offered. Further information may be had by writing to PVCAA, Box 1051, Palos Verdes Estates.

OTIS ART INSTITUTE of Los Angeles County, 2401 Wilshire Blvd., will hold its first biennial Invitational Drawing Exhibition Thursday through March 8.

Predicted Great Career for Costa

By RACHEL MORTON
L. A. Times Critic

It is something of a personal triumph for a hard working music critic to have some of his predictions come true. On Oct. 26, 1959, I wrote a review of the opera "La Boheme" given by the San Francisco Opera Company at the Shrine Auditorium—and one prophetic paragraph is as follows:

"Mary Costa, singing the role of Musetta for the first time in her home town, made a tremendous impression. In fact, she stopped the show in the second act. Her acting was full of vitality and spirit. She is beautiful to look at and her full soprano voice had a glorious quality. This girl will bring future laurels to Southern California."

On Nov. 2, 1960, I wrote: "There is a joyous vibrancy that is contagious about Mary Costa. She had only to walk upon the stage and there was an avalanche of applause. A vibrant feeling of warmth and friendliness pervaded her so that all eyes followed every move she made. Her characterization of the role of Musetta is incomparable. When her luscious soprano voice poured forth voluptuously in the Waltz Song the show stopped as the applause thundered. Mary Costa will become one of our greatest opera singers."

AND NOW, on Jan. 7 of this year, the Press-Telegram carried an Associated Press story of Mary Costa's debut at the Metropolitan Opera on Jan. 6 in the role of Violetta in Verdi's "La Traviata."

"New York . . . Mary Costa, a dazzling blonde soprano, who has starred at the San Francisco Opera for five seasons, scored a triumph Monday night in her Metropolitan Opera debut."

"Miss Costa gave the role a particular fascination of verve and beauty matched with a coloratura that seemed capable of almost all of Verdi's demands. She displayed the confidence of a veteran in a role that might have been written for her. Manager Rudolf Bing will have to make more room for her next season. A new Met star, reminiscent of the young Eleanor Steber, has been born."

ON AUG. 24, 1959, I wrote a glowing review of a young American conductor, Thomas Schippers, in part as follows:

"Thomas Schippers, guest conductor with the Los Angeles Philharmonic at the Hollywood Bowl was acclaimed by a large audience with thunderous applause and shouts of enthusiasm. And rightly so, for this man is a conductor genius. The powers that be would do well to engage him as a permanent conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra."

In Time magazine of Oct. 18, 1963, four years after my "discovery," an article on Thomas Schippers has this to say in part:

"In what Metropolitan Manager Rudolf Bing calls 'The Schippers Festival,' the young conductor will lead the orchestra in at least 36 performances of four operas. After his triumphant debut at Bayreuth last summer Schippers was offered the directorship of two European opera houses. He is now established as the best conductor of opera yet born in America."

'Woman of the Year' Mends Dolls, Helps Handicapped

By MARY NETH

Toy chest cast-offs have proven a treasure chest for Realtors Wives "Woman of the Year."

She's Mrs. Stephen Hemmi, 3366 Cerritos Ave., and she runs the doll shop at Goodwill Industries.

It's quite a place—a big room crammed with a huge jumble of cartons and packing cases and tables all piled high with parts and pieces of dolls — stuffed ones, wooden ones, huge walkers, tiny miniatures.

In this crush of broken playthings, Mrs. Hemmi works a magic that recently resulted in a new truck for Goodwill — plus additional equipment for its 160 handicapped employees.

FOR 12 YEARS she has volunteered her time to putting dolls back on playroom shelves. Under her direction, Goodwill doll sales have become a booming business for the industry's charity work.

"We supply all six areas stores with renewed dolls," says Mrs. Hemmi. "We also send dolls to Toy Loan in Los Angeles (where little girls can check out a Betsy Westy—adopt her if they prove good mothers) and to children's wards of various hospitals."

The salvaged dolls are first washed, then checked for missing parts, repaired, dressed and priced at about one-third new value. Even the stuffing on unfixable cloth dolls is used. Mrs. Hemmi sends it on to the women at the Terminal Island prison where they use it to make stuffed toys of their own design.

the sewing," says Mrs. Hemmi, "and there's lots to do. Each month 15 or so members of Goodwill Auxiliary come in and lend a hand, but even so the shop's two permanent workers and I find we're faced with a never-ending array of dolls to redo."

Mrs. Hemmi, who "never played with dolls as a little girl," became interested in the work through her mother, who helped out for a while at a local doll hospital.

"Through that introduction, I began collecting."

Now she has more than 500 dolls at home, including many valuable antiques and is president of Long Beach Doll Collectors' Club.

A FEW YEARS ago Mrs. Hemmi added to her growing selection of unusual dolls while on a trip to Europe. There she searched through antique shops in London and Paris for dolls of distinction—found some. Among those in her collection of particular value is a Parian (white bisque doll) from about 1840.

The adult fascination for dolls? It's a collecting interest that grows like any other—stamps, china, buttons. Once you get started you can't stop.

But, beside that, Mrs. Hemmi also admits these let's-pretend creatures have a certain magic. "I completely lose track of time when I'm here at the shop," she says.

The work is fun and the goal—dolls for little girls who wouldn't have them otherwise—is exciting."

Buffum's

Rico Lebrun's Work in Major Exhibition

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

A major exhibition of the works of Rico Lebrun will be at the Pavilion Gallery, Balboa, through February 15. Sponsoring groups, the Fine Arts Patrons of Newport Harbor and the Newport Harbor Service League, open the gallery for public viewing. Wednesdays through Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m.

Lebrun draws, rather than paints, in wash and line; color is incidental; his forms loom into existence in black and white. His subject is always Man; actually, most frequently, woman. His involvement with forms and their relationships has led him (I would venture to say, forced him) to come to grips with form in three dimensions, into sculpture.

Lebrun's monumental art exists on its own, however, without any other reference. The Balboa show begins with "Figure in a Dust Storm" of 1936 and "Dying Horse" of 1939 which presages the direction of his works will take. Two portraits, "Portrait of Kate Lawson" and "Seated Clown" are non-abstract; after this, facial features and individual characteristics give way to the movement of the whole form to express human agony.

TWO MAJOR works, "The Crucifixion" at Yale and "Genesis" at Pomona College, provide subjects for many of the works in the present show. "Buchwald" is another preoccupation of Lebrun; in this series, dismembered human forms are composed into awesome statements of inhumanity.

Lebrun brings to his statements about Man to-day a long tradition of European romantic painting; his subject is Man in the agony and glory of his flesh.

THE achievements of the allied volunteer groups which have, in a short period, brought one magnificent show after another to the Southern California public, are gaining wide recognition. This show, accompanied by an excellent catalogue, will go on to Colorado Springs and to Portland.

OUR COVER

Gitan De Veglio, Long Beach model, shows off the latest way to display jewels . . . in the hair. She adds glitter to her apricot tresses with a pendant necklace, worn exotically across the forehead, a pin to give added color and a bracelet to set off the high-rise swirl of her evening coif. Her glamorous hair-do, a perfect setting for gems—be they heirlooms, costly treasures or stunning costume pieces—was created by Rafael, Long Beach hair stylist. More of his creations appear on Page 7.

WHAT A REPORTER SAW AND HEARD

Behind Those Riots in Panama

By Hoyt McAfee

ONE DAY after the John F. Kennedy assassination in Dallas, about 30 Castro-trained agitators met quietly at a rendezvous in Panama City. Out of that secret huddle came a sinister blueprint for disruptive action. It was clearly designed to embarrass the new "Yanqui imperialist President" (Lyndon Johnson) in the eyes of Latin-American nations in particular and the world in general.

As conceived and approved by the plotters, each member of the band would circulate among Panamanian students, political hotheads, and "Yanqui" haters and seek to inflame their prejudices further. Stripped to its essence, this clandestine campaign was a high-voltage pitch to end America's sole control and ownership of the Panama Canal and give Panama "final authority" over that waterway.

In Panama City back street cafes, clubs, and at student rallies, this reporter from Long Beach heard other Castro-indoctrinated agents spew their poison and hate. Disguised as "trade specialists" and "traveling scholars," they stepped up their campaign one day after President Johnson's first address before a joint session of Congress.

THEIR INTENT, as they revealed in their inflammatory "pop talks," was to create—or seize upon—a provocative incident and manipulate it in such a way as to make the "Yanquis" look like brutal aggressors in the eyes of the world. And, also, try to evoke an outpouring of global sympathy for Panama and "her rightful claim to full control over the Panama Canal."

There it was—out in the open. Anyone who understood Spanish, as I did, caught the full import of the insidious scheme. Two Panamanian friends—themselves sincere believers in the most cordial relations between the U.S. and Panama—escorted me to a dozen or so of the "end-the-Yanqui-control-of-the-Panama-Canal-Zone" rallies.

It embarrassed—and infuriated—them to listen to the poisonous charges and utterances of the Castro-inspired agents. Accordingly, they hastened to explain: "We have freedom of speech here in Panama, just as you have in your U.S.A. Which means that we, too, must suffer our share of crackpots, fanatics, and political agitators."

"BUT WE THINK these Castro agitators are an insult to our country. Sadly, though, our government has hesitated to expel them and bar their return to Panama. Even worse, hundreds of Panamanians are paying more and more attention to the Castro-trained agitators and heeding their inflammatory appeals."

Here I'm recounting what I heard and witnessed in Panama last fall. I had gone there to probe, listen, and cull information for a series of magazine articles on: "Panama City—Latin America's Capital of Espionage and Intrigue." By prowling widely, invading murky dens, observing closely, and drawing out numerous political firebrands, I was able to gauge the extent of international spying in Panama.

Well-placed, fair-minded, and perceptive Panamanian friends rounded out the picture for me. U.S. intelligence sources told me all they could, "off the record." Astonishingly, however, I found too many of the American intelligence officials inclined to scoff at, or minimize, the role of known or suspected Castro agents afoot in Panama.

IN CONVERSATIONS with me, two key American officials described them as "bunglers and braggarts"—and "much like the flies which alight on a horse's rump." They added: "Small numbers of malcontents will listen to them, shout encouragement, and hurl insults at the hated Yanquis. But"—the American intelligence men reminded me—"some of Panama's office-seekers in every national Presidential election are just as zealous in making a whipping boy of the U.S. and our control of the Panama Canal."

In short, U.S. intelligence agents seemed to think that Castro agitators could do little harm to America's position and its interests in Panama.

TRUSTWORTHY Panamanian friends—all of them well-informed indeed—told me worriedly: "These Castro-trained manipulators keep slipping into Panama. By a conservative estimate, there are 120 to 125 of them in the Panama City area alone! They know where all the sensitive spots and unhealed wounds of the Panamanian character are—and exactly how to inflame them."

"As experts in political intrigue, agitation, and espionage, they know where to place snipers during a riot and how to incite mob fury to an uncontrollable pitch. These are dangerous people to have in our midst. We've protested their presence to the Foreign Minister and Interior Minister, but without any noteworthy results."

It was in the company of these public-spirited Panamanian friends that I heard Castro-oriented rabble-rousers pour out their venom at clubs, student rallies, and in back-street cafes. Looking around discreetly, I spotted not one American intelligence agent at the fan-the-hate gatherings.

RECENT EVENTS have proved that to be a true assessment. From my own fact-gathering rounds in Panama, I'm convinced that U.S. intelligence agents there slipped into a siesta-like-trance and let Castro-loving agitators pull a fast one on them. Higher-up American officials and top Panamanian government leaders also fell into a booby trap—one deftly planted by Red-inspired agents from Cuba and Russia.

After prowling around Panama City and surrounding areas, one inescapable fact struck me forcibly: Panama City now ranks with West Berlin, Hong Kong, Paris, Washington, D.C., and the United Nations in New York as one of the world's foremost espionage centers. In recent months, in fact, Panama City has become a beehive and hotbed of political intrigue and international spying activity.

Castro agents, Russian agents, and agents from Red China (from there, too!) swarm all over the place—in clever disguises, of course. In the specific instances already cited in this piece, the Castro-prompted agents boldly shed their "cover roles" and built a fire underneath Panamanian student and other extremist groups. With the upshot that they were ready to go roaring into the streets and commit acts of mob violence on the slightest provocation.

AS FOR THE action of American students in hoisting the American flag at Balboa High School, it definitely was ill-considered and unfortunate. It turned out to be just the kind of opening—or incident—the Castro-trained manipulators, hovering in the wings like vultures hungry for a feast, had been hoping and waiting for.

Functioning with trained precision, they swept into action—and within hours riots, mob violence, and bloodshed erupted in Panama City, alongside the Canal Zone, and in Colon. I know that the Castro-influenced agitators responded exactly in that fashion: because late last November and early December, I heard them declare their intentions of doing so—at an opportune psychological moment!

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy. For reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Information needed on the Scotch MELDRUM family of Meldrum Castle, who died out long ago.—E.W., Lakewood.

E.W.: MELDRUM originated from the Scotch Gaelic words Mac-Druim meaning "bare ridge," the original home site of this old family. The village of Old Meldrum, where their estates were, is 21 miles from Aberdeen. Fyvie Castle, owned by the Meldrums, passed out of their hands when William Seton of a famous Lowland Scotch clan married the Meldrum heiress in 1440. The Meldrum shield is silver, emblazoned with an otter issuing from a wavy horizontal black stripe.

DEAR MISS RULE: What have you on LEWELLING and THUALLAN — D.M., E.L., Long Beach.

D.M., E.L.: LEWELLING and THUALLAN are variations of the Welsh surname Llewellyn. This lineage are modern descendants of an early Celtic-Welsh leader called Utyw-Eilun, meaning "King-like one." Family ancestors include Llewellyn, Lord of Yale in the 1100s and Llewellyn the Great, King of Wales, who died in 1240. The family shield is red, crossed by three silver chevrons.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly analyze BARABAS. — K.B., Compton.

K.B.: BARABAS is a Spanish surname commemorating the Biblical insurgent called Barabbas. This ancient Hebrew name deciphers as "son of the Father."

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the data on LITRELL — R. L. I. G., Long Beach.

R. L. I. G.: LITRELL is an English form of an old obscure French surname. The source name was "Littrell" in early medieval France. This traces to a clerk's nickname, Lettrell, meaning "young letter-writer."

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give genealogy on VAN DORN.—M. V., Bellflower.

M. V.: VAN DORN is Dutch, shortened from the original surname Van Doorn. This family is believed to have originated at the town of Doorn, Holland, located nine miles from the noted city of Utrecht. Doorn means "place of thorn bushes." To this was coupled the Dutch term "Van" meaning "from." The family shield is silver, emblazoned with a green tree sprouting two branches in the form of an "X."

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain BRISSENDEN.—C. B., Long Beach.

C. B.: BRISSENDEN is a rare old English name with a locational source, a formation of "Breas Ing Dene" which in archaic Celtic English referred to "valley owned by the Great's One's family." No shield is recorded for Brissenden.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please publish data on BROCK. — J. J., Long Beach.

J. J.: BROCK has been in English documentary records (Continued on Page 15)

A First Soft Ball

By Elsa DeBra

FOR A LONG time we believed that the earth is flattened at the poles, but now scientists tell us that it might even be pear-shaped.
That's all very well for an immense ball, whirling through space, but for playing a ball
must be perfectly round.

Shown is a simple playing ball, suitable for the very young in their first back-yard
games.

For the center, use a small,
solid rubber ball — like a bouncy jack ball, or larger.
Wrap firmly and evenly with twine until ball measures about 5 inches in circumfer-ence. Now use odds and ends of woolen yarn, any size and color for the rest of the wrapping, until ball measures about 9½ inches around. Finished, the ball should be 10 inches.

For the last over-all wrapping, use your brightest yarn
—orange, red, yellow or brilliant green—to cover completely the colors underneath.
When ready to break off yarn,
tuck the end under securely.
You may want to re-wind this last layer to insure a perfect sphere. It takes a little practice.

NOW FOR the finish—the decorative touch. Thread a large darning needle with dark colored twine or nylon

Of German origin, the soft ball illustrated here is durable, a challenge to make and safe for a tiny tot.

yarn. Begin at the north pole of the ball and make a row
of spread-out blanket stitch, using the pole as center. Now make row after row, graduated, as shown. By the time
you arrive at the equator your stitches have a spread of about three-quarters of an inch. Next do the lower half of the ball, decreasing your stitch spacing as you reach the south pole. This blanket stitching makes a firm, protective covering and adds

design and color to the toy.

Your child will like this ball
because it's light in weight, and so round—a little world
in his hands—but most of all because the youngster saw
you fashion it.

Jewels ignite coifs at night

...necklaces, earrings
and clips set hair aflare

NECKLACES, PINS—even bracelets and earrings—lead double lives when worn fetchingly in hair. Here Gitan DeVeglio wears splashy bib necklace in exotic manner of Far East. All hair styles by Rafael; models courtesy of Wilma Hastings.

By Mary Ellis Carlton
Southland Fashion Editor

ALL THAT GLITTERS is not gold . . . sometimes it's diamonds, pearls, rubies, emeralds, what-have-you . . . sometimes real, most often frankly fake. And this season, quite elegantly, they're found woven, laced, draped and wreathed in milady's coif for evening. It's the newest way to add sparkle to a night on the town . . . to ignite, excite, dramatize fashion's simple elegance. The lady with derring-do does it with necklaces, earrings, clips, bracelets—even rings.

Inspired by this new upward sweep to elegance for evening, local hair stylist Rafael fashioned these coiffures destined to set the rage of sorcery with jewelry, bold and dazzling, for a truly crowning glory.

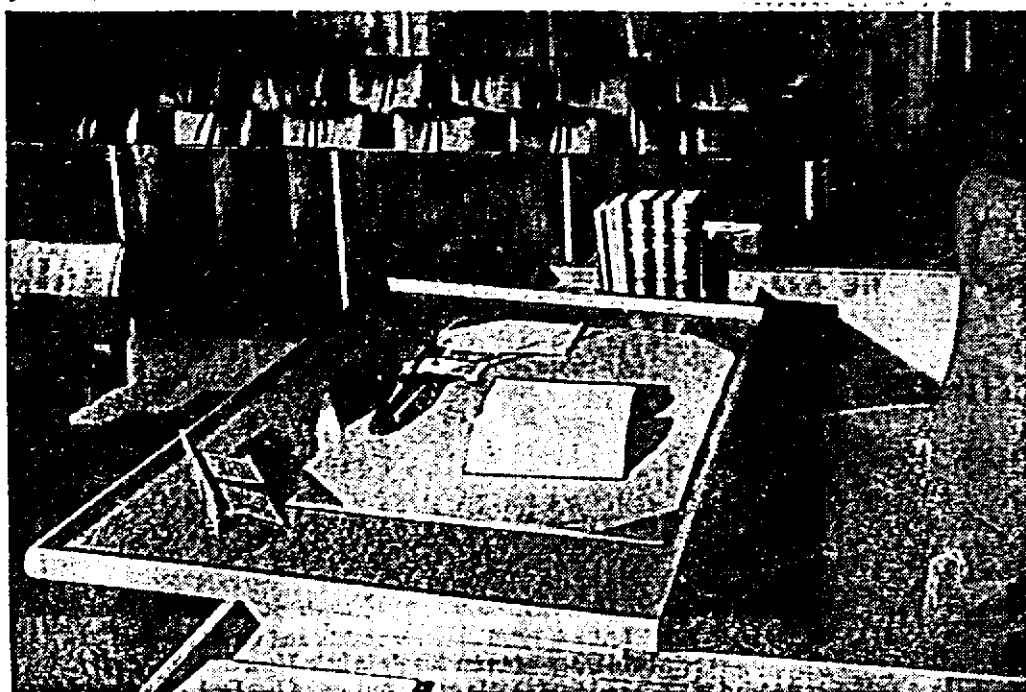

FLIGHTS OF FANCY . . . model Pat Kurtz's coif with just-for-evening postiche swirls high, is wreathed by rhinestone necklace, garlanded by rhinestone pin.

THERE'S A RANSOM (of jewels) on her hair. Gay Harris' high-rise pool is draped with brilliant pendant necklace, is outlined with swirl of a brooch.

Twelve average men and/or women of the community will occupy these seats of justice to hear trial evidence, later to render a verdict—the "true route of democracy." Scene: a Long Beach courtroom, set up for trial.

Photos by Joe Rishner

That Justice May Be Done

"JUSTICE, SIR," said Daniel Webster, "is the great interest of man on earth."

And to a great many people in this country—a million and a half each year—justice and its rendering becomes an immediate and highly personal interest.

Those million and a half Americans will have served as jurors.

Citizenship confers on its holders abundant privileges, including the almost taken-for-granted right to trial by jury.

But that same citizenship also confers obligations, and one of these, it follows, is jury duty.

Why not a single, learned judge to make judgments, instead of a jury possessed of counteracting combinations of youth and of age, of naivete and of sophistication, of foolishness and of wisdom?

THE UNITED STATES Supreme Court, speaking of trial by jury, has said:

"Twelve men of the average of the community, comprising men whose learning consists only in what they have themselves seen and heard; the merchant, the mechanic, the farmer, the laborer; these sit together, consult, apply their experience of the affair of life to the facts proven and draw a conclusion. This average judgment thus given, it is the great effort of the law to obtain. It is assumed that 12 men know more of the common affairs of life than does one man."

By Bob Schmidt

Trial by jury, considered to be a fundamental bulwark of our democratic way of life, was originated, surprisingly, as the tool of a tyrant.

William the Conqueror, nearly 900 years ago, ordered the conscription of 12 men in each English village and manor to reveal, under oath, exactly what property each of the neighbors possessed, so that those neighbors could be taxed.

The oath takers were known as "jurators." But, as property disputes arose, citizens began asking juries to settle them, to decide who owned what. The idea of trial by jury fastened itself so firmly to men's minds that in the year 1215 the following paragraph was included in one of man's most revered documents, the Magna Carta:

"NO FREE MAN shall be imprisoned or outlawed or in any way destroyed except by the legal judgment of his peers and by the law of the land."

And so the jury, founded under oppression and certified by revolution, was accepted as an inherent right of man, and is so accepted today in lands where democracy exists.

Although qualifications for jury service differ from state to state, county to county, and even city to city, there are some generally accepted standards. A juror must be a citizen of the United States and of the age of 21 years or more. In Los Angeles County, he must have been a resident of the county for one year immediately before being selected for jury service.

He must be in possession of his mental faculties, of ordinary intelligence, of good health, and of a sufficient knowledge of the English language.

JURORS TODAY are called upon to try two kinds of cases. The first, civil, usually involves a dispute over property or service, boiling down, in most instances, to an argument over money.

The second, criminal, involves persons accused of violating the law.

In Long Beach, citizens are called to serve on panels for the Municipal Court and the Superior Court. The Superior Court hears the more serious civil and criminal cases, and draws its jury panel from the voters' registration polls of the judicial area it serves.

The Municipal Court hears civil cases where less than $5,000 is involved and misdemeanor criminal cases, and draws its jury panel from the voters' registration rolls of the City of Long Beach.

Joe Raycraft, presiding judge of the Superior Court in Long Beach for four years, explains that each year many thousands of names are drawn by lot from the voting register and summoned to report for a qualifying examination.

AFTER A SIMPLE examination and interviews by jury commissioners, a great many people are excused for one reason or another and the remaining names, about 1,500 in the Long Beach area, are compiled and certified as trial jurors for the next calendar year.

Each month, about 150 of these remaining names are drawn by lot, and these are notified to appear at 8 a. m. on the first court day of the next month.

In the Los Angeles Superior Court, jurors serve every day for one month, but in Long Beach, they serve every other day for two months, with a new panel sworn in each month.

Judge Raycraft feels there is value in blending the new jurors with the experienced jurors, so that each day's panel is comprised of half of each.

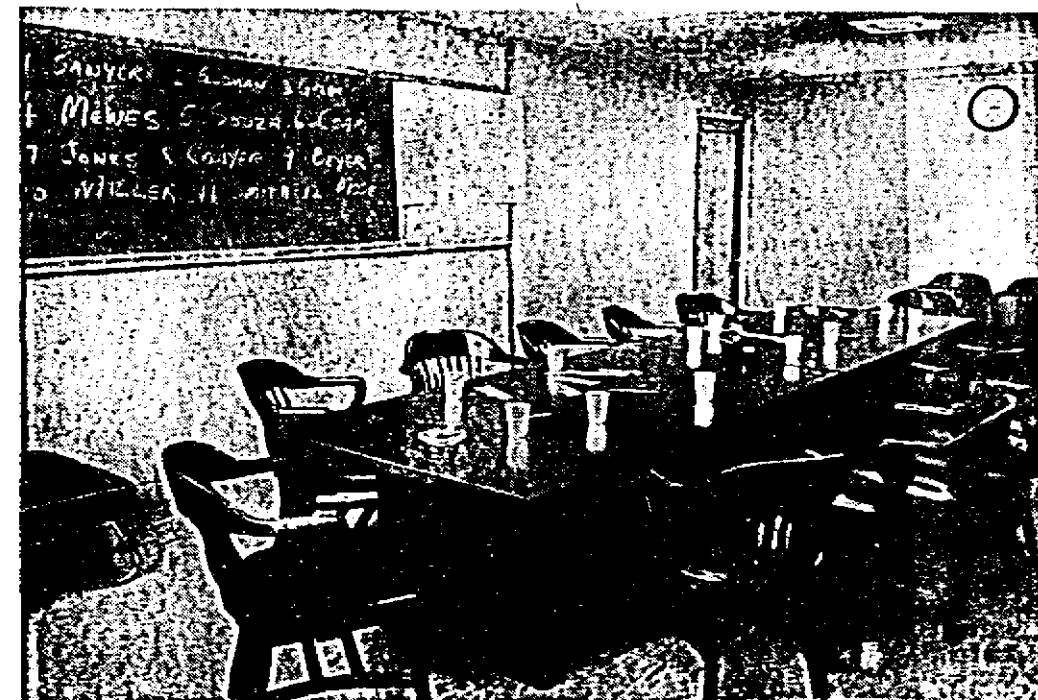

In the Long Beach Municipal Court, too, old and new jurors are blended. Here, jurors are called as needed, and serve until they have spent a total of 20 days in the jury box.

When the new Superior Court panel reports on the first court day of the month, its members are given a juror's handbook and a lecture by the presiding judge on what their duties are.

THE JURORS are told something about the trial process, about what evidence is, about the reason and necessity for not discussing the case they are hearing or forming opinions until they have formally begun deliberations.

They are told not to play amateur detective, not to visit the scene of the accident or alleged crime and not to attempt an investigation of their own by any other means.

They are told to regard as evidence only that (Continued on Page 15)

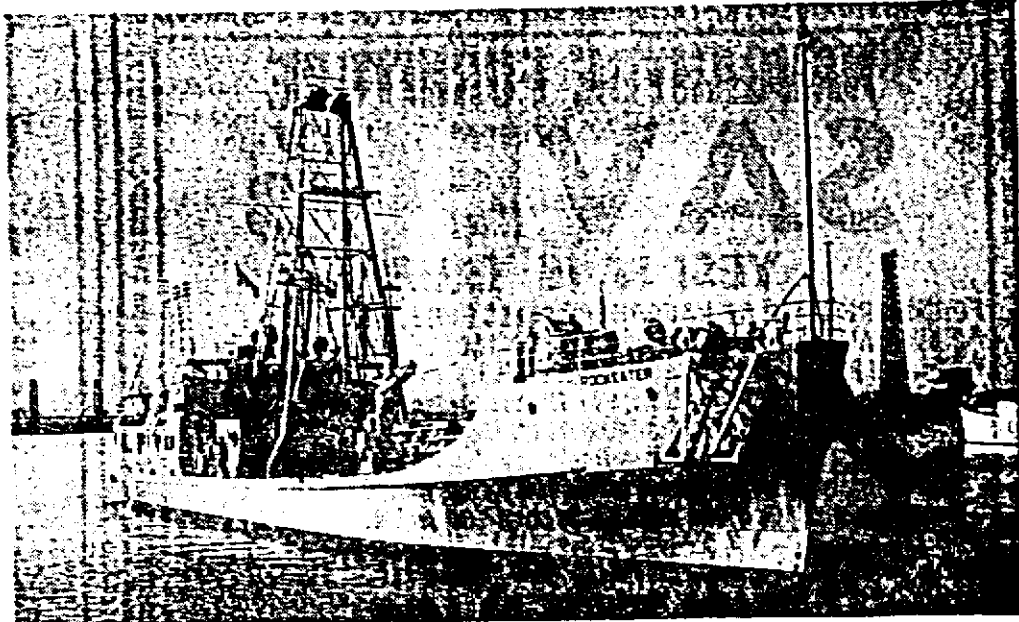

When it's time to consider the evidence and draw a conclusion of the case—the fundamental bulwark of our democratic way of life—the 12 men and women will retire to this jury room, also a Long Beach facility.

The Race Is On for

the Riches of the Seas

By Frank Black

First ship ever outfitted for deep-sea mineral prospecting, the former 800-ton, 180-foot MV Rockeater was converted for her new role at the Craig Shipyard in Long Beach. She'll be used to explore seas for diamonds

TO REAP the riches of the last frontier on earth—the oceans that cover over 70 per cent of this planet's surface—man is not only sacrificing his life but he is coming up with some weird machines that are as ingenious as anything the moonbound lads are constructing.

The deaths more than a year ago of two divers in the Catalina Channel underline just how high the stakes are in what is becoming a scramble for the riches of the oceans.

The two men died—one directly and the other indirectly—in an attempt to prove that it was possible for a free-swimming diver breathing specially prepared gases to explore from a diving bell the ocean floor up to depths of 1,000 feet.

While a free-swimming diver working the bottom riches is still a long way off, there have been many strange devices developed for this purpose.

THE FAMED Capt. Cousteau has developed the Soucoupe. This is a crab-like diving saucer that can explore down to 1,000 feet with the aid of observation ports, cameras and mechanical arms.

The U. S. government has built two unusual submarines which should be in operation soon. One is a two-man vessel with the unlikely nautical name of "Alvin." This craft will be capable of probing to the 5,000-foot level.

With a name more in keeping with this scientific age, the other craft is called the "Aluminant." Sausaged shaped and constructed of aluminum, it will carry three men and reach depths of 15,000 feet.

Actually, the first deep diving machine was developed in the 1930s by William Beebe who plunged to a depth of 3,230 feet in his steel ball or bathysphere.

THEN IN 1960, the Trieste, a bathyscaphe developed by Jacques Piccard, dropped into the Pacific Ocean's Challenger Deep to a depth of 35,630.

From the Trieste has come a whole new line of deep diving vessels with closed circuit television cameras and grasping arms that will surely frighten the wits out of the denizens of the deep.

In exploring the awesome depths beyond the 1,000-foot depth of the continental shelves, scientists are making their preliminary probes with highly sensitive echo sounding reflectors and refractors mounted on surface ships. These instruments are right now the most reliable for examining the far depths, especially the vertical structure of the ocean floor.

The Sparker, developed by Alpine Geophysical Associates, Inc., is perhaps one of the most advanced of these instruments. Used recently to back up core samplings of tin deposits on the bottom of the Gulf of Siam near the city of Phuket in Thailand, the Sparker profiled the sea floor for the scientists and gave them exact readings of the thickness of the sedimentary material blanketing the tin deposits.

BASED ON the simple principle of the echo, Sparker discharges an electrical spark which blasts out a high-level, wide frequency sound pulse to the ocean floor and into the lower layers of rock. Echoes are picked up by a hydrophone towed by a surface ship and are relayed to an instrument that diagrams a cross section of the earth below the ocean floor.

To examine the strata at greater depths, this company has developed a booster sound source called the Gas Exploder. It works on a mixture of propane and oxygen and is set off by a small spark in a combustion chamber towed by the surface vessel. The explosion is so powerful that it can reach the deepest mineral deposits.

This type of sonic equipment has already been used to explore coal deposits off the coast of England, iron deposits off Labrador and oil deposits along coast of the United States.

Compared to the money spent by our government on space exploration, the sums spent on underwater exploration are infinitesimal, although the administration announced recently that it would spend around $2.3 billion on oceanographic research over the next 10 years.

WHY THE SEA bottom is considered by many scientists to be the last frontier on earth is apparent from some of the estimates of the riches down there.

A mining engineer, Sam Collins of Texas, has located diamond deposits off the west coast of South Africa that hold twice the value of the gem resources still in the De Beers famed diggings. Collins' findings so rattled the world monopoly diamond company of De Beers that it tied the Texan up tight with a $2.8 million loan. Three years ago De Beers had turned down a partnership in Collins' Marine Diamond Co. but snapped to financial attention as soon as MD dredged up 50,000 carats or $2 million worth of diamonds.

Just recently Collins had a former Army light freighter converted into a diamond exploring ship at Craig Shipyard in the Port of Long Beach at a cost of $750,000 to be used along the coast of South Africa.

THE YAWATA Iron and Steel Co. of Japan

Free-swimming scuba divers are learning how to explore ocean depths, still far short of great depths of the seas.

Two-man submarine, designed, built by J. Edgar Jagger of Long Beach, moves toward exploration up another step.

'Cinderella, 1964!'

"I SIMPLY hate that name," the Method Body said.

Movie town hung that sobriquet on Chris Noel when she came out of nowhere, completely inexperienced at film acting, to walk off with the romantic role opposite Steve McQueen in the Jackie Gleason-McQueen starrer, "Soldier in the Rain."

But then the tag was sort of inevitable.

Producer Martin Jurow had interviewed exactly 10 candidates for the part in the Allied Artists movie and had screen-tested exactly 10. No luck.

"WHERE are today's young Lana Turners and Linda Darnells?" he wanted to know. "The new girls are all 'Method' actresses now"—a reference to the so-called "Method" cult of histrionics, which bases its approach on soul-searching psychological principles: "What I'm looking for is a Method body."

So when he came up with Chris, the delighted town just naturally bestowed the title. But she can't blame Hollywood if on her it looks good. She seems to have educated her physique down in Florida as a champion baton-twirler and as winner of 15 beauty contests, including the "Miss Palm Beach" affair. Then she went to New York and became a Madison Avenue model, rated in the top six.

She was visiting Hollywood on vacation when Jurow met her and arranged screen test No. 11, which ended the competition for the plum "Soldier in the Rain" role. MGM has placed her under long-term contract and is grooming her for stardom.

She's a native of Florida's West Palm Beach, a blonde with a 36-23½-35 figure and blue-green eyes that slant slightly upward.

REAL NAME: Sandra Noel. A New York model agency told her it sounded "phony" and changed the Sandra to Chris after first trying "Elizabeth Barrett" on her.

"But 'the Method Body,'" she said, stamping a foot, "is the limit!"

Gleason has his own name for her. "Meet the 1964-model Cinderella," he says, explaining: "That's Cinderella with p'zazz."

Chris is an ex-baton champion making her film debut in Allied Artists' "Soldier in the Rain."

You Ask We Answer

By Hank

Q. Why are bridges compared as to length of span instead of total length? W.A.

A. The length of the longest single span (distance between supports) is usually used as basis for comparison because overall length has little meaning. Theoretically, it is possible to construct approaches of almost unlimited length to a bridge which is in itself quite unimportant. The Golden Gate Bridge, for example, is a comparatively short bridge of only 6,450 feet, including its two anchor spans—yet it is world famous because of its central unsupported span length of 4,200 feet, the longest clear channel span in the world.

Q. How old were the ancient lotus seeds which were found some years ago in the Far East, and germinated? D.O.N.

A. In 1951, plant pathologist Horace V. Wester of the National Park Service successfully germinated two lotus seeds which had been found in a peat bog in Manchuria. A radio-carbon test on similar seeds taken later from the same deposit showed these seeds were between 830 and 1,250 years old.

Q. Does the greenish film that sometimes collects on statues do any harm to the metal? M.F.

A. No. The natural patina which forms on copper and bronze after long exposure to the atmosphere often has a distinct artistic value, and in addition it protects the metal from further oxidation. Not all patinas are a greenish color; some are red, black, and of varying hues, depending on the composition of the metal and its location.

Q. Are people reading more than they used to? R.E.

A. In a recent survey of the larger public libraries of the United States, the American Library Association found that adult book circulation has increased almost 30 percent in five years.

Q. What is a "cycloid curve?" J.H.

A. A cycloid curve is "the path traveled by a point on a circle as the circle rolls along a straight line." To visualize a cycloid curve, imagine a spot of red paint on the rim of a wheel which is rolling along a straight line. As the wheel moves, the red spot moves in a path which is called a cycloid curve. The cycloid is one of the most celebrated of special curves.

Rustic family room is a pleasant change from the formal dining room of the revised plan of the Bill W. Maddox home. Remodeling, on a do-it-yourself basis, has added a wealth of family living to this tract dwelling. The family room is shown above, and new front at upper right.

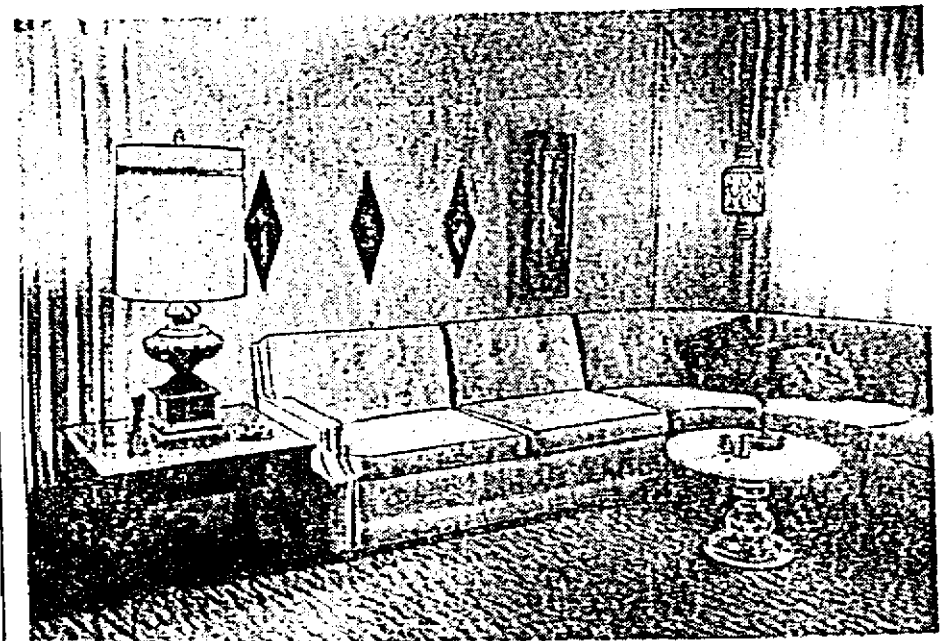

By Diane George

FIVE years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Bill W. Maddox, 6240 Fairbrook Ave., had an average tract home. Now they have remodeled it, entirely by themselves, so that it appears custom-built. Passersby often stop to admire the exterior veneered from ground to roof in brick which continues to form a long planter down to the sidewalk.

An unusual idea was transferring the garage door around the corner from side to front and installing brick in its place. A professionally landscaped lawn covers the old driveway in front of the Considerable planning and a good-sized chunk of the remodeling budget went into revamping the kitchen.

Peacock coloring themes the living room. The curved sofa is off-white. Wall plaques are of unique African design.

Entirely new addition to the Maddox home is this room for the Maddox boys. Knotty pine lends rustic theme.

house, with half of the porch converted into a planter. The rest of the porch was made into an entry hall. At the right of the entry is a stained glass window in shades of amber, at the left a convenient cedar closet.

One side of the entry hall is paneled in walnut which is carried down one wall in the living room. Styled in Danish modern, the living room has a comfortable but formal atmosphere, enhanced by walnut tables and a stereo set. An off-white curved sofa in one corner stands in front of long drapes in the same hue, with a white marble coffee table and large round lamps adding to the modern air. A brass and white hanging lamp over the sofa adds an elegant touch, while a large green plant in another corner brightens the room.

The color scheme, peacock and orange, is carried throughout the house. Wall-to-wall carpeting in the living room and hall is peacock, with peacock in the sofa pillows, the candles in the white scones on the wall, a lamp base, and African wall plaques.

ENTRY TO the kitchen from the living room is through two tall, gold filigree screens which appear to be metallic, but actually are pressed wood in a design of birds—peacocks—tied in with the color scheme. Gold etchings by Lionel Barrymore can be seen on the wall through the screens.

The Maddoxes have put more money and time into the re-designing of their kitchen-dinette than in any other area. The all-electric kitchen has magnetic touch, built-in, ash wood cabinets. Electric units for mixers, can openers, etc., are built into the yellow tile, and the yellow appliances are built in the wall. Thus, the effect is uncluttered spaciousness—a housewife's dream. Orange chairs surround the tile bar, while an orange lobster is imprinted on the tile above the stove.

This entire section of the home can be closed off from the rest of the house by a wood, pella sliding door (where a wall used to be), in an "accordion" fashion. However, when it is open, the kitchen area becomes a part of the family room ahead, since the tan montana corlon floor extends throughout both rooms.

THE RUSTIC family room affords a pleasant change from the formal living room. A yellow 3/4 bathroom is off to one side. The walls are in knotty pine, the same shade as the ash in the kitchen, adorned by knickknacks and conversation pieces such as an old-fashioned telephone and Mrs. Maddox's salt and pepper collection. To carry out the family's favorite color, they have placed orange pillows, stools, a lamp and large ash tray in this room. A clinker brick fireplace at the end of the room (which can be seen from the living room) lends a warm atmosphere. The room is complete with a library and a television.

The Maddox boys, ages 7 and 17, step down to their bedroom off the family room. Also in knotty pine, this room is a brand new addition to the home. The built-in drawers and adjustable shelves are in ash, with white brick above one desk. White formica covers the tops of desks and bureaus. The beds form an "L" shape against one corner. The orange in the room is in the bedspreads, candy-stripe carpeting of orange and peacock, and in wall decorations. The boys are fortunate to have their own TV here.

THE LONG white hall to the left of the living room leads to two more bedrooms. The master bedroom is done in bone white and peacock, with birch furniture, including a television.

The 12-year-old daughter's bedroom is in the stages of being redecorated. When completed, it will have antique white furniture and curtains, with a powder-blue bedspread and carpeting. There is a bathroom across from the two bedrooms, with tile, sink, and tub in light aqua, which blends well with the powder and peacock blue of the bedrooms.

Off left from the hall is a guest room. With two bone white walls and one in ash, print wallpaper, it does not seem to be just an extra room; it still fits in with the decor of the home.

Every Home Should Have One

By Herb Shannon

PROBLEM: An open-plan house in which a short hallway off the living room led directly to a bathroom. While the architect's design apparently placed function first, it contributed nothing to gracious living, exposing the array of sanitary fixtures to the entire living room each time the bathroom door was opened.

SOLUTION: A sliding door, built into cabinet work surrounding the entrance to the hallway.

BETTER SOLUTION: Make the sliding door useful in more than one way by building it to the same depth as the surrounding cabinets so it serves as a magazine rack as well.

The second solution, which was chosen in this case, provides some unexpected dividends. The sliding magazine rack not only performs both of its design purposes, but also adds a charming note of mystery and surprise to the house. When closed, it appears to be just another part of the bookshelf and storage wall.

IT IS ALSO just about as soundproof as any door can be, since it is eight inches thick and carries a built-in acoustic baffle with its cargo of magazines and decorative paneling. This quality is more appreciated than any other because it cuts off annoying plumbing sounds and allows the bath, den and bedroom on one side of the house to be completely closed off as a separate wing.

The mobile magazine rack is supported by two overhead tracks of the kind used to hang sliding closet doors. Side sway is prevented by a pair of nylon rollers at floor level behind the cabinets into which the magazine rack slides.

The only problem involved in this installation was the requirement for adequate overhead support. The solution was provided by toenailing a 2x8 plank framework up one side of the hall opening and across the top. One end of the top piece is supported by the side post and the other is securely anchored to a corner of the wall. The framework was faced with quarter-inch red birch plywood to match the cabinets around it.

THE TRACKS above the door were disguised by gluing a layer of wood veneer over the metal facing the living room. The tracks are indistinguishable from the birch to which they are attached.

The magazine rack was built on a standard one-inch wardrobe door, using quarter-inch red birch plywood to keep the assembly light in weight. Three quarter-inch birch facings were used in front to conform to the appearance of the other cabinet work.

Very lightweight panels made of eight-inch plywood trimmed with birch hold the magazines in the rack shelves. These panels are hinged at the bottom and spring-loaded so they return to position without interfering with the sliding action of the door.

AN UNOBTUSIVE pull bracket was attached inside one of the magazine shelves for convenience in opening the door from the front. The regular recessed finger-pull was left in the wardrobe door back so it can be opened as easily from the other side.

Besides all the previously mentioned advantages of this arrangement, there is another which should not be underestimated. Secret panels have a fascination all their own. Every home should have one.

It's a magazine rack, apparently just one cabinet unit among others in wall.

Surprise! It's also a secret panel concealing a hall to another wing of house.

Each slides fully into cabinets at one side of doorway, leaving passage clear.

over 750 years. This name originated as an inn-sign portraying a "broch" or badger as the hostelry's trademark. The inn owner assumed the name of his premises after a generation of ownership and usage. Robert Le Broc lived in the reign of King John, 1193-1216. The Brock family shield is silver, decorated with a symbolic black badger in the center.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please analyze VENNARD.—I. S., Long Beach.

I. S.: VENNARD originated as Venard, a well known surname in Normandy, northwestern France. Venard was a Norman dialect spelling of the east French name Guenard. In the early Middle Ages Guenard was a hero-warrior title for "strong governor and ruler."

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like the origin of WILLHOITE.—R. W., Long Beach.

R. W.: WILLHOITE is a variation of the German surname Willheit. This originated as a 10th century Teutonic noting "man with the resolute manner," that is, one with a firmness of purpose.

DEAR MISS RULE: What have you on PELLETIER.—Mrs. C., Long Beach.

Mrs. C.: PELLETIER, a French surname, indicates the progenitor's occupation. This name reveals that the ancestor was a "Pelletier" or "furrer" centuries ago. Among the ancestors was Pierre Pelletier, noted chemist of the early 1800s.

And if they are selected to serve as jurors sitting in judgment on a fellow man, they swear to this oath:

"You and each of you, do solemnly swear that you will well and truly try the cause now pending before this court, and a true verdict render therein, according to the evidence and the instructions of the court, so help you God."

And a process, as old as freedom, begins again.

Try a Lemonegg
Fluff or an exotic
Merry Meringue

Desserts for the Gourmet

By Mildred K. Flanary

Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

Just enough time has elapsed since the exotic holiday fare that you should be interested in real gourmet desserts. This Lemonegg Fluff served in Merry Meringues and topped with Custard Filling and Cherry-Cinnamon Sauce will rate you a reputation for "what's good to serve and to eat," second to none.

Lemonegg Fluff

3 envelopes unflavored gelatin	1 can (6 oz.) frozen lemonade concentrate, undiluted
$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar	10 egg whites
Dash of salt	$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
10 egg yolks, beaten
1 cup water

Combine gelatin, sugar and salt in a heavy saucepan; add water. Cook over medium low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Add a small amount of the hot gelatin mixture to egg yolks and blend. Return egg yolk mixture to saucepan and continue cooking, stirring constantly, 2 minutes longer. Do not let mixture boil. Remove from heat. Stir in lemonade concentrate. Chill mixture until partially set (a syrupy consistency).

Meanwhile, beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually add sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into a 2-quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold and serve with Cherry-Cinnamon Sauce. Makes 12 servings. Note: Double recipe to fill mold shown in photo.

Merry Meringues

6 egg whites	tartar
$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt	$1\frac{1}{2}$ cups granulated sugar
Pinch of cream of tartar

Beat egg whites until frothy. Add salt and cream of tartar. Continue beating for 5 minutes or until soft peak stage. Add sugar gradually, one tablespoon at a time, continue beating after each addition, for a total of 25 to 30 minutes, counting from the time of starting. The meringue should be beaten until the sugar has completely dissolved.

Shape meringues with a pastry tube or a spoon, as desired, on heavy brown paper on cookie sheet. Bake in a very slow oven (250 degrees F) 1 hour. When done, the meringue should lift off the paper easily.

Store in airtight tin so meringues will not absorb moisture and become soft. They should be crisp and dry and have a very fine texture. Makes 12 individual meringues.

Custard Filling

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar	6 egg yolks, beaten
2 teaspoons flour	1 teaspoon vanilla extract
$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk

Blend sugar, flour and salt in a heavy saucepan. Add milk to sugar mixture. Cook over medium low heat, stirring constantly, until bubbly and thickened. Add a small amount of the hot mixture to egg yolks and blend. Return egg yolks to saucepan and continue cooking 1 minute longer. Remove from heat and cool immediately. Cool by pouring custard into chilled bowl and place in refrigerator or into pan of cold water. Immediate cooling of the custard is important to prevent curdling. After custard is cooled, blend in vanilla. Chill until serving time.

Fill meringue shells with Custard Filling just before serving. Top with Cherry Cinnamon Sauce.

Cherry-Cinnamon Sauce

1 can (No. 303) tart red cherries
$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
3 tablespoons cinnamon red hot candies
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Drain cherries, reserving juice. Combine sugar, cinnamon candies and cornstarch in a saucepan. Add cherry juice and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and is clear. Remove from heat. Add lemon juice and cherries. Cool before serving. Makes  $2\frac{1}{4}$  cups.

Spiced Cherries

1 can (No. 303) tart red cherries
$\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar
$1\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons cornstarch
$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon ground allspice
$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon ground cloves
Dash salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Few drops red food coloring

Drain cherries, reserving juice. Combine sugar, cornstarch, spices and salt in saucepan. Add cherry juice, blending until smooth. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Remove from heat; add cherries and lemon juice. Color with food coloring if desired. Makes 2 cups. Serve warm or cold with holiday poultry.

Appetites recovered from the richness of holiday treats are now ready for desserts of gourmet caliber, and those illustrated above and described below are certain to stir taste buds, enhance the cook's reputation.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Alter View of Poison Antidote

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical Science Writer

THE "UNIVERSAL antidote," a mixture given for many years to persons who have swallowed an unknown poison, is being downgraded by the American Association of Poison Control Centers, a pharmacy expert says.

The universal antidote contains one part tannic acid, one part magnesium oxide and two parts activated charcoal.

Recent evidence shows that activated charcoal alone appears to be preferable to the combination of ingredients, according to Dr. Charles A. Walton of the University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy.

Drs. L. Emmett Holt Jr. and Peter M. Holtz of New York University College of Medicine say that charcoal is probably the most effective single agent available for the emergency treatment of poisoning.

In a report in Journal of Pediatrics, the doctors say charcoal is a powerful absorptive agent that rapidly inactivates poison. But not just any charcoal will do, they say. The best are the vegetable charcoals made from wood pulp with a low ash content.

They recommend one of the three following brands:

- Norit A (American Norit Co.)
- Nuchar C (West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co.)
- Darco G60 (Atlas Powder Co.)

They recommend a bottle of charcoal on every medicine shelf. The charcoal should be in a bottle—not in a can or box—to catch the eye. This way, in an emergency, a person can look for the black bottle, they say.

PERSONS who receive cortisone-like drugs over a long period should seek an eye examination every now and then, a research team suggests.

Dr. Howard N. Bernstein and others at Washington University found that a 25-year-old woman who had been taking a cortisone-like medication experienced an increase in pressure inside the eyeball. An increase in intraocular pressure can be an indication of glaucoma, an ailment that can lead to blindness if not treated in time.

When the drug dosage was reduced,

intraocular pressure dropped.

The researchers say eye pressure should be checked periodically for those taking such drugs over a long period.

HERE'S THE latest report on transplanted kidney operations:

At last count, 211 persons had received transplanted kidneys. Ninety-two of them are still living.

Longest survival: more than eight years.

Three recipients have lived with a donor kidney for more than two years, 100 lived less than one month.

According to Dr. Joseph E. Murray, Boston, chairman of a National Research Council committee, kidney transplantation is still highly experimental and should be attempted only by a skilled team of physicians and surgeons.

ACUTE gastrointestinal attacks during the winter are often called "stomach flu"—but this is incorrect, says a consultant to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Dr. A. Martin Lerner, Detroit, says these 24-hour-long illnesses marked by severe nausea, vomiting and diarrhea are caused by gastrointestinal viruses known as ECHO and adenoviruses. These infections are not related to influenza.

CAPSULES: A major new penicillin named nafcillin soon will be available for general prescription under the trade name Unipen . . . A drug called Tandeal can give remarkable relief from pain in a variety of urological disorders of an inflammatory nature, Bellevue Hospital researchers report in New York State Journal of Medicine. . . A Cleveland researcher has developed a hypodermic-needle microscope that enables a scientist to view living tissue beneath the skin. . . A two-minute pregnancy test has proved 100 per cent accurate in trials in Scotland on 100 women. . . Nine of 10 former boxers showed evidence of neurological damage when given medical examinations, two British researchers report in Lancet. . . A 4-year-old boy dying as a result of playing with an insecticide containing parathion made a remarkable recovery after a shot of the relatively new drug 2-PAM, or Protopam, reports a Walla Walla, Wash. doctor in American Journal of Diseases of Children.

Home Workshop

"Coffee and ..." close at hand, chessmen set on built-in board, there's nothing left but relax and play the game.

By Bill Meyerriecks

SKETCHBOOK often has a problem to solve in pleasing both the handyman and the homemaker. The project that the lady of the home likes might not be the cup of tea for his home workshop. And the dream job for him is stymied if she appears cool about it. This week's Sketchbook design idea, a Coffee Chess Table, is one that both partners will love and enjoy.

Let's look at the queen's interest in this smart, multi-game table for playroom or living room use. Its ample top offers enough room to serve "coffee and —" with the built-in game of chess, checkers or any number of other games played on the standard checkerboard. Its semi-modern styling fits in nicely almost with any type furniture. Its size is about 16 inches wide, by 36 inches long. Three drawers, two small, one large one at one end, provide plenty of space to store those "sit-down" game pieces that have a habit of disappearing when not stored properly.

NOW FOR the King who has to make the table. If he prefers to take on a project that he can do without a lot of trouble and fuss, he will enjoy this one. Or if he is a particular type in wood-working, this table offers some challenges. The Sketchbook plan on building gives all the basic construction details of the table, all parts and materials, and shows step-by-step how to make it. It also offers several different ways to build in the chess squares on the table top. You can choose to do it simply, or go to inlaid woods for a fancy, attractive finish. Also you are shown in the plan, in full size diagrams, how you can make your own chess set.

To obtain Sketchbook Coffee-Chess Table Plan S-143, specify number and send 50 cents with name and address to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

HOW YOUR CHILD LEARNS

Importance of 3 R's

By Howard E. Kent

QUESTION: "All my life I've listened to parents, educators, and politicians harp on the importance of the 'Three R's.' It has been a universal chant. Are the 'Three R's' all that important? How about some of the other subjects?"

ANSWER: Granted, the line about the Three R's has had a long, hard play. Some persons who repeat it do so because it has that wholesome, solid, old-fashioned ring; if called on to explain why the Three R's are all that important, they couldn't do it. But this doesn't reduce the importance of the Three R's.

Reading, writing, and arithmetic are important because they are fundamental. A student must have a grasp of these basic subjects in order to learn other lessons as he advances through school and college.

When a college student has trouble with physics, his difficulty quite possibly may be traced to his failure to learn basic arithmetic. His trouble in history may stem from weakness in reading. His difficulty with examinations may be the result of a lack of skill in writing his ideas.

Thus, the Three R's are the foundation stones of a person's structure of knowledge. How the building rises depends on the strength of the foundation.

The Three R's are really important enough for constant and repeated emphasis.

QUESTION: Is automation increasing the importance of the high school diploma?

ANSWER: Yes. "Technology has now developed to the point where machines have, on the average, ability equal to a high school education," says Secretary of Labor Wirtz. "More precisely, most work which has been done by people with less than a high school education can now be done more cheaply by machines. So most people without a high school education are not going to find meaningful employment."

ONE OF NUMEROUS ILLUSTRATIONS in "BEYOND TIME," Michel Siffre's story taken from his diaries and other writings of his extraordinary expedition during which he spent 63 days "in darkness and solitude," in an icy cavern he discovered in southern France (McGraw-Hill, $4.95).

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

"JUST the facts, ma'am," the man on television used to say, and here are the facts about the men who hunt for the same.

"JOURNALISTS IN ACTION," (Channel Press, $5.95) was compiled by Dean Edward W. Barrett in honor of Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism 50th anniversary. From reporters to big-city editors, from weekly newspaper editors to by-line commentators, graduates have come forward with their big and unforgettable stories.

From Everest Derthick's "Quiet Afternoon in Cleveland" to Milton Bracker's "Bless You, Mr. Frost," this book contains great writing by great reporters. It is far beyond the scope of a trade publication; it is something worth reading, in piece and part, again and again. Nearly 75 etchings in prose of the great American scene, in understanding and tenderness.

Hawthorne has issued "THE COMPACT HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER." Here are the Bonfils, the Danas, the Pulitzers and, alas, the Chaplins, in factual account. A book for the tradesman who, we hope, can afford it at $4.95.

BRITAIN'S Encounter Magazine manages to snag many of the better writers on both sides of the Atlantic, so a selection from it ought to be a literary event of some importance. That selection, a very abundant one called "ENCOUNTERS" (Basic Books, $3.50) has some particularly choice names attached to its essays, poetry and occasional stories.

Dylan Thomas' "Elegy," Auden's "Vespers," Robert Graves' "The Second Fated," Louis Mac Neice's "Solitary Traveler" are among the poems. All are top-rate. And they are just a few among some 25 or more poems.

Edmund Wilson's "Gaiety," "The Messiah of the Seder," is a not quickly forgotten, touchy tale of a gathering of old, middle-aged friends around the Passover table. Dan Jacobson and Nadine Gordimer are represented by beautiful examples of their short story near-genius with South African settings.

Nancy Mitford castigates English aristocracy, and Evelyn Waugh defends it in "A Reply to Nancy Mitford." Often his tongue is in cheek, more often not, and sometimes you're not sure whether it is or not. In cheek or not, it is a sharp tongue. Arthur Koestler's "The Trial of the Dinosaur," later published as part of a book of essays, appears here, tracing "a vertiginous rise of the power-curve coinciding with an equally unprecedented decline of the spiritual curve of living faith" and finding it is the coincidence of the two curves "which makes the present crisis" (of mankind) "so great."

Melvin J. Lasky is to be congratulated for the high quality of his selections.

"AMERICA TODAY stands poised on a pinnacle of wealth and power, yet we live in a land of vanishing beauty, of increasing ugliness, of shrinking open space, and of an over-all environment that is diminished daily by pollution and noise and blight."

Thus Stewart L. Udall, secretary of the interior, in "THE QUIET CRISIS" (Holt, Rinehart and Winston) sums up the conservation crisis in the United States.

Udall makes a point that seems to need hammering home generation after generation in this country. The fight to preserve our material and scenic resources is a never-ending one; we cannot afford to lose it; men like Udall see to it that we don't. Udall harkens back to the Indians to bolster his arguments. Says he: "In recent decades we have slowly come back to some of the truths that the Indians knew from the beginning; that unborn generations have a claim on the land equal to our own; that men need to learn from nature, to keep an ear to the earth, and to replenish their spirits in frequent contacts with animals and wild land."

Atoms Turn to Crime Detection

By Aubrey B. Haines

WHILE nuclear energy becomes more deadly on an international scale, detectives are working on a new weapon against the individual criminal—the atomic reactor. "For the past two years crime laboratory detectives in Los Angeles and San Diego have been using reactors in a research program underwritten by the Atomic Energy Commission," says Dr. Vincent P. Guinn, chemist with the General Atomic Division of General Dynamics Corporation in San Diego. "Already atomic detection is spectacularly successful. It's opened so many new avenues in crime detection that I see no reason why the FBI shouldn't be using a reactor soon. Reactors locate and identify tell-—Phil Anthony and wife Della, built world's largest swimming pool firm.

MORE POOL PER DOLLAR! Anthony has built more pools by far than any other single builder. Huge volume buying of materials plus factory-to-you pricing of sub-assemblies and accessories plus the unparalleled efficiency of Anthony's teams of trained specialists, puts a plus into every dollar you invest in your pool. Anthony's policy of value through volume is still working for you. In the first eight months of 1963, for example, Anthony has exceeded the largest other pool firm (a group of franchised builders) in the greater Los Angeles area by 666 pools, and the third largest by 1139 pools.

Anthony has built twice as many pools as any single builder.

tale clues thousands of times too tiny to be detected by any other method."

A reactor is capable of identifying a trace of gunpowder ten billion times smaller than a pencil point or a smudge of grease that might be found on a hit-run victim's clothing. Analysis of such minute particles by reactors is so advanced that grease can be traced to the actual car that it came from or a speck of gunpowder to a specific gun.

REACTORS CAN also compare tiny flakes of paint from automobile accidents. They can either match bits of material left behind at the scene of a crime to a criminal suspect or identify minute traces of substances that he has carried away from the scene. Thus they can later be admitted as evidence in court, for identification can be made without damaging the specimens.

Reactors can analyze hair and determine whether a victim has been poisoned. Non-lethal doses of arsenic, for instance, produce in strands of hair arsenic-rich regions that gradually move from root to tip. Hair even hundreds of years old can be analyzed successfully for arsenic and other residues. Recently English scientists found an unusual amount of arsenic in a relic of hair from Napoleon's head. The suspicion now is that he was slowly but fatally poisoned.

THE CASE of King Eric XIV of Sweden is similar. A murder legend has persisted in Sweden for four centuries. When the King's body was exhumed recently, activation analysis showed that the body contained traces of poisonous mercury.

Canada, Argentina, and Scotland also have programs that investigate reactors for use against criminals. However, criminals in underdeveloped countries may not have to worry for a while, for nuclear reactors cost from $200,000 to $1,000,000 apiece!

Siamese kits, 10 days old, are pawns in two-cat family games, like "Kitten, Kitten, Who's Got Whose Kittens?"

Cat Families Shared

By Jane Hamer

SIAMESE mother cats can become such close friends that they insist on having their kittens in the same box and nursing each other's babies. This is hard to believe but it was true for nine years at the Frank J. Hardesty home, 3850 Jotham Pl.

When Ginger first came to live with Dolly and Monkey, nicknames for pedigree names of Da Lee and Mon Kee, she was welcomed by the male. Dolly, however, resented the full-grown newcomer and made no attempt to disguise her feelings. Spats and scraps and nasty cat language made Ginger miserable.

Dolly's attitude changed to interest, wonder and finally excited delight when Ginger started having her kittens. After the birth of the third kitten, Dolly could contain herself no longer. She went into the cat maternity ward under the kitchen sink and took over the duties of mother and nurse by licking clean, not only the kittens, but the exhausted new mother also. Ginger welcomed her ministrations purrfully, forgiving and forgetting all former abuse.

Since then both have had their kittens together, coming in season and giving birth nine weeks later within 36 hours of each other. Because big Dolly has only two or three kittens, it is very handy for Ginger's six or seven at mealtime. Dolly's offspring, being bigger boned, round-eyed and white, are distinguishable from Ginger's fine-boned, slant-eyed, faun-colored kittens.

Need 'Exercise'

Camera shutter speed settings, like human muscles, need steady activity to keep them in good working condition. Unfortunately, certain shutter settings aren't used often enough by some photographers and can slow down and become inaccurate. This is most often true of the settings at the extreme high speed end of the shutter dial, such as 1-500 and 1-1,000, and the very slow speeds such as one and 1/2 second.

Camera owners can help prevent shutter sluggishness by working out these seldom-used important settings between shooting sessions when their cameras are empty.

cies and the related pilot whale have common words in their underwater vocabularies.

The pair have identified 32 different whistle contours, which are believed to be the porpoise equivalent of words. Five of the 32 patterns were used by all three species and the Pacific pilot whales.

SEVERAL of the common sound patterns were associated with searching for food, great fright, disturbance and other distinct conditions, the scientists claim.

It also was observed that one of the whistle contours and variations of this form were used only by the juveniles of a single species, a sort of porpoise juvenile slang. The young porpoises also seem to have smaller vocabularies, employing only six of the 17 whistle contours used by adults of the same species.

"THIS MAY indicate a state of vocabulary development analogous to that of a child," say the scientists in a technical paper on the study.

The study of marine mammal acoustics, partly financed by the U.S. Navy, is part of the company's anti-submarine warfare research.

The recording of the whale and porpoise talk was made at Marineland at Palos Verdes Peninsula and in the Pacific off the California coast with hydrophones.—LOU JOBST.

Recipe of the Week

SOMETHING with a Tahitian touch wins $5 for Robert Ferris, 242 Quincy Ave., Long Beach 3, as best recipe submitted this week. The recipe:

Alligator Pear Eggs

- 1/2 medium-sized avocado
- 1 tsp. garlic salt
- Dash of pepper
- 4 eggs
- 1 tblsp. butter

Mash the avocado, adding the garlic salt and the pepper. Work to a smooth consistency. Beat the eggs lightly, add them to the avocado and mix thoroughly. Melt the tablespoon of butter in a skillet, add the egg avocado mixture and cook slowly, stirring frequently. Do not overcook. They may be served like scrambled eggs or for a Tahitian touch, drizzle a few drops of fresh lime juice over them just before serving. If you plan to use the lime juice, remember to leave out part or all of the salt in the avocado mixture. Serves 2.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to: Recipe Contest, Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

Around the World With

DELAPLANE

"We are planning a few weeks along the west coast of Mexico and have heard San Blas is an interesting town. Or do you know of others?"

I WAS in San Blas once.

You reach it off the main highway 15 miles south of Mazatlan, turning toward the coast along a tropical river. The hotels were just fair. If there's any town, I didn't find it. Couple of thatched stands opening coconuts for you. And a small, biting sand fly that chewed the ankles off me.

I like Mazatlan much better. Couple good hotels on the north beach. Few fair restaurants. Sort of interesting town—the French held the fort on the hill for many years. And so many revolutionists have been shot up there that the wall is all marked with bullet holes. (Lot of bad shots.)

Farther south, I've been hearing good things about the beach at Topolobampo near Los Mochis. Supposed to be one good hotel.

In this same area north, turning inland off the Highway 15 about Navajo—but check this with your map, I haven't one with me now—is Los Alamos. Very old, gone-to-seed mining town. Crumbling mansions. One excellent hotel with a fine shop—probably best all-around selection of Mexican crafts in Mexico. Hotel closed in summer.)

"Are there any duty-free airport shops such as Shannon in other parts of Europe?"

THE AIRPORT at Amsterdam has a fair selection. Only at Paris is pretty good. None compare with the big selection at Shannon, Ireland.

No matter what airline you are flying on, you can arrange to stop at Shannon at no extra cost enroute to or from the U.S. They have a special layover that is attractive: Afternoon sightseeing. Old style dinner in Bunratty Castle. Overnight hotel. Morning for shopping. Cost $15.

"We are taking two very small children with us to Mexico. But we understand that hotels and restaurants give you safe water to drink. Is that so?"

IN THE CORRIDOR of your hotel (or in a nearby closet), there's a 5-gallon bottle of water marked "agua purificada"—or something like that. Your room maid is supposed to fill your room bottle with this. But chances are she hasn't changed it since the room was last occupied. Empty your room bottle and fill it yourself.

In restaurants, order Tehuacan water in bottles. And if you say "sin gas," it will not be carbonated.

HAWAII is getting set for more visitors in 1964. On Oahu island, site of Honolulu and Waikiki beach, 1,000 hotel units will be added the first three months of the year. The majority of these are at Waikiki, although the new 300-room Kahala Hilton, which opens this month, is situated on the Waialae beach in Honolulu's exclusive Kahala residential area just 10 minutes from the resort mecca. Largest of the new Waikiki complexes is the Ilikai which overlooks Waikiki Yacht Harbor. The 30-story hotel will offer more than 500 view rooms when it opens March 1. Also opening within the next few months at the foot of Diamond Head will be the 221-room Alohani, overlooking Kūhio Beach. The Reef Hotel also will open a several hundred-room addition in early 1964. THE ORIENT CRUISE schedule of American President Lines' trans-Pacific passenger liners during Spring and Fall months has been revised to provide travelers with an opportunity to visit two additional ports in the Orient, Keelung, Taiwan (Formosa) and Nagasaki, Japan — and a daylight trip through Japan's beautiful Inland Sea. The new routing, says APL President George Killian, will apply to the luxury liners Presidents Cleveland, Wilson, and Roosevelt, which sail in regular service to Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong and the Philippines on six-week cruises. The President Roosevelt, sailing from San Francisco on April 5, will be the first ship to make the new 44-day cruise. The all-First Class luxury liner is scheduled to call at Keelung on April 29, Nagasaki on May 1 and make the Inland Sea trip to Kobe on May 2. There will be five sailings this year with Keelung and Nagasaki added and thereafter six a year, two by each ship.

CAMEL and ostrich races again will be a feature of the Riverside County National Date Festival, to be held Feb. 14-23 at Indio. The 18th annual edition of the Festival also has scheduled horse shows, Arabian Nights Pageant and other feature events on its program. ANYONE for tennis at sea? Zim Navigation Company's new flagship, the 23,000-ton SS Shalom (Peace), which arrives in New York on April 30 on her maiden voyage, boasts a regulation size tennis court on her Sun Deck. This is made possible by the liner's design which eliminates conventional smoke stacks. In addition, the $20 million floating palace contains two outdoor swimming pools, an indoor pool, a fully equipped gymnasium and a sauna, (Scandinavian dry steam baths). Her home port is Haifa, Israel.

Open invitation to Shakespeare's Year in Britain

—a feast of merry goings-on in 1964

Once every 100 years, Britain pays special homage to her greatest poet and playwright. His four hundredth birthday comes this year. Read about some of the glittering celebrations you can enjoy. And about Britain's low prices. Then clip coupon for free Shakespeare's Year Travel Kit.

APRIL 23 is Shakespeare's 400th birthday—and the signal for nine months of celebrations throughout Britain. You'll be able to tour the country and see a different play or festival every day. Here's a short list of events to start you planning:

LONDON Sir Laurence Olivier will play Othello with the new National Theatre Company. The Aldwych Theatre will be host to six international companies (March through June). And the Covent Garden Opera Company is presenting Britten's A Midsummer Night's Dream, and Verdi's Macbeth, Othello and Falstaff.

SCOTLAND You can see Shakespeare performed at the Edinburgh International Festival of Music and Drama (August 16–September 5), and in Pitlochry's tranquil "theatre in the hills" (April through September).

STRATFORD-UPON-AVON The Shakespeare Season of Plays will run for seven months—from April through November. The program includes Henry IV (both parts), Henry V and Richard II. And Fine Rottweiler, Birgita of Gertase, shown with owner-handier Mrs. J. E. McIntyre and judge, Dr. F. P. Miller.

By Eleanor Avery Price

FIRST dog show of the year in Southern California will be held Jan. 26 by Orange Empire Dog Club at

National Orange Show Grounds in San Bernardino. Buildings will be heated. Frank Inn will have his famous performing animals there. They include Cleo the Basset and Rhubarb the cat.

Look for a big entry of dogs, one of which will be the up-and-coming Rottweiler. Shown here is young Birgita of Gertase owned and shown by Mrs. John E. McIntyre, 8 Packet Road, Palos Verdes Peninsula. "Janta" went best of breed first time shown and was only 6 months old at the time.

ROTTWEILERS are used as "milk-boys" in Belgium. And they need no guide to steer them on their course. They wear a clever harness, about a foot wide over the back. It buckles under the stomach and has straps branching from the saddle that go around the neck and then buckle to the belly band.

The Rottweiler is really an ancient dog. He probably first served as a cattle drover and guard for the supply dumps of the Roman armies. When the Romans conquered the countryside around the town of Rottweil in south Germany, they probably left some dogs there, and the breed flourished and was given its name.

Robbers used to lie in wait in the forests for butchers on their buying tours about the area. But when the butchers attached their money belts to the necks of their Rottweiler dogs, the dogs were not molested.

Around 1900, with cattle driving outlawed in Germany, the breed almost disappeared. However, he served so admirably in army and police duties that a program to save the breed was undertaken.

THE ROTTWEILER is the pillar of the Doberman pinscher. But he is heavier, slower, extremely powerful. He has a good disposition and is self-reliant. And recently the breed has been making a good advancement in shows.

In a letter to me, Calver Oram Mace, D.D.S., of San Gabriel, writes: "In southeastern Kentucky I went to boarding school and lots of nights I went 'possum hunting with a Negro, an old man in his seventies. One night as we sat on a log resting, with a small fire going while we waited for the hound dogs to regroup, Old Zack said to me, 'You know, in this world a man is entitled to one good woman and one good dog. If you've had that, well, what are you waiting for, there ain't no more!'"

Dr. Mace, as can be noted, was a hound dog man, but he seems to have added the working Rottweiler to his list of canine favorites, for the letter was sent to me totally in favor of the Rottweiler as the "one good dog."

AS OF FEBRUARY, the American Kennel Club will be located at 51 Madison Ave., New York.

Race for Riches

has started major operations in the sand-iron deposits on the bottom of Ariake Bay.

Some marine geologists believe that when adequate equipment is available minerals can be dredged from the ocean at only 70 per cent of the cost of mining on land.

The waters of the world themselves, according to estimates, contain 60 useful elements. And the quantity of these minerals is fantastic—15 million tons of manganese, 20 million tons of uranium and 10 million tons of gold.

The race for the riches of the seas is under way. Many men will die and strange new machines will be built. Their voyages into the unknown realms of the seas will be just as dramatic and strange as their colleagues who will be probing the far reaches of space.

Hotels for Athens

Announcement has been made recently of plans for two large class "B" hotels for downtown Athens. Both will be constructed by private interests. In addition, plans are moving forward rapidly for six suburban hotels near beaches and in scenic locations near the Greek capital.

Amaryllis Is a Color Specialist

By Joe Littlefield

Hybrid amaryllis are showy, providing color in mass plantings or in pots for portable, temporary accents.

HYBRID amaryllis flowers are strikingly showy, especially when planted in a group in a sunny flower bed. Potted, they are colorful and attractive, too, for patio, porch, or to be used temporarily indoors.

Professional gardeners know these bulbs should not be deep. If too deep they may not bloom. Usually about an inch of the top of bulb should be above the soil level, the same in a pot.

These bulbs may be left in the ground for three years and even longer, and they'll multiply and develop a colony of bulbs.

Local nurserymen and garden center dealers have them on hand now. Plan to set out some, also pot some, and you will realize you've made a wise bulb investment for beautiful flowers in the years to come.

later on into the spring season.

The gardener cuts the flowering branches as long or as short as he desires, then finishes pruning the flowering trees.

Feed Primroses

Primroses and geraniums in pots probably are blooming or (in the case of primroses) in bud. This is a good time to give them some plant food.

One of the soluble fertilizers can be obtained from your C.A.N. nurseryman and used in small doses. Follow the directions of the particular product you select and do not add a "pinch" more because the dose seems so tiny. The manufacturer knows best.

Tips on Gardening

Garden tips for the week. . . This is bare-root planting season when your dormant plants are least expensive. Don't forget to cut off the scuffed or broken root ends when you plant.

Plant grapes, berries and fruit trees now. Soak the plants in well, then let the rains take over.

You can still set out bulbs. Tulips, hyacinths, daffodils are the big ones. Get them planted without further delay for good spring bloom.

This is the important time for dormant spraying of fruit trees. Ask your C.A.N. nurseryman what to use — and if you don't know for sure, ask him the best way to apply it.

This is catalog-studying time. You can get an idea what you want come spring. You can then check with your nurseryman to see when he'll have the plants you want so you can prepare your planting areas in advance.

WISE INVESTMENT time for flowering deciduous trees is in the winter when nurserymen have them in bare-root form. They cost less than trees that have been canned.

Flowering peaches, plums, and dwarf crab apples are the three main flowering trees. Blooming locusts too are showy.

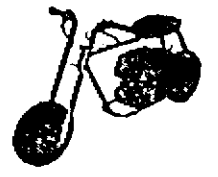

Winter is the time to prune deciduous fruit trees such as peaches, plums, apricots, prunes, apples, pears, nectarines, and nut trees, but not walnuts. Only time that walnut branches are cut if necessary is late fall, not winter.

However, winter is not the time to prune deciduous flowering trees, because the gardener simply cuts the prospective branches that will be blooming shortly and some

EARL SLACK
The Public Is Kind

THE PUBLIC can be merciful. If people, for no particular reason, don't like a restaurant, it is doomed—no matter how hard the management tries to keep it going.

The public can also be exceedingly kind. If people really like a restaurant, they go back again and again, making it a cheerful place full of chatter and good fellowship, where the food and beverages always seem better than anywhere else.

Such a restaurant is Sileo's lounge and dining room at 1174 E. Wardlow Rd., a spot which—although closed Sundays—enjoys a fabulous lunch-trade daily from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and an equally fabulous dinner trade nightly from 3 to 11:30 p.m. The success of Sileo's is directly traceable to its owner, Earl Slack, who has been there nearly 17 years. Since he took over as owner in 1952, the restaurant has increased its trade each year. Its volume of business is now five times greater than it was 11 years ago.

Earl is a large, outgoing personality who likes people and enjoys his work as host. His new York steak dinner ($2.95) is one of the finest values served in Long Beach. It is a select, eight-ounce steak, tender but firm, with lots of character and flavor. It's served with steaming, mild French onion soup, or soup of the day; a tremendous green salad with tomato slices, fine baked potato stuffed with cheese sauce and chopped onions; fresh soft cheese toast and beverage. Also featured are such superior entrees as sirloin steak-lobster combination, $3.95, including dessert; golden-brown pan-fried chicken, $2.50; choice top sirloin, $3.50; French fried jumbo shrimp, $2.25, and eastern loin pork chops with spiced apple, $2.50.

EARL SLACK
The Public Is Kind

THE PUBLIC can be merciless. If people, for no particular reason, don't like a restaurant, it is doomed—no matter how hard the management tries to keep it going.

The public can also be exceedingly kind. If people really like a restaurant, they go back again and again, making it a cheerful place full of chatter and good fellowship, where the food and beverages always seem better than anywhere else.

Such a restaurant is Sileo's lounge and dining room at 1174 E. Wardlow Rd., a spot which—although closed Sundays—enjoys a fabulous luncheon trade daily from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and an equally fabulous dinner trade nightly from 3 to 11:30 p.m. The success of Sileo's is directly traceable to its owner, Earl Slack, who has been there nearly 17 years. Since he took over as owner in 1952, the restaurant has increased its trade each year. Its volume of business is now five times greater than it was 11 years ago.

Earl is a large, outgoing personality who likes people and enjoys his work as host. His new York steak dinner ($2.95) is one of the finest values served in Long Beach. It is a select, eight-ounce steak, tender but firm, with lots of character and flavor. It's served with steaming, mild French onion soup, or scruped the day; a tremendous green salad with tomato slices, fine baked potato stuffed with cheese sauce and chopped onions; fresh soft cheese toast and beverage. Also featured are such superior entrees as sirloin steak-lobster combination, $3.95, including dessert; golden-brown pan-fried chicken, $2.50; choice top sirloin, $3.50; French fried jumbo shrimp, $2.25, and eastern loin pork chops with spiced apple, $2.50.

THE MOST EFFICIENT OVERALL PROCEDURE IN EXISTENCE FOR PROFESSIONAL PREPARATION OF INCOME TAX RETURNS

WE CAN HELP YOU!

OUR UNIQUE 6-STEP OPERATION AND TRIPLE CHECK ✓✓✓ SERVICE

ADD UP TO TOTAL PERFORMANCE PLUS!

- Most effectively elicits, analyzes and presents all pertinent data.
- Assures you of maximum legal savings on a correct and proper return.
- Provides you with continuing "all year" accounting and tax counsel.

YOU ARE EXPOSED TO ONLY ONE Accountant-Interviewer who confers with you and prepares our applicable Worksheet-Schedules.

BUT 5 OTHER

carefully selected, fully trained technicians insure the accuracy of your tax returns.

A TAX DOLLAR SAVED IS WORTH AT LEAST FIVE DOLLARS EARNED

2

FIRST CHECK
Arithmetical computations are checked and re-checked. Then points of theory are researched and inter researched for optimum propriety & legality.

3

TYPING OPERATION
Legibility insures faster processing by the automatic equipment now being used by the government. Your refund, if due you, will not be delayed.

4

SECOND CHECK
Typing is checked. Computations and worksheet-schedules are cross-checked again. Errors which escaped first check are now corrected.

5

FINAL ASSEMBLY
Your forms are assembled into quadruplicate sets. Originals for I.R.S. and F.T.B. Full copies for you. Our file set remains available to you indefinitely.

6

THIRD CHECK, REVIEW
Assembly is re-examined and reviewed for proper attachment of Worksheet-Schedules to returns and all "copy" sets, then re-inserted into envelopes.

OUR SERVICE DOESN'T COST-IT PAYS! WE SAVE YOU TIME AND TROUBLE-PLUS ACTUAL CASH OVER AND ABOVE OUR FEE!

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Star From 'Old School' Creates Transformation Before Awed Stagehands

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

SHE IS A STAR of the "old school" and you can sense it in the feeling on the set.

Even between scenes, there is a quiet, an awe.

It is an awe of respect that grasps the toughest audience in the world, the cameramen, the grips, the script-girl, the stagehands.

Surfeited with the one-tone Method performers and the psychological nuances of the new school of actors, this audience watches a transformation, not just a performance.

This is acting. This is the definition, the dedication, the guts of the word.

SHE IS A STAR of the "old school," Miriam Hopkins.

She is not physically the Miriam Hopkins you may remember. Not if you are old enough to recall her unforgettable performance as the seductive dancer in the Fredric March version of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

She is middle-aged now and the lines of that aging are accented by the grotesque flapper costuming and makeup for her "Outer Limits" appearance at 7:30 p.m. Monday, channel 7.

She looks the way the producers of the show wanted her to look, like a television "Baby Jane" comparable to Bette Davis' movie role.

★ ★ ★

YOU GET THAT "Baby Jane" feeling watching Miss Hopkins perform in her blackbeaded dress, heavy eye makeup, rolled stockings, cupid-bow lipsticked mouth.

And you are reminded of another star and another movie, Gloria Swanson in "Sunset Strip."

Miss Hopkins is on her knees now, pleading to a boxed present in which her husband was encased on their wedding night in 1929.

Her voice whispers and sobs. It throbs to a point that stops just short of being melodramatic. It is this "just-short-point" that marks the significant difference between being a star or a ham.

★ ★ ★

IT IS THIS JUST-SHORT-POINT that is the trademark of greatness.

A trademark immediately recognized.

Keith Allen, an ABC-TV public relations man, puts that recognition into words.

"God!" he exclaims, "How she can put emotion in words! When I read the script, they were just words."

The scene rehearsal is over and someone hands her a cup of coffee. She takes it with trembling hands. The tears still roll from her eyes. She is still caught in the emotional demands of the scene.

So is everyone else.

THE BRIDE and the attractive actress above are one and the same, Miriam Hopkins. The bride appears on "Outer Limits" at 7:30 p. m. Monday, channel 7. The top picture shows the way Miss Hopkins looked during her film-fame days in the 1930's.

SPECIAL

BOSTON'S MEMORIAL TO JFK—A solemn Pontifical requiem high mass at Boston's Holy Cross Cathedral, in memory of President Kennedy is seen live at 7 a.m., ch. 4. Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, celebrates the mass, with the Boston Symphony, directed by Erich Leinsdorf, performing Mozart's Requiem Mass in D Minor, joined by 150 members of 3 Boston Chorus. Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy will be among the family members as state dignitaries attending.

NBC OPERA—Donizetti's most famous work, "Lucia di Lammermoor," famed for its "sextette" and the "mad scene," is sung in English at 5 p.m., in color, ch. 4, with Linda Newman as Lucia, Michael Trimbel as her lover Edgardo and Richard Torigi as her brother Enrico, Lord Ashton. The tale of two young lovers from feuding families was based on Sir Walter Scott's novel "The Bride of Lammermoor."

ART OF COLLECTING—Art Critic Aline Saarinen is narrator and guide for a color exploration of the world of private art collections, at 10 p.m., ch. 4. First distinguishing between "acquirers" and "collectors," Miss Saarinen views art treasures on view in Washington and Philadelphia museums, and shows five important collections as displayed in the homes of their owners—Robert Lehman, N.Y. investment banker; Norton Simon, president of Hunt Foods, Calif.; Alexander Girard, New Mexico designer and architect; John Denman, Seattle airline pilot; and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

THE GOLDEN AGE—The finest drama, by Shakespeare and others, plus music and song of England's Elizabethan era, is seen on ch. 11, at 11 p.m., as studio-taped during its Broadway run. Nancy Wickwire, Douglas Campbell and Lester Rawlins star.

Will you please tell me why Joe Pyne doesn't get more mention in the radio news?

Mrs. Lola B. Derry
Long Beach

Joe Pyne. Joe Pyne. Joe Pyne. Who says he doesn't?

★ ★ ★

I understand that "The Richard Boone Show," my favorite, is going off. Is this true?

If it is true, I'm seriously considering trading in my television set for one of those new FM radios.

Joe W. Black, Garden Grove

There have been 13 Boone shows so far. There will be 13 more original dramas and then 12 repeats. After that, the show, a victim of poor ratings, will be axed. Good luck with your FM.

★ ★ ★

I don't care what anyone says. I enjoyed the "Jerry Lewis Show."

He deserved the two hours they gave him. It's just too bad his show was dropped.

I just hope some other station will wise up and hire him.

Thomas P. Littel, Norwalk

With the kind of cash settlement Jerry got, he can afford to hire his own station.

★ ★ ★

Are Adam and Laura on "Bonanza" going to get married? I think they'd make a nice pair.

Jessie Wittbaum, Long Beach

I don't know if they're going to get married. NBC doesn't know if they're going to get married. Adam and Laura don't know.

Originally, they were supposed to wed. Laura, played by Kathie Browne, was brought into the series because Adam, portrayed by Pernell Roberts, was unhappy.

Roberts reportedly wanted out of the series. The wedding march, producers felt, would give him a chance to keep marching with his bride right out of the series.

Either Roberts is happier with the series now or the producers have decided to make him stick with his contract. Chances are that Laura, unwed, will march into the sunset by herself.

SPECIAL

CBS REPORTS—Jay McMullen, TV's crime reporter, follows heroin from a Turkish poppy field to a Harlem street corner during an hour-long report at 7:30 p.m., ch. 2. In addition to filming syndicate bosses, smugglers, street pushers and addicts (through hidden cameras), plus law enforcement officials, McMullen follows the poppy from Turkey to Syria, where opium is turned into a morphine base, to smugglers in Beirut, Lebanon, to ports in France and Italy where the base is turned into pure heroin, to the U. S. where the heroin is cut chemically, and to the Harlem street where $5,500,000 of heroin is bought and sold annually. McMullen's previous "CBS Reports" on Crime included "Biography of a Bookie Joint" and "The People vs. Peter Manceri."

DISC JOCKEY SPECIAL—KMPC's Gary Owens hosts four of his fellow deejays and some of the recording stars whose platters they spin during a 90-min. special at 8 p.m., ch. 13. Radio favorites who'll face the cameras before a live studio audience at the KCOP studios are Wink Martindale and Bill Ballance of KFWB, Dick Whittinghill of KMPC and KRLA's Ted Quillin. Guests include Capt. Max Schumacher, KMPC's helicopter traffic reporter, and performers Allan Sherman, Bill Dana, Bobby Vinton and Bud and Travis.

SPECIAL

THE RESTLESS SEA—Bell Science Series hour looks at oceanography, through filmed and animated sequences, in a Walt Disney production at 7:30 p.m., in color, ch. 4. Films reveal hurricanes and mountainous waves, marine life from microscopic plants to huge mammals, and the new instruments that enable scientists to study the bottom of the ocean. Animated sequences show the movements of tides and currents, and the topography of the ocean floor with its great mountains and canyons. Hour's only "character" is a drop of water, characterized by Disney artists.

THE 7 LITTLE FOYS—Eddie Foy Jr. portrays his own father in a "Chrysler Theatre" spinoff for a proposed series about the celebrated vaudeville family, at 8:30 p.m., ch. 4, in color. Mickey Rooney plays George M. Cohan, with George Tobias as agent Barney Green, and with Osmond Brothers, their younger brother Donny, and two young actresses, as the 7 stage-struck kids. Narrator Bob Hope starred in the 1955 Paramount film of the same title.

TEN SECONDS That Shook the World—David Wolper's documentary of the scientific adventure, moral conflicts, twists of fate and desperate races that are part of the A-bomb story, is narrated by Richard Basehart at 9 p.m., ch. 11. Films from six nations are used to document the story of how America, in the words of President Truman, "spent $2 billion on the greatest scientific gamble in history — and won."

Personality Parade

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, PARADE, 733 Third Ave., New York 17, N.Y. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. Who are the wealthiest actresses in motion pictures today?—Ann Kempton, Miami, Fla.

A. Deix Day, Elizabeth Taylor and Audrey Hepburn are all multimillionaires.

Q. I would like to know if Happy Rockefeller is with child. Yes or no?—R. C. Robinson, Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

A. Reportedly yes.

Q. Christine Kaufmann, teenage wife of Tony Curtis—is she going to have a baby?—Lois Angers, Santa Fe, N. Mex.

A. Yes, in the spring.

Q. How much pension money is Jackie Kennedy getting from the government? Was she ever really popular with the female Washington press corps?—N. Linder, Baltimore, Md.

A. Mrs. Kennedy will get $10,000 per year until she remarries. When she was First Lady, the newspaperwomen assigned to the White House found her "a bit difficult." The current First Lady, Mrs. Claudia Johnson, is more accessible.

Q. I would appreciate your telling me approximately how much comedian Bob Hope is worth. I understand he is the richest comedian in the world.—Carl Doff, Seattle, Wash.

A. Hope is worth approximately $25,000,000.

Q. There is a character in Hollywood named Sy Bartlett. I believe he's a writer of sorts. He specializes in marrying actresses. Can you tell me how old he is and how many actresses he's been married to? We were in the Air Force together.—F. T., Bethesda, Md.

A. Sy Bartlett, 55, Hollywood writer-producer, has been married 4 times: to Alice White, Ellen Drew, Patricia Owens and now Carol Weber, widow of a Kansas theater owner and salesman.

Q. Is it true that when Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire made their films together they hated each other?—Ronnie Flms, Corpus Christi, Tex.

A. Between them, no love was lost.

Q. Is Albert Finney going Hollywood?—Jane Van Deusen, Glenview, Ill.

A. Yes and no. Last year Finney said, "I'm not Hollywood bait. I don't want to be bound by a contract, owned by a house, possessed by a swimming pool or divided up between agents, managers and accountants." Recently, however, Finney signed to make a film in Hollywood.

Q. Can you tell me if Army officers are given a mental examination when promoted to general? I have reference to Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, who refused to fly the American flag at half-staff in honor of his deceased Commander-in-Chief.—D. G., Texarkana, Tex.

A. Army officers are given an annual physical on their birthdays. An officer promoted to general is not given a special mental or psychiatric exam unless the examining physician thinks he needs one—in which case he probably would not be made a general to begin with.

Q. Is it true that Juan Perón, former dictator of Argentina, corrupted a 14-year-old girl in Buenos Aires?—Diane Hegstrom, St. Paul, Minn.

A. In 1954 and 1955, Perón lived in Buenos Aires with a 14-year-old mistress, Nelly Rivas. The government of Argentina is now seeking to extradite Perón from Spain on charges of corrupting a minor.

Q. Do Paul Getty and his son have gambling interests in Nevada?—T. Price, Bartlesville, Okla.

A. Getty's youngest son, Gordon, is building a million-dollar motel for divorcees in Reno.

Q. Is it true that King George VI did not want Winston Churchill as Prime Minister during World War II?—L. B., Oakland, Calif.

A. The King's preference for Prime Minister in 1940 was Lord Halifax. The King wrote in his diary: "I, of course, suggested Halifax for Prime Minister... I cannot yet think of Winston as Prime Minister... I met Halifax in the garden, and I told him I was sorry not to have him as P.M."

Q. I would like to know if the late President John F. Kennedy wore glasses.—Sara Stern, Boston, Mass.

A. He did, for reading.

Q. How many sons did Ernest Hemingway have, and was Hemingway ever in love with Ingrid Bergman?—Charles LeWinter, Los Angeles, Calif.

A. Hemingway fathered three sons: John, a San Francisco stockbroker; Pat, a graduate student at the University of California; and Gregory, a student at the University of Miami. Hemingway fell in love with Bergman in what he termed "a damn brotherly way," during the filming of For Whom the Bell Tolls.

Q. Edwin Pauley of California—what is his occupation?—A. E. S., New York, N. Y.

A. Pauley has oil interests, is a close friend of Harry Truman, recently entered into partnership with Bob Hope and others to construct a musical theater in Los Angeles.

Q. Is it true that many sponsors of the Jerry Lewis TV show handed in their cancellations long before the network dropped the show?—Robert Bender, New Canaan, Conn.

A. Yes. U.S. Plywood, Star-Kist, Rayette and others were convinced the show was a disaster and announced that they wanted out.

Q. I understand that George Murphy plans to run for U.S. Senator from California. Murphy used to be a dancer at MGM. Does he plan to run as "your dancing Senator"?—D. P., Palo Alto, Calif.

A. Murphy's senatorial campaign is not at this time fully planned.

Q. Who said: "The trouble with American women is that they expect to find in their husbands a perfection that English women only hope to find in their butlers"?—Vic Masson, Omaha, Neb.

A. Somerset Maugham, English novelist.

INTELLIGENCE REPORT

GUNS. There are an estimated 50 million guns in this country owned by almost half of America's householders. More than half of the 7,258 murders reported to the FBI last year were by gun shot. All four assassinations of U.S. Presidents were by gun.

In London today, there are fewer than 100 persons walking around with guns. The 90,000 British police do not carry guns, and detectives detailed to hunt down dangerous criminals are temporarily issued guns and ammunition, but on returning the guns to the police precinct, must account for each bullet. Private guards in Great Britain, those employed by banks and others, are not permitted to carry guns. Only bodyguards protecting the royal family and prime minister are permitted firearms. In England no citizen may buy a rifle or pistol without a police certificate, and the weapon can be carried only between specified places such as home and hunting grounds. The general lack of guns in England contributes to its low murder rate. Last year only 173 people were murdered in all of Britain.

BUYER'S CHOICE. The average U.S. housewife can choose from about 6,000 different foods when she goes to market.

CONTRAST. Christine Keeler, 21, and Mandy Rice-Davies, 18, both involved in the Profumo affair which last year shook the British government, are today a study in contrasting fates. Christine is just another number in England's largest women's jail, one they call "Heartbreak" Holloway. Mandy Rice-Davies, on the other hand, lives in an expensive news flat in Kensington, has signed to do a cabaret act in Germany, later goes to Rome to star in an Italian film.

ADVICE TO WIVES. If your husband is nervous or suffers from ulcers, don't turn on the vacuum cleaner or washing machine while he's at home. "Often," Dr. Lee Farr claims, "tenseness in men with clinical manifestations such as ulcers can be directly attributed to home noises."

THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH. President Lyndon Johnson is a member of the Christian Church. His wife and two daughters are Episcopalians. The President was brought up a Southern Baptist, but in his late teens switched to the Christian Church, also known as the Disciples of Christ. The Christian Church, with a membership of approximately 2,000,000, runs 37 colleges and universities including Drake University in Iowa, Butler in Indiana, Texas Christian and Bethany in West Virginia. The Christian Church is one of the 10 largest Protestant denominations in America, has 9,000 listed ministers, 8,000 churches. In Washington the President and his family attend an Episcopal church. In Texas they attend a Christian church.

JOHNSONS ARRIVE AT ST. MARK'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

EXPERIMENT. What happens when you take away cigarettes from heavy smokers? The U.S. Navy tried the experiment on the nuclear submarine, Triton, and gave it up in three days. All smoking was banned on the sub, but according to Dr. Benjamin Weybrow, the experiment was halted after 72 hours because of the "danger of impairing the efficiency of the crew...The heavy smokers became irritable, ate too much, had trouble sleeping and began to quarrel."

TV REPAIR FRAUDS. California has organized a new state bureau charged with protecting the public against crooked TV repairmen. Called the Bureau of Electronic Repair Dealer Registration, it requires the registration of all repairmen engaged in repairing TV sets, radios and phonographs used in the home. Its object is to prevent fraudulent and incompetent repair practices. Those guilty of same can be fined $1,000 and imprisoned for 6 months.

AUTO TAGS. In Great Britain, a car owner may hold the same license plate number for life, may also transfer it at will.

MALARIA-FREE. Europe has become the world's first continent to defeat malaria. Last year in a population of 648 million, it had only 194 cases of the disease.

OIL BOOM. Libya, the North African desert country with a population of only 1.2 million people, has become the center of the latest all-out oil boom. Socony Mobil is constructing a pipeline that eventually will carry 380,000 barrels of Libyan crude oil per day, while 19 other oil operators, including Standard of New Jersey, Texaco and Gulf, are searching for and striking oil. Libya has tremendous deposits of oil which are easily and profitably produced. The Libyan government splits 50-50 with the producers.

Are we becoming a

Through our nation today lives on the edge of danger, the stern finger of Uncle Sam pointing from recruitment posters has not produced a dash to the colors. Instead there has been a wild scramble for cover. The threat of military service has scared thousands into premature marriages, unscheduled schooling and jobs they don't like.

The fellow who puts on a uniform is more pitied than praised. The one who manages to keep his civilian suit, even by chicanery, becomes an object of envy. For the uncertainties and inequities in our selective service system are creating a generation of draft dodgers and an erosion of morals and morale.

Young men register for the draft at 18 but usually must wait until 21 to be called. Some enlist early to get their service behind them, but the majority take a chance on evading their duty. They spend five crucial years in limbo unable to plan their future. During this long wait, most are branded I.A. This means they are draft bait, unsure of deferment, unlikely to find a good job, unable to begin a permanent career.

The local boards now spend 85 per cent of their time arranging deferments. So many escape the draft that those who get caught feel cheated.

This doesn't mean that America's youth isn't every bit as patriotic as its fathers and grandfathers. But those who ask what they can do for their country seek the answer outside of boot camp. So far as the armed forces are concerned, the big question isn't "How can I serve?" but "How can I get out of it?"

The draft is such a jungle that most Americans no longer even understand the rules. For the record, however, it should be said that the draft law now makes all men between 18 and 26 subject to 2 years of active service. The law also allows draftees to volunteer ahead of their call for the same term, or to avoid 2 years' service by signing up for 6 months on active duty followed by about 6 years in the reserve. In theory, the draft is for all the armed services; but in practice only the Army has taken draftees since 1956.

On the average of 12,000 to 17,000 young men are called per month, depending upon such factors as the defense budget and the Army's need. Although youths register at 18, the draft boards, under pressure from parents and from Congress, who want eligibles to complete their education before being drafted, choose older registrants first. This usually means the 23-year-olds.

PARADE has discussed the draft with several young men. (See below.) Here are a few typical comments:

A Bethesda, Md., gas station attendant: "It's the uncertainty that gets me down. They were supposed to call me last July, but they still haven't gotten around to it. I've been working at odd jobs now for four years, just marking time. Who wants to hire a 1A?"

A Duke University senior: "The brass hats like to make it appear that military service is the highest form of patriotic endeavor. Personally, I think I can do more for my country by using my brains than my feet."

IT'S FORCED LABOR

An American University graduate facing immediate induction: "The draft is nothing more than forced labor. The government forces guys to serve at less than civilian pay. The draft isn't really needed to get combat troops but to get cheap clerks, cooks, truck drivers and handymen. We buy weapons on the open market and pay the market price. If we are going to draft military labor, then why not draft the scientists and engineers who design the weapons? Why not draft the profits of the munitions makers?"

Under the quixotic induction rate, of the men who have reached 26 this year and can now feel in the clear, only 1 in 10 has been drafted. True, 4 out of 10 have done duty voluntarily and a 6th has signed up in the reserves. But this still leaves about half the nation's militarily eligible youth escaping service.

There are many ways to beat the draft—from flunking educational tests to "instant" fatherhood. Most common exemption: 3 out of 10 avoid service on the grounds they are physically or mentally unfit. The standards are relaxed or tightened according to the Army's manpower needs.

Mental unfitness is a catchall that means lack of education. But even many high school and college graduates flunk the pre-induction exams. Complains Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the veteran selective service chief: "We have had trouble with people with master's degrees getting turned down." He admits some get away with deliberate failures but doubts that the incidence "is as great as some other factors."

The late President Kennedy, two months before his assassination, exempted married men from military service. All the draft boards contacted by PARADE reported that since then, prospective inductees have shown up with eleventh hour marriage certificates. Says Lt. Col. Harry O. Smith, Georgia draft director, "In one week, we had 46 men who had been ordered to report for induction suddenly get married."

A famous folk singer discovered marriage alone wouldn't keep him out of the draft; he had to live with his wife. When she complained he had abandoned her, the draft board classified him I.A. This brought him scurrying back to the home fires long enough to get deferred again. Then he walked out on his wife again, but the draft board happily brought them together once more by reclassifying him 1A.

A Colorado youth, also married, received his greetings late last summer. He hastily moved to another state, apparently hoping to delay induction, but was drafted earlier instead. Sworn in just before the new marriage policy, he filed a complaint that he had been "erroneously" inducted. He would still have been a civilian, he charged, if he had remained in Colorado.

Before marriage became a way out of service, it took fatherhood to obtain a draft exemption. One young husband got his wife pregnant three times, but each ended in a miscarriage. Between pregnancies, he neglected to notify his board that he had

SIX YOUNG MEN TALK ABOUT THE DRAFT

Neil Medoff, 21: "In a democracy, you have to do your duty as a citizen. But I feel that something like the Peace Corps should be allowed to take the place of the draft. That's serving your country, too."

Michael Taylor, 22: "Not being in favor of war, I'm not in favor of the draft. It disrupts lives. It places great burdens on people. I wouldn't have the slightest compunction about avoiding being drafted."

Robert Federico, 18: "People's lives are too short to go into the Army unless they're fighting for something—I mean a war. I think they ought to abolish the draft. If war does come, we'll all be in it, anyway."

Richard Grossman, 20: "I haven't heard of any reasonable alternative to the draft. Increasing the pay or the benefits won't get more soldiers. If Johnson says that we need the draft, I'll take his word for it."

nation of draft dodgers?

failed to become a father. This breach of the rules earned him an induction notice.

Nearly 300,000 students are now deferred to attend college, but Hershey confides that the Army doesn't need them now anyway. "I don't want to claim that we are keeping these boys in college," he declares, "because we couldn't induct them in any great numbers if they didn't go to college." It's no secret, however, that many students prolong their studies with postgraduate work until they get past the safe age of 26.

SOME SEEK JOB SECURITY

Those less well heeled, unable to afford the high cost of education, often choose jobs they may dislike or aren't suited for simply to escape the draft. "We probably have around 70,000 or 80,000 individuals deferred in scientific, engineering and school teaching jobs," says Hershey.

The draft boards are also lenient in deferring men who claim dependents, though not all hardship stories are credited. A middleweight boxer, who had deserted a family, raced home to Louisiana when his draft board got on his tail and begged his wife to let him take the children on a trip. He then put them in school and claimed them as dependents. His wife, with her own score to settle, put him down for a count of two years by giving him away.

Another dodger claimed he was the sole support of a widowed mother. He got away with it until his board discovered that she had her own home, a new automobile, paid up insurance and $30,000 in cash.

Out of PARADE's study, one inevitable question has loomed: Is the draft necessary? From brass hats and draft officials comes a resounding yes! Military leaders doubt that they could keep our defense installations manned without compulsion. Though comparatively few are drafted, Army and Air Force surveys reveal that 40 per cent of volunteers sign up to keep a jump ahead of the draft.

But the Army had admitted to PARADE that 95 out of every 100 draftees return to civilian life after their hitch ends. Thus they can be given no more than superficial training and perfunctory jobs. The Army can hardly get the skilled professionals, needed for modern war, from a turnover of disgruntled young men whose first desire is to get back to civilian life.

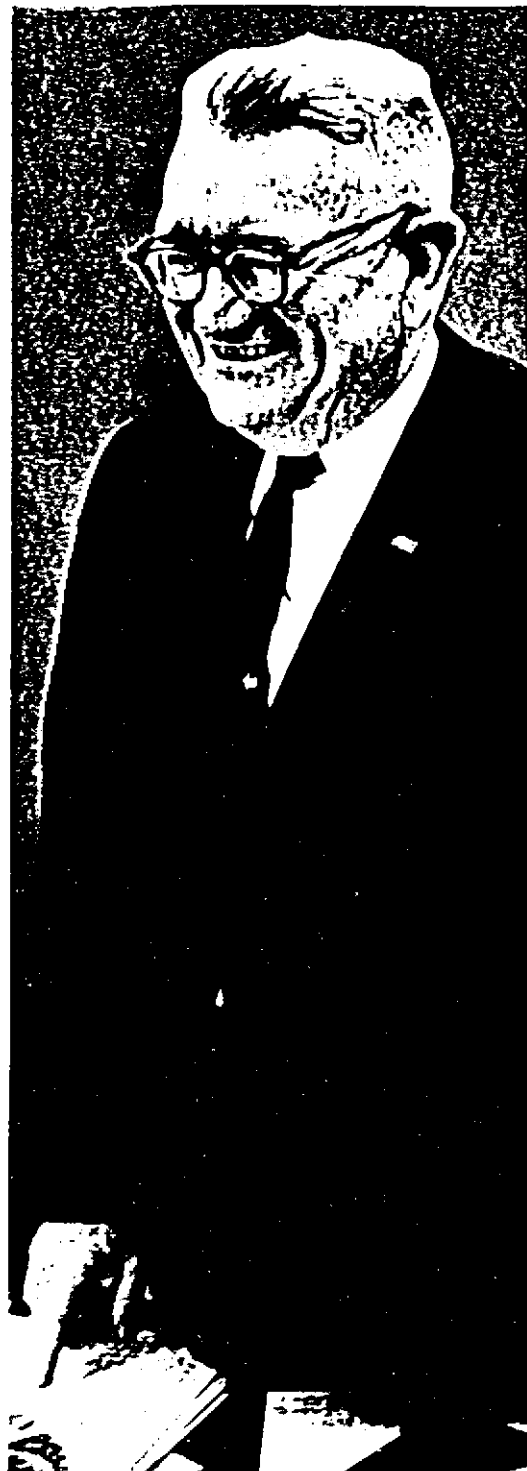

"The military needs for manpower," says Congressman Thomas Curtis (R., Mo.), "are primarily quality needs, not quantity needs, needs for skills rather than for numbers. The peacetime draft has proved to be a costly, inefficient personnel procurement system."

Most generals agree that the best age for training young soldiers is 18 to 20. By waiting to grab men after they turn 23, selective service not only leaves them floundering for five years but reduces their availability in the ready reserves. "Men begin to lose their effectiveness for combat after 30," admits Col. Arthur Holmes, Michigan's selective service chief. "We are now drafting them at 23 to 24; they are 25 to 26 by the time they complete their training. This leaves only four or five useful years in case they should have to be called up for combat."

The draft law hasn't been given a thorough study since 1951. Under pressure from the Pentagon, which never seems to have enough men, Congress has merely extended the draft every four years, slapping patch on patch to make a crazy quilt.

There are pressing questions which have never been answered. How much does it cost to keep training new men to do the same jobs? Wouldn't it save money and strengthen defense to build up a volunteer system, offering higher pay and more advantages? How many of the 2.7 million men under arms could be safely replaced by civilians? Are recruits today getting adequate training for modern war?

These are questions which a Presidential commission or a Congressional committee should explore thoroughly. Out of this could come a decision to re-draft the draft or scrap it altogether.

As draft director, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey has conscripted men since World War II. He supervises 4,000 draft boards.

Daniel Singer, 16: "Everybody owes some service to his country. It could be the Peace Corps, the reserve or some other kind of service. But I sure wouldn't try to get out of serving my country. When you gotta go, you gotta go."

Anthony Kurapko, 17: "The other services maintain their strength without the draft; why can't the Army? I think the setup, the way it is now, encourages rather than discourages draft-dodging. I'd abolish the draft in peacetime."

How to get a dog to pose with a President: Author Blumenthal throws stick to Kennedy...

...but soon gets tired of waiting and grabs on. Their picture is taken.

Kennedy and Blumenthal congratulate one another on outwitting Charlie.

... who holds it out to Charlie. Charlie waits for him to throw it ...

The making of a PRESIDENT'S PICTURE

BY FRED BLUMENTHAL

There are many of us who cherish personal remembrances of the late President—remembrances encompassing everything from a smile and a handshake to long years of close, intimate friendship. Today, on the eve of the third anniversary of his inauguration, mine center around a crisp snow-covered Sunday morning in March 1962. They are recorded by the photos on these pages.

Photographer Larry Fried and I had gone to Glen Ora, President and Mrs. Kennedy's retreat near Milledgeburg, Va., in connection with a PARADE article. Before leaving I wanted to get some shots of the President and Charlie, Caroline's Welsh terrier.

We went outdoors with Charlie, and Kennedy called to him. Charlie promptly ran the other way and began to play busily in the snow. The President called him again. He clapped his hands. He slapped his thigh. Nothing doing. "He never comes when he knows you really want him," observed the President ruefully.

We went back into the house. Standing at the foot of the stairs, the President shouted, "Somebody please get me a tennis ball!"—and aside to me he confided, "Charlie always likes a ball."

"This is a crazy time of year to play tennis," came a familiar feminine voice from upstairs. Then it added helpfully, "I can't find a ball, but I've got a racket." The President said no thanks.

After a moment he said, "Let's go outside again. Maybe we can find a stick. Charlie also likes sticks—but maybe not on Sundays." A few minutes later a Secret Service agent brought us a stick. We tossed it back and forth to catch Charlie's attention.

He spotted the stick and came running. The President walked along, talking to Charlie and me: "That's a good boy! C'mon, Fred, throw the stick!"

Then the President had to go to church. He tossed the stick aside. Charlie brought it back to him. The President threw the stick to me, and I tossed it aside. Charlie brought it back to the President. This went on for a while. Finally a Secret Service agent took the stick away from Charlie and hid it. Charlie forgot the stick and stayed with the President.

Smiling, Kennedy grasped my hands and said, "Somebody'll probably say that the President has gone to the dogs. They'll never know how long it took for the dog to go to the President!"

HOW TO LIVE TO BE A HUNDRED!

At last! A leading American doctor releases positive proof that you can add up to forty health-packed years to your life — AND LOOK UP TO TWENTY YEARS YOUNGER DOING IT!

Here it is! The revolutionary new Live-Longer, Look-Younger, Feel-Better Medical Program that you've been hearing rumors about for years! Whose main principles have already been featured in twenty-seven major American newspapers ... broadcast to the country by NBC Monitor news and the United Press ... released to the medical profession by articles in medical journals after medical journal throughout the United States!

Now brought to you, in complete detail, in one of the most startling books you have ever read! A fast-moving, down-to-earth, easy-to-readbook that shows you—in the first ten minutes you pick it up how to:

- 1) Add up to forty health-packed years to your life! Years filled with strength, vigor and vitality! And have the time of your life doing it!
- 2) Ward off the diseases of middle and old age that cripple your friends—and do it in just a few fun-packed minutes each day!
- 3) Look slimmer, younger, far more attractive OVERNIGHT! Perform a miracle in your figure in just six seconds a day! Develop maximum strength in whatever part of your body you wish in just six seconds a day! Beat daily tensions—drain away that "always tired" feeling—eat better, work better, play better and sleep better, starting this very same week!

In other words, pump up to twenty years of new youth back into your body—whether you're thirty, fifty or eighty years old today!

WHY LET YOUTH SLIP THROUGH YOUR FINGERS, WHEN YOU CAN GAIN IT BACK IN JUST A FEW SHORT MINUTES A DAY!

Yes! For years medical science has asked itself one troubling question — Why do people age before their time?

Why do men lose their eyes and vitality—develop hunch and a paunch—begin to huff and puff when they climb stairs—give way to fatigue, become and pale that shouldn't be there for a day's work to start to feel years of the least?

Why do women turn almost overnight from slim young girls to fat heavy matrons—with all the blue glow from their eyes—tired, with the usual depression associated with their aging? Why do men have heart attacks, strokes, rheumatism and all the creeping diseases that make them old, overnight?

Can something be done to prevent this premature aging? Can the inevitable old age be pushed off for ten, twenty, even forty years! Can youthful vitality, youthful appearance be retained? CAN YOUR PHYSICAL AGE—WITH THE PROPER TRAINING—ACTUALLY BE UP TO TWENTY YEARS BELOW YOUR CALENDAR AGE?

The answer to all these questions is Yes! Medical science has now discovered that there are whole nations of men and women who live to be a happy and healthy one hundred and twenty-five years old! Who do hard productive jobs, work to the age of one hundred and ten! Who are actually father children right up past the age of ninety!

Medical science has proved to Europe that a simple self preservation routine—to test after test—had cut the amount of bad risks! It was among participants to a mere 15%! Medical science has proved in this that this same simple routine has increased the life expectancy of a weight man by as much as twenty full years—over though they were suffered from blood pressure as high as 160 as dangerous as poison!

Yes! Medical science had proved—all over the free world—that the man or woman who follows this simple program of self protection WILL ACTUALLY BE IN BETTER CONDITION AT EIGHTY OR NINETY THAN OTHER MEN ARE AT FIFTY!

How can this be done? What is this simple self preservation routine? As now released to you is Dr. Martin's revolutionary new book, it contains of two thrilling parts: both of which will cut years off your life span at the same time that they add years to your life!

THE FIRST STEP — EXERCISES WITHOUT MOTION, THAT TAKE ONLY 6 SECONDS EACH!

First to give you overnight results from this amazing Live-Longer, Look-Younger Program Dr. Martin introduces you to the incredible SIX SECOND EXERCISES! EXERCISES that were recommended by the Illinois State Medical Association ... that are so fabulously effective that they were actually first "discovered" when they were used in chess club training by the United States men and women's Olympic teams!

Think of it! Here are simple, easy-to-do exercises that you perform only three times a week, and only six seconds each time! A total of only eighteen seconds per week for each exercise — with no motion and no sweat—along is putting one move to against another as shown in the illustrations on this page! And here's what they do for you:

If you are a man, these six second exercises will strengthen your back, broaden your shoulders and—above all—pull in your stomach, sometimes as much as to three inches in the first few weeks! They'll put new drive in your legs, new wind in your chest, new power in your grip!

If you are a woman, these six second exercises will firm you up where you need it most! Tighten your hips and thighs, lift that bulging tummy, under your chin and around the neck—over to that hanging upper arm! They'll put new grace in your step—give you a posture and a figure that can't be beat! They'll give new fire to a full back behind you!

And you'll see the results, you'll feel the results, your friends will comment on the results, IN THE FIRST FEW WEEKS AHEAD!

All this from just eighteen seconds per exercise per week! ## Why you should take Contac instead of other remedies when you have a cold:

If you take aspirin, you don't get any of the relief from sneezes, sniffles and nasal congestion that Contac gives.

If you take ordinary cold tablets, you don't get the continuous action against these symptoms that Contac gives.

If you take one of the new capsules, you don't get the tiny "time pills" that Contac (and only Contac) has.

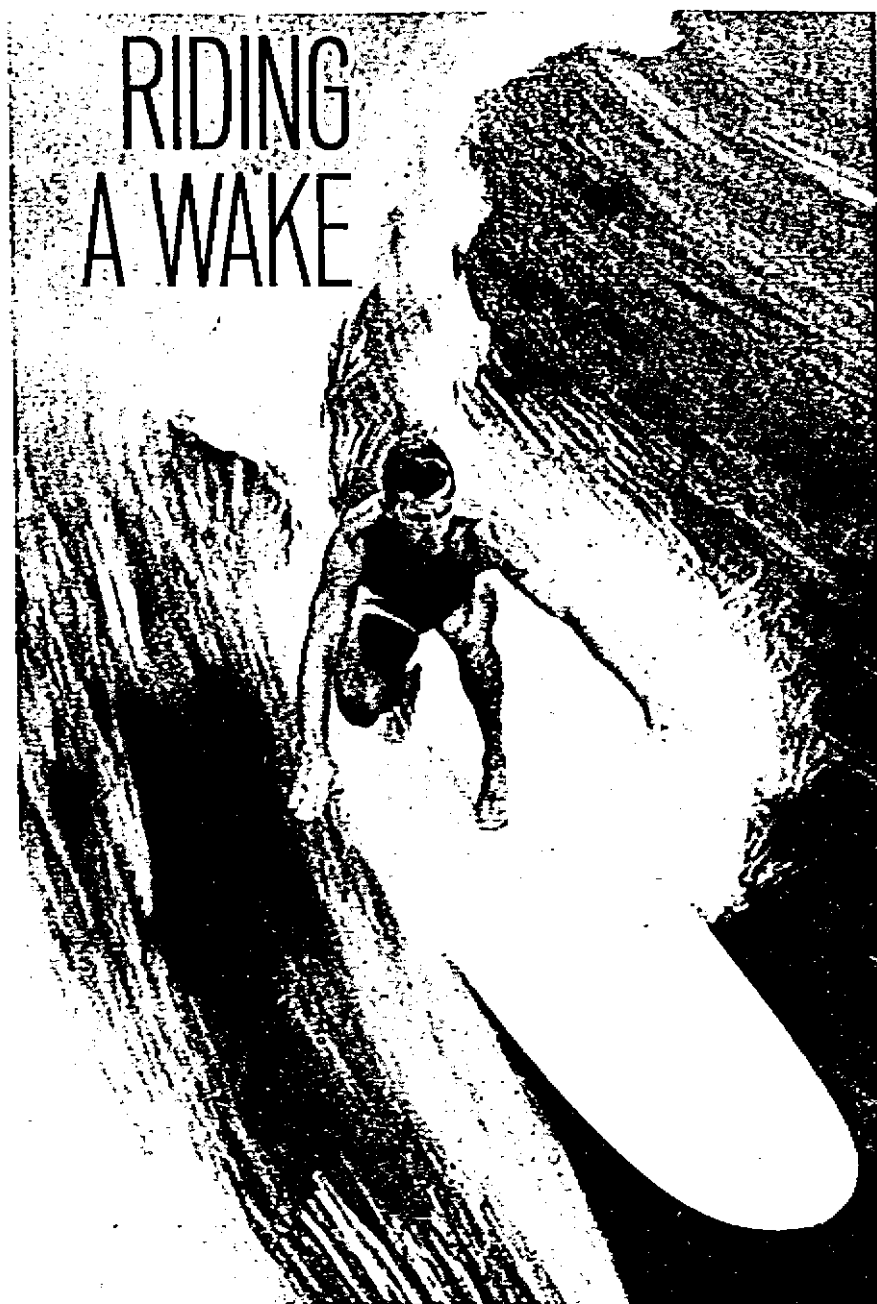

Nothing else does as much for head cold congestion as the tiny "time pills" in Contac. That's why it's today's largest-selling cold medication at your pharmacy. Now in a money-saving 20-capsule package too.

AMERICA'S NEWEST WATER SPORT:

RIDING A WAKE

Full steam ahead! Crouching low for maximum speed, experts like Dick Scotter reach up to 20 mph.

The latest ripple in water sports is one which provides all the thrills—minus most of the spills—of big-sea surfing. It's called inland surfboarding and is ideal for all members of the family.

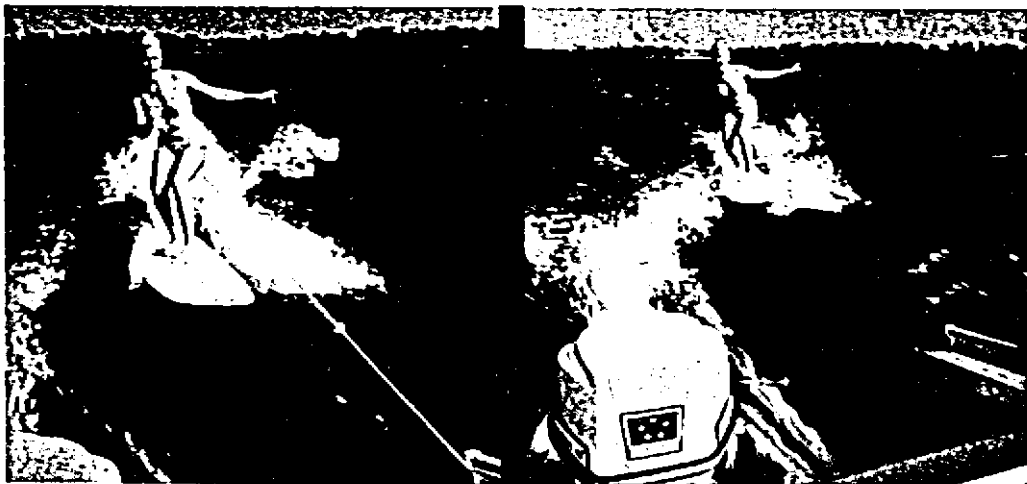

Professionals at this Florida resort came up with this new sport about two months ago, and it has caught on like wildfire. Inland surfing can be done on almost any lake or bay in the world. All you need, as these photos show, is a boat, a board, a bathing suit and a yen for excitement. Here's how it's done:

With a large outboard or any size inboard cruiser as tow boat, a surfboard and a ski rope tied to the side of the boat, the surfer tosses the board into the water, jumps in after it and grabs the ski rope. Then he gets onto the surfboard, stands up and throws away the rope, which is pulled back into the boat. The powerful

And finally, inland surfboarding is almost as much fun for those watching from the boat as for the riders themselves. A board, anyone?

Ready to begin surf ride, surfer gets her balance, still holding ski rope, then tosses it away to ride high and pretty.

now 2 kinds of Ken-L Ration to give your dog the lean red meat he prefers and the variety he loves

Not long ago, a New York business executive began to behave very strangely. On working days, he was competent, charming and pleasant, but on Sundays he suddenly became extremely abusive, demanding, almost psychotic.

For a while his wife believed that her husband preferred his job to his home, was irritable because he would rather be with his friends at the office—maybe his secretary.

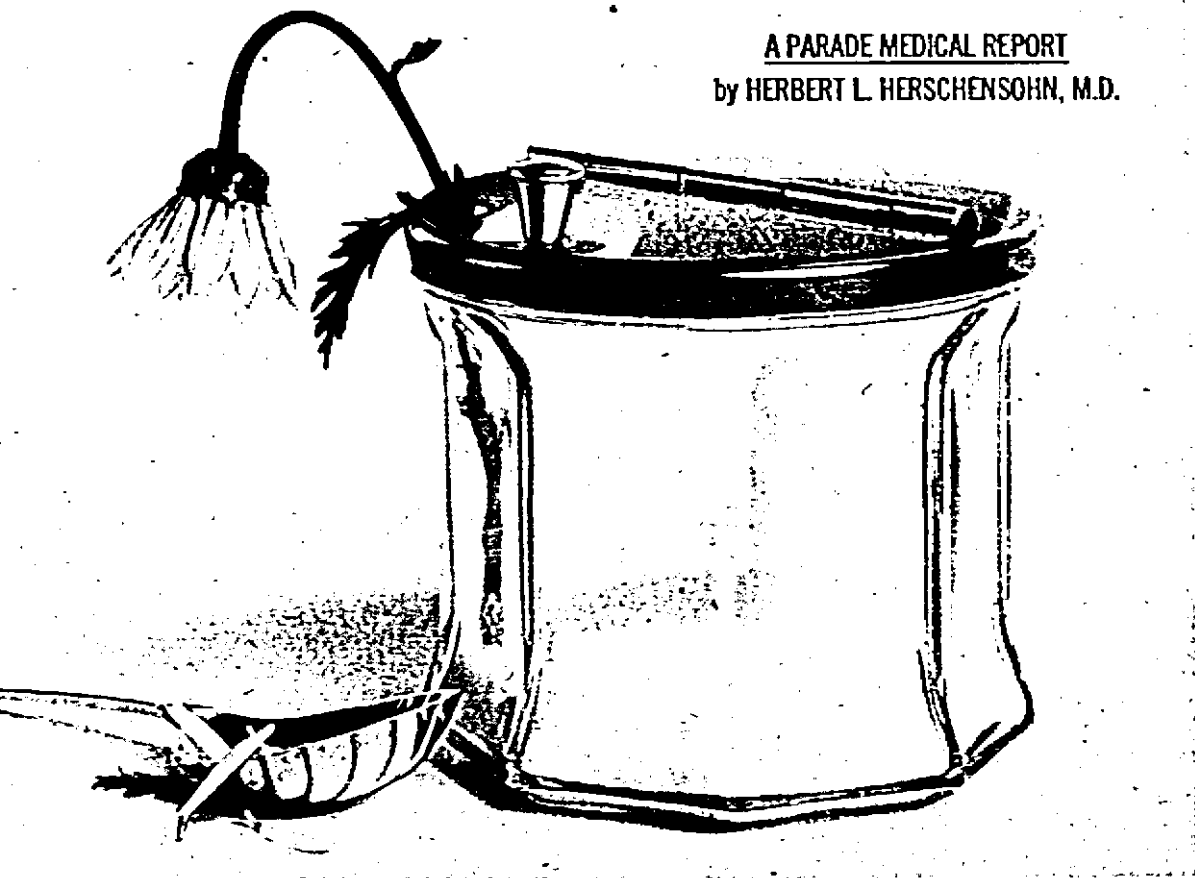

Then one day she took a long, cool look at the situation. There was a peculiar pattern to her husband's behavior. On Sunday, instead of getting up at the usual hour of 6 A.M., he slept until about 10. When he awoke he acted as irrational as a man who was intoxicated and stayed that way until he had had breakfast. Then, like magic, he was as charming and considerate as ever.

She discussed this with her family doctor, who gave her a suggestion. On the following Sunday, as soon as her husband opened his eyes, she gave him a glass of orange juice. He drank it, smiled and thanked her. There was no "psychotic" behavior that Sunday or any Sunday since.

The mystery was solved. The executive suffered a brain disturbance whenever the level of sugar in his blood was lower than normal—as was the case when his breakfast was delayed on Sunday mornings. The orange juice immediately restored the level of blood sugar—as well as his mind.

Hypoglycemia is the word used to indicate a low level of sugar in the blood. A recent report by the Mayo Clinic reveals that it is a far more common disorder than had been previously realized. Frequently misdiagnosed as a nervous or emotional disturbance, it is com-

excellent for Color
and
Black and White

Winegard engineers have developed a super-sensitive TV antenna that increases the amount of signal that gets to your TV set... at the same time knocks out ghosts, snow and other interference.

This unusual antenna is the gold anodized Winegard Colortron. It will give you sharply detailed TV pictures for color or black & white sets... even in difficult reception areas. It will pull in TV pictures hardly visible with ordinary antennas. And it is so powerful, you can operate 2, 3 or more TV sets from one Colortron antenna.

The Winegard Colortron works two ways to give you better reception. First, a patented Electro lens design intercepts more signal. Second, a powerful electronic power pack amplifies the signal. The result is the finest possible reception.

Colortrons are rugged, too. Wind tested to 100 mph. Permanent GOLD ANODIZED finish won't weather wear - stays like new for years.

For the best reception, insist on a Winegard Colortron. Four models from $24.95, electronic power pack extra... satisfaction guaranteed.* Ask your TV service dealer or send coupon for full story.

ing increasingly to the attention of personal physicians, whose patients complain of symptoms ranging from mere irritability to almost complete loss of coordination and orientation.

Some people are well aware of what happens to them when they have to wait too long between meals. One woman set her wedding mass at 7 in the morning instead of the customary 9 o'clock. She knew that if she went without food too long she would get a spell of uncontrollable laughter.

Why should lack of sugar in the blood affect the mind? Nerve tissue gets most of its energy from glucose, or sugar. However, since nerve tissue has only an insignificant amount of readily available glucose, it must have an adequate supply close by in the blood. When this supply is low, nerve tissue suffers immediately and dramatically.

SNACKS REDUCE STRESS

One mistake made by people subject to hypoglycemia attacks who are on diets is to give up their nighttime raids on the refrigerator. They undergo great mental anguish, wanting something to eat very badly, yet denying themselves this pleasure in order to lose weight. It would be far wiser to save a portion of dinner to eat at bedtime, thus adding no calories but preventing feelings of stress and anxiety. So many reducing diets fail because the compulsion to eat is too great for the mind to endure.

There are other reasons besides lack of food for this hypoglycemic effect on the mind. Insulin is manufactured in the pancreas and is necessary for the proper utilization of sugar. If the pancreas is diseased or otherwise disturbed, insulin production is hindered.

A 50-year-old man, who had been jealous of his wife ever since their marriage 30 years earlier, suddenly became paranoid. He suspected his wife of affairs with other men and of poisoning his food. Finally, after a violent quarrel, the couple separated.

Their son insisted that his father see a psychiatrist. The psychiatrist found no family or personal explanation for the psychotic behavior, and suggested that the man see his personal physician. The doctor discovered that he had a tumor of the pancreas, which was then removed.

The change in behavior was phenomenal. Although the man was still jealous, all evidence of paranoia disappeared. The family was reunited. Fortunately, in this case the tumor was removed in time. If the diagnosis had not been made early enough, the damage to his mind could have been permanent.

Another cause of "psychosis" due to hypoglycemia is an unaccustomed burst of exercise or strenuous physical exertion.

A sales manager decided to start a physical fitness program at a local health club for his sales force. One cheerful, slappy salesman who went to the club every week returned to his office, after exercising, feeling surly, depressed and confused. He argued with customers and lost sales. The manager discussed this strange personality change with the doctor who was medical advisor for the health club. The doctor had an idea.

The following week the salesman performed the gym exercises, played handball and got his usual rubdown. This time, before leaving the club, he was given a tall glass of soft drink and told to drink all of it. He returned to his office, feeling his usual jubilant self.

A RESTORING DRINK

What had happened was this. The sudden, unaccustomed physical exertion used up too much blood sugar, and hypoglycemia resulted. The sweet beverage restored the blood sugar to its normal level before the mind had time to be adversely affected.

Most of us can wait hours between meals and not become emotionally or physically distressed. Unfortunately there are many who cannot. They suffer from repeated hypoglycemic episodes which cause friends and relatives to tell them, "It's all in your head." Or they may be told that the nervous symptoms they are experiencing are due to "change of life," tension headaches or maladjusted sex life.

If attacks are quickly cured by something sweet or by a meal—whether symptoms occur on Saturday nights, Sunday mornings or any hour of the week—hypoglycemia should be seriously considered as a possible cause. And a physician should be consulted immediately, in case the attacks are due to disease or disturbance which could cause permanent damage.

BRINGING UP BABY,*
HINTS COLLECTED
BY MRS. DAN GERBER,
MOTHER OF FIVE

All dressed up and someplace to go

Where? Why out in the bright, spirited air. A bit of nip doesn't mean you have to skip baby's daily constitutional unless it's sleety, snowy or really frigid. Any baby over 10 pounds adjusts well to the cold and will reap the sweet rewards of good appetite and glowing color from daily outings. Jack Frost preparation pointers:

- Baby should be dressed warmly but loosely. Tight bundling restricts movement, possibly circulation, which may lead to chilling.
- Before venturing out, get yourself set before dressing baby. A smidgen of lotion on baby's face will protect petal-soft skin.
- Best airing hours for wee ones are between 10 A.M. and 2 P.M. feedings. You can be more flexible with an older tot.

Crisp-weather menu cues. No doubt about it...outdoorsing calls for a hearty bill of fare. Gerber Strained and Junior High Meat Dinners fill the bill beautifully, give baby a flavor bonus to boot. First, they have three times as much meat as regular vegetable meat combinations. That means more protein for growing babies. Second, garden-good vegetables are added for flavor interest...subtle seasoning makes them extra palate pleasing.

Toasty trick for an older tot. If your baby is at the open stroller stage you can keep toes cosy by slipping a pair of dad's woolen socks over his shoes or snowsuit.

Inside information. A baby who is up and about will fare best in a comfortably warm room, with the temperature not exceeding 74 degrees.

Nutrition notation from Dan Gerber. "As you probably know, protein makes a big contribution to your baby's growth. And the most effective protein is that which provides all the essential amino acids (vital protein substances) needed to maintain normal growth. Gerber High Protein Cereal is a good example of a single food containing all the needed amino acids. What's more, they're scientifically balanced to go to work most efficiently for your baby—the result of Gerber research on protein values."

For your baby's well-being: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

"Babies are our business...our only business!"

Ready for visiting royalty treatment, American Nat Thayer is helped out of his jacket at Japanese inn.

Comfortable in kimono, Thayer enjoys welcome restfulness of garden surrounding the inn. Maids wait, ready to serve.

THE JAPANESE INN: WHERE A MAN IS STILL KING

by BERNARD KRISHER

TOKYO.
All too often, a man in this coldly systematized age feels like an IBM card, a statistic, a head of livestock herded through the entrance and out the exit. But here in Japan, an institution still flourishes in which a man is treated as he likes to be treated—like a king.

It's the Japanese country inn. Encircled by lovely gardens or resting beside mountains or lakes, it has been a tradition in Japan since feudal times. From the moment you arrive at one, leaving your shoes and your troubles at the doorstep as the owner or manager and maids smile and bow in greeting, the emphasis is on service.

Nat Thayer, the young American pictured here, was recently the happy object of all this fuss at the Tofuya Inn at Yoshino Spa, four hours from Tokyo. As he discovered, the treatment starts when you are helped into a pair of slippers and relieved of your luggage by one of the charming, kimono-clad maids, then ushered to your straw-matted room. The maid assists you out of your clothes and into your own kimono. While she draws your bath, you sit on a soft pillow on the floor and drink green tea.

Later, you pull up a cushion to the low, cocktail height table in your room to dine. A maid gracefully serves your dinner, which may include turtle soup (drunk out of the bowl), steamed egg custard, broiled fish, boiled rice and pickles. As you eat, the maid sits close by, filling your glass and replenishing your rice bowl. If it's warm, she may fan you.

MASSAGED & TUCKED IN

Before retiring, you can enjoy the relaxing ministrations of a masseuse for just $1.15 per hour. A maid will have spread your thick quilt upon the floor and now will tuck you in.

Woman of the cloth, the Rev. Marie Hubbel, stands before her new church.

the LADY is a

*M*ost people think of a minister as an imposing paternal figure with a deep bass voice, wearing a clawhammer coat. The pastor of the Good Shepherd United Presbyterian Church here, however, is vastly different from all stereotypes. As the photos on these pages show, Good Shepherd's clergyman is a slender, attractive woman named the Rev. Marie Hubbel.

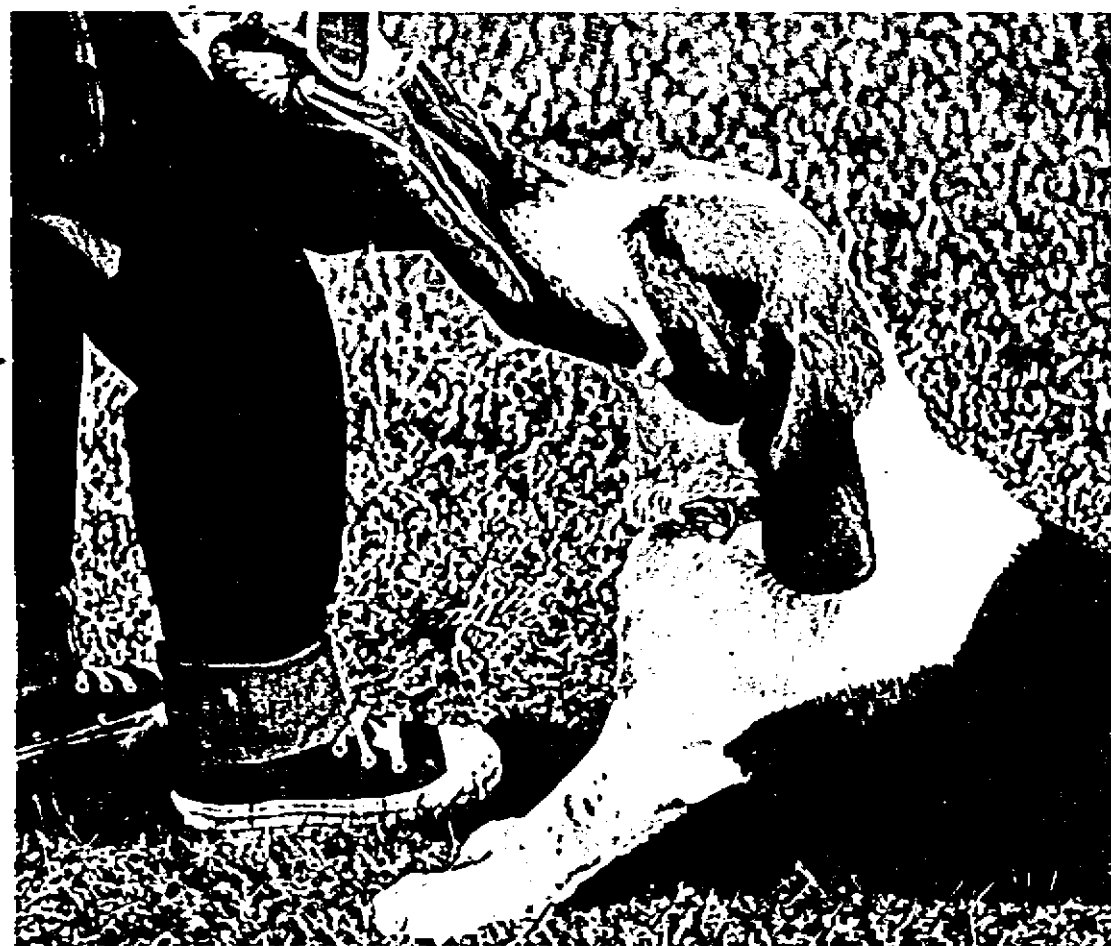

Marie Hubbel, in her early 40s, represents something new in Christian churches. She is one of 33 women ordained by the United Presbyterian Church and one of a growing number of women occupying pulpits in churches the country over. Within the last few years, churches have begun to lift the bars that long relegated women to second class membership, and today virtually all major U.S. Protestant denominations admit them to the clergy. The recent Vatican Council discussed the possibilities of increasing the role of women in the Roman Catholic Church.

Even among the handful of women in the clergy, Marie Hubbel is unusual. Whereas most women clergy are assigned as assistant pastors in charge of music or the Sunday school, she has her own parish. She handles all the regular duties of any minister. She counsels the troubled, prays for the sick, administers the sacraments and performs weddings.

Actually, Miss Hubbel has been serving as a kind of unofficial clergyman for years. After graduating from McCormick Theological Seminary, she became a Presbyterian Sunday school missionary, organizing first education programs and then parishes in Houston, Albuquerque and in Albion, Calif. She came to McKinleyville in 1958, started a Sunday school and then a church from scratch. When the time came to appoint a permanent minister, the congregation urged her to apply for ordination, and to stay. "I prayed about it, thought about it, finally concluded that my work was not done here, and so I stayed," she says.

as a man's job, Miss Hubbel confesses she has her problems. She finds, for example, that some men in this logging country are unwilling to attend a church with a woman pastor, or to work for such a church. She also finds some members of the congregation unwilling to ask her for pastoral help. They seem to feel, she says, that they will shock her.

On the other hand, the Good Shepherd Church has made real progress under her direction. It recently moved into a new, A-frame building; its per-capita contributions are the largest in the Presbytery. Although membership is on a plateau, this is partly accounted for by a stiff educational course for prospective members. About half the congregation now are young, energetic couples. And Good Shepherd, thanks to Miss Hubbel and some aggressive church officers, has been chosen for a pilot project on how the church can best put across its message in a changing world.

"She is a wonderful pastor; no man could be better," says one of her church members, a man, but Miss Hubbel shies from the comparison. "I wouldn't urge any woman, as a woman, to enter the clergy," she says. "You do what God wants you to do. I see almost as many differences among male ministers as I do between women and men."

Business head of church, Miss Hubbel meets with trustees. The church is partly supported by mission funds.

Friend of the young, Miss Hubbel exchanges quips during coffee hour. The town has many young families.

A famous haircoloring artist tells why you should use a special colorfast shampoo if you color or lighten your hair

"The more beautiful your haircoloring, the more important it is to keep it beautiful," says Leslie Blanchard of New York, Color Director for Antoine Salon, Saks Fifth Avenue, and originator of many exciting haircoloring effects. "We use color to achieve the utmost in flattery for a woman—to play up her best features, and add life and elegance to the simplest styling.

"With haircoloring so important, naturally I like it to stay the way I designed it, clear and fresh looking. I don't want to see it turn cloudy or change after a shampoo or two."

When asked how he handles this important shampoo problem, Mr. Blanchard explained, "Now we have a very special answer in new Clairol Shampoo. It's special because it's colorfast—that is, it won't change hair color."

Very different from other leading shampoos, new colorfast shampoo by Clairol was specifically created for women who color or lighten their hair. In two unique formulas: Clairol Blue for all light delicate blonde shades of lightened and toned hair. Clairol Green for all red, brown and black shades of tints and lasting rinses. So you see, however you color your hair, one of these two is exactly right for you! Used by leading beauty salons everywhere. Now available at fine cosmetic counters.

by ALLAN DRAKE

EDITOR'S NOTE: Allan Drake, originally from Boston, wanted to become a prize fighter. At age 18, however, he changed his mind, ran away from home and settled in Miami Beach. There he became the youngest cab driver in town. To hear Drake tell it, cabbies have more laughs than any other occupational group. Two of his passengers, comedians Jackie Miles and Lenny Kent, became his friends and ultimately got him into show business. Both these men gave Drake enough material with which to work up an act, then got him a job at the Arcadia Lake Hotel. Drake has been working as a comic ever since and appears regularly at the top night spots throughout the country. One of his latest dates was at the Flamingo in Las Vegas, where he told the following jokes:

I do my act in Las Vegas a good deal, and I've finally decided that gambling is an emotional disease. A friend of mine made millions of dollars in the dress industry, but because he was a bad gambler, he was a bad businessman. He never paid his bills on time. He postdated his checks. He signed his notes in advance. And even when he died, it said on his tombstone, "Here lies Sam Schwartz—died April 1st as of the 15th."

A woman on a television audience participation show was asked the name of her favorite author.

"Why, it's my husband," she replied. "Your husband?" questioned the interviewer. "What does he write?"

The woman smiled brightly, then answered: "Checks."

Last year I took up gardening as a hobby. So this year I have a brand new lawn, two new cherry trees, gorgeous flowers and beautiful hedges. I find it all a little uncomfortable, though, as I only have a three-room apartment!

Because I am a little crowded in such a small apartment, I went to a real estate dealer last week and said I wanted to buy a home. He showed me a beautiful old Early American house and asked: "What do you think of it, Mr. Drake?"

"I like it," I told him, "but I really had in mind a split level home."

"Mr. Drake," he said, "just give it time."

I've finally figured out what separates the men from the boys—it's the price of their toys!

Parents nowadays are too busy even to punish their kids! Mothers are running to bingo games. Fathers are running off to golf courses and bowling alleys. Before they leave the house, they just say: "Son, we left a strap on the bed. If you do something wrong, hit yourself six times."

The principal of the school my neighbor's son attends says he will spend his next summer vacation with the Cosa Nostra. He wants to know how it feels to be with an organization that's had only one drop-out in 30 years!

"My wife and I have been very happily married for 12 years," said a man to his friend at a stag party. "We go out twice a week and have steak, imported wine, soft music and candlelight."

"Gee," said his friend with admiration, "that's wonderful!"

"It sure is," answered the married man. "She goes out on Tuesdays, and I go out on Fridays."

Relief at Last

Mrs. Benny Finds Relief at Last from Itching "My husband spent hundreds of dollars," writes Mrs. Thelma Berry of Gary, Ind., "trying to find relief for the awful itching, burning hellfire and torment of my irritated skin. We tried everything, including many doctors' prescriptions."

Mrs. Thelma Berry

"Then I tried RESINOL Soap and RESINOL Ointment. The fiery itching eased, the cracked, irritated skin felt soothed and relieved. I continued using RESINOL, telling myself—this is too good to be true. Now my hands and skin are smooth, white, with no trace of trouble."

ANECDOTE OF THE WEEK

Famed editorial cartoonist Herblock (Herbert Block) picked up his phone and a cheery voice said: "If you can answer just one question correctly we'll give you 10 free dancing lessons."

Dancing lessons—free or paid—were the last thing in the world Herb wanted, but he was curious.

"Okay," he said. "What's the question?"

"What's the name of the first President of the United States?"

"Gee," said the two-time Pulitzer Prize winner. "May I call you back?"

"Yes. But I can give you only 15 minutes," said the quiz master.

Two hours later Herblock phoned back. "I've got it! It was Thomas Jefferson."

"Congratulations!"

"STRIKE IT RICH" with this PROSPECTOR'S PACKET of exotic rocks, minerals and gems

QUARTZ
is the most abundant of all minerals and is found in many rocks. It forms crystals, but this variety comes from veins.

MARBLE
the "perfect medium" for sculpture, when polished, it clearly resembles the texture of human skin.

GARNET
is a gem mentioned in the Bible. Crystals are common in the rock called schist, which once was hardened mud.

IRON PYRITE
also known as "fool's gold," because its yellow glitter has deceived many as a very poorer form of gold.

STAUROLITE
is sometimes found in form of cross shaped double crystals. They are prized as good luck charms.

ASBESTOS
This fibrous mineral can be woven into beautiful fabrics. The ancient Greeks used it for much of sacred oil lamps.

MAGNETITE
is a rock ore of iron. It can be picked up by a magnet, like iron or steel. Your sample is a perfect example of a perfect example.

FLUORITE
occurs in veins in limestone and several other rocks. Once carved into prisms, it now is used as a filter in steel making.

SELENITE
An ancient superstition says that this mineral drives away evil and is used with the curing and making of the moon.

CHRYSOCOLLA
When cut and polished it is often set in jewelry. Chrysocolla is a copper mineral found in many Western States.

BORNITE
A copper ore, also called Peacock Ore because of its iridescent colors. It will change from copper color to blue and red.

Only a few years ago, Vernon Pick, a prospector, found an outcropping of uranium ore (Life Magazine, Nov. 1, 1954) which he sold for ten million dollars. You may not be able to duplicate this prospector's "strike"—but when you can identify rocks, minerals and gems, the countryside near your own home becomes a world of natural wonders. Every boulder, cliff and hillside tells you a fascinating story!

You can recognize the first from which the Indians made their arrowheads...the kind of rocks that show the impression of prehistoric animals... "frozen" lava flows from old volcanoes... meteorites of metallic iron and nickel that came from outer space... gold in "native" flakes... rare jade and aquamarine... even emeralds and diamonds. You can tell the rock formations that contain iron... copper... and other ores. Yes, you can become an amateur "prospector" and start a rock collection as an exciting hobby.

All this information is yours in the Audubon Nature Program's Illustrated Album Guide, "Rocks, Minerals, Gems," which, along with your collection of named specimens, is part of the huge 4-part Gift Package you receive for 10 cents.

With your introductory package for 10¢

you will also receive the current Audubon Nature Program Album Set for which you will be billed only $1.00 plus a few cents shipping.

Enjoy the wonders of our world with this program.

No obligation to continue!

You are under no obligation to continue with the program after you receive your introductory package. You may discontinue your membership at any time. But we're certain that once you are acquainted with these thrilling albums, they will become a wonderful, eagerly anticipated adventure for your whole family. One month, a friendly guide will take you on a safari through the game-filled plains of East Africa... another time you will dive below the surface of the sea to observe the incredible forms of marine life.

The entire program is under the distinguished sponsorship of The National Audubon Society. The cost is pleasantly low, too: only $1.00 for each album and series of photo prints, plus a few cents shipping.

We have just a limited number of collections on hand. May we suggest that you make sure of receiving yours by sending for it today. Mail coupon to: The Audubon Nature Program, Garden City, N. Y.
